AT the organization of a mining district in Arizona the other day, a "Committee of Protection" was organized, to consist of eleven members, whose duty it is to arbitrate any dispute which may arise in the camp. Probably the miners themselves are just as good judges of what is right and proper as two or three courts and a dozen or two lawyers. They may not be up to the law, but are more apt to dispense justice and dispense with law. Most of the disputes in mining camps—aside from brawls—are on questions connected with location and claim, and on these subjects the miners are as well posted as anyone. In settling questions of this kind by arbitration, much valuable time is always saved, as well as money.

AN INDIAN CHIEF named White Man, of the Lagunta tribe from the San Carlos agency, who is one of the party of Indians giving exhibitions at St. Louis says that General Crook will be successful in his campaign against the Apaches in Mexico. He says the chief known as Juh, but whose real name is Juan, is a very able leader, and has some 500 warriors, including about 100 renegade whites and Mexicans, but he will not be able to cope with Crock and the Mexican forces, and he and his band will share the fate of Victorio and be exterminated. It is his opinion that it is only a question of time when this whole band of marauding, murdering Apaches will be wiped out.

MR. HENRY GROSJEAN, the French Commissioner of Agriculture, is on a visit to this country to study its climate and resources. He made a tour through Manitoba, Minnesota and the Northwestern States generally, which, he informed a New York interviewer, are are not suitable for French colonization. California, he says, would suit French immigrants the best. There is no doubt of this. We have certain industries in California to which French skill and labor are exactly adapted. The French make good citizens, and California will extend a cordial welcome to all these people who elect to settle within her borders.

THE fact, recently unearthed in Washington, of three volumes of the journals belonging to the Pay Department of the Continental Government being missing, promises to excite more than usual newspaper comment. The correspondent of the Boston Globe at the National Capital is responsible for the charge that George Washington is in debt to the United States in the sum of $161,339. This deficit arises from a shortage in his accounts of disbursements in the in the war for independence. With Homer a myth, Shakespeare a nom de plume of Lord Bacon, and the Father of Our Country a common defaulter, what may we look for next?

IN the divorce suit of Mrs. James G. Fair against her husband the Senator made no defense. A decree of divorce was granted to the plaintiff and she was awarded $4,250,000 in money and United States bonds, besides the residence on the corner of Jones and Pine streets, in San Francisco, and also the property on Pine and Taylor streets. She was also awarded the custody of the three minor children, Virginia Theresa, Alice and Charles. The custody of the oldest boy, James G. Fair, Jr., now 20 years of age, was awarded to the Senator.

BOB INGERSOLL has made so much money out of the star-route trial that he does not care to spread the gospel of doubt from the lecture platform for a consideration any longer. At least he so told a friend who called on him the other day with a liberal proposition from a large town in the North. All the counsel for the defense seem to be doing equally well.

THE mineral exhibit of the Denver Exposition grows in magnitude every day. Every mineral-producing State and Territory west of the Missouri river will be represented by largely-increased exhibits over those of last year. The counties in Colorado under the State law have thus far appropriated $50,000 for the mineral collection.

ON Thursday the cylinder-head of the engine in the Standard mill, Bodie, was broken and the inside of the works badly wrecked by the breaking of a strap on the engine. The accident will necessitate a stoppage of the mill for repairs.

THE Sister Superior of St. Mary's Convent at San Leandro has announced her intention to make a free school of the convent, all religious creeds to be admitted on an equal footing.

THE Supreme Court has decided that in accordance with the Civil Code of this State, "The earnings of the wife are not liable for the debts of the husband."

A PROJECT is now agitated in Los Angeles which, if carried out, will be one of the most extensive and daring yet attempted for the purpose of procuring water for irrigation. As stated by the Herald, the plan is this: To run a tunnel about seven feet in height into the Sierra Madre Mountains, between the ranch of Hon. J. F. Crank and the Arroyo Seco, at an elevation of 1,600 feet above sea level, beneath the forests and the lake that is found on the top of the range of mountains in front of Los Angeles. The tunnel is to be built from south to north till a sufficient amount of water is secured to satisfy the owners. In all previous excavations into the mountains water has been encountered almost at the outset of the work. It is fair to presume that an immense flow of water will be secured without going 1,000 feet, but even if the tunnel should be excavated to 2,000 or 3,000 feet, it would be better still and give a large flow of water. It is thought the water would be constant and clear of sediment through all the yaar, and from this elevation could be carried in pipes over all the dry lands of the Valley of San Gabriel and all the Mission hills, and the highest hills in the city of Los Angeles.

AT Socorro, New Mexico, recently, C. Garcia, the Probate Judge, made a speech denouncing the Americans as a set of thieves and cut-throats. He opposed the introduction of smelters and railroads, saying that Mexicans could live upon mutton and chili, and all that he asked was to be let alone. He denounced the Americans for introducing newspapers and schoolbooks, saying they were the agents of the devil. There are a few men like Garcia in every race and community who do not want to be civilized or reconstructed.

NEW YORK is warming up on the Chinese question. Mott street threatens to rival Dupont street, San Francisco. The good people of the Queen City have discovered that the immoralities of the Chinese are frightful, their debaucheries unparalleled and their influence degrading. There is nothing like getting practically educated in a question of public interest. New York can now study the Oriental ad libitum.

TALMAGE and some other spiritual lights of the East, together with a few newspapers, insist that the people of San Francisco keep up the opium dens and other institutions of Chinatown, shocking to the moral sense, for the purpose of affording occular demonstration to Eastern visitors of the wickedness of the Chinese.

IT is rumored that President Arthur contemplates spending his Summer vacation in California, and that he will arrive sometime in August if he comes at all. His presence at the proposed Triennial Conclave would add to its attractions.

IT is now understood that the authorities at Washington will put a stop to the importation of limburger cheese in order to get even on Bismarck for sitting down on the American hog.

THEY have commenced the hanging of the Dublin assassins, and one or two of them will be dropped each week until the entire batch is disposed of.

THE San Bernardino Index of May 12th comes to hand, containing the following concerning the latest shooting exploit of Johnny Williams:

J. J. Williams, accused of the murder of Sullivan at Calico, was acquitted yesterday, the jury being out barely long enough to prepare the verdict. The jury was unanimous in the opinion that Sullivan was a bully, and that Williams supposed himself in mortal danger when he did the killing. Williams' gentlemanly demeanor since his incarceration has also created a favorable sentiment.

When the foreman of the jury in the Williams murder case pronounced the verdict of acquittal, the audience became quite boisterous in the expressions of approval, clapping their hands and throwing their hats in the air. This was too much for the dignity of Judge Rolfe. Catching three in the act, he promptly assessed them each $10 for contempt of Court, afterwards reducing the fine to $5. Williams gracefully paid the amount forfeited by his sympathizers.

IT may be as much the losses met with by English investors who put their money into American mines and railroads as the expectation of extraordinary profits which creates the desire to buy Western lands. But for some reason there is a great run on these investments, and a member of Parliament who arrived in New York ten days ago says that American land is the principal thing talked about on the London Stock Exchange. Twenty ranch companies have been organized, one having a capital of $5,000,000. These shrewd Englishmen know that however the value of mining or railroad property may fluctuate, if they once acquire a title to the soil, they have something which cannot slip from their grasp or have its value destroyed by mismanagement. Permanence is the character of these investments; but while they are good purchases for English capitalists, the acquisition of large tracts of land by foreign syndicates is not an equally good thing for this country. When the settlements reach these immense cattle ranches their owners will not be found disposed to divide up their domains and sell them out in small parcels.—S. F. Alta.

Our County Schools—Some Observations by the Superintendent.

ROUND VALLEY, CAL., May 19.

From the best information I have been able to gather concerning the condition of the various schools in this county, and having personally visited some of them during the past year, I am of the opinion that they are in a healthy and prosperous condition, with some few exceptions. My experience does not particularly qualify me to enter into any of the details of our school management. I can speak of the matter in a general way, only, and remark—as one would of a landscape, taking into view all of the general features at one glance—that "it seemeth good."

Several of the schoolhouses in this county are small, dingy, miserably furnished affairs, whose appearance, both exterior and interior, would naturally indicate a purpose entirely foreign to mental culture. In short, the school buildings themselves are enough to disgust the youthful minds with schools and everything pertaining thereto.

A prevalent opinion exists among teachers that when they attain a degree of proficiency that will enable them to get a certificate for teaching, they are content, and care not to make further advancement—forgetting that in teaching school, as in all other things, thoroughness is to be obtained by persistent effort. There is a lack of system and uniformity—every teacher following his own method, which, perhaps, would do very well, if the same teacher was retained long enough to reap the benefit of any method; but as long as we have a change of teachers almost every term, it amounts to no method at all. There are usually two short, disconnected terms taught by different teachers in each school year.

Another defect is the employment of cheap(?) and unqualified teachers. And now that the election of School Trustees is at hand, let the voters of Inyo county place in office her best men—men that are qualified and deeply interested in the cause of education. Several Districts have fallen into the very common error of changing Clerks and members of the School Boards too frequently, and the interests of education are made to suffer thereby. Several of the School Trustees whose terms have nearly expired deserve great credit for their work. I think they should and will be re-elected at the coming election. Immediately after the election, let the Trustees secure the services of competent teachers for the coming school year, remembering that the services of competent teachers are in nearly every case secured in advance. The greatest evil that we have to contend with is incompetent teachers. Yet the fact is patent to all, that as long as there is a demand for them there will be a supply. When School Trustees learn to exercise the same judgment and intelligence in procuring school teachers that they would in employing persons in other fields of labor, then may we expect the standard of teachers to be raised, and not until then. Directors sometimes employ the person who offers his services at the lowest price, and afterward complain that the school made no progress in learning. They violate the plainest principles of political economy by expecting a large return without giving out an equivalent. The members of the Board of Education are endeavoring to remove the evil by raising the standard of teachers. Let Trustees employ teachers who are competent to teach good schools, and pay them good wages for their services, and the standard of schools will be elevated.

SMELTING ORES.—It is not generally known, but still it is nevertheless a fact, that as fine prospects for first class smelting ores are to be found in Mazourka cañon, opposite Independence, as in any other part of the Inyo range. The Union district has been greatly neglected and overlooked by what few mining men who have visited Owens valley. The idea has got abroad, and it has been fostered by certain parties, that all the good mines and prospects are situated in the southern portion of the county, but this is a mistake, as can be easily proved to any well posted mining man who will take the trouble to spend a day in examining the prospects in Mazourka cañon, under the guidance of a man who is familiar with with the locations. It is true that but little work has been done on the claims in this particular section, where the lead ores are mostly found, but that little has shown up as encouraging prospects for good mines as can be found in any other mining district in the State. This statement is based on the opinion of men who have had many years of practical experience in smelting ores, and who have thoroughly examined this district a number of times. The facilities for cheap mining and smelting are unequaled in any other part of the Inyo range, being very accessible, with an unlimited supply of wood for cheap charcoal, close at hand, and the mines only about six miles from Independence, and two miles the railroad and Owens river. The particular section referred to embraces about four miles in length by one mile in width, within which is located some ten or twelve claims, in a formation between limestone, granite, and quartzite. An immense ledge, running north and south, with brown iron oxide croppings which can be seen from a distance of several miles, contains the lead ores above mentioned. On the north end of this belt, or ledge, is situated the Eagle mine, which shows a fine vein of smelting ore, carrying about 40 per cent of lead and 40 ounces of silver per ton. This mine has been prospected some, and about thirty tons of ore is now on the dump. Want of means, and some way of selling, or smelting the ore, stopped the work. The next claim on the south of the Eagle is the Tubal Cain, showing a vein of lead ore three feet wide, assaying fifty ounces of silver, five dollars in gold, and 40 per cent of lead. About thirty tons of this ore has been taken out and now lies on the dump. The ore is a dark brown carbonate of lead, carrying a good per centage of iron, which adds to its value as a smelting ore. This mine is within three hundred yards of a good wagon road. The next claim on the south of the Tubal Cain is the Mabel and Emma, with the same character of lead ore, but of a higher grade in silver. A shaft thirty feet deep has been sunk on this mine and considerable ore taken out. Joining on the Mabel and Emma, still south, is the Oneida mine, with two shafts, showing a vein three feet wide, and the same ore as the other claims. The above is only a few of many good prospects in Mazourka. Many others could be named, showing rich gold and silver ores, which in any other country would create an excitement. It certainly seems strange that parties coming into this valley to look for mines will not even go to look at prospects that any one competent to judge must pronounce valuable when once examined.

THE MINERAL EXHIBITION.—Specimens have begun to come for the exhibition, and the work is well started towards making a fine collection. Our citizens generally seem to take much interest in the matter, and it is hoped that the people in all parts of the county will do the same, and contribute something towards making up the sum of money required. All parties interested in mines, and those having specimens in their posession should send in something to help make up a good show for the credit of Inyo county. It will be much better for all parties intending to contribute minerals to send them to Messrs. Harris & Rhine at at Independence, where they will be safely and securely packed, and the whole county's exhibit shipped at one time. This will save much trouble and confusion to the Mining Bureau, and greatly facilitate the proper disposition of the minerals. This is specially recommended by the Exposition Committee. Parties sending minerals to Independence should notify the Secretary, Mr. S. D. Woodhull, by mail, so that if any packages fail to come to hand, they may be looked up. The following sums of money have so far been subscribed by the parties named: Harris & Rhine, $20; J. C. Irwin, $2 50; G. H. Hardy, $2; J. A. Hannah, $5; S. D. Woodhull, $2; J. Crough, $2 50; E. Robinson, $2 50; J. Fernbach, $2 50; H. G. Kernodle, $2; W. J. Lake, $1 50; H. Levy, $2; A. Stecker, $1 50; J. W. P. Laird, $1 50; G. W. Brady, $1; J. E. Parker, $5; C. McEvoy, $5; S. G. Gregg, $5; D. Crough, $1; C. Hampton, $1; O. I. Mairs, $1; total, $66 50.

The above is a pretty good showing for Independence. Reports from Lone Pine, Big Pine, Bishop Creek, and Darwin are now in order.

FOR A PARDON.—Mike Welch, who killed Sheriff Moore on that sad 3d of July, 1879, has served out about four years of his ten-year term at the State Prison. A letter from him, under date of the 21st instant, to a friend here asks for a transcript of the proceedings of his trial and for financial assistance, evidently with the view of making application for pardon by the Governor. He says that he is now in good health, and "has been working in the fire-room and the prison for the last two years."

WHERE IS HE?—James Linehan, who was at San Jose about seven years ago when last heard from, is requested to report himself to his sister, Mrs. Peter McCann, Independence, Inyo Co., Cal.

Beveridge District.

M. C. Lasky, Superintendent of the Lasky mill, which started up on or about March 15th, has sent in the following report of ore crushed up to May 19th:

Name of Mine.	No. Tons Worked	Yield.	Average per Ton in Gold.
Keynot	173	$7,362 50	$42 56
Hidalgo	37	930 00	25 13
El Penasco	9	620 00	68 00
Los Angeles	8	139 50	17 50
True Business	18	914 50	50 81
Total	245	$9,966 50

The mill is running well and has ore enough on hand for several months' run.

SAMPLING WORKS.—W. P. Miller, Supt. of the Castle Dome Mining and Reduction Works, with S. D. Woods, has, during the last ten days, made an extended examination of this county with especial reference to the establishment of ore samplers and the purchase of ores. Enough was discovered to warrant the statement that ore samplers will be erected and a business begun here. The success of the enterprise will now depend largely upon the energy and enterprise of our miners. With a market just at their doors, every inducement is offered for them to go to work in earnest.

DECORATION DAY.—Next Wednesday, the 30th instant, will be a national holiday everywhere throughout the Union, devoted to offering floral tributes to the honored dead—the "Blue and the Gray" alike. There are bodies of some brave soldiers lying at the military cemetery at Camp Independence, and yet we hear of no move toward commemorating or respecting their memory on the coming recognized anniversary. Amongst the rest Sheriffs Passmore and Moore were in the ranks of early Indian fighters, and died—cruelly murdered in the performance of duty.

THE KEYNOT.—The latest report from the Keynot mine is that a strike of rich ore has been made in the long and lowest tunnel—some 600 feet in the mountain. This item is a very important fact, as regards the future of that fine property. Also, a fine body of ore has been struck in one of Charley McEvoy's mines. Both the Lasky and McEvoy mills are running steadily, and there is every prospect now that they will keep it up all Summer. The McEvoy mill shipped yesterday 56.75 ounces of gold valued at $880.

THE FOURTH.—It has been quite appropriately suggested that the town of Independence take a turn at the business of celebrating the coming Fourth of July by a grand old-fashioned demonstration. The toot of the locomotives will then be heard in the land; the railroad men and the upper country will doubtless "stand in" on an excursion proposition. And it is now none too early to set the ball a-going.

CONCERT AND FESTIVAL.—At the Court House, on Friday evening next, will occur the concert and festival which has been so long under course of careful preparation by the ladies of the Sunday school and church. It will be a social treat that no one can afford to miss, aside from its moral object and commendable charity.

GOLD SPECIMENS.—Frank Reilly and Thos. Moran, who have been mining at Snow's Cañon, presented this office with some small but very rich and valuable ore specimens from the gold mine belonging to Stapp & Morton. They will be placed in the Independence Cabinet for exhibition and if the matter can be worked out will be shown with the rest at San Francisco.

THE TELEGRAPH.—The telegraph line accompanying the Carson and Colorado Railroad has been completed to Bishop Creek, where a permanent office has been established. It is now possible to get a message to and from San Francisco within a day and a half, anyway. Connection will soon be made with the Big Pine depot.

AN APPOINTMENT.—Assessor Irwin has appointed Crittenden Hampton as Deputy. "Crit." will probably make the office walls black slinging ink on the assessment rolls, or in the meantime making character sketches of Inyo and her unfortunate tax-payers.

RANCH FOR SALE.—The well-known and valuable property at Big Pine, the Sears ranch, is offered for sale. See notice elsewhere.

THE TRACK.—The railroad track on yesterday was laid to a point about half a mile south of the old Chrysopolis mill.

CANDELARIA True Fissure items:

Guy Thorpe has completed his arrangements for reducing ores in his arastras at Gold Mountain, and was to have started up on Thursday last. He has about fifteen or twenty tons of ore, from three or four different mines, which will be worked as a test. There is an abundance of water and plenty of wood on hand. Mr. Thorpe should receive a handsome return for his outlay and the confidence he exhibits in the camp where he is now operating.

It is expected that the Central Pacific Railroad will adopt a new time table about the 1st of next month. This will necessitate a change on the Virginia and Truckee and Carson and Colorado Railroads. Railroad men predict that it will only affect the departure of the north-bound train, which will leave in the evening instead of the morning as heretofore.

T. JEFF. MCCLELLAND and his son, H. L. Childs and J. L. Murphy left Yosemite yesterday morning by the snow-shoe route, the three first named for Tioga and Murphy for his station at Lake Tenaya, where he will put the premises in repair for the Summer travel.—Homer Index.

AN account, by Prof. G. W. Kraft, of an ice-palace built at St. Petersburg in 1740 contains the remarkable statement that an ice-cannon was also made from which, with a quarter of a pound of powder, a bullet was driven through a plank two inches thick at a distance of fifty paces.

Death of Hon. S. P. Moffat.

San Francisco papers of the 20th briefly announced the death in that city on the 17th of one of Inyo County's best known and most respected citizens—Hon. Solomon Peck Moffat.

The deceased was a man of high educational acquirements, and possessed of a disposition which was the very refinement of gentleness, nobility and magnanimity. Concerning his own career and affairs in life he was reserved and modest, yet through years of intimacy in social and political affairs we are able to recall some of the main facts of his unostentatious but eventful life. He descended from an old and distinguished family of Otsego County, N. Y., where he was born in 1824, and was consequently 59 years of age at the time of his death. Before attaining his majority he began teaching and the study of law. He was early employed by the State as a detective during the settler's revolt against paying rent on the old land titles. Mr. Moffat was a friend of James Fennimore Cooper—possessed his complete works, and was in boyhood familiar with every scene so fascinatingly presented by that charming author. In 1842 his adventurous spirit took him roaming over the great northern lakes, and for a time he again engaged in teaching school, in Kendall County, Ills. Early in the '50's he "came the Isthmus across" to California, and followed an active life in the foot-hill mining counties until the outbreak of the Esmeralda excitement in '60. He was prominent in mining affairs, and in a wild contest was elected Recorder of the District—the year after the position had been worth $20,000 per annum. In 1865 he came to Inyo and was elected County Clerk, succeeding Thos. Passmore, and was re-elected for the next term. He then embarked in mining across the Inyos, a venture which proved disastrous to his fortunes. Returning to this place he began the practice of law. In 1867-8 he ably represented the counties of Inyo and Mono in the State Legislature. Mr. Moffat had no family, and so far as we know his only relatives on this coast were his brother, Hon. Wm. S. Moffatt, who was a member of the Constitutional Convention and the subsequent Legislature, from San Diego, and a cousin in the Hon. Alfred Helm, of Carson City. Mr. Moffat joined the Independent Order of Odd Fellow in Chicago thirty years ago, and since its organization he has been Secretary of Inyo Lodge No. 301 of this place. His mortal remains were laid away with all the honors of the Order, by those high officials who had so carefully and hopefully attended him in his last long sufferings.

IN MEMORIAM.

HALL OF INYO LODGE, No. 301, }
May 24, 1883. }

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Infinite One to take from our midst our beloved brother S. P. Moffat, and in paying this tribute of respect to the departed—fully realizing the mournful fact that a good man has gone out from our Lodge, an honored citizen from the county and a respected pioneer from the State—let us be strengthened by his many examples of patience through all his sufferings, and by his uprightness of principle; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we regret that our brother has passed away. Though he is numbered with the silent dead, still he lives in our memory, and in the Great Unknown beyond the grave.

Resolved, That while we bow with humble submission to the Divine will, we will strive to cherish a lively remembrance of our brother's many virtues and to bury his few imperfections beneath the cold clod that rests upon his bosom.

Resolved, That by his devoted and unselfish life he has created a monument of remembrance, imperishable; and by his good and noble deeds—the brightest gems in our memories—he has left us the most precious legacy that could be transmitted to us and posterity.

Resolved, That our charter be draped in mourning, and our members wear the usual mourning badge for thirty days.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered in full upon the minutes of this Lodge, and a copy be sent to the relatives of our departed brother; and also, that a copy be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT and in the New Age.

DANIEL CROUGH,
J. D. BLAIR,
ABRAHAM PARKER,
Committee.

Weary with the cares of life, slowly sinking to that peaceful rest where no jarring discords break in, another soul has flown away into the Great Beyond. A faithful old man, whose locks of iron gray heralded his near approach to the silent tomb, bids farewell—a long, long farewell—and leaves his comrades for that better shore. A man of upright spirit; proud in some endeavor to aid his fellow men; well pleased to be the friend even of the little children of the street—not one who had left his name embodied in some vast structure, some gorgeous, grand display of hoarded wealth, but rather in the hearts of those who knew him well. And no one can say: "I asked for bread and ye gave me a stone." A man whose deeds were seen more than the person while he lived; and now that his generous heart has ceased to beat, how we miss him! He sought no personal distinction, but was a silent worker for the good of his fellow men, whom he loved. Avarice or selfishness could make no peace with him. His great heart was the home of his affections for his friends. The Great Supreme Ruler called him and we see him no more; yet who will say, "The good man dies?" That course must we all pursue out into the Great Beyond.

A WOMAN called Jenny McDonald was murdered in her bed at Candelaria last Saturday morning, by some assassin's who fired through the house with a Springfield rifle. One Rafferty is in custody, and he says that a man named Richardson did the shooting.

IT is reported from Salt Lake that an extension of the Union Pacific will be made through Central Utah and Southern Nevada to California.

SOUTHERN INYO.

[Special Correspondence of THE INDEPENDENT.]

DARWIN, May 20.

Although Darwin is still the base of supplies, and considerable important work is progressing in the immediate vicinity, the work done in the outside camps is of no small amount, and if centered in one locality would swell to an importance equal no doubt to many camps whose names are prominent before the public.

At Lookout, Fitzgerald has completed his run; at Snow's Cañon, Stapp & Morton are again at work on their gold mines; at Reilly, they are patiently awaiting the arrival of the balance of their machinery and water pipe, that is said to be now on the road from Mojave. Anthony & Crozier are delivering wood to the Company, of which they have a contract for several hundred cords.

MITCHELL'S CAÑON,

A new and at present small camp, is coming into notice and is already showing some very rich developments. The first important discovery was made there by Mr. Robert Mitchell, an old-time prospector of Panamint, on the 14th of last February. The location is about eight miles south of Snow's Cañon, and in the eastern foothills of the Argus Range. This region has been long noted for rich ores, but nothing heretofore found has been properly developed—not a single instance known where a hole or shaft had been sunk exceeding a depth of 10 feet on any of its numerous ledges. Mitchell & Co. have been at work but a short time, and the result is very good. They have during the past month done considerable dead work, such as building trails and grading a wagon road, besides working down on their mine to the depth of over 25 feet. They have shipped to Lookout for reduction four tons of ore, a small portion of that taken from their shaft, which will no doubt yield between $400 and $500 or more per ton. Samples from this mine have assayed from $400 to $2,600 silver per ton. The mine, which is called the Revenue, is situated in a lime formation, course east and west, dipping to the south at an angle of about 45°. The ledge showed but small croppings of mineral at the surface, but has gradually widened to a foot or more of first-class ore and two feet of second-class at the bottom of the shaft. In the vicinity of the Revenue and all within a half-mile are five other locations with ore of the same character (black metal and chlorides of silver), upon three of which the owners are now working. The facilities for working these mines are good, as water can be piped from springs above directly on to the mines, and an abundance of wood can be procured within three or four miles.

A COPPER MINE.

A party of three gentlemen from Virginia City are here making an examination of mines in and around Darwin. They have made a careful inspection of the copper mine owned by Mr. J. Wilson, the result of their assays being from 28 to 30 per cent. copper, carrying a profitable amount of both silver and gold. The result of this examination is the determination on the part of the owner to develop the mine as speedily as possible, and the work of sinking upon it will soon begin. The croppings of this ledge are large, the formation all that could be desired, and may yet prove a bonanza from an unexpected quarter. TRANSIENT.

WE do fear us much that the embryo metropolis of Hawthorne is going to have some serious trouble in becoming a county seat after all. At their late session the Esmeralda County Commissioners regarded it as advisable (for reasons) not to open the proposals for the erection of the new county buildings until after their regular meeting next month. On Saturday the Supreme Court of Nevada reached out from the bench on which it was sitting and kicked that remarkable "one hundred dollars mandamus case" from beneath the judicial nostrils. This more seriously blackens the county capital eye of stalwart young Hawthorne than any of the preceding events bearing on the removal of the county seat. This action of the Supreme Court of course does not settle the question of a change of location of the county's place of transacting her county business. It will simply result in change of moves by the two contesting factions. These moves will continue to be made alternately until further moves become hopeless, and the Dear People have a good round sum to pay in liquidation. This is one of those occasional cases where those who don't dance pay the fiddler.—Bodie Miner.

"WHY, of course you want a telephone put in your house," said the canvasser to the business man; "it will be so handy when your wife wants to talk to you." "There," exclaimed the business man, picking up a stool, "that will do. I listened to you when you urged the point that I could order provisions from the butcher; and I looked with favor on your representations that it would afford unequaled facilities for ordering in the beer; but when you tell me that the only rest I get during the day is going to be busted into through the medium of a galvanized tin pipe, then it is time you were breathing your atmosphere into other ears. You may make yourself less adjacent, young man." He made.

MR. RICHARD PROCTOR makes a very curious suggestion in a recent number of his paper, to the effect that the spreading of so large a quantity of iron upon the surface of the earth, as modern science is doing, is likely, in the future, to exercise a very decided influence of its own upon electric currents and magnetic storms, and in this way to exercise a very material meteorological influence. The network of railways and the substitution of iron for wood all over the country is going on steadily and in a rapidly increasing ratio. Even the Western prairies are being netted in all directions by wire fences, and in calling attention to this fact Mr. Proctor thinks that here is a problem that science will shortly be called upon to solve.

THE early tornadoes in the South and Missouri, Kansas, Iowa and Indiana, justly rouse great fears in all that region of what the Spring and Summer may bring. These storms, which have come two months before their usual time, have shown an unusually virulent type and are justly a terror to the people who may be subjected to them. All last Summer it was impossible to hold an audience either to worship or amusement in a church or theater in Iowa if there were signs of a storm or the wind blew briskly, and there was not much soundness to sleep in that country until Winter had subdued the hot fury of the murderous air.

IT takes 800 full-blown roses to make a single tablespoonful of the famous perfume, and you can get enough perfume out of an onion to drive a dog on a gallop out of a slaughter house. And yet we admire the rose more than we do the onion.

THE President of the French Meteorological Bureau, Mons. Mangon, reports that 83 per cent. of the weather forecasts made by the Bureau have proven good. Of 207 tempest warnings sent to seaports, 100 have been fulfilled entirely, 65 partly and 42 not at all.

AT a recent brilliant reception given by Mons. Louis Rau, in Paris, each of the lady guests about to take part in a dance was presented with a bouquet in the middle of which shone a miniature electric lamp fed by batteries, devised by Mons. Trouve.

AT Salez, in the Swiss canton of St. Gallen, some sixty bronze hatchets have been dug up from a depth of about a yard beneath the surface of the ground. The implements are believed to be at least 25,000 years old.

THE sensational developments of criminal practices in the opium dens of New York have led to an investigation of similar dens of iniquity which infest Chicago.

The Late Joseph Wasson.

On the 18th of April Joseph Wasson, American Consul at San Blas, Mexico, died at that place. In many respects Wasson was a peculiar product of the West. He was born in Wayne county, Ohio, forty-two years ago, and came from a hardy family. He had scarcely reached manhood before he left his father's farm and began the adventurous career that ended only when he at last entered the Valley of the Shadow of Death. He remained long enough in an Ohio town to learn the printer's trade and acquire the faculty of expressing his thoughts in hardy English, when the Salmon River gold excitement started him across the plains. The party with whom he cast his fortunes were attacked by Indians, some of them murdered, and their teams and baggage stolen. Wasson made his way to Powder River on foot. The hard experiences of this trip converted him to the theory that good Indians were dead ones, and, although he always spoke of the fighting qualities of the savages with admiration, he spent a large part of his life in warring against them. In the latter part of the last decade, Wasson started the Owyhee Avalanche in Idaho, one of the first newspapers printed in that part of the country. The first issue was printed on a hand-press in Winter. The ink roller froze while the paper was being issued, and the snow, sifting through cracks in the ceiling of the Avalanche "office," fell upon the type in the form. The Avalanche, however, made an inky war upon the way things had been going on in Idaho, and soon its proprietor was one of the most celebrated men in the Territory. General Crook was finally sent by the Government to see if the Indians were really killing as many people as the Avalanche alleged. Crook and Wasson became fast friends, and when the General had quelled the savages, Wasson sold his paper and followed the old soldier into California in 1867. The Avalanche was sold to Wm. Hill, Senator from Monterey in the Legislatures of 1880-1, and now publisher of the Salinas Index. Mr. Wasson participated in the campaign of the Lava Beds, and wrote descriptions of Crook's battles in Oregon and Washington Territory for the New York Herald and Overland Monthly. In 1868 he published a Grant paper in Aurora, Nevada, and later attended the inauguration of Grant at Washington. In 1870 he went to Arizona and started another paper to fight the Indians. General Stoneman, now Governor of this State, was then in command in Arizona. Under his administration the Indians had not been cared for as Wasson thought proper, and the result was a journalistic war on Stoneman. In 1872 he ran a Grant paper in Nevada. The following year he went to Europe and corresponded with Forney's Press. In 1875 he returned to California, but abandoned a position on a San Francisco newspaper to take part in the Yellowstone expedition of 1876. Wasson was attached to the headquarters of General Crook and correspondent for the New York Tribune and Chicag Tribune. He was within a few miles of the spot where Custer's last battle took place, and wrote one of the first descriptions of the massacre transmitted East. The Sioux war ended, or Sitting Bull, of whom Wasson was never tired of expressing his admiration, driven into Canada, the adventurous journalist went South and looked on the Returning Board squabbles. This excitement over, he retraced his steps for the sixth or eighth time to California, and settled in Mono and Inyo counties, from which he was twice elected to the Assembly. He originated the idea of the present Mining Bureau, and the law establishing that institution was passed largely through his efforts. He wrote a history of Mono and Inyo counties, which is probably the best ever published, and which has long since become the authority on Mono and Inyo matters. He became an expert miner, and when his last term as Assemblyman expired he came to this city and made preparations to go to Mexico. This dream, however, was never realized. Though possessed of a fine physique, a large, bony, wiry form, and almost unlimited endurance, hardship, war and work had worn the machine out, and his health gave way. He tried to recuperate; consulted a few doctors, became convinced that no one knew the nature of his trouble, and finally accepted the Consulate at San Blas, in the hope that a climatic change would restore him. An affection of the lungs and heart, however, was too deeply seated, and he closed his adventurous career on the 18th of April, aged forty-two years.

There is one chapter in the career of Joseph Wasson, that has not gone down to contemporary history. He seldom talked of it himself, and even when directly asked, rather evaded the subject. This was his connection with the celebrated Pinney sensation of 1877. Wasson and George M. Pinney became acquainted in Idaho, and when the latter was well on his career in this city, the journalist was sent for to take charge of the Oakland Tribune, a paper projected by and originally owned by Pinney. At that time Pinney was worth $250,000, and the Tribune was started principally to get "Joe" near his friend. Wasson's restless disposition, however, would permit him to stay nowhere, and he soon threw up the Tribune to join Crook in the Northwest. During his absence Pinney became involved in Naval Pay Office and stock troubles, which resulted in his trip to Peru and later to Europe. The last letter that Pinney wrote in San Francisco was to Wasson, asking the latter to come to San Francisco and see that his memory was not traduced. Wasson came, procured a position on the Alla and did what he could to prevent all the things that were missed during the next year being attributed to the peculations of Pinney. A year afterwards Wasson, while still in this city, received a letter from Pinney at Montreal, Canada, in which he was requested to come East. Wasson at once resigned his place, packed his valise and started for Montreal. Arriving there, Pinney informed him that Senator Sargent, Congressman Page and William B. Carr, with whom he had been associated in politics, were desirous of preventing his return to California, from fear that he would relate political secrets; and they had informed him, having been a clerk in the Navy Pay Office, that he was an officer, and liable to arrest as a deserter the moment he placed foot on American soil, and finally, that if he did return to this State he would be arrested and locked up. Pinney wanted Wasson to assist him out of the trouble, as he could no longer remain away from the country. Wasson then sat down and wrote a letter to Secretary Thompson of the Navy, detailing at length the circumstances under which Pinney had left California, his connection with politics and politicians of this coast, and making charges against men high in authority. Armed with this letter, Wasson proceeded to Washington. He at once found that the Navy Department knew nothing about Pinney, except as a clerk, and that no proceedings for arrest would hold. Wasson, however, filed the letter with the Department, and angry at the ruse that had been employed to keep his friend out of the country, he hunted up A. M. Gibson, a New York Sun reporter, and told him to get the letter. This was the "Pinney statement," telegraphed to this coast in May, 1877, and which created quite a sensation in political circles. The statement resulted in two trials for libel at Placerville, El Dorado county, against the late Charles de Young, and in both cases the jury disagreed. Pinney returned to witness the consternation he had caused. The day before the statement was telegraphed from Washington Pinney, then in Oakland, dispatched Wasson to withdraw it. Wasson, however, went to the theater that night, and did not receive the message until the last word had gone to Chicago, New York and San Francisco, in which places the statement was published simultaneously. Wasson at once dropped out of the matter and did not return to California until after the election of 1877. When he did, Pinney was free. The two remained fast friends to the last, and shortly before Wasson left for San Blas they were preparing to embark in a Mexican mining scheme. Wasson's failing health, however, prevented the trip.

The deceased was always a great admirer of physical strength. Any man who prevailed in war, politics or athletics had his unqualified admiration. Probably no man living knew more of athletes and pugilists than he. He could relate the history of the most obscure bruiser, and abounded with opinions upon the best methods of cultivating the human muscles. He was possessed of a fine mind and sentiments of the highest honor. Those who knew him best were greatly attached to him, and his success in politics might have been greater had he cared to cultivate the friendships he made so easily.—San Francisco Bulletin.

YOUNG CHICKENS drink a great deal of water, but they, in common with all animals, know just how much they need. Mix your corn and dough very dry and crumby, and let the fowls drink fresh, cool, clean water after they are through eating. If your mess is mixed too thin and sloppy you will force them to swallow more water than they need, in order to get at their feed.

"I SUPPOSE you have heard of our dudes, Miss Clarwa?" observed a New York swell to a Jacksonville girl. "Oh, yes," she answered, "they are becoming very popular in Florida. We use them for alligator bait."

IN the House of Commons the other night in a debate which had to do with the Jews, it was remarked: "We owe much to the Jews," when there came a feeling groan from a member in the rear: "We do."

The Ague.

"Speaking of chills, said the gentleman from Arkansas, borrowing a match from the train boy. "I had one at home oncet that was away up in G. Stopped a train, that chill did.'

They crowded around to hear the particulars.

"You see, they turned me out of the town and run me off the turnpike, so I took to the railroad, and I shook it up so the through express had to wait until I got over it."

"Right smart of a chill, that," assented a gentleman from Louisiana. "Had 'em myself; but I only delayed a train a little while."

The gentleman from Arkansas eyed him, but declined to ask any questions.

"Tell us!" shouted the chorus.

"Well," said the gentleman from Louisiana, with a glance at the gentleman from Arkansas, "they ran up to where I was shaking, and found they couldn't get past."

"What did they do?"

"All hands turned out and tunneled right through it," replied the Louisiana man, "and in the Spring the icicles hung down from the roof of that chill so thick and so strong that they had to blast them out before they could transact any bus—!"

But the Arkansas man was climbing over the tender toward the cab, and even the chorus lost interest in the rest of the details.—Drake's Magazine.

A DETROIT FIRM hired a new bookkeeper the other day, and on the second morning he failed to put in appearance until about 10 o'clock. Then he came to the office in such a condition that the senior partner felt called upon to say:

"Sir, you are drunk!"

"Yesh, shir," was the prompt reply.

"Do you suppose I want a drunken bookkeeper, sir?"

"I doan' know, shir—I doan' know. Thas what I called f'r this morning—to find out whezzer you want me to keep sober all 'er time or drunk all 'er week! Perfeckly willin' to 'blige, shir—perfeckly willin'!" — Detroit Free Press.

SATURDAY, JUNE 2.....1883

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

JAMES E. PARKER.

THE Board of Railroad Commissioners held an animated session at San Francisco last Tuesday on the reduction of fares and freights. Humphreys said he was preparing a schedule, and asked a delay of the meeting. President Carpenter said it was first necessary to decide that a reduction was necessary. It would then be time enough for a schedule. He opposed a uniform reduction, but favored a reduction of the present rates. Humphreys said the schedule he was preparing contemplated heavier reductions on some parts of the Central Pacific than others. Carpenter replied that he could not vote for as low a rate from Auburn to Truckee as from Sacramento to San Francisco, nor across the Tehachapi mountain as from San Francisco to San José. Under no circumstances would he vote for a uniform reduction. He concluded by moving to lay the resolution on the table. Carried—Foote voting against it. While this business may not eternally damn the party in California which elected Humphreys and Carpenter on an anti-monopoly ticket, it will at least satisfy the people of the utter failure and uselessness of a Railroad Commission to right any wrongs. Millions can buy two men too easy.

WE NOTE that Mono, Fresno, Los Angeles, Tulare and the counties of the State generally, by their respective Boards of Supervisors, have adopted "Ordinance No. 1"—imposing a license tax on dealers of all descriptions, with variations and lack of uniformity according to their several ideas. At least one local paper in each county publishes the matter officially, in compliance with custom and law. But they are not so wise as Inyo, which for economical reasons does not publish it; there is no necessity of letting the dear people know what they will be called upon to pay monthly for the privilege of selling goods on credit or buying county scrip at forty cents. If they want to know it will be a handy trip for every business man in the county to visit the Clerk's office and find out.

THE Bakersfield Californian reports than Hon. Chas. A Sumner, the Representative to Congress from this State, has gone to Europe to investigate railroading and postal telegraphy as operated there. Mr. Sumner is a practical telegrapher himself, and claims that all telegraph lines should belong to the Government, and that all correspondence should go by telegraph instead of the present slow method. There are inventions that have been suppressed by the monopolies that could be used so that the cost of sending dispatches would not be much more than the postage required on letters. Mr. Sumner may succeed in inaugurating great reforms in railroading and telegraphy.

THE Denver and Rio Grande Railroad has been completed to connect with the Central Pacific, and is now advertised as the best route to the Atlantic States, because of the magnificent scenery brought to view along it. It seems that all California roads are to have several Eastern connections as soon as they get beyond the borders of this State. If they find portions of their business so profitable, why do not some of these connecting roads come to the shore line of the Pacific and compete for their business on more advantageous terms?

THE Mojave branch of the Central Pacific Railroad is now completed to the Colorado river, but trains are only run to Goughs, a station some miles this side. The Atlantic and Pacific road has about twelve miles of track to lay before reaching the river. The bridge is not yet finished, and it will be fully two months before through cars can pass along a connected line of track over the new route.

FROM the Postal Index, published at San Francisco, it is learned that on the Pacific Coast since the 1st of January last 210 Postoffices have been established and 125 discontinued. During the same time Wells, Fargo & Co. have established 54 offices and discontinued 25. At this date there are 3,248 Postoffices in the Pacific Coast States and Territories.

THE French have declared war against the natives in Madagascar, and have ordered men-of-war to the scene of action. There is a likelihood that France will more than have her hands full. One such affair as that of Tonquin-Anam is all that she should desire to be engaged in at one time.

IF there be no unforseen interference California will harvest a larger crop this season than ever before. Eastern advices say that the crop of the United States promises to be the largest ever known. No wonder this is rapidly becoming the richest of all nations.

GO TO WORK.

It is now definitely established that ore samplers are to be erected along the line of the railroad at points that shall most largely accommodate the miners and ore purchasers. A market for ores is now just at our doors. Any miner can now take out and sell at good rates his ore, be it in quantity a sackful or a thousand tons. There are at the present time located at various points along the Inyo range, and other places in this county, and within reasonable distance of the railroad, numbers of mining prospects that show upon the surface more or less ore of a grade sufficiently high to warrant their shipment. Heretofore the owners, having no opportunity to dispose of ores extracted and being of limited means, have been forced to let them lie until such time as they should be able either to work them or make a sale under the influence of a "boom." The day of mining "booms" is over. Capitalists have had plenty of that "pie" and now demand exposed and certain values before they will purchase mines. The only thing left to mine owners, therefore, is to go to work in earnest, develop their claims, extract as they go along sufficient ore to pay expenses, and strike into the center where shall be determined whether their property is a mine or stratum of ore only. This country will not develop itself; hard, earnest, persistent, sensible labor alone will bring about better conditions.

There can be no question as to the value of this region as an ore producer. There must be mines of magnitude and value in formations so friendly to ore veins; but just where these mines are can only be determined by the continuous energetic use of the hammer, pick and drill. We cannot but urge this matter upon the attention of all miners and prospectors, and insist and re-insist that they now go to work in earnest. Within a very short time there should be shipped from this county a thousand tons of ore per month, of an average value of $50 per ton. This would add a fresh circulation of $50,000 per month which, passing from hand to hand in the interchange of trade, would enliven the whole country and place it in a condition of prosperity it has not felt for years. Not only miners, but farmers, cattlemen, merchants, hotelkeepers and the entire community would participate in the general prosperity. This is no fancy, but a thing possible, and that speedily. In many places, no doubt, will be at last uncovered mines of permanent value whose yield will go to swell the general average of things and make the production of bullion lasting. We say, therefore, don't wait for your neighbor to begin, but let each one for himself go to work to open and develop now dormant and idle property. We cannot tell which will prosper, this or that, and one owner of a prospect has as fair a chance as another. There need not be and ought not to be an idle man in the entire county. A region so wide and vast demands the labor of an army of men. To energetic, industrious men no place on the whole coast offers so promising a field. The manifest destiny of the county is towards wealth, and if we who have been here these years fail to see and accommodate ourselves to new conditions, to take advantage of proffered assistance, we can only hope to see ourselves displaced by a new and more active race, the country wrested from our grasp, and be at last left lamenting lost opportunities. "Be wise to-day; 'tis folly to defer."

LAND-GRABBERS never tire. The Kansas branch of the Union Pacific road has made application to the Interior Department for the whole or part of the Fort Wallace military reservation, which has been declared abandoned. The ground upon which this claim is made is that this road did not receive all the land it was entitled to within the limits of its grant and that this reservation, having been abandoned as a military reservation, it becomes public domain, and is properly part of the tract granted to the Kansas Pacific. Judge Dillon, attorney of the Union Pacific and its allied branches, has filed with the Interior Department a letter making this claim. The letter has been referred to the division which has charge of the matter, but has not, thus far, received any consideration by the Secretary of the Interior.

THE Prescott, A. T., Journal gives a long account of the starting up at Lynx Creek by John Howell and Wm. Adams of an immense smelting works, which has been completed at a cost of half a million dollars. That it will prove a grand success was manifest from the start, as no one who knows John Howell as a metallurgist can doubt.

WEALTH does not always bring what the possessor wants. This is illustrated in the cases of Jim Fair and the $250-night-shirt Senator of Colorado. But money covers a multitude of sins.

CONGRESSMAN THOMPSON, of Kentucky, who shot and killed Walter H. Davis, his wife's paramour, a few weeks ago, was tried last week and acquitted at Harrodsburg, Kentucky.

HAVE YOUR CLAIMS PATENTED

That we, as a mining community, are on the eve of new conditions, cannot be denied. The incoming of the railroad, with its revival of old interests and the creation of new ones, will enlarge, change, modify present business relations largely and give strength and impetus to long-flagging powers. With an increase of business there will naturally be a clash of interests. A new race of men will follow the track and spread themselves throughout the mines. Among these will be numbers with whom might makes right; others—keen-eyed, shrewd and bold—will discover defects and take technical advantage of such shortcomings. The history of every mining camp on the coast has been one of contention, litigation, violence and fraud in the matters of the settlement of mining titles. Titles that seem perfect now, because they pass unquestioned, will assume a different aspect when subjected to the critical test of legal investigation, or perhaps submitted to the decision of an unlettered jury, whose minds are swayed one way or the other by the eloquence or chicanery of lawyers. "In time of peace prepare for war" is an ancient adage. Patents that may now be obtained with ease will be rendered more difficult in time, when the county becomes full of aggressive, active men thirsting for wealth and determined to war for it at every possible point. One man will not be allowed, peacefully and unquestioned, to hold dozens of locations from year to year, unworked and unpatented. With or without right, these claims will be invaded, "jumped," and possession held at the mouth of the shotgun, unless the owner can show a clear and perfect patented title to it. This state of affairs is bound to come. The easy-going, indifferent conditions now existing cannot always last. Now, therefore, is the time to make application for a patent to secure perfect and undisputed patent title to those claims which are deemed of sufficient value, and any claim that is not worth the cost of a patent is valueless for any purpose whatever. A patent fixes definitely for all time the question of ownership and places its holder above the reach of blackmailers who ever lie in wait to assert a claim to mining property when it is approaching a sale. Capitalists are loth to invest money in claims that are unpatented. They have had a hard and bitter experience in the purchase and holding of mere locations, and are seldom tempted to invest in them unless they discover some unusual merit for which they are willing to take the chances. The experience yet to come to our miners will demonstrate the truth of this statement. Already have we heard of two individual cases where property in this county could have been disposed of for most respectable sums had the same been perfect in title. One thing is certain, that no man able financially to purchase a mine will do so as long as there is a single cloud hanging over it. Lawsuits can be more easily obtained than by being bought. It is safe to say that many a one who now rests in financial security as to his title will be surprised in the future to find that when he is about to realize upon his property that he is balked by an "outstanding title." This can hardly fail to be the case where there have been so many locations and relocations made, running through a series of years, and the question as to the legality of relocations resting in the mouths of men who, for a valuable consideration, may remember this or that state of facts. We cannot state this necessity too strongly or argue the matter with too great a force. We know what the future must develop, and we warn and admonish the holders of mining claims that this is the acceptable time for obtaining patents to their ground. We do not desire to prophesy evil, but the logic of events point in the direction we have spoken of. We cannot hope to escape the dangers, vicissitudes and experiences of other places, situated as we are. Human nature has not put on many changes recently, and this climate has no elements to repress and hold back the grasping spirit of men to whom gold is a god.

IT is quite evident that the English statesmen have gained over the Pope to their side, for he is shortly to issue another encyclical letter, denouncing secret societies and enjoining the priests to refuse the sacrament to all persons connected with seditious movements. The San Francisco Chronicle opines that it is difficult to foretell the result of the letter. The Irish, at whom it is evidently aimed, have of late not shown that blind devotion to Rome they were accustomed to yielding in former years. It is just possible that this second encyclical will have the effect of intensifying the feeling entertained by many Irish Catholics that they are willing to receive their religion but not their politics from the Pope.

FREIGHTS are now delivered in San Francisco from New York by the Southern Pacific and New Orleans steamers in fifteen days, about one-half the time formerly occupied.

Help Your Town.

It is a well established principle that the people make the place; not the facilties for business. It is true that an energetic and prosperous people may be kept back by a lack of natural advantages, but this is not often the ease. A thousand towns are kept in check by the greed and lack of public spirit of the people, where one is kept down by the location. Push and energy overcome all obstacles; greed and want of energy will kill the most promising locality. So a village is to be just what its citizens make it. If its land-owners hold its lots so high that manufactories are kept out, this will act as a weight to keep it down. If the citizens prefer to patronize the merchants and mechanics of other places, that helps to keep the place down. What is wanted is for the people to be united as far as the public good is concerned. Patronize each other as far as possible, any new enterprise, especially manufactories, give a warm greeting to any new settler, and give aid as far as may be in everything that shall tend to the public good. If this policy is pursued, a village will rapidly grow, and become a thrifty and prosperous town. If on the contrary, the people refuse aid to every enterprise, unless they are to get a big slice of the profit, look upon every new arrival as a pigeon to be plucked, and patronize their neighbors only when they cannot do as well or better somewhere else, then a place will grow slowly if at all, its natural advantages will go to waste, and count as nothing in the question of prosperity.—Ex.

And such is just the practice (though we believe from misconception) of our Board of Supervisors in recommending some printing done abroad which considering express charges, could have been done as cheap, at least, at home.

A Knabe in the White House.

[From the Baltimore American.]

There was seen yesterday at Messrs. Knabe & Co's factory a magnificent concert grand, just finished by them for the Presidential mansion. President Arthur, who is a thorough connoisseur of music, in selecting a piano for the White House, decided in favor of the Knabe piano, as his preference, and ordered, accordingly, the instrument referred to. It is a concert grand, of beautiful finish, in a richly-carved rosewood case, and of superb tone and action—an instrument worthy in every respect of the place it is to occupy. It was shipped to its destination yesterday.

ORES.—Parties having lead ores for sale, or owning mines that will produce lead ores, will do well to communicate with Mr. S. D. Woodhull before contracting to sell to other parties. Mr. Woodhull is in communication with all the ore buyers, and having had sixteen years experience in buying, selling, and shipping ores, he is capable of advising miners how to ship and sell their ores to the best advantage to themselves. Information given gratis, and no charges or commissions asked.

THE Fresno Expositor "rooster" is a funny "cuss." He says that we claim to have found a spring on the shores of Mono Lake that will sober up old drunks. He was probably thinking of some fellow up in Bodie, as we have it from good authority that Mono Lake is up that way, in Mono County. The Expositor man's ideas are evidently mixed, and a bottle of the water he allules to would probably put him straight.

FRANCE has evidently determined on a vigorous campaign in the far East. On May 29th, 20,000 troops embarked at Toulon for the purpose of subduing the troublesome Anamites. Unless the Chinese Government should interfere, which does not now seem likely, this force will probably prove sufficient to establish French supremacy in Tonquin.

THE Marquis of Lansdown is to be the successor of Lorne as Governor-General of Canada. His funny name is Charles Keith Petty-Fitzmaurice, and in point of lineage he outranks Princess Louise's husband and the old Dufferin Canada.

THE EXHIBITION.—The following information has been received in regard to the disposition of the minerals sent for the Exposition. There will be no limit to the space to be occupied by each county. Plenty of room will be afforded for all specimens sent, and all will be shown in the best way. The calculations are for two large show cases for each county, which will be provided by the Mining Bureau for the $100 required from the county. If there be more specimens sent than can be put in the two cases, others will be provided without further expense to the county. Each county's exhibit will be kept separate and distinct from the others, and each show case will have a silvered plate with the name of the county engraved upon it. The specimens will be considered the property of the Bureau, or State, and will remain in the museum, except in special cases, where they are loaned for the Exhibition. The cases will cost $50 each, and will be eight feet long, with proportionate width and depth. Each specimen will have a printed label, with full description of it as far as can be known. We would urge upon every person in Inyo County, owning or interested in mines and mineral deposits, the importance of at once procuring specimens of their ores and sending them to Harris & Rhine at Independence. All should take an interest in this matter and make an effort if they wish to see Inyo make a creditable display.

THE IBEX.—The Calico Print of last Saturday gives the following account of a new Inyo county mining plant, which is situated so far southeastward across the deserts, in Saratoga District, near Resting Springs, that little or nothing is known of it here: "The Ibex mill is completed. She started on Monday, May 21st, on the poorest ore, and as soon as the crevices are filled in they will commence on the best ore. The mill is the best and most complete little raw working mill that can be seen anywhere, and quite different from other raw working mills. She can be made, by the addition of a Howell chloridizing furnace, a first class roasting mill. She has for that purpose wood sides to her pans and settler, and the necessary Howell muller dies and movable muller arms with Stevenson's mullboards set in cement. All this is different from the ordinary iron side pans so common in raw mills, and so valueless if the mill at any time is changed so as to work roasted ore. The machinery is entirely new and first class, and the manner in which she is built does credit to the architect, O. Crandall, Esq., of San Francisco, who left nothing undone to make her the first class, complete and solid little mill that she is."

THE MINERAL EXPOSITION.—The plan proposed by Mr. Woodhull, of having all specimens intended for the Exhibition sent to Independence to be packed and shipped all at one time, is indorsed by Mr. Henry G. Hanks, of the Mining Bureau. In a letter to Mr. S. D. Woodhull, Mr. Hanks says: "The plan you propose for making the collection for the exhibit of the mineral resources of Inyo County, is the best possible, and must result in being not only a great benefit to your county, but also an important feature in the Exposition. We have already a large collection from Inyo which will be segregated out and added to what you send. From what I have heard from other counties we are now sure to make a creditable display. Please do not fail to send samples of building stones, limestones, borax, alkali, salt, and Indian curiosities with other specimens. We have a large jar of Owens Lake water."

DARWIN SCHOOL.—Our Darwin correspondent pays the following compliment to the Darwin school: "A six-months' term of school was opened here on the 22d of January, with an attendance of ten scholars of both sexes from five to twelve years of age. The teacher, Miss Tyrell, has given entire satisfaction, proving herself capable, not only in the matter of instruction but in the management of children. The little ones in her charge are as far advanced in their studies as any of like ages that I have met with, even in much more favored localities. Miss Tyrell has established an evening school, and the "boys" have fallen into line to the number of eight young men, who avail themselves of the opportunity thus offered of studying the higher branches of learning."

THE ASSAY OFFICE COLLECTION.—In addition to what mineral specimens may be sent in for the Exhibition, it is important that Mr. Woodhull's collection should be added to them. As it is not proposed to donate this collection to the Mining Bureau, but loan it for the Exhibition, it will be necessary, according to information received, for the owner to pay the freight bills, and also provide show cases for its reception and proper display. The expense of freight and cases will not be less than $150, and we hope to see this amount freely subscribed in addition to the $100 required from the county. With the assay office collection in the Exhibition in addition to what may be collected, Inyo will be pretty sure to "take the belt."

INYO BOYS IN ARIZONA.—Jerome Hoover writes from Prescott, A. T., thusly: "Bill Harrell and Put Yaney send their regards. Bill arrived here some time ago; is thinking of marrying a rich widow here and settling down. Times are very good—a better country than Owens River, I think. Give my regards to Irwin and all the boys."

APPOINTMENT OF GUARDIAN.—By order of the Superior Court, made yesterday, Rafael Otero, of Lone Pine, was appointed guardian of Paulita Snow, a minor.

Card of Thanks.

BISHOP CREEK, May 30.

Wishing to show my appreciation for the beneficial kindnesses exhibited to me by the people of Bishop Creek and Round Valley subsequent to the destruction of my property, I take this method of thanking them, one and all, for their benevolence. As perhaps it would be an impossibility for me to return my thanks to you all individually, please accept this general notice as being applied to yourself personally. Again, tendering you my sincere thanks for your extreme kindness, I am still

Yours truly, MRS. WILLIAMS.

THE following additional subscriptions to the Mineral Exhibition fund have been received during the week. W. R. Tibbits, $1; J. A. Lank, $1; W. F. Matlack, $1; H. Cartier. $2; J. V. Baker, $1; John Shepherd, $2; Jarius D. Mairs, $5; total to date for Independence, $79 50. From Lone Pine, J. M. Keeler, $3; E. H. Edwards, $2 50; L. Lasky, $2 50; E. Cohn & Co., $2; R. Dias, $1; J. R Hughes, $1 50; C. Meysan, $1; John Barnes, $1 50; C. D. Begole, $1; John Lucas, $1; John Lubken, $1; A. C. Harvey, $1; Joseph Seely, $1; Cash, 50 cents; total, $21.

THE DIRECTORIES.—As a matter of valuable information to our readers, we will in an early issue of THE INDEPENDENT give a list of the names of the advertisers and subscribers to the Inyo County Business Directory who have so far failed to call and pay for them. Those who have substantially supported and paid for their proportion in this meritorious enterprise will appreciate this plan of advertising the delinquents, whose accounts may be obtained by anyone at a specified discount.

A CALL.—At a late hour to-day the Fourth of July notice elsewhere was circulated, and received the signatures of all to whom it was presented. They extend a general invitation to all to be present at a preliminary meeting to be held at the Court House next Wednesday evening, for the purpose of selecting committees to get up a proper observance of the national anniversary. Let due note be taken thereof and all patriotic citizens attend.

THE CONCERT.—The Sunday school concert and festival transpired at the Court House last night, according to the various announcements. Evidently a reportorial presence was not desired, as the ordinary courtesy of an invitation or a complimentary ticket to the publisher was politely omitted. From all accounts the entertainers and little-folk did excellently well.

HIGH WATER.—The river is said to be booming, and all the mountain streams are pouring out floods of water sufficient for all irrigation purposes at present. In many places the water has been allowed to run over the roads, making travel difficult. The law provides that parties may be prosecuted for this when it is practicable to prevent it.

MEMORIAL DAY.—Elsewhere the custom of decorating the graves on Memorial Day is not confined alone to the last resting places of dead heroes. The graves of friends and relatives are strewn with floral tributes. This year the beautiful and touching ceremonies have been observed everywhere—except in Inyo.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—By the official notice elsewhere this week it will be seen that the Inyo County Board of Education will meet on the 19th and 20th instants, for the transaction of business and examination of applicants for teachers' certificates.

AT CALICO.—An item in a late number of the Calico Print indorses the musical talent of Taylor Aistrop and Thos. Gill—and thus is shown where the fine violincello belonging to the Independence boys has gone to.

A CHANGE.—H. Levy, of the Miners' Restaurant, has constructed stable accommodations of his own, for convenience of patrons of the house who may have horses or teams to care for. See his new advertisement.

THE FRUIT FAILURE.—Except currants, gooseberries and a few strawberries, the fruit product of the valley this year will be next to nothing—the late cold spells having effectually destroyed all tree fruit.

THE FIRST.—Joe Fernbach, of the Pioneer Brewery, claims the first crop of barley and wheat in the valley. It is growing in a little space in front of the brewery, the stalks now being finely headed out.

FOR A DANCE.—Yesterday several parties of young folks left Big Pine for a forty-mile trip across the Inyos and Deep Spring Valley to Fish Lake, to attend a grand dance at Piper's.

ACCORDING to the report of Mint Director Burchard the value of gold and silver mined in California and Nevada during 1882 was as follows: California—Gold, $12,737,000; silver, $845,000. Nevada—Gold, $2,356,000; silver, $6,750,000. In California, Mono stands at the head as the largest producer of both gold and silver, whilst Eureka is the banner county of Nevada. —Eureka Leader.

H. L. CHILDS, Superintendent of the Sierra Telegraph Company, will extend that company's line from Yosemite to the Big Tree Station, on the Madera road, a distance of twenty-six miles, as soon as the men and material can be got to the front. This new section of line will be used for telephone, at present, while the line from Bodie to Yosemite will be used for telegraph only.—Homer Index.

THE mineral exhibit at the Denver Exposition has reached colossal proportions. Colorado recognizes the importance of its mineral resources and is putting itself into a position to realize from and utilize the approaching revival in the mining business.

Atlantic and Pacific.

When the Atlantic and Pacific were on the eve of extending their line to the Pacific Coast by way of the Needles, Tehachapi Pass and the west side of the San Joaquin, and had already surveyed as far as Bakersfield, the Central Pacific stepped in, purchased stock to the amount of $4,000,000, and themselves agreed to build from Mojave to the Needles, the Colorado river. There was great dissatisfaction at this arrangement on the part of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé and other roads whose interests were affected, and to prevent the danger of any one of these corporations insisting upon having a through route in any event an ironclad agreement was made two or three weeks ago between the high contracting parties, which, it is said, if adhered to (a convenient clause), will prevent the Atlantic and Pacific from building a separate road to San Francisco for twenty years. There is little faith to be put in these agreements. A new Board of Directors does not consider itself bound by the acts of that which preceded it, but should it by chance be conscientious in its collective capacity, there is nothing to prevent individual stockholders from getting up a new corporation or conspiring with a separate corporation to do the very thing forbidden by the agreement. This is supposed to be the position in which the Atlantic and Pacific finds itself as a corporation. It wants an independent line to San Francisco, but has agreed not to build it. At this stage of the game there enters another corporation—let us say the South Pacific Coast—and agrees to take the responsibility of building from San Francisco to the Needles, on the Colorado river, and thus giving, without any responsibility of its own, the western extension which the Atlantic and Pacific desires. Persons well informed in railroad matters think this is the scheme which the South Pacific Coast has on hand, and the use to which it will put the splendid terminal facilities it is creating at the entrance to Oakland harbor. It proposes to open to traffic districts not now having railroads, namely: the San Pablo Valley, San Ramon Valley, portions of Livermore Valley and the west side of the San Joaquin, the last being a fertile region, that anxiously waits water and development. The local business of such a line should make it valuable and a transcontinental connection would render it one of the most popular and profitable of all the overland lines.

There are numerous railroad projects affecting San Francisco more or less directly. The California and Nevada, which the Central Pacific has fought in such dishonorable ways, still exists and maintains its organization, with the confident expectation of ere long building its narrow gauge from Emery's Station by way of San Pablo and Modesto to the Nevada line. The Central Pacific has ceased to fear it and no longer keeps its surveyors in the field east of Modesto. It has also ceased surveying the route from Merced to Yosemite, though it may conclude that that line should be built, should the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy scheme appear to be on the eve of execution. Another road that it is said has contemplated an overland line is the Chicago and St. Paul. The route which it has been suggested that company might follow is from Deadwood westward. Their desire for a connection with the Pacific Coast comes from what they consider the unjust treatment of the Union Pacific, but the route named is difficult and mountainous, and considering the nearness of both the Union and Northern Pacific, could scarcely prove profitable. It is nearly the same through Wyoming as that which the Central Pacific surveyed and threatened to build when they feared the Union Pacific intended to try and reach to the Pacific Coast by way of Southern Utah and Southern Nevada. It was a "bluff" on their part. Even if they had constructed the road it would have only extended to Ogden, while the Chicago and St. Paul, if they once began building, would have to extend the line to San Francisco.

Meanwhile the Southern Pacific pushes its schemes of immigration, placing agents in all the large cities of Europe, and endeavoring especially to get rid of its own lands. The ill health of Governor Stanford has placed him for the present hors du combat, leaving the task of looking after the forfeited land grant of the Texas Pacific to the active and wily Huntington. The managers of the Central Pacific fight desperately for the supremacy they have long maintained, but which they see now is rapidly waning.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Printer Wins.

The Carson Appeal brought suit against Ormsby county last week for a bill of advertising that the County Commissioners would not allow. To be honest, we did not look for the Appeal to win. There is so much pig-headed prejudice against the press of the State that it is hard work for it to come out ahead in such a case as this. The Commissioners of Ormsby county had some advertising done in the Appeal for which that paper charged them $64. They considered this an unfair price and refused to pay it, claiming that other papers published in Carson would do the printing for less than half that price. This may have been, but the figures given by the Appeal were regular rates for legal advertising, and not exorbitant in the least. The Carson Index offered to do the same amount of printing for $6 50, less than it cost for the composition of the matter, and by which the proprietors of that paper would lose on the transaction. Now, we would like to know what in the name of common sense a newspaper of this kind is run for. It is an outrage that such a one should be allowed to exist in a civilized community. These same County Commissioners, who are so afraid that the papers will get a few dollars out of the county, do not hesitate to allow other bills twice and three times the size of the one put in by the Appeal, and when they want a favor along towards election time or at any other time they do not hesitate to come and ask it. We are glad Mr. Davis won his suit and hope that any paper that may get into such a position hereafter will win. The Cheap John journalism is an abomination, and should be sat down upon in such a manner that it would never rise again.—Lyon County (Nev.) Times.

Politeness at Cards.

On the train between Montgomery, Alabama, and Nashville, Tennessee, there were a dozen of us chatting away in the smoking car, when one of the men drew out a pack of cards and proposed a game of euchre. He soon found a partner, and after a few hands they began playing for $1 a point and ten points for a game. Naturally enough we were all interested and more or less excited. By and by there was a slip somewhere, and the one called Colonel remarked:

"Major, hands off the cards!"

"Beg your pardon, Colonel, but the trick is mine."

"Major, I hope you will excuse me for calling you a liar."

"Oh, certainly, Colonel, but I take that trick with the king of spades."

"If you do, Major, I'll take you with this!" said the Colonel, as his shooter came out.

"Ah! let me see, Colonel– let us see. You led the nine of spades and I put on the king."

"No, Major; I led the nine of hearts and you refused suit."

"That's so," said the Major, as he looked over the cards. "Colonel, I beg your pardon for having taken you for a blackleg."

"Oh, don't mention it. Excuse me for having hesitated to shoot you when I believed you to be a Chicago gambler. It's your play, Major."—Chicago Herald.

MRS. HAGGARTY, of Cleveland, saved a man's life the other day by the most wonderful quickness of mind. Tobias Thompson was digging a well, when the earth began to cave and buried him up to the neck. Mrs. Haggarty saw what happened, got a piece of tin water-pipe and handed him and then screamed for help. Thompson was soon buried so deep that it took three hours to dig him out, and all the time he breathed through that pipe and without great distress, and, we may be sure, wanted to express gratitude to the woman who did in an instant the one thing which could have possibly saved his life.

THE present is a good time to collect the bones scattered about the premises. Break them up and bury them near the roots of fruit trees and grape vines. If the bodies of half the worthless dogs owned in the country could be similarly planted they would be of much more service than their animated carcasses are above ground.

AN illustration of what an oatmeal diet can do for philosophy is found in ths theory of a modern Scotch metaphysician that a smell is nothing but an inaudible noise which can be detected only by the nose, and that a noise is merely an audible smell which appeals only to the sense of hearing.

A SCOTCH parson said, somewhat sarcastically, of a hard drinker, that "he put an enemy in his mouth to steal away his brains, but that the enemy, after a thorough and protracted search, failed to find anything."

A CHILD of seven or eight said that that when the Bible speaks of "children's children" it must mean dolls.

The Placer County Iron Mines.

A correspondent of the Sacramento Record Union, writing from Clipper Gap, Placer county, says a few days ago he made a trip to the famous iron mines located at Hotaling, about four miles from Clipper Gap. The works and mines are owned by the California Iron and Steel Company, and are one of the leading industries of Placer county. Less than a year ago the works, together with a large stock of charcoal, were destroyed by fire. The company shortly afterward set a force of men at work to construct new works. The supervision of the construction of the new works, together with their operation, is in the hands of U. Seely, who kindly does all in his power to explain the workings of the mines and the process of reducing the ore to visitors who call there. At present there are but seventy men employed at the place. This force will be increased shortly to about seventy more. The various departments are in charge of foremen who are skilled and experienced in their respective duties. The capacity of the works at present is thirty tons a day. Three thousand bushels of charcoal are used each twenty-four hours. There are now 100,000 tons of ore ready to be smelted, and the sheds contain 250,000 bushels of charcoal. They intend to burn, in addition to the present quantity, 1,000,000 bushels for use next Winter. They have also about 4,000 tons of lime stored on the ground, which is used as flux in the smelting process.

The mines are located about 100 yards from the foundry. The shaft is now down to a depth of 100 feet, and a force is at work extending it seventy-five feet deeper. A great deal of ore has been extracted from above the present depth. The vein is about fourteen feet thick, and is pronounced by experts to be far above the average in quality, making superior foundry iron. It assays sixty-seven per cent. of iron, which is above the average assays of Pennsylvania ore.

The company have already surveyed for a railroad from the mines to a point on the Central Pacific about four miles above Auburn. It is intended to extend the road about ten miles back into the hills for the purpose of transporting charcoal. The length of the proposed road from the mines to the Central Pacific Railroad is about three and a half miles. The town of Hotaling is named after one of the mine owners, and is located a little northwest of the works. It is situated in a beautiful grove, and presents a cosy-like appearance; has a schoolhouse and store.

Why Some People Are Poor.

Silver spoons are used to scrape kettles.

Coffee, tea, pepper and spices are left to stand open and lose their strength.

Potatoes in the cellar grow and the sprouts are not removed until the potatoes become worthless.

Brooms are never hung up and are soon spoiled.

Nice-handled knives are thrown into the hot water.

The flour is sifted in a wasteful manner, and the bread pan is left with the dough sticking to it.

Clothes are left on the line to whip to pieces in the wind.

Tubs and barrels are left in the sun to dry and fall apart.

Dried fruits are not taken care of in season and become wormy.

Rags, strings and paper are thrown into the fire.

Pork spoils for the want of salt, and beef because the brine wants scalding.

Bits of meat, vegetables, bread and cold pudding are thrown away, when they might be warmed, steamed, and served as good as new.

WOOD RIVER is about uniting with the rest of the country in the iron bands of the railroad, the track being completed to Hailey a week or so ago, and nearly to Bellevue by this time. The mines of that country are mainly in good, enterprising hands, and they will make a record of production this year that will give the country a better name than anything that has been or could be said of it.

An Interesting Discovery.

According to a French paper, a number of coal mines in the north of France are about to be visited by a band of explorers of great distinction. Messages were recently sent from the place in question to the Academy of Sciences, in Paris, and to the authorities at the British Museum, inviting delegates from each of the bodies to pay a visit to the subterranean passages, where an uncommon discovery is said to have been made. The paper in question relates how, in excavating a new passage, the miners came across some extraordinary fossils, proving the presence there at some remote period of human beings, as well as of animals and fishes. The passage in question led, as it appears, into two caverns, the mouths of which have long been closed up, and in the first of these were discovered five perfect fossils—one of a man, two of women and two of children, besides several weapons and utensils of petrified wood and stone. The second cavern, discovered some time later, contained no less than eleven fossil bodies, described as being of large dimensions, a quantity of miscellaneous objects and some precious stones. In addition to this, it is ascertained that the walls of the cave were covered with sketches representing the combats of men with gigantic animals, from which it would appear that the human race, while battling for existence with the aid of stone axes against the monsters of the field and forest, were still acquainted with the graphic arts, and anxious to perpetuate their deeds of early heroism. The bones and bodies themselves have been removed to the neighboring town of Lens and Lille, in the latter of which places they were recently exhibited.

The Prehistoric Cemetery.

Two miles from Mandan, on the bluffs near the junction of the Hart and Missouri rivers, is an old cemetery of fully 100 acres in extent, filled with bones of a giant race. The vast city of the dead lies just east of the Ft. Lincoln road. The ground has the appearance of having been filled with trenches piled full of dead bodies, both man and beast, and covered with several feet of earth. In many places mounds from seven to eight feet high, and some of them 100 feet or more in length, have been thrown up, and are filled with bones, broken pottery, vases of various bright-colored flints and agates. The pottery is of a dark material, beautifully decorated, delicate in finish, and as light as wood, showing the work of a people skilled in the arts and possessed of a high state of civilization. This has evidently been a grand battle field, where thousands of men and horses have fallen. Nothing like a systematic or intelligent exploration has been made, as only little holes two or three feet in depth have been dug in some of the mounds, but many of the parts of the anatomy of man and beast, and beautiful specimens of broken pottery and other curiosities have been found in these feeble efforts at excavation. Five miles above Mandan, on the opposite side of the Missouri, is another vast cemetery as yet unexplored. We asked an aged Indian what his people knew of these ancient graveyards. He answered: "Me know nothing about them. They were here before the red man."—Mandan Pioneer.

A Monster Prison.

The largest prison in Europe is the House of Detention, which has just been completed at Berlin. The enormous edifice comprises six separate buildings, to which have been transferred all the prisoners awaiting trial who have hitherto been confined in the various prisons of Berlin. The prison for men consists of a ground floor and four other stories with 732 separate cells, dormitories for 195 prisoners, besides 40 rooms for turnkeys and sleeping accommodations for 118 attendants. Each of the 732 cells has a window 10 feet high. There are six cells in the basement for prisoners who are refractory to discipline, and in the basement are also to be found the kitchens, the bath rooms and the heating apparatus of the prison. The internal part of the prison is constructed of iron, and is so built that all the corridors look out upon a central hall, which commands a view of every cell. The prison for men, which is separated from the rest of the building by a wall 16 feet high, also contains a chapel and four large exercise grounds. The prison for women contains only 70 cells and 15 large dormitories, the latter of which are divided into sections, each containing a bed, which can be locked up every night after its occupant has retired to rest.

IT is said that the Homestake Mining Company of the Black Hills will erect a 200 stamp mill. It was only a few years ago that a 60 stamp mill was the largest in that camp. Then came an 80 stamp, and afterwards two 120-stamp mills. The rumor indicates a permanence in mining in that section which is gratifying to note.

AT a recent meeting of the miners of Jordan District it was resolved that $20 worth of work shall be done on each and every placer claim of twenty acres, and $100 worth of work on every placer claim of 160 acres, within twelve months after location, otherwise such claims shall be subject to relocation.

THE completion of the iron bridge of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway over the Cañon Diablo, in Arizona, adds another to the list of high bridges. It spans a dark, gloomy gorge. The bridge is 240 feet above the water, and 541 feet long. It weighs 837,130 pounds, and cost $200,000.

The Champion Fish Story.

"I seen in yer paper that there was some doubt throwed onto the President about him ketchin' such big trout down into the Florida swamps," said the Jamaica farmer to the cashier, as the latter handed him some back numbers he had missed.

"I hadn't noticed any such statement," replied the cashier.

"Well, it were said," argued the farmer, positively. "I seen it in yer paper. And what I want to say is this: that them trout he ketched wan't no shakes o' trout, nohow. They was nothin' to what we've been ketchin' down into our parts this Spring. We've been fishin' down there."

"Get any trout?" asked the cashier, turning to his books.

"Well, ye kin jedge. I made a cast one day, and them trout ain't all in yit! That hook wasn't into the water when a trout took holt, and then another trout took holt of him, and so on, till we had to wind 'em up on a reel, and them as is jedges says that one cast is likely for to last till cold weather!"

"That's pretty good," smiled the cashier, scratching his nose.

"Them as knows say it's pooty good," continued the farmer.

"That one fly has landed 1,600 weight up to date! But fishin' on the island ain't what it was when I was a boy." And the old man sighed.

"Don't mean to say you ever did better than that!" exclaimed the cashier.

"Ye don't talk like ye knowed them trout streams down on the island pooty well. I seen a Baptist minister dip fourteen converts, and when he pulled 'em out they was so covered with fish that they didn't git wet, and the minister said the baptism didn't take, and had to baptize 'em all over in another brook! That's what I call right smart o' fish."

"I should remark," grinned the cashier.

"But my boy done the derndest thing! He got in some work that the rest ain't tacklin', and never will. He goes down to a brook right close to the house and builds a fire. Onto that fire he puts a fryin' pan, and as soon as the pan was hot he begins to sing, 'When the Swallows Homeward Fly;' and I hope I may break a spring on the way home if, every time he got to the word 'fly,' the trout didn't jump out of that brook and land in the fryin' pan every flop! Yes, sir, yer bet yer life!"

"That's better than the other," said the cashier, encouragingly.

"Yes, and its better than any President has done sence I been a voter, and that's goin' on forty year!"

And the farmer walked out with the air of a man who was satisfied that he had vindicated the Chief Executive of his country.—Brooklyn Eagle.

He Would a Masher Be.

Not long ago a Berkeley dude sent to an estimable young lady of Berkeley a letter, to which he added the following postscript:

"P. S. That my darling may make no mistake, remember that I will wear a light pair of pants and a dark cutaway coat. In my right hand I will carry a small cane, and in my left a cigar.

"Yours, forever, BEN."

The father replied courteously, stating that his daughter had given him authority to represent her at the appointed place, at the time prescribed. The postscript added was as follows:

"P. S. That my son may make no mistake, I will be dressed in my shirt-sleeves. I will wear in my right hand a club, in my left I will wear a six-shooter, 45-caliber. You will recognize me by the way I bat you on the head with the club. Wait for me on the corner, as I have some important things of which to inform you.

"Your friend, MR. C——."

THREE or four years ago it was found that certain shapes of steel and iron work were required for the Brooklyn bridge, such as no mill was then making. This necessitated new patterns, and representatives of the mills desiring to bid for the work went to New York to consult with Colonel Roebling. They were greatly surprised when Mrs. Roebling sat down with them, and by her knowledge of engineering helped them out with their patterns and cleared away difficulties which had for weeks been puzzling their brains. Mrs. Roebling passed over the bridge in her carriage, the first vehicle to make the transit.

PUT a teaspoonful of sulphur in the nest as soon as hens or turkeys are set. The heat of the fowls causes the fumes of the sulphur to penetrate every part of their bodies; every louse is killed, and, as nits hatch within ten days, when the mother leaves the nest with her brood she is perfectly free from nits or lice.

A RURAL TYRO, in setting up a farm item, made it read: "The temperature of the soul depends upon its humidity," and when the editor came in with his wet boots on and lifted the wretch out into the soil of the adjoining pig pen, he had time to reflect upon the difference between soul and soil.

A CLERK of an eminently respectable house, the head of which is a deacon, was instructed to prepare an advertisement and have it inserted in the papers. He prepared one which read: "The pot scooped! We hold four aces to the bob-tail flush of any other house in town on fine tablecloths."

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JUNE 9.....1883

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

It has been determined to celebrate the Fourth of July at this place in good style. At a meeting of prominent citizens held last Wednesday evening the proposition was discussed and favorably voted upon to make this celebration not a local but a county affair, and an invitation was and is extended to the citizens of Inyo county at large to come and assist and participate in that celebration. The presence of a large force of railroad men in the immediate vicinity of Independence, and a desire to give them appropriate amusement on that day, entered largely into the determination of our citizens to hold this celebration. It has been some years since Independence has appropriately celebrated the national anniversary, and it is time we were again taking our place among those communities that are alive and that take interest in the common and universal usages of American citizens. It is the intention to make the celebration one of dignity, and to afford to each and every citizen an opportunity to enjoy himself to his heart's desire. It was regarded as a just thing that a county celebration should be held at the county seat, and we hope that on that day we shall see crowding our streets citizens in goodly numbers from all parts of the county, near and remote. A general invitation has been or will be formally extended by an appropriate committee to all such citizens.

To the citizens of Independence and its immediate vicinity we suggest that all private and personal feeling and predelictions be set aside in the discussion of ways and means and the preparation for this event. Let each one forget him or herself and with might and main work for the success of a common plan. "The greatest pleasure to the greatest number" should be the watchword. We know that is possible to have a splendid celebration and a general good time, and from the enthusiasm and interest manifested by those to whom have been intrusted the arrangements, we feel that it will be a grand success. On the morning of the Fourth we shall expect to hear over our mountains and through our valleys something akin to that old Judean cry: "Up, Israel, to the Temple haste and keep your natal day!"

THE Chinese are likely to suffer severely at the hands of the French in the war which now seems to be unavoidable. It is not long since a thin French brigade marched through the country to Peking, looted and burned the Summer Palace. The Chinese never cut a very heroic figure in war. Some good artillery practice was displayed in the attempt of the British in 1859 to pass the forts at the Peiho. But it afterwards transpired that the guns were served by Russian officers. The outcome this time may be what Commodore Shufeld surmised—the expensive navy which the Chinese now have and which is little more than a plaything for them, will fall to the share of the French. This may be a cheap way of angmenting the navy of the latter.

THE Superintendent of the Pittsburg public schools advocates the daily reading of newspapers by the pupils of the schools. In a recent convention of Pennsylvania teachers, that gentleman opposed the use of any and all spelling books, because he contended that a word standing by itself was dead, while in a sentence it had life. He ridiculed the reading lesson to be found in the school, and wanted the newspaper substituted for the prosy readers dealing with unrealities and teaching nothing. The idea is by no means a new one, and many sensible persons favor it. The chief trouble would be in selecting "clean" newspapers for that purpose.

A DISPATCH from San José, dated June 2, says: Judge Belden to-day passed sentence on Jewell, Majors and Showers, convicted of the murder of W. P. Renowden on the 19th of March. Jewell was sentenced to be hanged on the 27th of July. Majors and Showers were each sentenced to the State Prison for the balance of their natural lives. The Judge, in his remarks, said each one of the defendants deserved the extreme penalty of the law, for it was evident the plan was to rob and murder Renowden, as no disguise was attempted and no preparations for flight made.

EXPORTS from San Francisco for May embraced over 100,000 barrels of flour, about 500,000 centals of wheat, 1,400 flasks of quicksilver, and other products, the whole valued at about $2,500,000. This is exclusive of a large line of freight shipped overland. Upwards of $1,250,000 in specie was also shipped. The wool, fruit, much barley, flour and other commodities go by rail to the East. These straws indicate the prosperity of the State.

"SUNLIGHT MYSTERIES."

In the June number of Harper's Magazine appears an article written by William C. Wyckoff, entitled "Sunlight Mysteries." The subject of the article in part is Mount Whitney. The article purports to have been written by one of the party of scientists who camped on and around the mountain during the Summer of 1872. In most respects it is well written and elaborate, and illustrates many of the wonders of this truly remarkable mountain and the clear atmospheres that envelope it, and which presented many new and interesting studies to the gentlemen composing that party. If the writer had confined himself to the phenomena presented, he would have pleased and delighted his readers, enlarged the fame of this region and made it memorable and attractive by the splendors of his subject. The beauty and attractiveness as well as truthfulness of the article is marred, almost ruined, as a daub of paint blurs the beauty of a picture, by statements of the immoral conditions of society in this valley, far drawn and widely at variance with the truth. Turning the leaves of over twenty years of history and going back to the time when this was a terra incognita he writes of things long forgotten as if they were the events of to-day. The following quotation will illustrate:

A camp was pitched at the foot of the Sierras, near a place called Lone Pine. It is a fair specimen of Southwestern frontier towns, and consists chiefly of one street. When a lucky party of Mexicans are visiting the town, playing cards thrown out of the windows litter the street as with Autumn leaves. Spasms of morality are felt at intervals in Lone Pine, social earthquakes, when superfluous gamblers must get out or be wiped out. The tone of society is better than in some towns farther down the border—Parsontown, for instance, which is famous for its three successive clergymen. The first of these shepherds shot the husband of one of his flock, and married the widow. The second was partner in a faro bank, and lost influence because his "pard" cheated. The third, in addition to his religious duties at Parsontown, kept one of the stage stations on the star route. He had his enemies; one of them came fooling around the station, and was shot by the preacher. So far there was nothing startling. But provisions were scarce, and the clergyman fed stage passengers on broiled and jerked enemy for several days. An army surgeon happened that way, dined on a cutlet, and recognized one of the bones as human. Clergymah No. 3 fled; he was afterward captured, and suspended at once from the ministry and a pine branch. Parsontown has now no regular preaching.

Could anything be farther from the truth, measurad by the events of these times? The thousands of Harper's readers will gather from this statement that this is a country devoid of all moral influences; that its population is made up of gamblers and outlaws, and that ours is the worst type of a cow-boy civilization. The above statement was unworthy of the man who made it, and we are at a loss to understand the temper and tone of the mind that could turn from the contemplation of the splendid mysteries described to relate things so wretched and detestable, even if true. To mingle with awful and luminous Whitney; the deep blue skies; the mighty range of splendid and shining horizons—this depraved picture of human degradation was, indeed, a wonderful feat of the mind. The statement is manifestly unjust to a population that, though living on the verge of the world, subjected to the temptations of frontier life and spreading over a vast breadth of country, has not for a twelve-month past furnished a single occupant for its jail, and whose Court is but seldom called into session to settle even the business disputes of its people. A better ordered people than those who populate the county cannot be found upon the wide globe itself. Order, subjection to law, a decent respect for the rights of mankind ennobles their temper and marks them as a people of remarkable moral character. The statement illustrates the temptation of writers generally to startle the readers with things wierd, desperate or harsh, and is but a bid to a low instinct of the human mind for the sensational, though it be in a direction that is cruel and unjust.

We could not let the statement pass, coming from so high and ancient literary authority, for set forth in its leaves it takes the form and force of an ex cathedra statement and becomes settled and historical, and we here protest against its injustice, its suggestions and untruthfulness as a statement of our condition to-day. Something could be truthfully written of the peculiarly jolly disposition of some of the members of that scientific party and of the number of "good times" had in that same Lone Pine; but we forbear, for so far as their duties were concerned they wrought faithfully and well.

LAND must be pretty cheap in the Southwest. A Mr. Jabez B. Watkins, of Lawrence, Kansas, has just bought 802,357 acres in Louisiana, paying therefor the sum of $100,294. This makes the price paid per acre about one bit, which seems exceedingly cheap; but as the land he has bought is nothing but swamp and marsh with a little inaccessible timber, his bargain is not, after all, a very good one.

A NEW CONNECTION.

Something like a year ago a party of engineers was surveying the country to the east and south of here. It was ostensibly in the interests of the Union Pacific Railroad, which, it seems, saw the impending disaster to its business when the Central Pacific and the Denver and Rio Grande Railroads became connected. Later events would appear to tend to the welfare of this county. Rumors of the possibility of the Union Pacific Railroad Company extending its track from Tintic on, across Western Utah, Nevada and California to San Francisco have, says the Salt Lake Tribune, been in the air for a long time If that company does not perform the work some other company will; because the route constitutes a link which must be filled. No other road that could possibly be built would be of so much direct interest to this country, and the company that builds the road will be astonished at the business which will spring up along its track. Stretching away west of Tintic the first stopping place would be Deep Creek. This district has been known for many years. It has some rich ore and immense bodies of low-grade ore, but so far has been unprofitable because of its distance from cheap transportation and the consequent cost of working and of getting the base bullion to market. Beyond Deep Creek the road might deflect south and pass the old camp of Pioche and the rich camp of Bristol, and go on via the old southern camps of Nevada; but it would probably bear away across the Shell Creek Range, by Cherry Creek and Egan Cañon to Eureka. From Eureka the road would run by the base of old White Pine Mountain, which is full of mineral, thence on via Hot Creek, Belmont and a dozen other rich mining camps to a junction with the Carson and Colorado Railroad, probably at Candelaria. From that point it would either deflect to the northward and cross the Sierras by the old Big Tree route, or bending southward cross below the snow line through Walker Pass and thence swing back to the northward 250 miles to San Francisco. By this lower route San Francisco would be reached from Salt Lake by 1,000 miles of road. It would pass and draw tribute from at least twenty prominent mining districts, and its final run of 250 miles would be through the Garden of the Golden State. The topographical difficulties to be overcome would nowhere be great; the road, fully equipped with steel rails and all the improvements of modern railroad building, should not cost to exceed $25,000 per mile from Tintic to beyond the Sierras. In round nnmbers, the road might actually cost $30,000,000. Fifteen per cent. per annum on this amount would be $4,500,000, or, say, $4,500 per annum per mile. This is about one-fourth of what the Central Pacific has heretofore paid. That is, could the new road obtain half the freight and travel which the Central Pacific has heretofore enjoyed, and charge half the Central's rates, it would have 7½ per cent. of its cost for operating expenses, and 7½ per cent. for dividends. A narrow-gauge road, costing half the sum, could do all the business, but would lose some of the travel. We believe that the local patronage, without any through business at all, would pay operating expenses and 7½ per cent. dividends on the cost from the start, and at fair rates. The road to Salt Lake would be an immense feeder. Nevada is simply a mining State, which means that all it has is in the form of minerals, and almost everything that is eaten or worn, or used in mining or the reduction of ores, has to be purchased abroad. The demand for coal and coke, and the bringing out of bullion and ores, would alone give a road enough business to pay a fair per centage on its cost. The road would make such a market for Salt Lake as no other road ever has, and so manifest is this, that were this city peopled by such spirits as are found in American cities generally, it would build the road out for 250 miles itself, if no company would undertake the enterprise.

THE electric street railroad has almost become an accomplished fact. In Chicago experiments with electricity and a railway motor are in progress. In Newark, New Jersey, the scheme has developed into a feasibility. A company is now engaged in connecting the rails of a horse-car road between Newark and Bloomfield, in that State, with fish-plates in order to make a good electrical connection, and it is expected that the cars will be running by electricity by the 1st of July. Thus Newark will have the second electric railway in the world. Berlin had the first.

JULY next will be signalized in this State by at least two memorial events. One will be the hanging at San Bernardino of Billy McDowell for the murder of Maggie O'Brien in February last. The other is the promised hanging of Joseph Jewell, the slayer of old Renowden near Los Gatos on the 11th of March. The crimes were committed within a few days of each other and a similarly short time will intervene between their expiation.

The Metallurgy of Nickel.

Nickel ore is more generally distributed throughout the mineral-bearing portions of the United States than is generally supposed. It is commonly associated with chrome ores from Canada to Maryland on the Atlantic side, and equally with the chrome ores of the Pacific slope, notably in Oregon. It is also a common associate of magnetic pyrites in the archæan rocks, being found in Litchfield county, in Connecticut; in the highlands of the Hudson, in New York and New Jersey; and specially at Lancaster Gap, in Pennsylvania, where the chief supply of nickel has been obtained for the United States. This ore yields from 1½ to 2 per cent. of nickel, but is enriched by smelting at the mine into a matte containing 10 per cent. or more of the metal. This locality was worked some thirty years ago by Prof. James C. Booth and others, of Philadelphia, and some nickel alloy was made. Some ten years later Mr. Joseph Wharton purchased the works and established the industry at Camden, N. J., opposite Philadelphia, where it has since been carried forward. A large portion of the metal produced at these works by Mr. Wharton has been used at the United States Mint for the subsidiary small coins, and a considerable amount has been exported. Since the development of nickeling by galvanism, a large part of the product has been put into the form of nickel salts and anodes. But Mr. Wharton, not being content with the production of impure nickel, early began experimenting to determine whether nickel could not be produced in a pure and malleable condition, susceptible of being worked in nearly the same manner as iron, and of being applied in the manufacture of various articles requiring strength of material and a material that cannot be easily oxidized. One of his earliest experiments was to take the somewhat spongy mass got by reduction of the oxide of nickel and, after heating it to full redness, work it under a steam-hammer into a bar.

In 1873 Mr. Wharton sent to the Vienna Exhibition a sample of nickel in the form of axles and axle-bearings, and at the Exhibition in Philadelphia in 1876 he exhibited a remarkable series of objects made of wrought nickel, such as bars, rods, a cube, a horseshoe magnet and magnetic needles of forged nickel. These did not excite the interest to which they were entitled as a remarkable advance in the working of this little-known metal. The exhibit did not cause much comment, and it was not specially described or reported upon, except by the judges, who reported the exhibit to the Commission as worthy of an award in the following terms: "A fine collection of nickel ores from Lancaster county, Pa., with nickel matte, metallic nickel in grains and cubes, and manufactured nickel, both cast and wrought; nickel magnets and magnetic needles, cast cobalt, electro-plating with nickel and cobalt, and salts and oxides of both these metals; the whole showing a remarkable degree of progress in their metallurgical treatment."

Some of the objects formed of wrought nickel were sent over to Paris two years later, and were exhibited in the American section in 1878. There, as in Philiadelphia, they did not at first excite any surprise or receive any special attention. Very few persons realized what the objects really were, and that they were very different from alloys of nickel. In fact, very few chemists had ever seen nickel. Pure nickel was a rarity, a curiosity, just as samples of indium or thallium are to-day. You can then, perhaps, imagine the incredulity of the expert chemists and metallurgists of Europe, when whole ingots and forged bars of metal and numerous finished articles of pure wrought nickel, without alloy, were offered for inspection. These articles not differing greatly in their appearance from the higher grades of nickel alloys, or from electro-nickel objects, they passed them without surprise. No previous exhibition had been so rich in exhibits of the use of nickel and in the products from them. The influx of the pure carbonated and oxidized ores from New Caledonia had greatly stimulated the nickel industry in Europe, and had improved the quality of the alloys of nickel. New companies had been formed to manufacture nickel-silver and to produce nickel from these superior ores at a lower cost than had before been possible. Christofle, of Paris, had just erected extensive works at St. Denis, and had made a most brilliant display of his products in one of the main avennes of the Exposition. The Vivians, of Swansea, and other exhibitors had large cases filled with beautiful objects of hollow and solid ware made of nickel-silver. Amid these various exhibits of striking tours de force, the modest little show case from the United States with examples of manufaetures of pure wrought nickel, not alloy, could hardly be expected to excite attention and win the golden award, which was most cheerfully accorded as soon as the fact was demonstrated by analysis that the objects were really of the pure metal. Some of the objects now shown were at that exhibition, and have retained their brilliant polish and luster unimpaired. These notable advances in the metallurgy of nickel, made with the lean and sulphureted ores of Lancaster Gap, prepared the way for greater advances.—Engineering Journal.

THE people of Hawthorne are making an effort toward securing the abandonment by the Government of the Walker Lake Indian reservation. It is a fact that valuable mineral and agricultural lands are by it withheld from development and public uses, and that without the least practical benefit to the Indians. The native red skins of that region are not half as well advanced as those of this valley, and under the reservation system are of infinitely less use to themselves or the whites. Our readers can imagine a like state of affairs which would exist here to-day had Josiah and Houghton succeeded in getting that Indian reservation established. Let aborigines learn to work instead of being starved by thieving agents.

WE note in the San Diego papers that the press of the city of bay and climate urges upon its citizens the expediency of making an effort to profit by the gold fever in Lower California. It is proposed to make San Diego the base of supplies for the gold fields. The indications seem to be that the new El Dorado is but a delusion and a snare.

IT is said that 20,000 Chinamen are to be brought to Brazil at a cost of $10 per head. They are to be indentured foa five years as laborers, and will be paid thirty-two cents a day, out of which they will have to feed and clothe themselves.

THE latest phase of the Irish troubles question is the attitude taken by several London dailies in pronouncing O'Donovan Rossa and Tynan, No. 1, British spies in Government employ. The outgiving smacks of the Government itself having a finger in the pie.

A HUNDRED MEMBERS of the English Parliament have signed the petition to the Prime Minister in favor of extending to women the county franchise on the same terms as men.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE FOURTH.—A meeting of citizens was held at the Court House on Wednesday evening last according to call, and formally resolved to celebrate the coming Fourth of July at this place. The meeting was organized by the selection of S. D. Thurston as President and Dan'l Crough Secretary. After some discussion a general Committee of Arrangements, empowered to appoint sub-committees and make and carry out an entire programme, was selected as follows: John W. P. Laird, John A. Hannah, Dan'l Crough, Isaac Harris, A. W. Eibeshutz, P. A. Chalfant, John C. Irwin, Jas. E. Parker, Geo. H. Hardy. The Committee met on Thursday afternoon and after electing Dan'l Crough Secretary the following special committees were organized: On Finances—A. W. Eibeshutz, E. Robinson, Thos. Webb, I. Harris, Jos. Fernbach. On Literary Exercises—S. D. Thurston, Dan'l Crough, Geo. H. Hardy, P. A. Chalfant, Dr. H. G. Kernodle. On Programme of Music—G. H. Hardy, S. D. Woods, E. Gibbs, Jos. Harris and Mrs. H. G. Kernodle, Mrs. Wm. F. Matlack and Miss Nettie Thompson. On Decoration—H. P. Cartier, Wm. F. Matlack, Mrs. I. Harris, Mrs. E. M. Johnson, Mrs. Geo. H. Hardy. On Fire Works and Salutes—Abraham Parker, John Crough, Alexander Clark. On Management of Grand Ball—J. D. Blair, Thos. Crough, Jno. W. P. Laird. General Reception Committee—O. I. Mairs, S. G. Gregg, Jno. A. Lank, A. N. Bell, H. Levy, L. Wood. On Invitation—Prominent citizens of the various localities of Inyo, to be announced next week. A final meeting of citizens was held last evening, at which the Finance Committee made a report of progress. The Committee on Decoration was instructed to prepare a grand stand in the Court House grounds and arrange the Court room for the ball. It is the intention to arrange the entire programme in time for regular announcement next week. For the purpose of receiving reports from the several committees the Executive Committee will meet next Thursday evening, at the District Attorney's office.

THE MINERAL EXPOSITION.—Mr. J. J. Gunn of Darwin, who is taking an active interest in the Exhibition, reports from that place that the citizens generally see the importance of having Inyo make a good showsng, and they are acting accordingly, and gathering in minerals from the different camps in that part of the County. Mr. Gunn sends in the following subscriptions with the cash: Reidy, Gorman & Co. $25; Frank Silva, $1; J. B. White, $1; J. C. Eddy, $2 50; W. Horan, $1; T. Boland, $2 50; J. A. Mc Kenzie, $2 50; J. W. Harkins, $1; Mrs. C. F. Smart, $1; W. R. Johnson, $1; P. H. Mack, $1; My. Harman, $1 50; J. J. Gunn, $2 50; total, $43 50. Up to this time we have no report of any action being taken in Bishop Creek on this matter.

PERSONAL.—Wm. Hamilton, one of the most widely-known men in California, was here the other day, and proposes to devote his entire attention to the business of mining at two or three points in Inyo....Nathan Rhine, of H. & R., left for San Francisco last Thursday, accompanied by Mrs. L. Wood and family....S. L. McNaughton passed a busy day or two here on stage matters... J. B. White is in from Darwin, and reports a much better feeling in mining matters generally.... Jos. Schalten, Johnny Erwin, R. Hessian, Albert Halverson and others were down from Big Pine. Albert's hand has recovered from that bite inflicted by a calf diseased with the black leg, but the fingers are rigid and the hand permanently crippled.

TELEGRAPH.—One of the coming necessities will be either a telegraph or telephone wire from this point to the railroad depot across the river, and if possible it ought to be completed by the time the main line gets down that far. S. D. Thurston, who has had ample experience in the business, proposes to become one of a company to raise $300, with which he guarantee to put up a line and place it in perfect working order. There can be no question but that it would pay for itself in a very short time.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.—At the election for School Trustees of Independence District, held last Saturday, J. W. P. Laird, I. Harris and E. Robinson were elected. Forty-seven votes were cast—an unusually large turn out on such an occasion. Some ladies were voted for, but it is proper to state that they knew absolutely nothing about the fact at the time.

ACCIDENT.—Last Thursday, at T. K. Hutchison's place on Bishop creek, while playing with Hutchison's little boy, Gus McGovern had one of his eyes destroyed by a small stone, thrown by the boy. This is, indeed, a serious misfortune and it is to be hoped that later reports will not confirm the statement.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—The notices of last week regarding the special meetings of the Inyo County Board of Education were wrong a week as to date. It will be seen that as now announced the meetings will occur on next Tuesday and Wednesday, in accordance with the last adjournment.

EXTRAS.—Extra copies of the County Business Directory can still be obtained at this office, on fine book paper or card board, the former being especially convenient for mailing to friends abroad. Send in your orders or call and get them, the price being respectively 50 cents and $1 each, rolled and addressed.

MINING PATENTS.—District Attorney Laird makes an addition to his professional card announcing that he will hereafter make the business of obtaining mineral patents a specialty—a fact of interest to mine owners generally.

An Excursion.

During the last week a number of persons from Big Pine visited Mr. N. T. Piper, of Oasis, en masse and made the Piper homestead ring with merriment. If there is a place where anyone can enjoy himself, that place is "Pike's." This company availed themselves of the noted hospitality of the host and hostess, and had "lots of fun." Dancing was kept up every night, and during the day one might see Jack Moore, H. Burt, Perry McMurry, Gus Baker, Dick Hessian and others engaged in "leap frog." During a ramble after dark, Gus Baker and H. Burt got lost and had to sojourn in a sheep corral about a quarter of a mile from the house. Boys of their age and experience should be at home and in bed at such a late hour. A number of the young ladies rapped at "Pike's" door in the early morning, and he thinking some of his men wished to see him, hastily opened the door, without taking the precaution of donning his apparel, and consequently caused a general stampede. Bill McDonald would eat nothing (Oh, Bill!) on the trip excepting three-leaf alfalfa—the nearest he could get to shamrock. They placed all the "bottled lemonade" in Bill's charge, too, but soon found out that he wouldn't do; every male member of the crowd served his turn, but, alas! the temptation was strong. After crossing the sandy, desert-like hills and plains, Piper's seems like a paradise—everything that one could wish for, in abundance. Mrs. Piper, a most accomplished lady, did all in her power to have her friends enjoy their visit. And they did. YOU KNOW.

The Fourth at West Bishop.

WEST BISHOP, June 5.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT: The patrons of the Irving Sabbath school have decided to hold a regular Sabbath school basket picnic on the Fourth of July, in the grove on the farm of Wm. McLaren. A cordial invitation is extended to all, and we hope to spend the glorious old Fourth in a manner both pleasant and profitable to all. The procession will start from the Irving schoolhouse, headed by a "floral car" carrying the Goddess of Liberty surrounded by girls representing the States of the Union. The exercises of the day will consist of music, reading, oration, etc. The programme will be published in THE INDEPENDENT in due time. CITIZENS.

County Map—Attend to This At Once.

WEST OAKLAND, June 5, 1883.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT: I wish you would call the attention of the settlers of Inyo county to the fact that I am having the county map lithographed. All those wishing to have their names and places noted on the same will forward to me by mail the legal subdivisions of their land and name of owner. To the owners of mining claims not surveyed for patent: Send me description of location, name of mine and owner. Respectfully,

JOHN B. TREADWELL.

RUMORS.—A rumor has been floating about to the effect that Beaudry & Belshaw were preparing to start up the Union works at Cerro Gordo; that a number of the old freighting company's teams were en route, etc. So far as we can learn the matter lacks definite confirmation.

THE SACRAMENTO.—During the week the Sacramento mill at Piute District made a partial clean-up of the battery and plates, resulting in ninety ounces of fine gold. Another new pan is to be put in place and some necessary alterations made for future operations.

FOR SALE.—In advertisements elsewhere this week are offerred for sale the fine threshing machines operated last season by Hessian & McGovern, to anyone giving first class security. Also, a fine team and wagons, for cash. See the "ads."

RETURNED.—Dr. B. E. Stevenson has returned to Inyo after an absence of a year or more in Fresno county. The Doctor intends locating permanently at Independence.

A SALE.—Wm. J. Lake to-day sold, through S. D. Woods, to W. P. Miller, of Oakland, the Montezuma mine and property; consideration in the deed, $5,000.

CATTLE SOLD.—N. H. A. Mason, one of the cattle bosses of Nevada, lately purchased of N. T. Piper, of Fish Lake, 180 head of cattle at $25 each.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal says: "For years we have stood out against blood-spilling in Kentucky. It is a blot, and a deep one, upon our escutcheon. We shall never cease in our efforts to wipe it out. But we hope never to live to see the day when the unwritten law requiring the life of a man for the honor of a woman shall be relaxed."

THERE is now in San Francisco a lady whose presence is well worth remark. She is Professor Mary Krom, of the Denver School of Mines, and is believed to be the only practical female assayer in the United States. She is on the coast partly for recreation and partly for mineralogical observation.

THE Second Suez Canal has now taken definite shape. The Company have announced that they propose to commence the cutting forthwith, and have applied to the English Government for its support in obtaining the necessary concession of land from the Khedive.

COME TO ME, DEAREST.

Come to me dearest, I'm lonely without thee,
Day time and night time I'm thinking about thee;
Night time and day time in dreams I behold thee,
Unwelcome the waking which ceases to fold thee.
Come to me, darling, my sorrows to lighten,
Come in thy beauty to bless and to brighten,
Come in thy womanhood, meekly and lowly,
Come in thy lovingness, queenly and holy.

Swallows will flit round the desolate ruin,
Telling of Spring and its joyous renewing;
And thoughts of thy love and its manifold treasure
Are circling my heart with a promise of pleasure;
O! Spring of my spirit, O! May of my bosom,
Shine out on my soul till it burgeon and blossom—
The waste of my life has a rose root within it,
And thy fondness alone to the sunshine can win it.

Features lit up by a reflex of heaven—
Eyes like the skies of poor Erin, our mother,
When shadows and sunshine are chasing each other;
Smile coming seldom, but childlike and simple,
Planting in each rosy cheek a sweet dimple;
O! thanks to the Savior, that even thy seeming
Is left to the exile to brighten his dreaming!

You have been glad when you knew I was gladdened;
Dear, are you sad now to hear I am saddened?
Our hearts ever answer in tune and in time, love,
As octave to octave and rhyme unto rhyme, love;
I cannot but weep, but your tears will be flowing—
You cannot smile, but my cheeks will be glowing—
I would not die without you at my side, love—
You will not linger when I shall have died, love.

Come to me dear, ere I die of my sorrow,
Rise on my gloom like the sun of to-morrow,
Strong, swift and fond as the words which I speak, love,
With a song on your lip and a smile on your cheek, love;
Come, for my heart in your absence is weary—
Haste, for my spirit is sickened and dreary;
Come to the arms which alone should caress thee,
Come to the heart which is throbbing to press thee.
—Joseph Brennan.

THE following characteristic anecdote of the sojourn of the Princess Louise in Bermuda is told in England: On the day prior to the grand reception accorded her at St. George's she was out sketching, when, feeling thirsty, she called at the hut of a negro fisherman and requested a drink of water. Now "Auntie," the fisherman's wife, was just then engaged in ironing a shirt for her old man to wear at the reception, and somewhat testily replied: "I'se no time to bodder wid you; I'se fea'ful busy, for I'se bound to see de Queen's chile to-morrow." With that easy grace which characterizes her, the Princess said: "But if you will get me some water I will finish the shirt for you." This offer was accepted and the ironing completed. The Princess disclosed her identity. "Fo' de Lo'd, honey," said the startled auntie, "my ole man nor no one else ever wears dat shirt again, nohow."

IT is an extraordinary thing that goats are not more used as milk animals in this country and England. In Southern Europe it is difficult to get cow's milk, and anyone who has consumed the milk of the goat in tea or coffee will have no doubt as to its superiority for that purpose. Chemical analysis shows how much more nutritious it is than that of a cow. The cost of a goat or two is very small, and the ease with which they are fed should render them popular with both rich and poor. To try and combat the unreasoning prejudice which exists in England against the goat—except at the sea shore and when harnessed to small wagons for the amusement of children—a society has been formed under the name of the British Goat Society. Its object is to popularize the use of goats' milk and goats' flesh.

Queer Educational Results.

It is by some persons considered an open question whether education educates. There is no question that educational machinery, properly lubricated with cash, moves smoothly, taking in at one end of its curriculum thousands of bright-eyed urchins and turning them out duly at the other end after five or six years, with more or less of knowledge. But the machine seems to be out of gear in Illinois, and the urchins will have a poor show, as the following answers given at an examination by several teachers in Adams county, Ill., holding first-grade certificates, would indicate:

One named as three living American poets, Shakespeare, Byron and Longfellow.

One teacher thought Shakespeare was dead; thought he died in Indiana about twenty years ago.

Another said "Pilgrim's Progress" was written by Longfellow.

Another said "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was written by Byron.

Another thought a bicycle was a musical instrument.

Another did not know what a telephone was.

Another did not know that Congress was in session the past Winter.

Another said Illinois had ten United State Senators and New York 120; said he voted for United States Senator from Illinois.

Another thought that Frelinghuysen was a machine.

Several had not heard of the Vienna or United States floods, or of the Star-route trial. Most of them are men teachers, and these are only part of the answers.

THE Eureka Sentinel gives the following example of queer ore, showing that miners should "try all things, and hold fast to that which is good": A case in point happened the other day at the Eureka Consolidated reduction works, at which tribute ores and sample lots are received from all over Southeastern Nevada. Some ores had come in from Reveille District, Nye county, some sixty miles southeast of Tybo, and from Morey, which no miner in this district would stop on the hills to look at for a moment. The rock from Reveille especially seems wanting in every aspect of what is called ore in these parts. To use Bob Zeile's expression, "it looks like a mixture of lime and brickbat." But this very stuff, some six tons, was tested and found to average over $2,000 per ton in silver and gold, chiefly the former. Some experts came down to the works, and Uncle Zeile showed them the pile from which an assay had been made, with the remark: "What do you think of this sort of snff? I don't think there is anything in it." They all agreed with him, of course, and went away with the impression still strong in their minds that what they don't know about ore is not worth knowing.

A MAN who weighs 150 pounds on the earth, if transported to Jupiter would shake the ground with a ponderous tread of 45,000 pounds, or 22½ tons. A hickory nut, falling from a bough, would crash through him like a Minie-ball. Water would weigh fifteen times as much as quicksilver. A moderate wave would shiver to atoms the strongest ironclad.

INYO COUNTY is making arrangements to be adequately represented in the mineral exhibition to be held in San Francisco this Summer, and her example might be profitably imitated by other counties, most of whom appear to be apathetic. This is the best opportunity they have ever had to advertise their mineral riches.—S. F. Alta.

BURCHARD, Director of the Mint, has left Washington upon an official visit to the mining regions of the Western States and Territories.

THE coinage of the various Mints for May was $4,721,200, of which $235,000 were standard dollars.

THE San Joaquin Valley Agricultural Association will offer $30,000 in premiums this year.

The Precious Metals.

According to Mr. Burchard, Director of the Mint, the yield of gold and silver in the United States last year was in round numbers $80,000,000. This is about $1 50 per capita, or $40 per capita for the 2,000,000 people in business which were not in business last year. This is not an alarming amount, and when we subtract what was lost by abrasion and in other ways, and what was absorbed by the arts, we find that the whole sum remaining is not more than sufficient to keep behind the increased amount of paper necessary to carry on the swelling business of the country. It is, every cent, required to make a basis for the mighty transactions in wheat and cotton and railroads of the East. The product of the work of 2,000,000 or 3,000,000 on this side of the continent is needed to give character to the paper through which the 50,000,000 on the other side do their business. We must not forget another thing. This country is turning out annually some hundreds of those institutions called millionaires, and many thousands of people who, without becoming millionaires, do become independent. All these want silver plate, they want jewelry, they want gold and silver in a hundred forms besides money, so that it is natural to hear that the arts absorbed more of the precious metals last year than during any previous year; it is natural to hear that with the increasing trade of the world gold is growing more and more scarce, and that values are falling. Unless some new and great gold deposits are speedily found the pressure will become so great and the inflation of gold so serious that England and Germany will have to remonetize silver or be placed at such a discount among the nations of the earth that wide-spread disasters will follow. The silver men are being vindicated in their position every day. —Eureka Leader.

IT is said that while a party of friends were making the rounds of establishments where creature comforts are kept in bottles and sold by the glass, one man whose turn it was to "treat" led the crowd into a furnishing store and asked them what they would have. One ordered a shirt collar, another took cuffs, a third asked for a scarf pin, which, it is to be presumed, he took "straight;" but it is nevertheless related of all the party that they felt rather sheepish. It is hard to understand why, unless they held to the old fiction that good feeling, which moves a man to spend money on his friends, can be expressed only by the purchase of liquor. Those who consume strong drinks at bars, or give them to other men, know very well that this fiction is exploded thousands of times every day. Although a man can sometimes indicate hospitable feeling by inviting his friends to his house or his hotel and giving them wine, he cannot gratify the same sentiment by ranging the same friends before a bar and paying for what liquors they may simultaneously pour down. It is far more manly and considerate, if custom requires spasmodic outlays of money on one's friends, to treat to shirt collars and scarf pins, for they are just as cheap, they last longer, and, unlike drinks, do not usually compel the receiver to secretly curse the giver. —N. Y. Herald.

THE Brooklyn bridge inquest resulted in holding the officers and Trustees responsible for the disaster, because they did not have a sufficient force of police at hand. The jury also made recommendations for securing the safety of foot passengers in case of a similar panic.

FRANCE is morbidly suspicious of German schemes of invasion. A good instance is afforded by Von Moltke's recent trip to Italy, which a French military officer declares was prompted solely by the desire to study the best route for the invasion of Southern France.

AMASA STONE leaves property value at $1,000,000 to his widow, and the remainder of his fortune, variously estimated from $6,000,000 to $12,000,000, to his two daughters—Mrs. Colonel Hay and Mrs. Samuel Mather—whose husbands are executors of the estate.

NEGOTIATIONS are still in progress between the Central and Union Pacific Railroads with reference to a reduction of running time between San Francisco and Council Bluffs. It is expected that the new time table will go into effect about July 1st. The reduction is expected to be fourteen hours.

AN electric light for deep-sea fishing adorns the new steamer Albatross, of the Fish Commission. When sunk beneath the water it attracts the fishes, and these are caught by a net which is drawn up from beneath it.

THE Central Pacific Railroad Company has contracted with Messrs. Cramp, of Philadelphia, for the construction of a new iron steamship for use on the Pacific Coast between San Francisco and Tacoma.

THE new grain wharf at Port Costa will cost $250,000; employs 175 men in its construction; will be finished by July 1st; 320 feet will be utilized as a warehouse, capable of storing 100,000 tons of grain.

THE engineers, conductors, brakemen and other employes of the Southern Pacific west of San Antonio are organizing a strike on account of a recent ten-per-cent. reduction.

THE members of the Salvation Army have been notified by the Chief of Police of New Haven, Conn., that they must stop street singing in future, under penalty of arrest.

The Bullion Output.

The Mint Director's report for 1882 will be issued shortly, says the San Francisco Scientific Press. It will be a volume of about 600 pages, giving in detail the output of each State, Territory and mine in the United States. It shows a decrease in the production of gold bullion for the year amounting to some $2,000,000. The principal decrease was in California, where it amounted to $1,000,000, and in Dakota. There was a small increase in Colorado. There was a large percentage of increase in the mines of the Appalachia range. The mines of Georgia showed an increase of fully 100 per cent., and those of North Carolina gave 70 per cent. The aggregate output from these mines is small, but the increase is so marked that it is expected at an early day to be of considerable importance. The product of silver for the year showed an increase over the previous year of $2,000,000. The principal increase was from the output of the Wood River District, in Idaho, and the Lake Valley District, in Mexico. The mines of Nevada and Colorado pretty nearly held their own. For the first time in the history of the country there was a shipment of silver-bearing ores from North Carolina. In the opinion of the officials of the Mint Bureau, based upon recent investigation, the mines of the Carolinas, Georgia and Virginia are attracting the attention of capitalists, who will develop them to a degree unprecedented and it is believed profitably.

The following tables give the estimate made of the bullion product of California and Nevada, made by the Director of the United States Mint. The product of this State has fallen off, owing to the hydraulic mines not all being at work. Still, the estimate given for Nevada county seems very small, indeed:

A Stone Forest in the Bed of Lake Tahoe.

For some years past there has been a bank in Lake Tahoe which, in clear weather, has generally been taken for moss formation. It lies at the right of the steamers' course between Tahoe City and the Tallac House, about two miles beyond Idlewild. It looked as if a lot of trees had sunk to the bottom of the lake and that moss and slime had collected there until the whole presented a wavy, semi-transparent appearance about fifty feet below the surface. During the past few weeks the moss and debris have disappeared, and now when the water is clear a forest of pine trees can be plainly seen with every limb and twig perfect. On Wednesday last some fishermen went out there in a boat and lowering some grappling irons secured several splendid pieces of the petrifaction. One is a pine branch about three feet long, which, when held a few feet from the eye, has the exact appearance of a pine branch just taken from a living tree and apparently fresh and green, the brittleness and weight distinguishing it from the freshly-cut branch. The specimens brought to McKinney's were speedily disposed of to tourists. The largest was purchased by Henry Townsend, of San Francisco, for $25. This is said to be the first thing of the kind ever found in the lake. The forest occupies about two acres, and seems like a forest just immersed, except that its stony branches are forever still, and tall weeds and vines which cluster about the trunks of the giant trees are as motionless as the rocks. No wind ever stirs this strange verdure, and the birds which once sang in the branches centuries ago have given way to fish which swarm through the forests by thousands. —Carson Appeal.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JUNE 16.....1883

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

A VERY LARGE MAJORITY of the men who primarily develop the resources of our mineral territory are men of small means, or none, whose desire and necessity it is to find purchasers for their discoveries at fairly remunerative prices. Men of this class are not infrequently the worst enemies of the interest they represent. By misrepresentation, or perhaps over-representation, many an intending purchaser has been disgusted and driven away, with the result of giving the camp a bad name throughout the limits of his influence. Owners of prospects and small mines cannot be too careful to state, in connection with the condition and value of their properties and camp, nothing which cannot be proved and more than proved. Moreover, so many actual purchasers, becoming such as strangers to the camps and their history, have been victimized by interferences and adverse claims, subsequently discovered, that there is a growing disposition on the part of investors in mines to purchase none but patented property. The power to exhibit the Receiver's receipt for the purchase price of the land is a substantial guarantee against future annoyance and litigation, for which investors are willing to pay liberally and with which an increasing proportion are not willing to dispense on any terms. Certain it is that the prospector and mine owner can get much better prices for patented than for unpatented property, and it is equally certain that it becomes gradually more difficult to find satisfactory purchasers for unpatented property at any price.

JAMES CAREY and other informers who testified at the trial of the Phœnix Park murder trials, have been notified that they must indicate where they wish to be sent. That under no condition will they be allowed to remain in Ireland. Despised not only by their countrymen but by the world; wherever they go, they will be continually pointed at as guilty of the basest of all acts, the cowardice of betraying those with whom they swore to commit the horrible deed. Henceforth life to them will be a terror, with the curse of God and man continually ringing in their ears. The time is sure to come when they will prefer the gibbet to the scorn of men.

A SAN JOSE JUDGE recently said in regard to the qualifications of jurors: "There was a time when a citizen who had formed or expressed an opinion, however trivial, would be disqualified to act as juror. The test was simply absolute ignorance. The consequence of such a test soon becomes apparent, and the Legislature in its wisdom has seen fit to change this rule. Now the rule is that a juror, notwithstanding what rumors or publications may say, is deemed competent if he can fairly and impartially judge of the questions submitted to him."

THE Salvation Army was mobbed a short time ago in New Haven, Connecticut. Shades of New England! Land of blue laws! has it come to this? Where, oh where, can hosannas be sung to the Lord, if not in the land of the Puritan? How worldly they are getting, where once the cucumber vine was prohibited from growing on Sunday, and where man and wife were punished for kissing each other on the sacred day. The world moves.

THERE has been a daily decrease of over 800,000 in the foot traffic on the Brooklyn bridge, while the decline in vehicle traffic has been over $100 a day, with one exception. This result is attributable, the Superintendent thinks, to the warm weather. The expectation of many persons that the bridge would always be cool, owing to its altitude, has not been realized thus far.

ALTHOUGH the Star-route trial is not yet ended, the record up to the present time is the largest ever made in a criminal trial in this country. Printed in small type and octavo size it comprises over 6,000 pages, or about 4,250,000 words. The record of the Guiteau trial comprised 2,700 pages, and was regarded of extraordinary length.

JUSTICE in England for Ireland is being meted out with all due celerity. Murderer number four has followed his partners to the gallows. Over there they do not wait to listen whether a murderer is inspired by the Almighty. Like old Captain Wakeman, they hang them first and listen to the excuses afterward.

THE business portion of the town of Calico was destroyed by fire on the 10th instant. Such an incident happens a few times in every mining camp before it learns enough to organize some method of fighting that element

TIME FOR ACTION.

There is now but four or five week's time remaining for Inyo county to prepare its mineral exhibit for the grand Exposition at San Francisco next August. So far, in furtherance of the plan and the laudable desire of the Mining Bureau and representative business men of the State, this great mineral region has agreed to contribute for the purpose the sum of $$147 50. Of this, Independence heads the list with $84, Darwin following with $43 50 and Lone Pine with the sum of $20. Considering the almost absolute necessity of some public-spirited and concerted action in this matter, the people of Darwin are entitled to the meed of praise for their more than proportionate support. Independence comes next, notwithstanding the stubborn refusal to stand in of a select few, who may enjoy a monopoly of leading in other matters involving a popular effort. Lone Pine, led off by a subscription of $3 by a gentleman who in these columns proposed to give $5, falls short, probably with the impression that it was only necessary for Inyo to raise $100 for show-cases in the State Museum. At Big Pine the whole community has been financially demoralized on account of having supported a mining failure conducted by San Francisco bilks; nevertheless, the Big Piners have offered to and will do all their part. Bishop Creek evidently doesn't take kindly to the enterprise, perhaps on account of THE INDEPENDENT having advocated it and that the owners of the Independence cabinet have voluntered to loan their splendid mineral collection for the general benfit of Inyo at the Exhibition, with the proviso that expenses of packing and transportation be paid and its safe return insured. Prof. Hanks guarantees a proper display of it if cases are furnished; Mr. Woodhull has no time or desire to accompany it, and the writer hereof, not owning a foot of mining ground in Inyo county, ought to be exempt from accusations of being personally interested. The people of Bishop have an individual right to reserve their individual dollars, but they have no moral reason for questioning the motives of men whose every interests are to work as much for them as for any other part of the county. Four-fifths of all the Inyo mineral exhibit now in the State collection has been sent there by and through the influence of the Independence cabinet. The vast southern portion of Inyo is out of the reach of this center, as there is now no express running southward from Darwin. That is an empire alone capable of making an astonishing show of mineral wealth to the world. It is peopled by mine owners who believe in their properties and want capital to develop the same; hence they will send samples to show them up. The specimens so far sent to Messrs. Harris & Rhine as custodians and shippers for the Bureau consist of a fine array from Mazourka Cañon; a box from Diaz of Cerro Gordo, one from Pine Mountain, and three large pieces of very rich ore from Revenue District, which is situate in the Argus Range. The numerous other districts have not responded. What is now on hand and at the Bureau will make a comparatively meagre showing, unless there is a much more active interest taken. The natural deduction is that the kind offer of a loan of the Independence cabinet had better be accepted and provided for, if we want to properly represent all sections and characters of our mineral resources.

THE following order has been issued by Postmaster-General Gresham, under date of May 19th, and takes effect from July 1st: "Whenever any letter prepaid at less than one full rate of postage, or any parcel of third or fourth-class matter not fully prepaid, and being otherwise mailable, is deposited in a Postoffice of the first, second or third class and consigned to any other Postoffice in the United States, it shall be the duty of the Postmaster to send to the addresse an official postal card containing a notice of the detention and a request to remit the proper amount of postage to entitle the letter or parcel to be forwarded to its destination. This provision applies only to matter which does not bear the card or address of the sender. Such card matter would be returned immediately to the party mailing it, as prescribed in the existing regulations." All this goes to show that business men especially should have their name and address printed on all envelopes used, which can be obtained at THE INDEPENDENT office in any style and quantity for a slight equivalent in gold or silver coin.

THERE is a good deal of speculation in the East as to the origin of the movement to renominate in 1884 the Democratic ticket of 1876. That there is such a movement on foot there can be no doubt. Forty-six papers in Indiana are said to have declared for it, and Hendricks has acquired such profound respect for the popular voice that he manifests his willingness to take the second place on the ticket.

THE World's Washington corresondent states, on the authority of a representative of one of the prominent European powers, that Queen Victoria will soon abdicate in favor of her son, the Prince of Wales. The opinion, founded on a knowledge of the Queen's character of mind, has been that she would retain her regal position to the last. It is not improbable, however, that failing health may have worked a change in her purpose. While the event of the Queen's abdication would be of considerable social importance, it is not clear that the World's correspondent is correct in his apprehension that it "would change the whole condition of English politics." It is many years since the throne has had much to do with shaping political events in England. The power of the throne and the personal influence of the Queen were thrown against Gladstone in his last struggle with Beaconsfield, yet Gladstone triumphed. The voters apparently did not give much consideration to the opinion of the royal family, who were all partisans of Beaconsfield. The accession of the Prince of Wales to the regency would be a social event of great importance, but there is little doubt that Gladstone would hold the Prince Regent under his influence, as he has held and still holds the Queen.

COLORADO CITY is the name of the terminal point of the Mojave branch of the Southern Pacific. This company are making extensive improvements there, including a fourteen-stall round house, two section houses, depot, hotel, transfer sheds and a 130-foot coal shed. There are also within the yard twelve switches, five of which run to the iron turn-table. It is the center of a rich but unprospected mining region. Prospectors in great numbers are encamped in the vicinity. The town is building up gradually and will doubtless become a place of importance. It is the meeting point with the Atlantic and Pacific. When the junction is effected six trains will pass there daily. The track of the Atlantic and Pacific has reached the river, which is very high and rising to the extent that precautions are necessary for the safety of the bridge. Those acquainted with the country predict that there will be one of those big overflows this Summer that come only at intervals of many years.

DEFINITE NEWS from General Crook shows that the doughty Indian fighter is all right and that he has captured 230 of the hostiles. The details of his campaign are meager, but it is learned that he kept up a vigorous pursuit of the Apaches, and when he came upon their warm trail in the heart of the Sierra Madres, he made plans for surrounding the camp. This was accomplished and the result was that after a short skirmish, during which only seven Indians were killed and one white officer was slightly wounded, the main body of the savages, including Loco and several other chiefs, surrendered. Juh and and his band managed to escape, but it is thought they will deliver themselves up. If they do not, it is Crook's intention to start out on a second expedition to capture or kill the renegades who have been the terror of the border and the curse of the new settlements in Arizona.

THE Anti-Monopoly Convention at San José was not very largely attended, and but few representative men were present. The misfortune that attends all movements in the direction of a reform is that a swarm of political demagogues and office-seekers swarm to the front with a hope of riding into public office by their empty mouthings and frothy condemnations of the money power and the railroad corporations. The San José convention was no exception to the rule. While there were good men and true there, the other class was also present and made itself a prominent factor. Considering the importance of the matter that caused the convention to be called, it was not a success.

IT is not unusual to hear of husbands getting a "burning-up" from their wives, but the slangy metaphor is well understood as meaning nothing more than an undue spasmodic action of the matronly tongue, consequent upon the midnight double-shuffle executed by the husband at the front door while feeling for the latch-key aperature. A Nebraska matron, however, has been giving her old man a burning-up in earnest. Her tender heart yearned for a handsomer man, and while her husband slept she oiled him with petroleum and touched him off with a match. She was lodged in jail at Falls City, and the chances are that her swan-like neck will be stretched.

REPORTS from England indicate a break-down in the Queen's health. Physicians are with her constantly, and though she comes of a long-lived race, it is apparent that she fails daily and England will soon have a King.

THE estimated decrease of the public debt tor May is about $3,500,000; bond redemption during the month, $10,000,000; payments on account of pensions, $12,000,000.

THE San Francisco Mining and Scientific Press says it is reported that the engineering corps of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, at the Needles, have received instructions to move their outfit across the Colorado River at once and begin operations on the line, thence through Cajon Pass to Colton. It will be borne in mind that when the Atlantic and Pacific reached the Colorado River a short time since they were met by the Southern Pacific with a road from their Mojave station, which brought the A. & P. to a halt. If the rumor proves true, it means that the A. & P. intends either to go to San Diego and put on a line of steamers thence to San Francisco, or that they will turn to the west near Holcomb and reach the Coast Range at or near Point Conception, and thence along the coast to San Francisco. This would form an opposition road to the Southern Pacific. Again, it is reported that the Denver and Rio Grande—which is already at Salt Lake, thereby completely flanking the Union Pacific—have determined to continue their line from the southern point of Salt Lake westwardly direct to San Francisco. If both of these projections are carried out we shall soon have three lines in full competition for the great and growing business of California, and one of them a double line.

THE proposed Florida canal, the New Orleans City Item claims, would secure a greater tonnage than that now passing through the Suez, or likely to pass through the Panama canal when or if the latter is completed. Vessels passing through the Suez canal are now charged $2 per ton; those passing through the Panama canal will be probably charged $2 50; but it is estimated that 25 to 30 cents per ton would yield a handsome return on the capital necessary to construct the Florida canal, as there are no engineering difficulties, and on the Florida canal the tonnage passing through it would amount to 6,000,000 of tons annually. The New Orleans Chamber of Commerce has indorsed the scheme, and the Item believes that the capital will be secured without difficulty.

THE Mayor of Moscow had the indiscreetness to remark at the coronation banquet that he hoped the Czar would give the people a Constitution, whereupon he (the Mayor) was promptly banished. The least said in Russia, the better. Meanwhile the Nihilists are secretly at work and a big funeral may be expected before the end of the year.

PAPERS of the southern section of the State are requested to itemize the fact that if David A. Gibbs will communicate with E. W. Roberts, an attorney at Grass Valley, Nevada Co., Cal., he will learn something to his advantage. Put this in the lost man department and let him be found.

ACCORDING to the United States Commission of Education, $61,475,000 has been given by private individuals for educational purpose in this country within ten years. This does not include the recent gift of Slater and others, amounting to $8,000,000.

THE town of Columbus and the borax marsh lying adjacent to it have been the subject of some contention and the not a little lively scene of relocations. Somebody, thinking to do something of interest to himself, got everybody else excited, hence the scramble.

IT is reported that the Apache murderers, being out of ammunition, now want to be forgiven, and are very anxious to surrender and go on to a reservation until they can replenish. This trick has been played several times too often.

IT is rarely that a mining property becomes of value but that somebody finds an opportunity to involve it in difficulty, particularly in a legal way. The Mount Cory Company is attacked by James M. Brazell, who has filed a complaint in the Superior Court of California against George R. Wells and James C. Flood. The cause of action sets forth that in May, 1882, the plaintiff and defendant Wells entered into a mutual partnership to mine in Nevada. About that time they visited the Mount Cory mine, which was for sale at $6,000. Not having the requisite cash, Wells induced defendant Flood to advance the said sum, he agreeing to hold one-fourth of the property in trust for plaintiff and Wells. On the 3d of October, following, he conveyed the property to Flood. The plaintiff avers the mine to be worth $1,000,000, and that Wells denies that any partnership relations exist between him and plaintiff, or that plaintiff has any interest in said property. The plaintiff prays for a dissolution of partnership and for an accounting, and that Flood convey to him an undivided eighth of the property.—True Fissure.

SUPT. T. JEFF. MCCLELLAND, of the Great Sierra Con. Silver Company, was in town Tuesday, paying off the local bills of that company. He says that there is considerable snow still on the summits. He and H. L. Childs came over from the Yosemite Valley on snow-shoes about ten days ago. Moss, the conductor of the saddle train last year, came up with his stock a few days ago from Bishop Creek, passing up Bloody Cañon. At last accounts he was at Lake Tenaya, and Mr. McClelland thinks that there is too much snow in the vicinity of Porcupine Flat to allow him to get his stock into the valley.—Free Press.

Kimball's Milk Ranch.

Charley Kimball has another important enterprise in contemplation in which he has engaged the interest of an Eastern tourist. He explained to the gentleman, lately from the Atlantic, that there were great possibilities in our soil, and told him of several analyses that had been made which demonstrated to a certainty that, with irrigation and attention to a few unimportant details, grass could be raised which would cause cows that ate it to give condensed milk. A few feet below the surface the sand contains a great deal of sugar—not enough to make it valuable as ordinary grocer's sugar, but sufficient to sweeten alfalfa, which sends its roots deep into the ground. The upper layer has lost its sugar through the action of the rain and melting snow, but as it only sunk a short distance, irrigation would soon bring it to the surface again. In the prospectus given to his partner, Mr. Kimball did not claim that the milk would be furnished by the cows, canned and ready for shipment, as even if some system of enriching the ground could be discovered by which the cans would be produced, it would be altogether too much of a trial to the cows. Without the cans, a large profit could be realized, and in addition, the projector held out the possibility that when the population became larger a neat little business could be done in the ice-cream trade, as it would be only necessary to plow some flavoring matter into a few acres, select cows that give particularly rich milk, give them ice water to drink, and ice cream free from suspicion of adulteration could be supplied at almost nominal rates with a fair margin of profit. Mr. Kimball's partner is much pleased with the proposition, and will very likely organize a company to carry on the business, unless some of those who are always trying to divert capital from Nevada should interfere with discouraging doubts, and, as is so often done, deny the feasibility of the undertaking, simply because it is new.—Hawthorne Bulletin.

THE 14,000,000 acres of land of which the Southern Pacific is trying to rob the Government are worth $25,000,000, and would make good homes for 500,000 people.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.

In the matter of M. J. Canadas, an Insolvent Debtor.

M. J. Canadas having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said M. J. Canadas is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The Sheriff of the County of Inyo is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said M. J. Canadas, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of accounts and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use. The said Debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said Debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court room of said Court, in the town of Independence in the County of Inyo, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF JULY, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts, and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said Debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated June 13, 1883.

SATURDAY, JUNE 16.....1883

BURGLAR SHOT.—We have only hearsay report as to the details of a killing which transpired at Bishop Creek last Tuesday night, supplemented by the communication given from a correspondent. It seems that E. W. Fleniken, clerk in Mallory's store, found that the door key had been stolen and determined to remain there during the night and observe events. It is related that Snedeñ's store had been slyly burglarized three or four times—on the last occasion the loss being amongst the rest some $16 from the till, mostly in quarters and small change. Business men were quietly notified to observe who were engaged in handling that species of "spondulics," and were informed that the robbery had been effected by some thief who had stolen the key to the door. Fleniken found that the key to the back door of his (Mallory's) store had turned up missing during his absence and concluded to wait and watch for subsequent developments. About 11 o'clock in the night the gate on the picket fence just back of the store was tackled, but it did not give way, as he had taken the trouble to nail it up fast. Next thing was the key being inserted in the front door, which wouldn't exactly work because there was another key on the inside of the lock. At this juncture a Chinaman working at the lock received the contents of a double-barrelled shotgun, delivered through the glass door. When the celestial was found he had in one hand a hatchet and in the other the key to the store, but on account of death having supervened he was unable to use either. An inquest was held and the citizens refused to have the unknown heathen's remains placed in the burial grounds at Bishop, and he was accordingly planted somewhere out on the mesa.

PERSONAL.—Paymaster Mills, of the C. & C., with Messenger Mike Tobey, paid Independence a business visit last Thursday. Tobey complains of dull times in his business around the Bodie country, and Mr. Mills thinks that this country is booked for the coming "boom."....Judge A. R. Conklin is at home, having come from Los Angeles (where he leaves his family to sojourn for a time) via San Francisco and the Carson and Colorado Railroad....Phil. Keough has gone down to take charge of some stage line in the southern part of the State...Baron Von Murphy, from Paris, and M. Marks, of Moscow, Russia, are registered at the Blaney. They are Nihilists, traveling in the cigar and liquor business.

JUSTICE'S COURT.—Justice of the Peace Thomas Parker, on complaint of Thos. McDonough and Wm. Kisling, issued warrants of arrest for M. C. Lasky, Jesus Montano, Rafael Otero and Frank Miranda, on charges of battery. It is alleged that while a portion of the party entered McDonough & Kisling's place in Beveridge District and forcibly detained the complainants, the rest went and cut a reservoir above the McDonough arastras. Sheriff Gregg brought all the parties in from Lone Pine on Tuesday, and the case was set for hearing on the 21st instant. A civil suit for damages is likely to grow out of it.

THE PROGRESS.—The boarding and construction trains are to-day opposite Independence, on the site of old Bend City, where the foundations are being laid for depot and side-tracks. The surveys have been made for tracks and depot grounds on Owens Lake, just south of the Hawley mill property. It has not yet been determined where to put the Lone Pine Station—probably at the Beveridge bridge or down at the bridge leading to Swansea and Cerro Gordo. In time there is no doubt that freight and passenger traffic will be accommodated at either place.

A SHOOTING MATCH.—At Belleville, Wednesday last, Johnny Mallory, a well-known Inyo boy, had a shooting affray with another sport named Geo. Ellis. Several shots were exchanged without injury to anyone except a passing miner, who got a bullet in the shoulder, for which both were arrested. The trouble grew out of a game of poker, and from accounts Johnny was badly abused and was the attacked party.

MCEVOY'S MILL.—Wednesday last Supt. McEvoy brought in $1,200 in gold bullion as the result of eight days run of his mill in Beveridge. Good ore is being extracted from some of the old claims, with the prospect now that the mill can be kept running steadily all Summer. Beveridge District is a rough region, but its ore veins carry rich gold quartz that produces the bullion, and that is what talks.

NOTE IT DOWN.—During the following two weeks all accounts due THE INYO INDEPENDENT will be presented. If they are not paid within a reasonable time thereafter all bills not outlawed will be sued for. Grub, type-setting, paper and ink costs money and this means business.

THE ELGIN.—Messrs. Barnes, Keys, & Baker have completed a horse-power arastra in one of the Beveridge District gorges or cañons, and have gone over with supplies. They intend working as a starter some twenty-five tons of free-gold ore from the Elgin mine.

BELL'S MILL.—The Oak Creek Flouring Mill has so far completed repairs as to recive and execute all orders for cracking grain for feed. The final work of a general overhauling and repairs is still going on, and when finished the mill will be second to none.

STILL IN SESSION.—Up to noon today the County Board of Education was still at work. There are, we believe, four applicants for county certificates, and the proceedings of the meeting will be given in full next week.

A Bishop Creek Squib, as Referred To.

BISHOP, June 13.

Last night the report of a gun was heard, foreboding evil in our usually quiet town, and in the morning the monotonous topics of every-day conversation were changed. For two months we have had county bridge, county road, railroad and one of our Supervisors for breakfast, dinner, supper and lunch every day, but this morning we had a Chinaman for breakfast, by way of a change. A post mortem examination was held and the jury decided that a shotgun was a dangerous instrument and that John Chinaman should have known the difference between meum and tuum. It appeared in evidence that John had appropriated for his own use the keys of two different stores in this place, and made an entrance at night into store No. 1, where he relieved the cash drawers of considerable loose change. In store No. 2 he was not so successful; a shotgun was there and John was sent on an around-the-world tour, minus his cue. Friends filled his trunk with opium, rice, duck, chicken, pork and a bottle of China whisky from a Bishop Creek saloon. After a perilous journey in California his friends hoped for him a hearty and hospitable welcome in the celestial land of Confucius. John was not given any Government permit to return to Inyo county. SNIP.

HER THANKS.—We take the liberty of publishing the following private letter from the neice of the late Hon. S. P. Moffatt. It will read all the more pathetic since it has been learned that Hon. Wm. S. Moffatt, the brother referred to, has also passed away: "AURORA, ILL., June 5, 1883.—MR. HARDY: Dear Sir—Your postal card and the paper telling of the death of my uncle have been received. I am very much obliged to you for the trouble you have shown for me. The death of Uncle Sol. was of course expected, after hearing of the poor condition of his health from you. I cannot mourn for him as if we had been nearer, but feel as though one more of the family had gone. There are none left now but Wm. S. Moffatt, of San Francisco. To those whose care and attention rendered his last days comfortabte and happy, I shall always feel under great obligations, and hope they may never lack the kind ministrations of friends in times of sickness and death, which so surely shall come to us all. Should you ever find your way so far East as our home, we should be very glad to have you stop and make us a visit. I shall alway remain your well wisher. MRS. L. E. JOHNSON."

AT MCEVOY'S.—About 9 o'clock last Tuesday night an exhausted young man put in an appearance at McEvoy's mill in Beveridge District. He gave his name as Joseph Foster, of Fresno county, and stated that he was fleeing from pursuit, having shot a man over in Fresno. Sheriff Donahue of Fresno has a warrant for his arrest for assault to murder, but when Sheriff Gregg came to find it all out the man had skipped for Los Angeles. He gave an account of how his wife had been assaulted by a tramp and that he had followed him up and shot him. He belongs to a prominent family over there, and Charley McEvoy gave him some money and advised him to go home and face the music.

DEFUNCT MUTTON.—It is stated that at Red Rock Cañon, on the regular road from Mojave here, the carcasses of 2,000 sheep are lying, polluting the atmosphere for miles about. It is surmised that they were poisoned by the bad water of that place, which seems to be getting no better every season. The losers will be compelled to seek some other county than this if sympathy is what they want, as these roving bands annually migrate up and down the valley denuding the natural grasses and destroying the ranges of stock owners here. They seldom purchase supplies and were never known to pay a cent of taxes in Inyo.

CHANGE OF BASE.—Three of Harry Stansfield's big 16-animal 4-wagon teams passed through town to-day, having loaded here with hay and grain. They are leaving their former field of operations in Southern Nevada—possibly supplanted by the narrow-gauge railroad—and will seek business around Calico and northern San Bernardino. Stansfield is a widely-known and popular man. His complete outfits attracted the attention of everybody hereabouts.

THE PIONEER.—Work is being resumed in old Kearsarge District by Geo. Thorpe and Jas. Ward, owners of the little mill just above the Kearsarge property. Mr. Thorpe went up the mountain Thursday with pack mules loaded with quicksilver. They will work on tailings from the Kearsarge during this month, when they will make a run on the rich sulphuret silver ores which have been extracted from the Kearsarge the past Winter.

SCHOOL MONEYS.—The County Superintendent, on last Monday, made the following apportionment of county school money to the several school districts: Bishop Creek, $58 27; Big Pine, $37 07; Darwin, $8 08; Irving, $40 56; Independence, $35 98; Milton, $20 96; Lone Pine, $27 34; Round Valley, $19 03; Union, $7 62; total, $254 91.

FOR SHIPMENT.—A. Wingard, one of the oldest mine-workers of Inyo, returned from San Francisco last Tuesday. He received per railroad a large number of ore sacks and has gone at work on the Drummer Boy mine, in Mazourka Cañon, to ship ore already out and to extract more—as many carloads as can be found that will pay.

BUSINESS CHANGE.—J. H. Stoutenborough has sold his branch store at Round Valley and transferred the goods back to the main establishment at Bishop. Consult his new advertisement.

F. & A. M.—Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., will hold a stated meeting at the hall to-night.

THE MINERAL EXHIBITION.

Very characteristic is the apathy with which our our coming State Mineral Exhibition is regarded. The Supervisors of every county in the State have been addressed on the subject and asked to make an appropriation of $50, but not one of the counties has manifested enough interest in the subject to appropriate the sum needed, and only one county has returned any reply at all. The reply was one indicative of gross ignorance, for it was to the effect that the county contained no minerals. Such is the sleepy, stupid, slow, uninteresting California style of doing things. Private citizens will do something, but the exhibition should have been a State and county affair and comprehensive and complete. As it is, we suppose the Supervisors of the several counties are afraid they could not attach a string to their $50 to drag it back again; and so some up-county Call or Bulletin would take them to task for extravagance.—S. F. Daily Report.

So far as Mono county is concerned, the remarks of the Report don't apply. Our Board of Supervisors has made an appropriation of $100 to be devoted to exhibits from this county in the event that the exhibition takes place. Inyo county is also moving in the matter, and will undoubtedly make a fine display.—Bodie Free Press.

Inyo county will send her $100 and more, but not in the illegal manner of issuing a county warrant for that purpose. In an expressive slang phrase, "Don't you forget it."

DIED IN UTAH.—Edward Clapp, the well-known traveling salesman, recently died in Utah, of pneumonia. The deceased had many friends in this section.

THE PROGRAMME.—At a late hour today THE INDEPENDENT man was handed copy for the Fourth of July proceedings, too late for this issue.

SATURDAY, JUNE 16.....1883

M. F. PIERCE, U. S. Fish Commissioner, is not a believer in ordinary fish culture. He says the Delaware and all the large streams north of it emptying into the Atlantic were natural salmon streams at the time the country was settled, but the clearing off of the forests and tilling of the land has rendered the waters warm and muddy, whereas when frequented by the salmon they were clear and cold. The same is true of the trout streams. To attempt to restock these streams with these fish at a great outlay of money is a mistake. The labor and expenditure are a total loss.

MONO is now the largest bullion producer of any county in California by $1,100,000 per annum. Last year it turned out $720,000 more gold than Amador, the next highest, and $230,000 more in silver than San Bernardino, the next highest silver-producing county. During the same period this county turned out $820,000 more gold and silver combined than did both Storey and Lyon counties, Nevada, embracing the famous Comstock and all its surroundings.—Homer Index.

"So you has done let' de Jones'?" remarked Matildy Snowball to Eliza Pinkston, both colored, as they met on Austin avenue. "You bet I leffed 'em. Dey cotched me wid a dollar I found on de mantelpiece, and tuck it away from me, so I jes' quit 'em." "You is a fool, niggah; I wouldn't have lef' till I done got my dollar back. White folks am so presumin' nowadays."

THE Suez Canal Company has adopted the proposal of De Lesseps to examine into the project of the construction of a second canal across the isthmus. De Lesseps assured the company that the English directors were giving local assistance, and prophesied another canal would be built.

"YOUNG POLITICIAN" writes: "Why does a State have a Legislature?" My dear boy, it doesn't. The Legislature has the State, every time. Has it by the throat, by a large majority. Has it by the pocketbook. Has it on its back.—Burlington Hawkeye.

THE rainfall in San Francisco during the last month was phenomenal, being 3.52 inches. The nearest approach to this figure during fourteen years was in 1879, when 2.35 inches of rain fell.

S. R. RIGGS, after having made a careful study of the mythology of the Dakota Indians, concludes there is much in it to warrant a belief that these aborigines have a European origin.

THERE recently left Queenstown and Glasgow 990 State-Aid emigrants, to be dumped upon the Atlantic Coast and supported by charity.

IT is stated that the railroad company will try the experiment of making its cars at Seattle, W. T., with a view to establishing a manufactory there.

BISMARCK has been chosen as the capital of Dakota.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR.
By ROBERT A. GUNN, M. D.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR CONTAINS 648 octavo pages, and is printed on fine paper and handsomely bound. It is sold at the low price of three ($3 00) dollars a copy, so as to bring it within the reach of all.

The work differs from all other books on Domestic Medicine in having the diseases systematically arranged, according to their classification. Everything is described in the plainest possible language, and the prescriptions are written out in plain English, so that they can be employed by any intelligent reader.

Druggists will find this book of great advantage in aiding them to give advice when asked to do so.

Dentists will find much information in it that will prove valuable to themselves and their patients.

Teachers will be better prepared for the performance of their duties in the school room by studying it.

Parents will find it a reliable adviser in everything relating to the rearing of their children.

Every family can save fifty times the price of the book every year, by consulting it.

It is complete in all its parts, and is the most recent book of the kind published.

The book will be sent free by mail or express on receipt of three dollars.

The Bad Young Man.

There is a good deal of very bad literature in circulation. It is written and printed principally to be read by boys and young men about the age of the two individuals who were hanged this morning. It is sent out in the shape of the dime novel, the cheap "library" and the weekly paper, and some of its publishers have grown rich. Its fiction tells of extraordinary young men who hunt the buffalo and the Indian, and whose chief occupation it is to produce blood. These tender adventurers carry revolvers and bowie knives, and are always in trouble and always looking for revenge. They know how to shoot, how to dodge bullets, how to use the knife, and how to knock men down and trample upon them. In a story that had a large circulation a young man was made to take the part of a detective to spy out the evil doings of his own father, and father and son were made to meet in a large number of disreputable places. Not that the son wished to reform the father, but that he wished to show that gentleman that he knew of his evil doings; and not that it was wrong for the father to misbehave, but that the boy had a right to misbehave, too. The evil effect of this miserable stuff is shown in the news of every day. In a Western State some months ago several young men were hanged for murders of the dime-novel kind. In this city during the present week a youth supposed to be of good moral character suddenly turned robber and took $70 from his hard-worked mother, bought a number of revolvers and tried to go West by way of Boston to kill Indians. There have been and probably there are now bands of boys pledged to do murder, and a number of bands whose purpose was merely robbery have been broken up. A few days ago some brainless young wretches conceived the idea of becoming "fire-alarm fiends," and after bothering the police and doing more or less damage have found themselves in the State Prison.

Is there no way to put a stop to the circulation of this villainous rot? Can the Legislature of this State do nothing? Is Congress powerless? Nothing is so good for boys and girls as good reading, and the good matter that is written for them in these days is as entertaining as it is valuable, and comes from the pens of the best writers; but nothing is so bad as bad reading, and thousands who are on the road to the prison and the gallows will testify that this is the case as they reach the end of their liberty or their careers.—N. Y. Graphic.

THE first ton of Mexican tin ever sent to this country was recently received. The metal is said to be bright, clear and apparently of good texture. It came from Durango. The ores of placer origin are said to average 73 per cent. of smelted tin. Mr. Henry Freeman, an Australian tin-mining engineer, has been for a year or more exploring the region between Chihuahua and Southwestern Durango in search of evidences of the tin lodes and placers spoken of by the old Spanish settlers, and has secured for St. Louis capitalists a considerable tract in the southwest quarter of Durango, believed to contain tin ore in large quantities. The famous iron mountain of Durango is in the northern part of the district.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Western Rural recently sent a sample of sugar bought at a country store for good cane sugar. An analysis instituted by that paper showed that 50 per cent. of it was grape sugar (made from corn and worth about four cents a pound), and it also contained large quantities of sulphur. The chemist pronounces it a vile compound.

THE artesian well at White Plains, Nevada, on the Central Pacific Railroad, has passed through the volcanic formation at a depth of 1,140 feet, and the total depth of the well is 1,300 feet, the last 160 feet being clay and slate, with every prospect of success in obtaining water.

WHEN the United States are as densely populated as Oude, India, they will contain a population of 1,226,000,000.

Change of Seasons.

It is not likely that, taking a period of a hundred years together, any change would be perceptible. It is probable, however, that a change is constantly going on. The whole of North America was once covered with ice as far south as the 35th parallel, and farther in the elevated regions. The ice slowly retreated to the north, leaving lakes and vast piles of earth and rocks to record its history. Subsequently to this was a reversed order of things—the tropical climate extended to the parallel of Alaska. The bones of elephants are found there in such quantities that they are an article of commerce, being gathered and shipped to San Francisco by the ton. About 1820 an elephant was found in Siberia frozen in the ice with all its parts perfect. It was not a solitary case, however, as the country from which the rivers flowed at one time abounded in elephants, although the finding of one complete was unusual. The ocean currents consequent upon the rotation of the earth, the elevation or depression of continents, the formation of or extinction of large bodies of water in the interior of continents, all combine to modify the climate. Salt Lake once was an inland sea 800 miles across with an outlet on the Pacific Coast. The surrounding country was of course supplied with moisture. The now dry region of Arizona was inhabited by elephants that wandered far into California. It is not in the power of man to elevate or depress continents, but he can modify the climate in many ways. The turning of the Colorado river into the Mojave desert would stop the sand storms and bring rain to Kern county. The admission of the water of the ocean into the Timbuctoo desert would make fertility of the great Sahara desert possible and probably affect the climate of Europe.—Exchange.

IT requires men who do not wilt because they are broke, who can enjoy the sun and rain and good bread and meat and work fifteen hours a day, and outwalk a horse, without a dollar in their purses for twelve months and a day. What a charm there is in this free life under the all-embracing sky, the kindly sky of the Rocky Mountains. No cares of church or state or school or household; all the world ahead; no property or money to bother about, but the chance to get all the world; no disappointments to turn all nature blue, but all still possible to hope; no spike-tail coat to be crushed or white shirt to be "biled" or fine boots to be "shined," no duties to society, no call to assist the Great Ruler in regulating and running the universe, none or few of the petty things in short that fret the life away that has once settled into its rut. The West is full of men who put in their young years in the happy-go-lucky style of the "prospector," and half their regret for the loss of their first youth comes from the fact that they must now be housed up, cabined, cribbed, confined. Is the genius "prospector" to go out? We trust not yet.—Salt Lake Tribune.

THE cause of what is known as the timber line on the high mountains continues to be discussed in scientific periodicals, and the attempt continued to connect the line in some degree with mean annual temperatures. The writer of this paragraph has had the matter in mind when on these high elevations, and the explanation seemed very simple. On all these high peaks there is a continuous though in some cases slow descent of the soil from the summit to the base of the hill. He has never seen a case where there was soil enough to grow a tree that trees were not growing. As the wash from rain or melting snow will be nearly uniform in a given range, there will be of necessity some uniformity in the timber line. On Mt. Washington and other high places little plots of dark vegetable earth can often be found far above the present timber line, the remains of trees which existed before the earth was washed away. What is called the timber line seldom shows graduated sizes as a mere matter of temperature would call for. Generally the line is formed of very tall trees, and immediately scrubby plants, from the absence of deep soil, begin.—N. Y. Independent.

WEBBER LAKE boasts a veritable mirage. Although not down in the advertisements, it is an important feature in the attractions of that wonderful place. Mr. Harry Hollister, an old-time resident of Truckee, thus described it: At half-past 5 o'clock in the morning the lake appeared as a semi-circle, whose farthest point was not over 100 yards from the hotel. Above the semi-circle rose hills and mountain tops covered with tall trees. Granite bowlders, belts and ribbons of verdure, pebbly streamlets, cliffs, shrubbery and richly-tinted foliage spread out before the spectators as if painted on canvas. The water had the appearance of an unfathomable opening in the earth. A slight vail of fog settled down upon the bosom of the lake, seemed a fleecy fall of water dropping into the chasm. The mirage lasted until the sunbeams dissipated the fog. E. H. Hooper, an old and experienced traveler, pronounced it the most perfect mirage ever witnessed. Nothing, he said, in Europe could surpass its beauty.

A MAN dies very much as a bucket of water is drawn from a river. There is a little depression for a moment, then with a gurgle the waves fill it and the stream flows on with the sun shining upon the spot as before.

THE law of the harvest is to reap more than you sow. Sow an act, and you reap a habit; sow a habit, and you reap a character; sow a character, and you reap a destiny.

The Moon.

The statement that the moon affects the human body may at first sight seem nonsense, but the fact is, when we examine a little, it does not seem so absurd after all. The moon certainly exercises an influence over all fluids on the earth, and the human body is about three-fourths water. It is said that if we put a human body into an oven and make it perfectly dry, it will go down from 150 to 40 pounds.

People who are born when the moon is rising are more subject to her influence in after life than others. They frequently have the habit of walking in their sleep, and about the time of her fulling they are greatly subject to dreams. Another curious thing is that, if near-sighted, their eyes grow more dim at the opposition and the changes. It is also well known that there are animals—horses, for instance—which are moon-eyed; that is, their sight is better or worse through the month, according to the condition of the moon. The same is said of some dogs. There are certain physiological facts in connection with the female sex and the lesser luminary which absolutely establish beyond any question the direct and powerful influence of the moon over the human body. They cannot be described in print, nor is the relationship generally understood by physicians except those familiar with the very ancient lore of their science.

A whole volume might be filled with the literature of the moon—not only the astrological notions attached to her, but the curious myths and legends. Nothing is better known than the insane are affected by the beams at certain seasons, and yet there are some doctors who deny it.

THE Los Angeles Herald pertinently remarks: As a sample of the profit of quartz mining, the case of the Idaho mine, at Grass Valley, Cal., may be cited. This mine, which cost $90,000 to get to work, has paid in dividends since 1868 forty times the cost of the mine and machinery, and still the old mine yields on as before, and has yielded over $6,000,000, about $3,000,000 of which has been paid for labor and $3,000,000 in dividends. Such examples of mining prosperity in Nevada county are very good, and will be duplicated in Southern California at an early day. The Oro Grande pays for itself once a week. That is certainly a very good showing for this part of the country. Mining has passed the stage of experiment in Southern California. The mills of Pinacate, Oro Grande, Calico, Providence, Daggett, Waterman and Inyo county are all doing well and making most gratifying returns. The borax mines of Southern California are to-day worth $100,000, while the soda mines can supply the world with that indispensable article. We are just beginning to learn mining in this part of the country.

FEW people seem to be aware that a suit is now pending before the United States Supreme Court against the Brooklyn bridge as an obstruction to navigation, and founded on the fact that the builders failed to comply with the Act of Congress which required them to construct the main span 135 feet above high water. The bridge is only 125 feet above, but the Directors rely upon the opinions of engineers that this will answer all purposes. In all decisions given by the Supreme Court heretofore it has been held that Congress knew exactly what it was about when it passed an Act, and that if it said 135 feet it meant just that height and nothing less. A shipping merchant, who had a vessel badly injured by her masts striking the lower cables, brings the suit, and he and his counsel are confident that the decision, now daily expected, will order the bridge company to comply with the terms of the Act under which Congress allowed the structure to span an arm of the sea.

A VALUABLE DISCOVERY of pazzuolana has been made on a ranch back of the University at Berkeley. The mineral is superior to cement, and will prove a most useful building material, especially for sewers, as it is wholly impervious to water and withstands time and the elements. This mineral is used in the erection of earthquake-proof buildings in the vicinity of Mt. Vesuvius. It will furnish an article of export, as its use will be universal.

ABOUT twenty years ago the following tempting invitation appeared on a window in a gin-palace, in the Elysian neighborhood of Seven Dials, London: "Stop! stop! stop! Here you may get the regular knock-me-down, sew-me-up, do-me-brown, ask-me-how, come-it-strong, out-and-out, genuine never-split cream of the valley; price two pence the glass, including a rusk and a dash of caraways."

STATISTICS show that not quite one-third of our population is foreign-born, or foreign in the second degree. Of the 15,000,000 included in the above computation, about 4,500,000 have Irish fathers. The number having German fathers is about 5,000,000, showing that the Germans outnumber the Irish in the Union. The Irish are less than a third of the foreign population.

A CALAVERAS man asserts that he killed the largest rattlesnake on record last week. It was nine feet in length and twelve inches around. It had twenty-four rattles that counted, besides some that were worn off, and the rattles were three inches across. He was killed only after being shot three times.

AN ancient proverb says: "The most solemn of birds is an owl; the most solemn of fishes, an oyster; the most solemn of beasts, an ass; the most solemn of men, an ass also."

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, JUNE 23.....1883

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

COMMENCEMENT OF YEAR FOURTEEN.

By the above caption it will appear that it has been a long time since THE INYO INDEPENDENT was established, this being the first number of the fourteenth annual volume. The business of publishing it has in nowise been profitable to the proprietor for the past year and a half; nevertheless, the present outlook is good. The railroad and telegraph, we believe, means a general change of interests for the good of all. If found possible to accomplish it the subscription rates of the paper will be reduced and its proportions enlarged within the next quarter. We take occasion here to return sincere thanks to the steadfast friends who have so long supported the paper, and to gently remind others that the amounts they owe thereon will prove very acceptable. It has been its aim to be a clean and pure paper for every family throughout the land, devoid of sensationalism, and while supporting the mining and agricultural interests, truthful and conservative. It is a matter of principle and business, and if its readers can induce their neighbors to subscribe for it they will benefit themselves by causing its scope of usefulness to be enlarged in proportion.

THE terrible accident which occurred at Sunderland, England, on Saturday evening last, by which nearly 200 children lost their lives, and numbers of others were seriously injured, adds one more to a peculiarly horrible class of accidents which have been of singular frequency of late in both Europe and this country. The destruction of one of the principal theaters in Berlin, by fire, a few months since, was attended with great loss of life. An alarm of fire in a school-house in New York shortly after resulted in a stampede, whereby a great number of children were crowded on a narrow stairway and on the banisters, thereby causing a terrible loss of life. The burning of the Newhall House in Milwaukee, the recent dreadful disaster of the East River Bridge, and the last horrible affair at Sunderland, show that there is a radical defect in the construction of public buildings and places, in that they do not afford sufficient and safe means of egress. It is noticeable that most of those tragedies have occurred on stairways—those at the New York school-house, the great bridge and at Sunderland being conspicuous examples.

PURITANICAL New Englanders—who ease their consciences by preventing the running of trains on Sunday, and then slip out the back door and go fishing with a pole nicely concealed in a walking stick, who get a so-called rest on hair mattress and feather pillow—are put to shame by the sweet repose of the every-day-in-the-week prospector, who has written: "I lay me down to sleep on a downy bed of cactus, and am rocked to sleep by the lullaby of the irrepressible jackass, only to be awakened by the constant roar of the blast and the pounding of the drill."

SOME sensational developments are promised in the trial of Miller for the murder of Dr. Glenn. There have been rumors ever since the killing that there were circumstances connected with the case that would put Miller in a different light from what he was shown in the accounts published at the time. If the stories which have been so widely whispered of late are true and so shown to be in Court, it will appear that Miller's act was not entirely without provocation.

THE green three-cent postage stamp which goes out in October will have had a run of thirteen years. It succeeded the short-lived blue design, which came after the red. Postage stamps began in 1841, with a five-cent issue bearing a portrait of Franklin, and a ten-cent stamp with Washington's picture, and a second series, with denominations of one, three, five, ten and twelve cents, came out not long afterwards.

IT has been definitely determined that the great iron and steel works are to be located at the town of Oswego, a few miles above Portland, Oregon. Active measures are in progress for the construction of the buildings, which are to be built very substantially of fine brick. Already a large contract for 4,000,000 brick has been entered into.

MESSRS. WM. T. COLEMAN & Co., of San Francisco, have purchased the defunct Standard Soap Company's fine plant at Alameda Point, which they will use as a borax factory to refine the crude mineral from the Death Valley mines.

THOMAS JEFFERSON'S monument at Monticello, Virginia, will be unveiled July 4th. There is a lack of interest, the Arrangements Committee claim, on the part of Democratic statesmen.

THE FOURTH.

The official announcement of the selected committee of citizens appointed to carry out the celebration proceedings of the Fourth is given elsewhere, subject to improvement as to details and additional particulars in the next issue. All the preliminary arrangements have thus far progressed satisfactorily, and words received from the outside are indicative that there will be many people here and a "rousing good time" enjoyed by all. The grandest contribution to the general success is the free excursion train offered by the Railroad, the genuine liberality of which should be appreciated. The Candelaria Band, in consenting to forego its previous engagements and visit the Valley, has paid a high compliment to Inyo. The several committees intrusted with the different duties of the day have all been at work. In fact, the county seat cannot afford a failure in any way, and there is now no reason to fear one.

EX-U. S. SENATOR EUGENE CASSERLY died in San Francisco on the 13th inst. He was largely identified with the history of California, having been elected State Printer by the Legislature in 1851, and to the Senate of the United States by the same body in 1868. Mr. Casserly was born in Ireland in 1822. His parents brought him to this country when he was two years old. His father and grandfather were school teachers. His father was especially noted as a Greek scholar. Young Eugene had the advantage of a fine classical education. He studied law under John Bigelow, who was afterwards Consul to Paris, and at another time Minister to France. Mr. Casserly all his life vibrated between law and journalism. He became the editor of the Freeman's Journal in New York in early life, and next was elected Corporation Counsel to New York City. He came to California in 1850, and in connection with B. R. Buchalen established the Public Balance. After the expiration of his term in the Senate Mr. Casserly gave himself up to law practice. At the breaking out of the war he declared for the Union. The greater part of his life was spent in his library. His incorruptibility and integrity in public or private life were never called in question.

THERE are certain out-of-the-way places that we hear very little about except some great catastrophe suddenly brings them into prominence. Such a place is Sunderland, England, although it has a population equal to that of Detroit. Sunderland is at the mouth of the river Wear, in the North Sea, twelve miles from Durham, and 240 miles northwest of London. The town proper occupies a peninsula between the expansion of the Wear and the sea. It has one good and broad street, and a fine market place, but elsewhere consists mostly of narrow lanes. The Wear passes through the town, and is crossed by a noble cast-iron bridge of one arch, 236 feet in span and 100 feet above the river at low water. Sunderland is one of the principal ports of England for the shipment of coal. Ship building is also a leading industry. The town is frequented as a bathing place, and gives the title of Earl to the Duke of Marlborough.

THE Mountain Democrat, published at Placerville, the home of George J. Carpenter of the Board of Railroad Commissioners, insists and holds to the belief that the gentleman mentioned will be found acting for and in the interest of the people yet. It quotes his past history as an anti-monopolist, and it certainly is a flattering one—far better than many of those who are now denouncing him. The intimate relationship existing between the editor of the Democrat and Mr. Carpenter ought to allow that paper to speak authoritatively in regard to Mr. Carpenter's intentions.

GEN. GEO. CROOK is about 53 years of age, but looks little more than 40. He is about five feet ten inches high, wiry as a greyhound, and can outride and outmarch any man in the American army. It is a historical fact that he lived for three days on no other nourishment than tree bark during one of his campaigns against the Indians. He has a fair complexion, his hair is straight and cut short, and he has a large bushy beard, which divides naturally in the center.

THE Mexicans of Sonora and Chihuahua are delighted with Crook and declare him to be the greatest Indian fighter in the world. Their unselfish praise recalls the generous estimate put upon the great ability of their own Col. Garcia in the same direction when, a year ago, he struck a paralyzing blow at the same tribe of savages after they had successfully eluded our troops on this side of the line.

THE Leadville mines employ 3,250 men and the pay rolls aggregate $280,000 per month. Leadville has produced $7,557,000 in gold, and $70,000,000 in gold, silver and lead up to the present time, while the incorporated mining companies of that city have paid stockholders in dividends within the past four years nearly $20,000,000.

POPULAR JUSTICE

There is scarcely a week in which some criminal is not summarily executed, by what is called a mob. These exhibitions of wild justice are not confined to any particular part of the country. They occur in the South and West principally, but there are cases of like outbreaks occasionally in the older States. There is not one of them that does not deeply reflect upon the Courts. If there was a certainty of punishment in cases of crime, the poeple would not resart to the Code of Judge Lynch. They see every day, long tedious trials; weakness in the jury selected, imbecility in the prosecution, and stupidity or something worse on the part of the Judge. As a consequence the notorious criminals, if they have money, escape. Immense sums of the public funds are expended in he vain effort to punish them. The wretched strangler Wheeler remains in a San Francisco jail unhung by law, and it looks like he never will be. The star route robbers have been acquitted, yet no one doubts their guilt and villainy. This is the condition of things which is so often substituting popular for legal justice in so many parts of the country. The Courts have fallen into disrepute where such things are done. But this cannot be regarded as very reassuring or comfortable. It is mistaken abroad for the wild lawlessness inseparable from a rude state of society. No one observing from a distance, would suppose that the men who participate in these affairs are in most cases upholding rather than overturning society, and that they occupy the foreground only because of the inefficiency of the judicial machinery. The murderer, in the first place, forfeits his life to society. He is only tried and executed by certain persons, because they have been designated for that purpose. But the method is not a good one. In the heat and passion of the moment the wrong man may be punished. If there were any extenuating circumstances in his case they are not likely to receive the consideration to which they are entitled. Besides, such executions cannot be considered in any sense as refining or improving. They familiarize men with deeds of blood. But they will not disappear until we have some short, impartial and certain method of punishing crime, such as has been demonstrated in the almost unerring practice of English Courts.

THE Chicago Inter-Ocean figures out that the people of the United States spend $930,000,000 annually for intoxicating liquors. This, at ten cents a drink, makes an expenditure of $18 60 for every man, woman and child in the land, or 186 drinks for each one. As there are a good many people who never drink intoxicants of any kind, the balance of the people must keep the torch-light procession moving down their throats pretty steadily.

FRANCE and China are going to war and the Mongolian is rushing to this country to buy arms of the Melicans. It is not likely that the Chinese soldiers will stand up long against the French. Their gong and tom tom way of making war is too ancient to hold out against needle-guns and improved artillery.

LAST week's land sales of the Central Pacific were over $300,000 in Tehama and Colusa counties. Four thousand acres of timber land were sold in Nevada and Placer counties. The largest amount sold in one lot was 50,000 acres. The total sales of the company last week aggregated nearly $450,000.

A DISPATCH from Dallas, Texas, says the cattle drive so far this season exceeds all expectations as over 200,000 head have already passed over the trail that leads through Albany. This does not include more than half the cattle that have been driven from Texas.

THE track of the Northern Pacific Railroad will be laid to Helena, Montana, in a few days, and the first through ticket from Helena and Butte to St. Paul will be sold to the highest bidder at auction. A lively competition is expected for the honor.

GEN. SHERMAN gives Mr. Dorsey a certificate of character which goes to the country with the verdict acquitting Mr. Dorsey of stealing $4,000,000. Gen. Sherman's indorsement is born out of due time. Mr. Dorsey needed it before the verdict.

CAPTAIN EADS sailed for Europe on the 20th on business appertaining to the Tehuantepec Ship Railway. Captain Eads asserts confidently that at the end of five years ships will be carried on rails from one sea to the other.

AT Hamburg a number of prominent shipping firms expressed sympathy with the prospect of a second Suez canal, and resolved to communicate with the British Committee with a view of eventual participation in the undertaking.

HON. A. R. CONKLIN, having elegantly housed his family on the corner of Adams and Main streets, has gone up to his Inyo county mines to look after the big nuggets.—Los Angeles Express.

The Bullion Output.

A preliminary summary of the report of Mr. Burchard, Director of the Mint, on the production of the precious metals has been published, the figures presented being the following:

	GOLD.	SILVER.
Alaska	$ 150,000	$.....
Arizona	1,065,000	7,500,000
California	16,800,000	845,000
Colorado	3,360,000	16,500,000
Dakota	3,300,000	175,000
Georgia	250,000	.....
Idaho	1,500,000	2,000,000
Montana	2,550,000	4,370,000
Nevada	2,000,000	6,750,000
New Mexico	150,000	1,800,000
North Carolina	190,000	25,000
Oregon	830,000	35,009
South Carolina	25,000	.....
Utah	190,000	6,800,000
Virginia	15,000	.....
Washington	120,000	.....
Wyoming	5,000	.....
Total	$32,500,000	$46,800,000

This shows a decline of $2,200,000 in the production of gold and an increase of $3,800,000 in that of silver, a favorable showing, considering the many circumstances which have told against the prosperity of the mining industries.

THE following rather curious piece of composition was recently placed upon the black-board at a Teachers' Institute and a prize of a Webster's Dictionary offered to any person who could read it and pronounce every word correctly. The book was not carried off, however, as twelve was the lowest number of mistakes made in pronunciation:

"A sacrilegious son of Belial, who suffered from bronchitis, having exhausted his finances, in order to make good the deficit resolved to ally himself to a comely, lenient and docile young lady of the Malay or Caucasian race. He accordingly purchased a calliope and a coral necklace of a chameleon hue, and securing a suite of rooms at a principal hotel, he engaged the head waiter as his coadjutor. He then dispatched a letter of the most unexceptional caligraphy extant, inviting her to a matinee. She revolted at the idea, refused to consider her self sacrifice to his desires, and sent a polite note of refusal, on receiving which he procured a carbine and a bowie-knife, said that he would not now forge fetters hymenial with the Queen, went to an isolated spot, severed his jugular vein, and discharged the contents of the carbine into his abdomen. The debris was removed by the Coroner."

ON Monday Jack Ellis and John Mallory, of Belleville, were engaged in a game of cards. They disagreed at a point in the game and Ellis made some very unpleasant remarks to Mallory while he was eating breakfast the next morning. While the latter was crossing Main street in the afternoon Ellis opened fire on him, which was returned, some four or five shots being exchanged. Neither of the combatants was hit, but Sam Booth, who happened to be upon the street at the time, received a ball in the back. It grazed his left shoulder-blade, fracturing the bone a little, and came out near the spine. The wound was painful, but not serious, the sufferer doing well at last accounts. Ellis and Mallory were both arrested and taken in charge by the Constable and his deputy. Ellis managed to escape and is still at large, while Mallory was brought here for examination. He was subsequently discharged, as he had acted in self-defense.—True Fissure.

WHY HE DESPISED THE LAWYER.—"I despise that man," said an old-school Arkansaw gentleman, referring to a lawyer who passed along the street. "Why do you think the man merits your hate?" asked a bystander. "I not only have cause for thinking it, but have cause for knowing it. He was counsel against me in a law case some time ago, and his unprofessional conduct disgusted me." "I never before heard that he had disregarded the fine lines of professional bearing." "But he has. You see, I was drawn into Court on a charge of stealing a cow—yes, sir, charged with stealing a cow! I did not object to a professional investigation of the case; but, sir, after examining ten witnesses, and failing to sustain the indictment, he should have stopped." "Didn't he stop?" "No sir; he brought in the eleventh witness and proved that I did steal the d—d cow."

THE boast that California possesses the most varied resources of any State in the Union is not without cause. According to the Stockton Herald, Gen. Thomas H. Williams has started a monkey ranch on Union Island. Thus is this marvelous country being developed. In the last few years many agricultural and animal products non-indigenous to the State have been introduced. Raising our own ostriches, we can supply the home demand for ostrich eggs and feathers, and should the monkey enterprise prove a success, California will no longer have to send abroad for her dudes and organ grinders.

A BOSTON paragrapher, tired of the senseless and incessant ridicule heaped upon Hubites for their attachment to baked beans, has published a recipe for the cooking of those "Yankee dates," evidently with the hope that their use may become general throughout the country, and that the maligng of them and of their birth may cease. Here is the recipe: "Let your beans simmer in warm water slowly, with molasses and mustard; then put in the pork and bake a long time. A small green onion adds a delicious flavor."

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 23..... ...1883

A CORRECTION.—We were favored, a couple of days since, by a call from Mr. N. T. Piper, of Oasis, better known as "Piper's Ranch." Referring to the account, given by our correspondent "You Know" in his communication of the 9th, of the visit to Oasis by the party of ladies and gentleman from Big Pine, Mr. Piper wishes us to say, emphatically, that no "stampede of the ladies" took place at all, neither did any of the party pass the night in the "sheep corral"—in short, that while he has not the slightest doubt but that "You Know's" facetious account was well intended in every particular, and was fully complimentary to the host and hostess, the inference of "rough conviviality" to be drawn from it was not in the least justified by the facts, a statement he feels called upon to make in justice to the visitors themselves, that their distant friends may not have cause to wonder at the apparent change in their social habits. While all entered into the full spirit of enjoyment appropriate to the occasion, and as due to each other and their entertainers, even well-intended facetiousness should not warrant the slightest inference of indecorous conduct on the part of anyone, much less as applicable to the uniformly sedate gentlemen to which especial allusion was made.

THE MINERAL EXPOSITION.—The time is drawing in, and only about three weeks more remain to perfect the arrangements for Inyo's exhibit. One hundred dollars more is needed to successfully carry out the proposition of exhibiting our county's minerals. It is sincerely hoped that all who feel an interest in this matter will come forward without solicitation and subscribe whatever amount they can afford towards making the exhibition a complete success. No step will be taken towards sending the Independence collection until the necessary amount of money is subscribed to pay the expenses of freight and show cases. The following additional subscrihtions have been received since our last report: Cash, $1; S. A. Densmore, $1 50; Julius Roeper, $1; J. A. Yohl, $1; T. E. Jones, $1. Total to date, $148 50.

THE RAILROAD.—During the week past, by reason of a better supply of material, the railroad has made considerable progress down the valley. Today it is completed to the Eclipse mill, and by the end of the coming week will be at or in the neighbornood of the Lone Pine Station. The telegraph wire has been stretched about one-half way between Bishop Creek and Big Pine and the poles for its further construction strung to the Chrysopolis mill. It will now be but a short time before we have at our doors both railroad and and telegraphic communication with the world. The station buildings at the Independence Station are being rapidly pushed to completion.

AT REST.—Our Board of Supervisors may now perhaps feel relieved of some of its tribulation in the Bishop Creek bridge matter, inasmuch as the railroad people have built a complete bridge across the river just opposite the Bishop Creek Station, and other parties are making a good road to connect with it. The stages now pass over it and the mails are thereby materially "expedited," without danger of a star-route prosecution. No doubt, however, another road leading directly east from Bishop, with a bridge over the river, is or will be needed, and the county and district should provide for the work being done.

DROWNED.—Last Wednesday Coroner Brady was called to Owens River in his official capacity to inquire into the facts of the death of a sheep man. He succeeded in finding the dead man's clothes, and learned that three of the herders had been in the river bathing, and that one of them had disappeared, no one knowing exactly how except upon the supposition that he was drowned. His name was not ascertained. The boss of the gang seemed to be vastly more solicitous about the loss on the road of some 1,100 sheep than he cared for what fate had befallen the herder.

A SMELTER.—It is reported that Mr. W. P. Miller, the purchaser of the Montezuma mine, will at once erect a 30-ton smelter in the neighborhood of the property, and that the furnace is already shipped from San Francisco. Other works are projected by Mr. Miller, and no doubt will be carried forward energetically to success. The influence of the railroad in reviving our interests and developing the country is being already strongly and substantially felt.

THE KEYNOT.—Owing to some troubles about the water supply the Keynot mill is temporarily shut down. The mine, at the lowest workings, is yielding immensely. We saw two specimens weighing over sixty pounds each of rich free gold ore, intended by Mr. Lasky for contribution to the coming Mining Exposition at San Francisco. Miners of Inyo everywhere would be doing about the proper thing to immediately follow his example.

THE '78.—Greenly & Broder have about completed a good wagon road from Cottonwood creek, in Deep Spring District, up to their famous "'78" mine—a work in which they have been engaged for the past month or more. The whole situation now, as to wood, water-power, roads and a well-developed mine, is one of the very best in Inyo county.

OFF FOR HOME.—Mr. D. Williams and wife, of Utah, who have been visiting their daughter—Mrs. Thos. E. Jones, of Round Valley—have started homeward. They go to San Diego, from thence to San Francisco and to their home at Morgan City. Tom Jones talks of following them up after awhile, about which we hope he won't.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE INYO COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION.

Adjourned Meeting of the March Session.

Pursuant to call of the County Superintendent, the Board of Education convened on Tuesday, June 12, one day in advance of the date fixed for the adjourned meeting from the March session. Present—J. H. Shannon, Daniel Crough, C. H. Groves, County Superintendent, and P. A. Chalfant, President.

The work of preparing questions, and consideration of the requirements of the Act establishing the Grammar-Course Grade occupied the day.

On Wednesday the work of examining applicants for teacher's certificates began, and continued for four days. A. R. Conklin was then present in addition to those above named.

Miss Minnie Thomson, Robert Dunn and Geo. F. Willis were applicants for first-grade certificates, and Miss Carrie Stoutenborough for a second grade.

Second-grade certificates were attained as follows: Miss Stoutenborough, 89 per cent.; Miss Thomson, 88½ per cent.; Mr. Dunn, 82 per cent.; and a first grade by Mr. Willis, on 86 per cent.

The examination on the second-grade studies was concluded on Friday afternoon, the third day of the examination. All the applicants save one had then attained a general percentage high enough if maintained to the end, to entitle each to a first-grade certificate, but, except Mr. Willis (who already held a second grade), all declined to go on further than to try the first paper (algebra) in the Grammar Grade. The examination of Mr. Willis was not finally concluded until Monday morning.

The remainder of Monday was fully taken up in fulfilling the requirements of the amended school law and other matters of like character, in effect as follows:

Ordaining the course of studies for Primary and Grammar schools, as required by said law, every school to be furnished with a copy of the same.

Ordering semi-annual examinations of pupils for promotion, the first of these to take place at some period during the fourth month of the term, and the second at or near the close of the term, the Board of Examiners to consist of the District Trustees, the County Superintendent or some person to be appointed by him, and the teacher in charge, any three to constitute a quorum.

Ordered, That the adoption of text books and fixing course of studies for the Grammar (or University) Course school provided for in the new law be postponed until the next regular meeting, in September.

Ordered, That hereafter the time allowed for the examination of applicants shall not exceed four days; that the time given for examinations in written grammar and arithmetic shall not exceed two hours each; also, that any applicant for a first-grade certificate falling short of 85 per cent. average in the primary studies shall be barred from further examination at such sitting as a claim for a first-grade certificate.

Ordered, That if the County Superintendent has reason to expect attendance of any applicants for examination at the next or subsequent semi-annual sessions, he may call the meeting of the Board one day in advance of the fixed standing order; otherwise, the meeting to take place at the time fixed by said standing order.

Ordered, That, pursuant to his application, and proof of ten years' experience in teaching, Mr. Daniel Crough be recommended as well worthy of a Life Diploma.

A first-grade county certificate was granted to Mr. E. Gibbs upon a Life Diploma.

Ordered, That the second-grade county certificate now held by Miss Eva Shepherd be renewed for an additional period of two years.

It being made to appear that the amended law required that this Board instead of the County Superintendent should grade the schools, it was, subject to correction, Ordered, That the schools of Round Valley, Union (George's Creek) and Darwin be affirmed in the second grade, and those of Irving, Bishop Creek, Big Pine, Milton, Independence and Lone Pine be rated as first grade.

Ordered, That "McCarty's Statistician" be listed as a School Library book.

As the most available means of elucidating the intent and scope of the Act establishing the "Grammar Common Schools" in the several counties of this State, it was Ordered, That a copy of State Superintendent Welcker's circular letter relating to the same be furnished THE INYO INDEPENDENT with respectful request for its publication, together with the minutes of proceedings of this Board.

On Monday the Board adjourned until the third Wednesday in September next.

ICE AND ICE CREAM.—On the 1st of July and as long after the Fourth as people may wish it, S. Zuan, of Lone Pine, will be prepared to supply all demands to any extent for ice, ice cream, lemonade and pure soda water. He will be located in the old Inyo saloon building and on the grounds on the Fourth.

A PRIEST'S VISIT.—From the 10th to the 17th of this month, Catholic services were held in Lone Pine. There were twenty baptisms, two marriages and twelve first communions. The people of Lone Pine appreciate fully the benefit they have received from the visit of Rev. Father Bannon, and hope he will return to continue his work.

THE DEPOT.—The grounds have been laid off, graded, switches laid and the frame of the new depot building at the Band City bridge is up. The telegraph line has reached Chrysopolis and will be along to the new station by the coming Fourth.

TO LONE PINE.—It is stated that the C. & C. track will be completed to the Lone Pine crossing by the Fourth, if possible. Material is now arriving at the front regularly and in good quantities.

THE DIRECTORIES.—As a matter of valuable information to our readers, we will in an early issue of THE INDEPENDENT give a list of the names of the advertisers and subscribers to the Inyo County Business Directory who have so far failed to call and pay for them. Those who have substantially supported and paid for their proportion in this meritorious enterprise will appreciate this plan of advertising the delinquents, whose accounts may be obtained by anyone at a specified discount.

FROM NEW YORK.—Mr. C. C. Barrie arrived last Wednesday from New York, on a visit of inspection to the Chrysopolis mines in the interest of Eastern parties. It is likely that a strong company will be organized to take the whole series, including the old mill.

COMING FORWARD.—Bishop and Big Pine, we are glad to note, are now coming up to the front in the matter of assisting the Exhibition financially and with mineral specimens, The subscription lists will be published, as all the rest have, when they are received.

LEAD.—Beyond a moderate trade demand for Common Pig, the market has ruled wholly nominal for round lots at 4.40 cents, while in a jobbing way the prices range from 4.45 to 4.50. Refined is quoted the same.

REMOVED.—Dr. H. G. Kernodle has moved his place of residence to the building formerly occupied by Dr. Bicknell, opposite the Masonic Hall, where he can be called outside of office hours.

GONE A'FISHING.—Several parties have gone over from Lone Pine to the fishing grounds, on their annual excursion. A crowd set out also from here the other day, expecting to come back permeated with fish bones.

RELIGIOUS.—To-morrow (June 24th) Rev. Father Bannon, of Visalia, will hold Catholic services in the school house in Independence at 10 o'clock A. M. All are respectfully invited to attend.

THE following incidents are related of the last days of the late Prof. Johnson, of Trinity College: He told his friends that he desired no formal or published eulogies in any shape over his death, and only such a quiet and modest recognition of it as would be consistent with the position he had held in the college and the church. He exhibited the very opposite of fear, in view of the great change; he greeted it joyfully. Being offered an anodyne to soothe pain, he replied: "No; I prefer, in making the passage into paradise, to go with my eyes open." A subsequent twinge of shrewder pain led him to say: "I don't know but it is my Christian duty to ease this if possible;" and he took an anodyne. As long as he retained consciousness he displayed a lively, good humor, and was cheerful to the last.

LOS ANGELES has had a unique suit, known as the "two-bit" case. It seems that Mrs. Jones sent her little girl to the butcher shop for two bits' worth of beefsteak. The meat did not suit and was returned, the girl being told to get a better steak or her money. The butcher refused to do either. Then the head of the family brought suit for the quarter of a dollar and won the case. A stay was granted, but in the meantime the butcher compromised by paying costs of $22.

A Mediterranean Mystery.

The American brig Mary Celeste, 268 tons register, under the command of Captain Bob Fleming, sailed from this port last week. Ten years ago a British merchantman sailing the Mediterranean saw the Mary Celeste a few miles to the leeward with all sail set, yet behaving in such a manner that a sailor could see that something was wrong. Receiving no answer to their hail, they boarded her. The sight that greeted them there excited a feeling of intense curiosity.

Every sail was set, the tiller was lashed fast, and not a rope was out of place. Everything alow and aloft was in perfect order The fire was burning quietly in the gallery. The dinner was standing untasted and scarcely cold The cargo in the hold was intact. The pumps were dry. No one, living or dead, was on board. The sailors searched vainly for an explanation of the sudden disappearance of the Captain, his wife, his child and the crew. The log, written up to the hour of her discovery, showed that she hailed from Boston. There was not a drop of blood, a lock of hair, a disordered room or anything to show the sign of a struggle. The boats were in their places. There was not the slightest clue by which a reasonable hypothesis could be advanced to explain where the crew had had gone. From that day to this not the slightest clue has been obtained by the owners, nor have they ever been able to frame an explanation of how she was abandoned, or hazard a guess as to why she was abandoned. Captain Fleming seys that she has been a lucky ship ever since, and that never a ghost or spook of those who vanished have ever appeared on her since. In the cabin child's toys were scattered around, and a piece of a woman's dress was still under the needle of the sewing machine.—N. Y. World, May 28.

He Showed the Scar to the Jury.

Judge Budd went up to Mariposa last week to defend a citizen charged with cattle stealing. One of his witnesses was an old man of sixty, who was asked by the District Attorney if he had ever been tried for felony. Judge Budd objected to the question, and the Court ruled it out. But the old man insisted on answering. He rose up, took off his coat, then his vest, and then—to the horror of a number of ladies in the Court-room, who put their hands up to their faces and looked through their fingers—he pulled off his shirt. The old fellow turned his left shoulder to the jury, showed a great scar on it, and observed:

"A man shot me there, and I killed him for it—that's all."

With perfect calmness the Mariposa man went on testifying while he resumed his raiment.

Judge Budd congratulated himself that his witness had not been wounded in the leg.—Stockton Herald.

FIFTY MILLIONS of people in the United States drink no more whisky to-day than 25,000,000 did thirty years ago. That accounts for the utter failure of the Democratic party for the past twenty-three years.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.

In the matter of M. J. Canadas, an Insolvent Debtor.

M. J. Canadas having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said M. J. Canadas is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The Sheriff of the County of Inyo is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said M. J. Canadas, Debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of accounts and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use. The said Debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said Debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court room of said Court, in the town of Independence in the County of Inyo, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF JULY, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts, and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said Debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated June 13, 1883.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Judge of the Superior Court.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR.

By ROBERT A. GUNN, M. D.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR CONTAINS 648 octavo pages, and is printed on fine paper and handsomely bound. It is sold at the low price of three ($3 00) dollars a copy, so as to bring it within the reach of all.

The work differs from all other books on Domestic Medicine in having the diseases systematically arranged, according to their classification. Everything is described in the plainest possible language, and the prescriptions are written out in plain English, so that they can be employed by any intelligent reader.

Druggists will find this book of great advantage in aiding them to give advice when asked to do so.

Dentists will find much information in it that will prove valuable to themselves and their patients.

Teachers will be better prepared for the performance of their duties in the school room by studying it.

Parents will find it a reliable adviser in everything relating to the rearing of their children.

Every family can save fifty times the price of the book every year, by consulting it.

It is complete in all its parts, and is the most recent book of the kind published.

The book will be sent free by mail or express on receipt of three dollars.

Felix Adler's Strange School Methods.

A New York correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin gives the following description of a new school method: Professor Felix Adler's Workman's School is an institution devoted to the gratuitous instruction of children in something besides book learning. Adler is the son of a noted Jewish Rabbi of New York. He was sent to Europe some years ago to prepare himself at the expense of his father's congregation to become a Rabbi in his turn. But upon his r turn he called a meeting of the elders of the Synagogue and announced to them that he had ceased to believe in any religion and must decline to enter their service. He would pay back the $5,000 spent for him with the first money he earned. His friends and relatives looked upon him as the most foolish young man of the day to throw up a brilliant certainty for an idea. Young Adler drew about him the Jews who had ceased to go to the Synagogue and lectured to them on Sunday mornings. His talks were brilliant and interesting, and soon he filled Chickering Hall with the flower of the young people from the Synagogues. The Rabbis stormed in vain. The Society for Ethical Culture was organized, its creed being simply to do good and strive to make the race happier and healthier without regard to any future reward or punishment. For the last five years the Society has flourished, and now pays Adler a salary of $5,000 a year, besides keeping up charities which cost about twenty thousand dollars a year. Their most conspicuous work is this Workingman's School, which has just taken possession of a beautiful building in Fifty-fourth street, near Sixth avenue, which cost $86,000. Some three hundred children from the tenements are taught after a system of Professor Adler's, which consists in carrying Froebel's kindergarten method through the whole school course and dispensing almost entirely with books. He believes that if a boy can get before leaving school a definite notion of the different trades and arts of the world he will develop tastes and preferences which will enable a parent to put him at work for which he has aptitude, instead of compelling him to take the first work offered. Thus each boy is taught modeling in clay, lathe turning, drawing, machine making, etc., as well as the ordinary school branches, and the results are wonderful. Not only are the children brighter in their book studies than ordinary little ones, but they show a persistence and intelligence in their work which would astonish most teachers. To give an example of the system, a special course is devoted to clothing. Beginning with cotton, real cotton balls are handed around the class, the picking is explained, where it grows best, how much is grown, what it costs, how it is ginned, made into yarn, and woven, each pupil doing a certain amount of rough work upon the miniature loom and other machines. Silk is treated in the same way. Then wool, flax and in fact every substance that enters into clothing, is examined until any boy or girl in the class is able to tell the history and manufacture of everything they wear better than any book could teach it. This school is now in its third year and costs abont $10,000 a year to support it. It is entirely free and now that their new building has been opened several hundred new scholars will be accepted. At the opening of the building in January the Rev. Heber Newton, who was recently indicted for heresy, gave great offense to strict clergyman of his own church by making the oration of the day. Newton's indictment, by the way, has been quashed by Bishop Potter.

A TALL factory chimney has recently been erected at Breslau, Germany, that is made almost entirely of paper. Some substance is added to the paper pulp to make it incombustible, and it is then run in ring-shaped moulds and subjected to enormous pressure. The rings thus made are laid one upon another and fastened with iron bolts. A paper steamboat is also being built at Lansingburgh, New York, for Pittsburg parties.

He "Threw Out a Hint."

When a Georgia father found out that his son John was sparking a certain farmer's daughter for a year or more without settling any question, he called him out behind the hay stack and said to him:

"John, do you love Susan Tinker?"

"I guess I do, dad."

"And does she love you?"

"That's what I dunno, and I'm 'fraid to ask her."

"Well, you'd better throw out a few hints to-night and find out. It's no use wearing out boot-leather unless you are going to marry her."

That night at 10 o'clock John came home a wreck; his face was all scratched up, his ear was bleeding, his hat was gone, and his back was covered with mud.

"John! John! What on earth is the matter!" exclaimed the old man, laying down his paper.

"Bin over to Tinker's," was the reply.

"And—and—"

"And I threw out a few hints to Susan."

"What kind o' hints?"

"Why I told her I'd been hoofing it two miles four nights out of the week for the last year, to sot up with her while she chawed gum and sung through her nose, and now I reckoned it was time for her to brush her teeth and darn up her stockings, cure the bile on her chin and tell the old folks that we're engaged."

"And her father bounced you?"

"No, dad, no; that's where I'm consoled. It took the whole gasted family, including Susan, two hired men and three dogs, and then I wasn't mor'n half licked. I guess we moved on 'em too soon, dad—I guess it wasn't quite time to throw out hints."

SOME of our citizens are interesting themselves in the Arabian millet. Extensive planting of the seed is being made in Tulare county upon proof, on the dryest of soils there, that it surpasses alfalfa. James Morton, of that county, says of it: "We think it is as far ahead of alfalfa as alfalfa is of the wild grasses of California." The roots are known to go down in the earth from five to fifteen feet. The Los Angeles Times says of the sample at that office: "It grows to a height of from six to eight feet, resembles the orchard grass in appearance, and is greatly liked by stock of all kinds." The New York Tropic says the experiments in New Jersey soil and climate, sowed in May, in drills eighteen inches apart, at the rate of four pounds per acre, in twelve days the plants were up so that he ran a cultivator between the rows, after which no cultivation was possible owing to the astonishing growth which crowded down every other vegetation. The first cutting was made July 1st, just 45 days after sowing; it was then seven feet high, covering the whole ground, and weighed while green, 30 tons to the acre, and dry six and one-half tons per acre. The second cutting was the 15th of August. Its height was then nine feet, weighing green 55 tons per acre, and dry, eight tons. There has been a positive want, on the part of stock-raisers, for a grass of something of the character of timothy, to feed at certain seasons. This has been so much a necessity that portions of the farm have been left uncultivated in salt grass, and it seemed the stock paid more attention to the coarse grass than to the alfalfa. The evergreen millet, from all reliable accounts is destined to take this place.

AT the Royal Geographical Society of England recently a paper was read on New Guinea by Wilford Powell, who spent eight years on the coast of that tight little island. It has an area of 312,000 English square miles. It is 19,000 square miles larger than Borneo, and as large as England, Ireland, Scotland and France put together. No island in the world is its equal for natural products. Among the productions are tortoise shell, pearl shell, ivory nuts, gum, sandal wood, camphor tree, sago, arrowroot, ginger, sugar cane, cocoanuts, ebony, birds of paradise, and plums, while tobacco is grown in large quantities. In the discussion which followed, Admiral Moresby said it was a mistake to suppose he had annexed any portion of New Guinea. The English flag had been hoisted there seventeen years before by Lieutenant Yule during Captain Stanley's visit.

GENEFAL SHERIDAN, who will succeed General Sherman to go on the retired list, this fall as General of the Army, is to be presented a fine mansion, by his admiring friends, in the fashionable quarter of the city of Washington. It is hoped that the General, whose fame has hitherto been spotless, will refuse to accept. No man in a situation of public trust and responsibility can receive presents without finding himself at some future time in a position that he will almost feel obligated to do something he had better leave undone.

WHEN a young man says his girl is "worth her weight in gold," he is not putting a very high valuation on her, unless she is a very heavy girl. At this rating 120 pounds of girl would be worth about $30,000, and any young man who doesn't think his best girl worth more than $30,000 ought to be kicked clear over the front gate by an infuriated parent and have the dog set after him.

THERE is less snow on the Sierra Nevada Mountains this year than there has been for many years past. Along the line of the Central Pacific Railraad fire trains are employed in wetting down the snow-sheds to prevent their catching fire from sparks.

"DON'T be afraid of killing yourself with overwork, son," is the facetious way the Burlington Hawkeye has of counseling young men to thrift. "Men seldom work so hard as that on the sunny side of thirty. They die sometimes, but it is because they quit work at 6 P. M., and don't get home until 2 A. M. It's the intervals that kill, my son. The work gives you an appetite for your meals; it lends solidity to your slumbers; it gives you a perfect and grateful appreciation of a holiday. There are young men who do not work, my son—young men who make a living by sucking the end of a cane, and who can tie a necktie in thirteen different knots and never lay a wrinkle in it; who can spend more money in a day than you can earn in a month, son; and who will go to the Sheriff to buy a postal card, and apply at the offics of the Street Commissioner for a marriage license. So find out what yau want to be and do, son, and take off your coat and make success in the world. The busier you are, the less evil you are apt to get into, the sweeter will be your sleep, the brighter and happier your holiday, and the better will the world be with you."

AN apple in perfect preservation, although 96 years old, is in possession of a gentleman in Ulster county, New York. As it rounded from the blossom of the parent stem in the early summer of 1787, a bottle was attached to the branch and after the apple had ripened the stem was severed and the bottle sealed tightly. It looks as fresh as when first plucked.

THE IRON TRACK.

We have the statement from the best authority that the Railroad track will be laid to a point nearly opposite the town of Lone Pine by the Fourth, and that it will be completed to the station on the Lake, just below the Hawley mill, about the middle of July. On the Fourth the excursion train from the north will run down to the southern end and bring back all who wish to come to the celebration, including the Company's officers and employes. In view of this, it has been arranged that the literary exercises of the day shall not begin until 1 o'clock P. M., instead of at 11 A. M., as announced last week. This is a better arrangement, leaving the guests of Independence a chance for rest and refreshment to the inner man before partaking of the mental pabulum. This particular holiday should be celebrated by Inyo as one marking the advent of the modern railroad and telegraph, long-to-be-remembered and important, involving the destinies of the county.

A BEE, when it has wandered far away from its hive in search of honey, after lading itself with a precious cargo of sweets will mount into the air and, taking in the situation in an instant, dart off in a straight line for its home. Pigeons have the same instinct, and in several of the Eastern cities they have organized what are called "Homing Clubs," to encourage pigeon racing. The birds are taken off long distances—one hundred, two hundred, three hundred miles and over—and let loose to see which will be the first to reach its cote. The betting on the result runs as high sometimes as in horse racing. For the better information of our readers we append a summary of a couple of these winged contests which took place in New Jersey and New York. Fall River homing pigeons were loosed from Princeton, New Jersey, at 8:21 A. M. (the 17th), their fourth journey for record. They arrived at 2:12 P. M.; distance, 204 miles; average speed, 1,022 yards per minute. The best record was made a week ago, 1,167 yards. Rhode Island birds loosed in New York at 7:10 A. M. were at home in four hours and fifteen minutes. The distance was 154 miles; average speed, 1,063 yards. Other birds, with 156 miles to fly, that were loosed at 9:10 A. M., made the journey at the rate of 1,236 yards per minute.

MAINE has at length got a liquor law to evade which will require the utmost ingenuity of the wine sellers and the wine bibbers. Thus far a loop-hole of some sort has always been found in the statutes framed on the subject. The interested classes have jumped through them as easy as an accomplished circus rider takes a flying leap through a paper hoop. When the ordinary liquor saloon was compelled to put up its shutters, the private club came into existence; and when payment for liquor was prohibited, the dispenser of the beverage found a way of giving it away and at the same time reaping the usual profit. Under the new law, if the sober solons of the State are not very much mistaken, all these tricks and evasions will come to naught. Club houses and all other similar contrivances are to be declared nuisances and suppressed upon sight. Giving liquor away is to be remorselessly punished. A person found intoxicated, either on the streets or in his own house, shall be sent to jail for thirty days; if he undertakes to do the thing a second time he will be given a vacation and an opportunity to reform for a term three times as long. Maine seems to be in earnest this time.

THE Calcutta Exhibition, which will open on December 5th of this year, will be notable for the wonderful collection of precious stones which are to be shown. The great majority of the native Princes of India have promised to lend their finest jewels, and among these are some of the costliest in the world. The collection will be especially rich in diamonds and pearls.

LIEUTENANT SCHWATKA is happy. He has been detailed by the War Department to go to Alaska with two other officers and three privates upon an exploring expedition, to last six months. He is instructed to ascend the Chilcat river to its sources, and then cross over the dividing ridge to the presumed source of the Yukon. This he is to follow to its mouth.

THE total cost of both Star Route trials has been about half a million of dollars. For securing the attendance of witnesses the cost has been nearly $200,000. The following payments have been made by the Government to special attorneys: Bliss, $46,208; Brewster, $85,000; Cook, nearly $7,000; Key, $27,872; Gibson, 3,000; Merrick, $32,000; Pinkerton, nearly $3,000.

NO WONDER the poorly-paid working people of Europe look to the United States as a sort of earthly paradise where, by immigration, their condition is sure to be improved, and in thousands of instances a career of prosperity and happiness is opened up to them that were never dreamed of in their wildest flights of fancy. The series of articles written by Mr. Porter, a member of the late Tariff Commission, has reached its thirtieth number, and in that series he has narrated facts about the destitution and sufferings of many of the working classes—men, women and children—which are painful to read. Some of these poor people look forward to the time when they may be able to emigrate to the United States; and many do emigrate, but others, without the means at hand or procurable to seek a change, are compelled to endure their hard fate and live a life of penury, from which there never comes even a cheerful day of relief. In some parts of this country, perhaps, labor is not as well rewarded as it ought to be. However, wages here are never down to the starvation level, and when found to be unremunerative, opportunities are offered to the industrious man for improving his condition. The Government has millions of broad acres on which homesteads can be procured for sums that are merely nominal, and which by intelligent tillage in the course of a few years are certain to make their occupants independent. These facts are now pretty well understood abroad, which accounts for the weekly arrivals of thousands of emigrants at Castle Garden, New York.

AN attache of the Carson Mint informs the Reno Gazette that the Carson Mint is in a most flourishing condition. The authorities at Washington do not buy any bullion for it at all, but let it stand on its own bottom. They fix the price it can pay for silver and allow any one party the privilege of depositing as high as ten thousand ounces a day. If poeple bring sufficient metal there to keep it running, well and good, if not it is shut down. Just now considerable bullion is being put in every day, and it is piling up much faster than it can be coined. There are several months supply on hand now and there is no reason why the inflow should cease so long as southern Nevada and the Comstock yield anything.

THE following changes in money order business will take effect on and after July 2, 1883. A single order may be issued for any amount from one cent to $100. Three orders is all that can be issued in one day to the same remitter and in favor of the same payee, pryable at the same postoffice. Fee for orders not exceeding $10, 8 cents; exceeding $15, and not exceeding $30, 15 cents; exceeding $30 and not exceeding $40, 20 cents; exceeding $40 and not exceeding $50, 25 cents; exceeding $50 and not exceeding $60, 30 cents; exceeding $60 and not exceeding $70, 35 cents; exceeding $70 and not exceeding $80, 40 cents; exceeding $80 and not exceeding $100, 45 cents.

THE Postmaster General has approved the design for the new two-cent stamp. The following is a general description: On a tablet is suspended an incised shield, decorated with head work. An oval forming a frame work, surrounds a copy of Hudson's life cast of Washington; at the base of the oval is the figure 2, and below the shield is the word "two," and on the left is the word "cents." Surrounding the upper part of the oval appear the words "United States postage." The color of the stamp is metallic red. The stamp is a handsome piece of workmanship, and displays decided artistic taste, the shading being particularly fine.

THE fast train time table on the Union Pacific railroad goes into effect July 1. The Pacific Express leaves Omaha at noon and arrives at Ogden at six o'clock in the morning of the second day, and the Atlantic Express leaves Ogden at 9:30 in the morning, and arrives at Omaha at 7:35 in the morning of the second day. These trains connect with the Central Pacific, saving one day between Omaha and San Francisco, and also connecting with the Iowa trains,

A PITTSBURG jury gave a verdict against a railroad company for the amount of money stolen from a passenger in a sleeping car. "Since the defendant," said the judge who presided, "sold a ticket for two dollars in addition to the regular rates of passage, and offered the facilities of sleeping as an inducement to pay the extra money, it bound itself to protect its patrons while they were asleep and for the time being helpless."

AN exchange thus moralizes: Young men don't swear. There is no occasion for swearing outside of a newspaper office, where it is useful in proof-reading and is indispensibly necessary in getting forms to press. It has been known also to assist the editor in looking over the paper after it has been printed. Otherwise it is a foolish habit.

WIGGINS, of false weather prophesying fame, has a rival in a Watertown, N. J., man. This one does not prophesy about the weather, but claims to know lots more about it than Wiggins. He has regularly kept an account of the weather for years past and claims that it invariably repeats itself. He states as a result of his observations, that all years ending in 9, 0, or 1 are extremely dry; those ending in 2, 3, 4, 5 or 6 are extremely wet; those terminating in the figure 7 or 8 are ordinarily well balanced; those ending in 6 have extremely cold winters; those ending in 2 have an early spring; those in 1, a late spring; those ending in 3 or 4 are subject to great floods.

EXTENSIVE preparations are making to utilize the cactus in the manufacture of paper and a textile fabric. The Mexican Government has recently granted important concessions to two individuals who propose engaging in this new industry. The concessions consist in giving these persons the exclusive right to gather the cactus for ten years from Government lands. The grant further provides that for each mill of the value of $150,000 erected by the grantees for the manufacture of paper from the cactus leaf the Government shall give a premium of $30,000. Here is an opportunity for enterprise in our Colorado desert.

CYCLONES are becoming of such frequent occurence at the East that an enterprising insurance man in St. Paul, Minn., has incorporated a tornado insurance company. Although the concern has only been organized a few weeks, he has already insured large numbers of poeple in the Southern and Western States and he and his agents are reaping a harvest of funds. No applications have as yet been received from the territory west of the Rocky mountains and it is safe to say that none will be. An agent in this stormless region would starve to death.

THERE will not be any President-making of importance until Congress meets in December. When the House is organized in the election of a Speaker and its legislative policy marked out, the lines upon which the next contest for President is to be made will more distinctly appear. This is a practical consideration which the organizers of Presidential "booms" may as well bear in mind, as all their toil in advance of the organization of the House will be that much love's labor lost.

THE schooner Alaska has sailed from San Francisco for Alaska, taking a mining party numbering twenty-five. She had on board six mules, which will be used in making expeditions into the interior, and has on her deck a small stern-wheel steamer, similar to the New Racket, taken up by the Schefferlin party over a year ago. This will be used in exploring the shallow streams of the Territory, which are supposed to abound in the precious metals.

THE Vassar College girls have protested in a body against the marking system and the cramming system of school. They complain of the great number of studies as being detrimental to mental and physical health. The charge which is said to have been made against the authorities at Vassar will apply equally to the majority of other schools. There is too much crowding to permit a healthy development of mind and body.

THE British House of Commons has refused by a large majority to repeal the law providing for compulsory vaccination. This is all right; but they certainly ought to repeal some of their laws providing for compulsory starvation.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 30..... ...1883

PERSONAL.—R. S. Miner, Esq., arrived from Bodie and Bridgeport last Sunday, on law business....Judge A. R. Conklin received a telegram Thursday to the effect that his mother—a venerable lady of eighty-two years—was dying at her home in Pennsylvania. The Judge immediately started for San Francisco and may go East. This absence will delay the disposal of several cases in Court here....Messrs. O. K. Berry and S. P. Roberts were in from Deep Spring on the Pine Mountain mining case. Mr. Berry is the discoverer and has stood well by some of the best interests in that great District...Geo. M. Gill, Esq., and G. W. Burden of Bishop were in town to-day, skirmishing around on some business that reportorial curiosity failed to elicit.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—On the morning of the 22d instant an accident occurred in the Defiance mine at Darwin, by which a young miner named John Johns sustained a fracture of the large bone of the leg, midway between the knee and ankle. Mr. Johns set off a blast and retired a distance of fifty feet down the tunnel, where he stepped into a crosscut, but unfortunately left his right leg in the tunnel, where it was struck by a piece of rock from the blast; hence the accident. Charles Anthony brought him to Lone Pine, from whence Dr. Stevenson, of Independence, was sent for, and his patient is now doing as well as could be expected. The accident was one which might have occurred to the most careful miner.

FOURTH OF JULY.—From advices reaching us from various parts of the county it is apparent that great interest is being taken in our Fourth of July celebration. From present appearances there will be a large number present, and it behooves our various committees to be prepared to make our visitors comfortable and pleased. Let our arrangements be ample and complete, and everything done decently and in order, that no oversight shall mar what should and will be a splendid celebration. It is said that quite a number of visitors are coming from the various towns along the railroad in Nevada. If so, we welcome them, and promise them a general good time.

FISHING PARTY.—On Wednesday last a party of gentlemen—including W. P. Miller, James Oliver, Mr. Ferras, S. D. Woods and "Bud" Stoutenborough—spent the day in trout fishing in Bishop creek in the neighborhood of Dugan & Blair's mill. Although the day was exceedingly warm, a fine string of trout was caught and a pleasant time had. On their return to town in the evening the the party sat down to a trout dinner and discussed vigorously a fine spread prepared by Mrs. Clarke. Messrs. Miller and Ferras were delighted with their trip and expressed their good opinion of this county in strong terms.

NEW INCORPORATION.—The Old Argentiferous Mining Company has been recently organized in New York City to operate in this county. It is the intention of the Company to develop the mines in a not distant district. The affairs of the Company are in the hands of a well-known citizen here. We are not at liberty to make further mention of this matter, but suffice it to say that it is the intention of the Company to energetically operate in this county. This is but another direct result of the presence of the Railroad in our valley.

KEYNOT ORE.—A couple of magnificent specimens of Keynot ore, kindly forwarded by Supt. Frank Miranda, can be examined at this office by all interested in such matters—and who is not, in this county?—until the date of their shipment to the Mineral Exposition. We venture to say that there will be nothing of better character and equally massive shown on that occasion. The Keynot owners are to be commended for their public spirit and enterprise in the matter.

THE ELGIN.—Messrs. Baker, Barnes and Keyes, of the Elgin mine, were in town during the week with 24¾ ounces of fine retorted gold, the result of working 3¾ tons of ore in their new arastra. Considering that this first run was somewhat experimental it makes a good showing, especially as the mine looks as though it will supply all the ore they want indefinitely.

SUPERIOR COURT.—On Monday, June 25th, in the case of A. H. Wemple and J. Chastine vs. Duncan Campbell and S. P. Roberts, a decree was rendered by the Superior Court in favor of defendants, Campbell and Roberts, quieting their title to the Chastine mine, situate in Deep Spring Valley Mining District.

SETTLED.—The three-cornered controversy in regard to the real ownership of some of the principal mines of Pine Mountain, between Chastain, Wemple and Campbell & Roberts, has been settled in the Superior Court. Judge Campbell and his partner get the mines, and are again actively developing them.

ORDER EARLY.—Parties wishing for their own use, or for sending East or elsewhere, an account of the Fourth of July proceedings, including a synopsis of the music and general exercises, the oration and poem in extenso, will do well to leave orders at this office for extra copies of next Saturday's "INYO."

MORE CONTRIBUTIONS.—Some very rich gold quartz specimens have been brought in for the Exhibition, by the owners of the Elgin mine. One is about six pounds in weight, showing particles of free gold all over its surface.

THE ASSAY OFFICE.—Attention is called to the notice elsewhere of a transfer of the Independence assay office and mineral collection. All orders for assays will be received by Mr. Irwin and attended to promptly.

Racing a 2:40 with a 3-Minute Horse.

BISHOP CREEK, June 28.

ED. INDEPENDENT: Let me give you a sketch of the race that is being run in this part of Inyo: This morning I saw one of the boys, a good, jovial fellow, whose liberality is only equaled by his temper. He was walking across the street with a quick, nervous step, yet in a thoughtful mood, probably thinking of the millions just ahead; has forgotten the days of plenty, gone perhaps forever; thinks he is still in the race. Probably when "time" is called for the last heat and his friends go to him and tell him he cannot win, that the favorite "Fate" can and must win, he will realize that he has been trying to beat 2:40 with a 3-minute horse.

While I am writing I see sitting on the porch a very nice-looking gentleman who at one time had his thouands, that he put to no practical use. He is looking now for cold grub. When he gets a few "sheets in the wind" he says to the boys: "Look at these brown hands. I'll make this country pay me millions." Some day—not long, for Old Time has laid vandal hands heavily on his shoulder, and the liquid crime is shut off—a few old associates will go to his cabin and try to drive the imaginary snake demons away. While thus engaged Old Time calls and says the race must go. What little intellect is left of the once great and good man rallies and he looks with bloodshot eyes at his friends, then at the "tapper," and for the first time in sixty years realizes that he has been trying to beat 2:40 with a 3-minute horse.

There goes a little, old, dried-up "dapper-cut" gentleman. His philanthropy (love of money) has distorted his nature till it is as crooked frame(?). When he is called to make the final run, his neighbors will stand by his couch. He will say: "The interest is too high. I never can pay the debt unless the homeless children and widows I have made, with my two to five per cent., will take fifty cents on the dollar." "Time" is called. The starting judge says the conditions are "pay or play." He listens, looks at his friends, shakes his head, and says: "I'm short out." The fact is, he has been trying to beat 2:40 with a 3-minute horse.

There goes the "Child of the Desert." He has been on every trail within 500 miles of Bishop; is going to "strike it rich;" hope is just as buoyant as it was twenty years ago when he took the trail. Everyone speaks kindly to him and wishes him success. Some day they will find him lying beside the trail on the desert, a rough sketch in his pocket of a wonderful "find," a few pieces of rock going away up into the thousands. Will it occur to those who find the old pioneer, while they are digging his grave in that lonely place, that the old man lacked twenty seconds of getting in on time?

See that "best man in the world" taking a drink at the pump(?). He came to Bishop fifteen or twenty years ago; owns a fine ranch; is alway ahead in the race. His home was headquarters for the boys when our floating population consisted of the renowned cow-boy, and he has kept up the same tide even after the tramp struck us. His wife often tried to convince him he was going too fast. He would answer, pleasantly: "Never mind; I'll save a 'brush' on the 'home stretch.'" But the knowing ones are buying him in the field. When the bell rings for his class, the chances are he will be "off his foot," but he must go. When he strikes the head of the stretch and sees his companion motioning and hears his friends calling to him to come on, and he looks down to the pole but sees Time at the distance stand with the flag raised to shut him out, it is just possible that he, too, may realize that he has been trying to beat 2:40 with a 3-minute horse.

See that old-timer yonder. He has always been known as a sport; has won and lost his thousands since the days of '49; bets his last dollar like a king; is sure he can "call the turn." Some day he will put up a "marker," and the dealer will hand it back to him and tell him the game is closed. He will walk to the bar (mechanically). No one will offer to wait on him. He will go home, and find wife and babes with nothing to eat. Will it occur to him that it has come "jack-king" instead of "king-jack," or that he has been trying to beat 2:40 with a 3-minute horse.

The fact is, all must make the run. Do not overweight yourself, nor take too much exercise; keep on your feet; do not brace until you know it is a go; the gait is not fast; go round the turn well in hand, and foot it down the home stretch in grand style and get there (Eli) by a neck. A. B. C.

WHOLESALE HORSE STEALING.—A report reaches us from Bishop Creek that on Thursday night last an entire team of fourteen animals were stolen from the pasture of Supervisor Spencer, to whom they belonged. A posse of citizens set out scouring the country around for the stolen animals and the man or men who took them. If caught it will not be surprising if something happens up that way.

PREPARATIONS.—The Court House grounds have been already fitted up with a commodious platform for the officers of the day, the vocalists and the band. The seats are arranged in a semi-circle, sufficient to accommodate a whole host. The decoration of the Court-room will be of the most elaborate order, and by far the finest ever attempted in the building.

LASKY'S MILL.—Supt. Lasky informs us that the new mill has so far worked nine tons of ore from the 550-level of the lower tunnel in the Keynot mine. The whole ledge was run through without sorting, and it paid $83 per ton. There is now over 100 tons of the same ore in sight.

ALVORD.— The Big Pine Railroad station has been named Alvord, in honor of William Alvord of the Bank of California.

LOCATED.—Dr. Stevenson has fitted up quarters in Dr. George's late office, the old Inyo House.

EQUALIZATION.—The County Board of Equalization will meet next Monday for the purpose of equalizing assessments. They will probably adjourn over the holiday until the 5th, when work will commence.

FREIGHT.—Last Saturday the first lot of freight by the railroad route was received here by Harris & Rhine. Another big load of general merchandise came in and across the valley to-day.

IN ORDER.—A great, tall flag-staff, such a one as used to stand at the corner of Edwards and Market streets, would be the proper thing for the celebration, though 'tis too late now.

NOTE IT DOWN.—See a couple of notices in the advertising columns this week by Henry Levy, of the Miners' Hotel.

THE California Railroad Commission has at last made a movement, whether it may work to the people's advantage or not. A schedule of passenger rates has been adopted on the general basis of four cents per mile for valley routes and six cents for the mountain grades. It applies only to the Central and Southern Pacific systems.

IN a recent decision from the bench Judge Biddle, of Philadelphia, says distinctly that he thinks that sparring exhibitions are thoroughly inside the law, and that in his opinion sparring, as a national pastime, should be encouraged, tending, as it does, to discountenance the use of the knife and the pistol.

The Washington Critic makes a very grave accusation against President Arthur. It asserts that the President pays $18 a gallon for whisky for his own use, while he sets before his guests whisky of an inferior though still excellent quality which costs only $15 a gallon.

THE people of Dakota are holding a convention at Huron to devise a plan for getting that Territory into the sisterhood of States. As Nevada got in with a population of 30,000 there does not seem th be any special impertinence in Dakota, with about 150,000, asking for a ticket of admission.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, JUNE 30.....1883

A CLERK in a United States pension office said that it was his rule to believe every person who came in was a liar. "Hard?" he exclaimed. "You wouldn't think so if you had our experience. Perjury is nothing to what the people will do to get pensions that don't belong to them. You wouldn't suppose that a great many women, for the sake of $8 a month, would turn their marriages into adultery—illegalize their marital relations and their children. Well, I'd be willing to bet that there were 10,000 such cases. It happens in this way: A pension to a soldier's widow ceases whenever she remarries. But of course the law takes no notice of any irregular relations which she may enter into. So, if she is willing to do without any ceremony, and thus readily fail to become the lawful wife of her new consort, she can continue to draw her pension money. Periodically she must come to this or some other pension office and make oath that she is not a wife. I have frequently known her to bring along her children when she makes this shameful avowal. Astonishing, isn't it?"

TUESDAY morning a man, evidently a stranger in this part of the country, entered a saloon on Main street, threw down an American dollar and called for a drink. The barkeeper waited on him and handed back a Mexican dollar. The man looked first at the dollar and then at the barkeeper, then in a tone of surprise he asked: "Is this all right, stranger?" The barkeeper answered in the affirmative. The man gazed around in point-blank astonishment. "Is that the way you do business in this country?" he asked. Again he was answered in the affirmative. "Stranger," said the man, "I'm going to stay here. I've been hunting for this town, lo, these many years. This is the first place I ever saw where a man could swap dollars and get a drink to boot. I'm going to send for my family and all my brothers."—Laredo (Tex.) Times.

ELECTRICITY is now entering the field against the horse as a means of traction. Two eminent electricians claim to be able to bottle up twelve-horse power in a storage battery weighing three hundred weight, and they promise to produce in a few months a perfectly practical electric tricycle capable of running fifteen or twenty miles without re-charging the accumulators, and able to ascend all such hills as are now possible for the foot tricycle, and even steeper gradients, if auxiliary foot-gearing be used to help the electro-motor when the incline is great. The weight of batteries will not exceed the weight of a second rider, and will run at the rate of seven miles an hour.—N. Y. Herald.

THE Lyons (N. Y.) Press states that a dealer in that village recently shipped two car loads of straw to a firm in Penn Yan, who informed him that every particle of that straw would be made into a certain kind of paper, which after being soaked in tobacco juice, would greatly resemble Havana leaf, and be used as such in the manufacture of cigars.

A FRENCH chemist claims to have invented an odor that will hold any fort and the land within half a mile of it for a week. The smell is not deadly, but no mortal can stand before it. The new agent is expected to work a revolution in the art of war, besides serving in obstinate civil cases. It produces sensations of nausea and disgust like the worst sea-sickness.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR.

By ROBERT A. GUNN, M. D.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR CONTAINS 648 octavo pages, and is printed on fine paper and handsomely bound. It is sold at the low price of three ($3 00) dollars a copy, so as to bring it within the reach of all.

The work differs from all other books on Domestic Medicine in having the diseases systematically arranged, according to their classification. Everything is described in the plainest possible language, and the prescriptions are written out in plain English, so that they can be employed by any intelligent reader.

Druggists will find this book of great advantage in aiding them to give advice when asked to do so.

Dentists will find much information in it that will prove valuable to themselves and their patients.

Teachers will be better prepared for the performance of their duties in the school room by studying it.

Parents will find it a reliable adviser in everything relating to the rearing of their children.

Every family can save fifty times the price of the book every year, by consulting it.

It is complete in all its parts, and is the most recent book of the kind published.

The book will be sent free by mail or express on receipt of three dollars.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.

In the matter of M. J. Canadas, an Insolvent Debtor.

M. J. Canadas having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said M. J. Canadas is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The Sheriff of the County of Inyo is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said M. J. Canadas, Debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of accounts and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use. The said Debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said Debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court room of said Court, in the town of Independence in the County of Inyo, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF JULY, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts, and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said Debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated June 13, 1883.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Judge of the Superior Court.

Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.
By THOS. CROUGH, Deputy Clerk.

ORATION

Delivered at Independence July 4th, 1883, by S. D. Woods, Esq.

FELLOW-CITIZENS—AMERICANS: At dawn the thunder of cannon gave expression to a mighty joy to-day. It was a noisy we come, but it was the jubilant voice of Freedom hailing her natal day. Banners flung to the caress of the breeze, and the voice of trumpet and cymbal proclaimed that this is a free, a happy, holy day. The very skies have put on a serener blue; the lofty mountains are more towering and grand because we look forth upon them with joyous eyes. Along our pulses beat the tides of hope and aspiration as our spirits catch the temper of the hour and memory draws within the mind the splendid outlines of our history. We are free to-day. The meanest son of the Republic stands erect and noble because he feels his kinship to that grand national life that gives us a name and place in the front of humanity. America, how royal is thy presence to-day! Thy length and breadth adorned with loving hands, thy heavens filled with the sheen of thy gleaming banners all is light and color. No shadow falls across thy noble reaches—mountain, plain, valley, river and the encompassing sea are eloquent with all that makes life lively and grand. What means this vast expression of joy—the city crowded with procession, the hamlet filled with shout and song, the very desert places waked from their wonted solitude? what mighty event marks the hour and rouses a nation with such universal expression? What power levels the grades of human life to a common plane, stills the rush and jar of trade, lays by the prejudice and struggle of every-day life and elevates the spirits of our people to a new and deep and pure communion?

You need no recital of the splendid story from me. You know too well the series of events that wrought out the establishment of our country—that through pain, trial and tribulation were brought to a consummation so firm, steadfast and immortal. I say immortal, because I know the power and strength of a free people to perpetuate the principles that make them free. The passionate love of Americans for America renders our existence sure and eternal. The genius of the race—baptized with holy memories, inspired by deep longing that cannot be stayed—will give our national life a power of sustenance beyond that of any government under the sun. Our experience is rich with heroic hope. We have seen our flag, to-day floating in the serene air of peace, to-morrow torn with the rush of battle and drooping in the clouds of defeat. We have shouted with enthusiastic joy in our triumph, and in the darkness of disaster have kept steady pace through the night, determined, vigilant and enduring. Can such a temper be less than immortal? It has too much of God woven into its fabric to forget its destiny and go back from its high place into the lowlands again. Everything American is lofty and aspiring. It was a hopeful spirit that permeated the great minds of our founders, a mighty mood of faith that moved them to lay so broad and deep the foundations upon which we have through the past century built a structure so beautiful and enduring. Oh! we should indeed rejoice to-day as we review our story and with profound affection recount the valor and denying faith that gave us in the beginning so strong a hold upon the justice and integrity of the human mind. America is great because she is just. The warp and woof of her constitutional life is equal justice to all mankind. That principle runs clear and sweet and deep through all the motions of her existence, and has been the power which, shining across the seas, wakened to hope the unlettered mind of the Russian slave, and gave to France her love of freedom. Our existence and experience have modified the form and temper of all governments. Wherever the human mind rises to the plane of intelligence, America is known and loved. She is the leader of mankind. Through her example, by sure though sometimes slow processes of development from conditions hardened by centuries of slavish subjection to depraved life, the nations of the world are emerging into intelligent conception of their rights as men, and are vehemently demanding the true position. The day is rapidly passing when men can be oppressed by rulers whose sole right is the accident of birth. The immortal spirit cannot be forever barred and confined, but like the eagle as his eye looks into the deep blue sea of air above him, tries at last with mighty sweep of wing to reach the sun. So the mind, touched with a thrill of its true power and destiny, reaches towards the heavens, where, amid the play of benificent forces, it grows and expands to proportions God-like and grand. When these conditions are reached oppression ceases, and oppressors find their certain and swift defeat. So free; so used to all the benefits of freedom, regulated and established by laws just and firm; presided over by a power whose motion, though vast, is so beneficent and loving that its power is not suspected, you do not, unless you profoundly study the progress of mankind, fully appreciate the vast office your country performs in the economy of of life. She stands upon the summits of life, her splendid figure clear cut against the skies of hope and with a mein of beauty wins the world to follow her. The elements of our life, national and individual, are after its own kind. Though made up by the accumulation of character from out the various nations of the earth, cosmopolitan or its range, it is distinctive, fresh, aggressive and peculiar. A deathless energy is the motive power of the American genius. Poetry, art and eloquence have been enriched by its gifts, but restless because those fields had been occupied by the splendid achievements of other times, it sought a field into which it could project and utilize its tremendous energies—an arena where its triumphs should be its own, an empire without horizons, a new world of the mind—where, guided by no map or compass, it could excite to its mightiest effort the genius of discovery. You know the magnificent results it has reached. Timid at first, and making slow but sure progress, its volume increasing with its years until it now moves a steady stream, deep, wide and endless. The American mind has, in the domain of mechanics, rivalled the genius of the Egyptian mind in architecture, the Grecian in art and beauty, the Roman in conquest, the German in strength, and the English in its adaptability to every grade and condition of mental effort and achievement. Beneath the sea and across the continent it laid a highway for thought, constructs by the intelligent fingers of machinery the finest fabrics, and sends thundering across a world loaded trains that outstep the winds in speed. It has occupied and possessed the field until the mind halts with fatigue as it contemplates the vastness of its achievements. The moral genius of the American mind is as remarkable as the peculiarly intellectual strength of it. It is our glory that our great masters in the various fields of intellectual labor have, with rare exception, been men of great moral temper and spotless character. Our poets, singing their pure, sweet songs, have been and are as rare in the loveliness of moral gifts as in the exquisite rythm of their song—Longfellow, with his deep and lofty nature, giving to American song a name and place in the affection of the world, and with him the prophet Whittier, the grand Bryant and the host of lesser lights whose intellectual labors adorn the mental life of every land.

As Nature in her mysterious and beautiful processes of development modifies and changes the nature of things—in the deep veins of the earth crystalizing the rudest rocks and crusting them with a pure and serene luster, giving to the dull coal the light and blaze of the diamond—so the vicissitudes of our national experience and growth has from time to time crystalized and made grand many types of human character. What sublime devotion to principle marked the spirit of the early colonist, who pledged life and honor to the establishment of a land that for all time should be and remain the land of the free and the home of the brave. Not for themselves alone did they work out the great problem, with life and possessions expended in a seemingly hopeless struggle. It was that they might bequeath to generations yet unborn, to coming millions, the priceless treasure of a free land. They wrought with rugged and quenchless faith and with prayer and blood sealed the destiny of our race. A beginning so feeble in all but the sublimest exhibition of hope has flowered and borne a fruitage that cannot yet be measured in its effect upon mankind. The development of a century has been tremendous, and if we go forward with our present ratio we shall rise from condition of power to condition, until the splendor of our civilization shall be beyond the measure of our dreams. The conquest of a continent and the establishment of a government over so wide a range of country, varied, often antagonistic in interest, is and has been fraught with peril. The aggressive and restless spirit of our people, fed from cosmopolitan fountains, chafes under the restraint of laws that bind and hold back the individual for the common good. A Divine patience must be woven into our national thought. We must live and have our being, our trust and affection in the General Government, centralized—not by statutory regulations, but by a love of country as deep as our being and vast as the breadth of the continent. We must be Americans; the special love of sections must be swallowed up in a general love for our country. This sentiment cannot be too strongly urged upon the minds of the young Americans, for upon them in the coming years shall be laid the office of developing and strengthening the fabric of this Government, that it shall be perpetual. Prejudice and passion should have no part or parcel in the mighty scheme, but a calm and dispassionate temper and justice should run through it all like a golden thread. The awful experience of the Republic has been fruitful in great lessons, not only to us but to the nations of the Old World, who have for the century past watched with interest our development and growth. The great problem of the capacity of man for his self-government was being worked out. Our failure was a fall to man—the stay of human progress towards a higher and loftier national life. The courage and devotion of our new race was a surprise to the old mind of Europe, steeped in the musty theories of government founded upon the divine right of kings. It did not understand or appreciate a form of government in which every man was a sovereign—where the beggar boy might, by force of genius and character, rise to the very head of affairs. It was the expectation and hope of the Old World to see us fall to pieces by reason of our want of cohesive elements. The thunder of our warring guns was to it the funeral volley over the grave of the Republic. The struggle for life was the throe of our dissolution. But Providence had reserved us for a grander destiny; and as the clouds of war parted from us the vision of a country wounded, bruised and sore with the stripes of awful conflict, yet exultant, strong and jubilant, compelled admiration and thrilled with alarm rulers whose theories were founded not on the affections but the wrongs of man. As human character is rendered strong and pure by sorrow and tribulation, by pain and tears, eliminating the low and base from the disturbed deeps of our loftier and nobler nature and shape our aspirations towards honor, so the awful experience of a nation, carried forward through the pangs of war, the frailty of leaders and the machinations of those who would destroy its life, are benefactions at last, and the demand made upon the people to grapple with terrible vicissitude, ennoble the individual character only to be poured in a deep and resistless flood into the national experience. This action and reaction from individual to nation and from nation to individual, is the very essence of that nobility which makes grand, indeed. It requires the terrible hours of darkness, the suspense, the edge of despair to rouse us from the low plane of common life into the pulsations of a life demanding the presence and effort of those faculties that in their highest exhibition makes us all the sons of God. The noblest insight into the grandeur of true manhood and womanhood was given to the world during the hours of civil war. The bugle call of duty, though it proclaimed pain, anguish, wounds and awful death, was answered without thought of personal danger. The breaking heart of woman was by her own hand, trembling with despair, laid upon the altar of sacrifice: mothers, wives, sisters, lovers, with head bowed in voiceless and deathless grief, gave their beloved up to camp and field. They knew that those they loved more than all but Liberty and God were destined for the sacrifice: that the deep, earnest and yearning look into loving eyes was for the last time; the clinging pressure of heart to heart in a despairing farewell was forever; that fever and wounds and torture would yet wring from the lips they so passionately kissed, the wail of anguish. You call woman feeble, frail—better far, after this exhibition of heroism and fortitude, bow to her with deferential heart and mention her forever only in terms of loving faith. Did the American woman fail in her office? Did she weigh love in the scale where were hung the destinies of her Country? Did she for a moment halt in her allegiance to principles that were greater than her passions? She heard from the far off fields the call to war and it was to her the voice of God. She gave her love, which is a woman's all. She pressed down the throbbing of her broken heart; she watched her beloved until they were shut beyond the distant horizons and turned to her home to desolation and to tears, waiting in patience until her chief should be brought home to her a dead hero that she might kiss again and again the heroic lips and spend her remaining years in keeping fresh the grave that to her was to be the gate of heaven. How proud she was of her dead, though it might be mutilated beyond recognition! The face—to her beautiful and grand—torn by the hoof of war; an arm left with the flag it carried in the front of some desperate and forlorn charge. The deep scar was to her the decoration of honor, and as she dropped into it the hot tears of her sorrow she thanked God that she had been counted worthy to so suffer for her country. Oh, Woman! How deep and mighty was thy love! We stand uncovered in thy presence and bow to thee in thankful admiration.

The grand histories of heroism in hours of disaster elevate us to noble moral hights, give breadth to the moral side of life and make us grand and true. Our experience, however be it truly said, has not always been grand or true. The very exhuberance of our life has been a snare to our feet. As the tropic clime evolves from the bosom of the earth a might vegetable life, glorious in form and color, gorgeous as a dream of beauty, from its very exhuberance breeds poison and loads the airs that fan it, though sweet with perfumes, with deadly shafts. So a growth, be it individual or national, that springs too fast amid the indulgence of too great a passion or luxury grows too swiftly for the hardening of the moral tissues, and must be effeminate and vicious, though it may brilliant and fascinating. There have been such times and experiences in our life. We have at times devoted too great an energy to the merely physical relations of life; we have in our eagerness to possess only physical things descended into places so low that the beauty of the moral heavens was shut from our view as the vault of night is hid from him who delves within the earth. The idea that wealth is the chief end of man—that cash is the one thing to be desired above all others, has at times become national, and every energy has been exerted to bring about the desired possession. Our young have been educated that it is better to be rich than to be great; that money is greater than character, and riches mightier than morals. With a private and public sentiment and instruction so vicious is it surprising that our career has been at times stained with dishonor, that our leaders have deserted their trusts and amid the debasement of character shocked us with an exhibition of moral degradation.

But the American heart is and always has been substantially right, and we have and are demanding a new and better condition of things. The intelligence of our race is phenomenal. Nothing equal to it has ever existed in any nation or among any people. The ancient races, whose genius have enriched every field of human endeavor were exhibited not in the intellect of the body of the race, but worked in a few mastering and towering minds. Eloquence, that seemed to have its birth in Greece, is not a product of the general Grecian mind, but was a Grecian gift to the world because Demosthenes was a Greek. His genious and intellect glorified and adorned his race. Architecture and Painting have made a home at Rome, not because Romans are especially and generally gifted, but because the divine minds of Angelo and Raphael wrought with heavenly art and left their glorious creations to the imperial city. It was individual not general genius which made the old nations immortal. A few imperial minds like burning suns filled the ancient heavens with light. Not so with us. We are distinguished for a universal genius; a strong intellectual life finds a dwelling place around the hearthstone of the American home. Our system of education, made national and supported by the finances of the Republic, reaches into the remotest places and renders cultivated and intense the common intelligence. The beggar's son, without cost or stint, may tread the highest walks of learning, and the blessings of wisdom are shed with lavish expenditure upon the rich and poor alike. With such a splendid system of education it is not surprising that we exhibit the broadest, deepest national intelligence and culture. If we balance our intelligence with a moral character as great we shall go forward to unmeasured triumphs and experience. What vast accumulations must be the result of a thousand years of life as heroic and intense as that which has marked the last hundred years: The earth itself will be hardly broad enough to hold the foundations of our temple, and its dome will pierce the very heavens. We do not appreciate our great office. We are not living as closely as we should to the destiny of our country. Greed and lust of personal power clouds our vision as we scan the signs of our times. What may be called the moral era of the Government, following the Revolution, was made up of the intense conviction of the Puritan mind and religion. The religious life of the colonists, trained in the sternest ethics and maintained by the trials and tribulations of those days, has had a vast effect upon succeeding generations, and while the iron rule of a rigid theology has been by a broader development towards the truth softened into a more genial and kindly moral influence, we still feel in our Constitution and laws the force and vigor of that mighty religious life. It was a cold and cheerless theology, filled with silence and gloom, but it had a deep and abiding hold upon the passions of its devotees. It was a pure, calm, terrible power. Everything was ready for sacrifice when it stood in the way of principle and conviction. Into the political life of the new government this mighty force was cast as the gift of that race of men who counted the pleasures of this world as beneath the thought and dignity of mankind. This deep stream of moral influence tinged and colored the form of our Constitution, and while in it there was a complete separation of Church and State, the influence of that religious thought toned and tempered the spirit of the Constitution. To-day that influence is a great factor in our life, and though it may slumber unsuspected in the gentle hours of peace, it becomes a tower of strength in the exigencies of the Government. It has no creed, but takes its force from the reliance of our race on the providences of God. It is our trust in this power, our reliance in the substantial good, that in our darkest hours, when our leaders, crazed by lust and ambition, are guiding us toward dangerous places, we call a halt along our line and take the longitude and latitude of our position. This spirit, which runs through and permeates the Government, has at various times in our history been expressed in the individual characters of our leaders, and often in hours of peril there rises from some obscure corner of the Republic a man whose mental constitution and moral texture are living expositions of those principles, and who, conscious of his lofty powers, assumes the burden of the State to mould and control affairs and meet the perils of the hour. Who but Washington could have mastered the forlorn hope of the Revolution; fed from out the deep, pure fountains of his nature the courage of his followers; inspired his soldiers to deeds of unparalleled heroism; and, through the cloud and gloom of those awful hours, led his country up to the heights where, established on equality and justice, she stands to-day the hope of the world? Who but Lincoln could have stepped from the pursuits of a peaceful profession to the head of the Government and, without special training in statecraft, carried America in his heart and brain amid the terrors of the Rebellion? The massive build of his moral character was the pillar of cloud by day and the column of fire by night that illumined the darkened heavens and cast over our clouded hopes the light of his matchless faith. What was it that made him—a worn and weary man, rude and uncouth, lean and gaunt and graceless—the city of our refuge? Why were the affections and faith of the country so centered in him? It was because in him were illustrated and emphasized the moral life of the nation, the power to rise full of hope over disaster, and, by clear and sure processes of right, adjust the disturbed elements of discord. The rugged strength of his faith held during all the hours of conflict the steady allegiance of the people to order and to law. It steadied the often doubtful balance of events, and from a serene summit of pure patriotism held the love of his countrymen. The force of Lincoln's influence was not a mental but was a moral. In pure intellect he was exceeded by many who stood with him in the council of those desperate times. His intellectual conception of the danger threatening the Republic was perhaps behind that of men more deeply trained in the mysteries of government. It was by an eye of faith he scanned the cloudy heavens, and although he could not see the stars he knew that above and beyond were set the eternal lights that were ordained to shine with a never dying and increasing beauty. Not for a moment was dimmed the trust he had in the result of the conflict. His great heart was often bowed in sorrow as he contemplated the awful price being paid for the salvation of his country. But no shadow crossed the horizon of his belief; no weakness marred his splendid strength though disaster crowded upon disaster and were thrown with volcanic force against the destinies of the land. He saw at last the vision of a country redeemed, a flag floating in the clear heaven over a land wholly free, a united and centralized nation, established upon a grander basis and made impregnable by the affection of its citizens. He was the gift of Providence to our times. His illustrious temper—sanctified by years of suffering, thrown into clear relief by the tragedy which closed his career—has been bequeathed to us, a rich legacy of example, and to it again and again the coming generations will turn with deep and abiding trust to be cheered in the day of trial and tribulation, in faithful reliance upon the Providence which watches over the destinies of nations.

No thoughtful student of our history and career, if he fully understood the grandeur of the subject, ever had the courage to deny the God in our development. We have to-day urged and discussed so largely this moral side of our life and experience because we feel deeply the need of purity in our national life. This is a day not only for jubilee, for the exuberant expression of patriotism, but should be for profound thought and examination into the tendency of our times. The life of to-day, so intense and exhaustive, matches an age of the lazy growth of the ancient nations. Our career along the line of the centuries has been so swift and brilliant that we can liken it only to the meteor of the heavens that springs from the profound deeps of the sky and rushes blazing with its train of light along the highway of the stars. Does this precocious and brilliant life hold the prophecy of eternity? For reasons we have heretofore discussed we answer Yes, and we feel that its development into such awful beauty is but the expression of the immortal principles within. Our existence is nourished from all the holy fountains of the world. We are the reservoir into which is poured from out the great heart of humanity the steady streams of its faith and love. Not only we but mankind have a share and interest in our sustenance—and perpetuity. The instinct of mankind is as true to us as the needle is to the eternal North. As in our personal intercourse with men and affairs our character is modified, toned and tempered by the nature of our associates. We rise or fall in the scale of moral measurement and take the grade of our character from the spirits we are familiar with. The clear waters cannot run through slime and be clear. We cannot take into our natures the unworthy and the base and mantain the integrity of our hearts. The mean nature by slow and sure influence undermines the strength of our noble purpose and, by an inevitable law of evil, at last drag us to the low level of their desires. This principle works as surely in the life of a nation as an individual. We cannot hope to rise naturally above the individual character of our leaders; and it behooves us in our selection of rulers to obey this great law of association.

As we turn from the discussion of the moral side of our Government, with what pride and delight we contemplate her physical condition manifested in the grandeur of her domains—a continent crowded with material wealth and with resources vast and inexhaustible. The restless activity of a hundred years has not sufficed to more than experiment with the possibilities of its development. The rapid growth of our population, fed by an endless stream of immigration that flows upon our shores like the endless tide of a mighty river, as yet but suggests the countless millions that shall build here their habitation and home. If China can support her 500,000,000, who can estimate the vast congregation yet to populate a country so vast in extent as ours? If our civilization increases in strength with its years, if we grow strong as we grow old and develop safely and surely the material wealth of our country, it is impossible to calculate the result; but we know that our condition must be as grand as the country in which it exists. We face the future as augustly as our continent looks out upon the sweep of the seas. We cannot discern the distant shores, but we know that they contribute to our life. The accumulation of mighty fortunes in private hands and their distribution through the channels of trade is swiftly marshalling our resources into the line of use and profit. Each year opens up new and remote districts and links them by close connection with the heart of the world. Within a few years, and by railroad connection not yet completed, the unmeasured regions of the North have been reclaimed from a state of nature and added to the producing area of the country. Like air to a vacuum, population rushes in to fill up the wild new places and to make the desert blossom as the rose. Great cities are rising as if by magic on the central plain and along the shores of the silent seas. The hum of a mighty industry makes music in the desert airs, as a measureless energy grapples with the problems presented in the conquest of new districts. Progress, expansion, development is everywhere apparent and vigorous. The condition of our population is one of ease and comfort. The necessities of life by our thrift and industry have been extended out into the domain of luxury. The fine arts have been levied upon for their contribution to the adornment of our common homes. Music and art are regarded as necessary as bread. We have, indeed, found the truth of the Scriptures, that "We do not live by bread alone." Our colleges and institutions of learning are filled from the ranks of our farmers and mechanics. Skilled labor ranks as a profession, and the grimy son of toil, black with the smut of his machinery, ranks with the gentleman of the land, provided always that he stands at the head of his toil. The wonderful resources of the country, demanding new and novel means of development, nourish the mechanic arts into the very highest state. Every department of labor has been ennobled by the intellect that has been projected into it, and thus we have increased and strengthened our powers until in their majesty they are equal to the tasks that are laid upon them. Nothing daunts the capacity of our people as they go forth to toil in a field so grand and boundless.

We, though stationed on this verge of the world, hemmed by lofty ranges of mountains from the more active regions of our country, have part in this grand work and history. We are just now bound by iron bands to the centers of life and trade. Commerce—that great equalizer of affairs, the missionary and priest of progress—bids us with open arms welcome to the great enterprises of the age. The voice of her great agent, sounding along the slope of our mountains and adown the halls of our valley, calls us to action and to work: bids us reclaim the desert, pierce the rocky heart of the mountain, unlock the deep reservoirs of wealth and rise up in majesty to greet the dawn of a new day. There must be with us a marriage of Faith with Work. We must be inspired by that deathless zeal and hope that overleaps everything under heaven but God. We must forget weariness, sleep, disease and fatigue. We must lie down and rise up with sinews of iron—then—then shall we see, indeed, in our midst a "new heaven and a new earth," made glorious by prosperity.

And now, in your jubilee, renew your faith, your love and allegiance to your country. Lift with your benediction into the sky her starry banner, whose beauty enriches the heavens wherever it floats, and as at close of day the hot-lipped guns shall with voice of thunder proclaim again our joy and our freedom, thank God that you are Americans.

OUR "CELEBRATE."

In all the main particulars the Fourth of July observances here were quite a success; though hardly to be compared in its scope and plan with what has been accomplished by our townsmen on former occasions. The local feelings and jealousies engendered should be allowed to die away—they are certainly not subjects for outside talk. THE INDEPENDENT did the best it could for all and can stand the slights of a few.

The Esmeralda Herald of June 30th, prints the following: "At a late hour yesterday, dispatches were received by several parties that the County seat question had been settled by the Supreme Court—that body having decided the law of 1883 valid—and that the officers and archives must be removed to Hawthorne. A writ was issued also compelling the Court-house Bond Commissioners to issue bonds for the building of a Court-house and Jail at the town of Hawthorne. This settles the matter, and compels the County Commissioners to act promptly or resign their positions. By the decision of the Supreme Court, historic Aurora, once the pride and bullion producing camp of Nevada, has been shorn of its proud and deserved prestige. Even those who were anxious for the change felt—on receipt of the news—that they had lost something that could never be replaced, and a general gloom fell upon the community here. The frigid atmosphere around the Herald office caused the boss and employés to exclaim in one breath, 'O, golly aint it cold!' " Such is life.

A MAN who was cutting turf on Munjoy Hill, Portland, Me., a few days ago, turned up with his spade a metal bar which, except for a glistening point where the spade struck it, looked like iron. The suspicious gleam caught his eye, and induced him to carry the bar to an assayer who pronounced it fine gold and estimated its value at $5,640. The discoverer conjectures that the ingot was buried in the early days of the colony, either by some official, to prevent its capture, or by some freebooter who had helped to plunder a Spanish treasure ship.

THE jury in the Glenn murder case disagrees, which is the same as an acquittal. If there were ever a red-handed, premeditated murderer, Miller is that man and to let him escape the legal penalty is a mockery of justice. The Communistic press of the State, in effect declares that Glenn's life was duly forfeit to this bloody wretch because Glenn was rich and his murderer was poor. Will they say just how a man dare be worth and feel that his life is safe?

A BIG railroad scheme has been started in Indianapolis. It is nothing less than a narrow-gauge double-track road from New York to San Francisco by way of New Orleans, to be known as the "People's Railroad Company of America." It is to furnish the anomaly of a railroad bonded only for its actual cost and all its employes are to be actual stockholders. We fear that this scheme will never get out of the paper-and-prospective stage.

AN item in our issue of June 23d relative to the fact that Messrs. Coleman & Co. had purchased the works of a "defunct soap company" at Alameda Point for the purpose of refining Death Valley borax, was erroneous in stating that it was the "Standard" instead of the "Royal" Company's works which were purchased. The Standard works are at Berkeley, and the error originated with an exchange.

IT is claimed that Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, has discovered a method of transmitting electrical action under the ground by which all difficulties arising from induction are overcome. By his plan, it is said, two cables not thicker than a finger are made capable of affording either telegraph or telephone facilities to every house in the largest of cities.

THE California Railroad Commission has at last made a movement, whether it may work to the people's advantage or not. A schedule of passenger rates has been adopted on the general basis of four cents per mile for valley routes and six cents for the mountain grades. It applies only to the Central and Southern Pacific systems.

THE corrected new time table of the Carson & Colorado Railroad will appear next week, it having, by some miscue, arrived too late for this issue. The regular train arrives at Bishop Creek at 1:35 A. M., and leaves that point at two o'clock in the afternoon.

DOM PEDRO has reigned in Brazil more than fifty-two years. There is a good deal of the Ohio man in Dom Pedro.

HOW IT WAS DONE HERE ON THE FOURTH.

Our little celebration here passed off in a manner eminently satisfactory to all concerned—not an accident, mishap or blunder of any kind, sort or size to make any one sorry he had taken part.

Though certainly the larger number of visitors came from their homes in wagons, buggies and on horseback as of yore, the fact that a great many came by an actual, "sure enough" railroad invested the fact and the occasion with a deep and peculiar interest, difficult, perhaps, to define, further than to say that it was novel—the first time such a thing ever occurred, the first proof that Progress had at last grandly steamed into our sight and hearing.

The liberality of the Carson & Colorado Railroad Company and the especially accommydating spirit shown by Supt. Laws and all under his orders, will ever be remembered to their credit.

The names of this first railroad excursion party to Independence this Independence Day, 1883, ought all to go on record as part of a most interesting future chapter in the annals of the town and country.

Capt. Abe Parker's Artillery detail saluted the opening day with the conventional 38 guns for the States, besides an extra for some State that is to be, else to utilize a remnant of powder, not certain which. Assistant Gunner Miner says the 39th shot was not for Utah, and what a lawyer says in cases of this sort ought to be accepted as tolerable authority. It is asserted that these 38 guns and the contingent were all fired in just seven minutes, which is champion work.

We must not forget to mention the fact that the silent watches of the night, just after low 12, were awakened to duty by 13 guns to the honor of the States that invented the original Fourth of July.

Also, that at noon, likewise at the close of the day, the powder part of the set programme was executed to the letter, and further emphasized and embellished with a grand fusilade of Roman candles, rockets, fire crackers, music and a roaring time generally.

The excursion train, loaded with people from Candelaria, Bishop, Big Pine and elsewhere, arrived at the station at 8 in the forenoon, and in due time thereafter buggies and wagons, a dozen or so in all, came in loaded to the guards with passengers, besides considerable dust. Until relieved by returned teams, Stubblefield's band wagon had no less than thirty persons aboard of it, among whom were the twelve plumed members of the Candelaria brass band, besides Martin and Yaney, of the Candelaria True Fissure, and the big and little drums and other instruments of sound and melody.

But Martin was of the twelve, and a very efficient member, too, while Yaney was merely revisiting his old home, the scene of his original struggles with the Black Art which finally brought him to case and press in the True Fissure office, and doubtless to penance in having to decipher Martin's alleged editorials.

The band made a really fine appearance as it marched through the streets, while their playing at all times gave the highest satisfaction, the sweet toned silver cornet and master playing of Mr. Urens, the leader, exciting special remark. And the manifest willingness of every member and all collectively to do all in their power to play and to please made everybody their personal friends, and added all the more to the regret of many that circumstances were such as to limit their opportunities to give tangible expression to that sentiment.

Shortly after 1 P. M. the regular exercises began.

By dint of no little labor, and the exercise of excellent taste and judgment, Messrs. Hardy and Gibbs, essentially aided by the parents of the children presently to be named, had organized and fairly trained a band of handsome little lassies, varying in age from five to sixteen, in number to give a representation of every State in the Union, besides a representative Goddess of Liberty to verify E Pluribus Unum, also of George Washington, as the architect of the entire structure, grandest of all ever yet conceived.

Each little representative wore a becoming crown of white and blue and a silver star, and the name of the State lettered in red. As a mark of distinction, California was doubled starred with the State seal, and lettered in gold bronze. Each of the 38 wore dresses of immaculate white, and a flowing sash of beautifully contrasting red, white and blue, in parallel stripes, extending from the left shoulder to the right foot.

And right here comes a challenge to any locality in the State, not exceeding double our population, to produce an equal number of as pretty and intelligent little girls in a like galaxy as did this place and vicinity on this occasion—nor do we ask any discount because of the fact that after the required number were obtained, scarcely one of suitable age remained, consequently it was a representative array without special selection. That matter being settled, we can proceed.

The Goddess wore a dress of red, and hair in profusion flowing, surmounted by a Cap of Liberty, and, with sword in hand, and of a form and features from which the original might have well been modeled, constituted an excellent representation, and fair to look upon.

George Washington, though scarce half six feet two in height, was George himself in sedateness and general demeanor, and style of costume. He wore the Continental rig throughout—cocked hat, blue swallow tail coat, Quaker cut, knee buckles and breeches, long yellow hair powdered, and sword in hand, he marched by Liberty's side, and was notably a success.

States were assigned representation according to the relative miles square of the one and personal altitude of the other, and not at all as indicative of nativities or preference of children or parents. So when the marching column of twos was formed no Corporal of the Old Guard could have taken exception to its appearance.

The States were represented as follows: Texas, Mary Malone; California, May Shepherd; Nevada, Anna Kispert; Oregon, Anna Thomson; Colorado, Lena Harris; Minnesota, Sarah James; Kansas, Sadie Malone; Nebraska, Katie Hardy; Missouri, Sarah Kispert; Florida, Minnie Harris; Georgia, May Parker; Michigan, Mattie Wallace; Illinois, Dora Shepherd; Iowa, Maude Cook; Wisconsin, Maggie Crough; Arkansas, Alice Rose; Alabama, Ethel Hardy; North Carolina, Ray Bell; Mississippi, Anna Kernodle; New York, Alice Stecker; Pennsylvania, Hattie Vagt; Tennessee, Anna Schabbel; Louisiana, Ella Malone; Virginia, Carrie Gregg; Ohio, Monyott Brown; Kentucky, Clara Willett; Maine, Anna Bell; South Carolina, Nettie Roeper; Indiana, Dovie Crough; West Virginia, Effie Parker; Maryland, Mabel Chalfant; Vermont, Elma Parker; New Hampshire, Julia Crough; New Jersey, Emma Chalfant; Massachusetts, Rosa Roeper; Connecticut, Huldah Harris; Delaware, Julia Reater; Rhode Island, Lizzie Brown.

Goddess of Liberty, Ada Lewis.

George Washington, Ernest Laird.

A procession, headed by the officers of the day and the full band, after marching up the street to where the 38 were drawn up in line, after a musical salutation, opened ranks and in gallant style and with stirring music, escorted them to their nicely bedecked seats in the court-house yard, where, upon the grassy sward under the umbrageous locusts and flags of various nations, something near five hundred persons gave them welcome.

This well filled ampitheater constituted a gay and pleasant scene, and comfortable withal, and for all.

John Laird, Esq., called to order in brief and appropriate terms, and the ceremonies of the occasion were begun by an eloquent and feeling prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. Warren Nims.

The "Star Spangled Banne," by the "38" was very well rendered for childrens' voices alone.

"Freedom's Banner," by the double quartette was received with marked favor, as also was a peculiar medley by the band.

Other songs and music came in in due order, adding much to the pleasure of all.

Mr. Daniel Crough's reading of the Declaration did him infinite credit in every way.

Mr. Crit. Hampton's recitation of his original poem, composed for the occasion, was universally complimented, not alone for voice and manner, but for the merits of the composition itself. It will be found in full on the 4th page of this issue.

The Orator of the Day, S. D. Woods, Esq., then, in rapid words, delivered an oration, which, for original thought and poesy of its rhetoric, will, we think, stand the peer of any similar oration delivered that day in this State. Indeed, that remark may well apply to the entire literary exercises here alluded to.

The oration will be found in full on the 1st page of this issue.

The exercises of the day closed with a benediction, save the procession was again formed to escort the 38 and their guardians, George and Liberty, to their original rendezvous, where they disbanded.

Up to this point the weather had been especially favorable, being cloudy and comparatively cool; but soon after there came an hour two of high wind, dust accordingly, and some rain, which, an hour or two sooner, would have spoiled things past remedy.

At night a hundred Chinese lanterns gave new beauties to the scene, while "the rocket's red glare," streaked the heavens, music filled the air, and young and old filled the streets, and said the whole affair was satisfactory beyond anticipation.

Then came the grand ball in the tastefully decorated court-room, wherein assembled about 140 of the youth and maturity and beauty of the country, who held pleasure on high heels till full broad daylight in the morning.

Nature in Siberia.

"The history of animal and vegetable life on the tundra," says our author, "is a very curious one. For eight months out of twelve every trace of vegetable life is completely hidden under a blanket of six feet thick of snow, which effectually covers every plant and bush—trees there are none to hide. During six months of this time, at least, animal life is only traceable by the footprints of a reindeer or fox on the snow, or by the occasional appearance of a raven or snow-owl wandering above the limits of forest growth where it has retired for the winter. For two months in midwinter the sun never rises above the horizon, and the white snow reflects only the fitful light of the moon and stars, or the aurora borealis. Early in February the sun only just peeps upon the scene for a few minutes at noon and then retires. Day by day he prolongs his visit more, until February, March, April and May have passed, and continuous night has become continuous day. Early in June the sun just touches the horizon at midnight, but does not set any more for some time. At midday the sun's rays are not hot enough to blister the skin, but glance harmlessly from the snow, and for a few days you have the anomaly of unbroken day in midwinter. Then comes the south wind, and often rain, and the great event of the year takes place—the ice on the great rivers breaks up, and the blanket of snow melts away. The black earth absorbs the heat of the never setting sun; quietly and swiftly vegetable life awakens from its long sleep, and for three months a hot summer produces a brilliant Alpine flora, like an English flower garden run wild, and a profusion of Alpine fruit, diversified only by storms from the north, which sometimes for a day or two bring cold and down from the Arctic ice."—Chambsrs' Journal.

IT has been settled that the county seat of Esmeralda is to be moved to Hawthorne. What is Hawthorne's gain is Aurora's total overthrow. We fancy that if the people of the latter town had raised a few thousand dollars and expended it where it would do the most good, the change would not have taken place. But Aurora will come out all right. There are mines in the district worth more than any county seat.—Bodie Free Press.

NEWS IN GENERAL.

The return of Irish paupers who were not permitted to land at New York has caused great excitement in England and Ireland.

The jury in the Glenn murder case were unable to agree upon a verdict and were discharged.

On the 3d inst. the steamer Daphne capsized while being launched at Glasgow. It is not known how many lives were lost; 41 bodies had been removed at last accounts.

On the morning of the 3d the convicts in Oregon State Prison made a desperate attempt to escape. Eight are now at large; three were recaptured, and three killed. The remainder were driven back.

SLAG.—Considerable progress has of late been made in the utilization of ordinary furnace slag, and probably other uses will be found for it. In the north of England and about Leeds it is being employed as bricks and slabs for building purposes, and as silicate cotton for covering steam boilers, pipes, cylinders and fuel economizers. Mr. Binyon of Manchester produces it in the latter state and is understood to have a large sale for it. Slag can be made of a snowy whiteness and of the most delicate fibre, is perfectly incombustible, with great non-conducting and indestructible qualities. The fine wooly fibre is produced by steam acting on the stream of the slag in its molten state in a special chamber to which the fleecy particles adhere. The slag wool is used as a protection against fire, as well as for the filtering of chemicals, for which it is well adapted. For making slab bricks there are machines now in operation that will turn out from 10,000 to 12,000 a day. The bricks are strong, perfectly uniform in size and thickness, and require less mortar. The molten slag is run into molds direct from furnaces ranged round a rotary table, or by grinding the material and mixing it with sand, and then pressing. Both bricks and slabs are found well adapted for railway platform, buildings of all kinds, baths, drainage pipes and roads, being more durable than ordinary stone.—London Mining Journal.

AN apple in perfect preservation, although 96 years old, is in possession of a gentleman in Ulster county, New York. As it rounded from the blossom of the parent stem in the early summer of 1787, a bottle was attached to the branch and after the apple had ripened the stem was severed and the bottle sealed tightly. It looks as fresh as when first plucked.

BORN.

At Black Rock, Inyo county, Cal., June 16, 1883, to the wife of W. D. Clark, a son.

[The above notification, forwarded by a bachelor friend, came to hand in due time, but minus the rather important statement as to whether the new comer was of the male or female persuasion, hence the delayed date of its publication —ED.]

DIED.

Near Lone Pine, Inyo county, Cal., July 4, 1883, MRS. MARY S. MILLER, a native of Illinois, aged 30 years.

The community where she lived have lost in her death a valuable life. At once social and domestic, her home was genial. She had a strong hold upon the affection and good will of those around her. This was expressed in profound sympathy with the greatly bereaved husband and family at the hour of burial. W. N.

DEPOT WORK. — Master Mechanic White, of the C. & C. R. R., with his force of nine or ten assistants, has just completed the carpenter work upon the depot buildings opposite this place, and by Monday next will begin the construction of a similar set for Lone Pine. From a brief inspection of his work, a couple of days since, by a representative of this paper, it is obvious that Mr. White is doing as thorough work in his department as is being done in every part of the road construction—first class in style, and no less substantial from road bed to depot buildings. The depot proper is a building some 45x20 feet floor dimensions, with one partition so as to form two commodious rooms, one for freight, the other for a waiting room, ticket and telegraph office—airy, well lighted, and of a finish to render it essentially comfortable, Summer or Winter. This inside finish is of narrow, white pine, matched and beaded stuff, laid on horizontally, and wind and dust proof. Overhead are two nice rooms, similarly finished, for the station agent's personal use. A veranda and freight platform of unusual width, entirely surrounds the structure, adding greatly to its comfort and convenience. Next comes a dwelling of four or five nicely finished rooms for family use, to be the home of the section boss. Near this stands two other buildings, one the hand-car and tool house, the other, of two rooms and bunks for six men, for use of the section gang of Chinamen. As a matter of choice, these gentry have their kitchen pretty well filled up with a rock and mud furnace with which to do their cooking; two deep, oval bottomed iron pans or kettles, each of about five gallons capacity, and a square tin boiler, all built into the top of the furnace, comprise the entire cooking apparatus, no provisions being made for bread or other kinds of baking, a matter of so much importance in the domestic economy of outside barbarians, but none at all to John, who only wants to boil and stew, and gormandise and be happy after his own peculiar fashion and limited amount of dish washing. This lot of buildings stands among the ruins of the once populous and hopeful old mining town, Bend City. In those days the river swept close to the town, near the site of the present depot, but there came a change one day, and the river moved half a mile further west where it is likely to remain—so the depot site is waterless and sandy withal. From this this town it is about 4½ miles to the depot. Travelers make flattering remark of the elegant finish and style of the depot buildings so far completed all along the C. C. road above here; this at this place and the others yet to be constructed further south, when finally through the painters' hands, will be exact counterparts of those already completed. Each has an 800-foot sidetrack. Mr. G. Jones, a young man of excellent address, though once a newspaper man, is station agent and to be the telegraph operator at our station here, when the telegraph wire is connected with it, some two or three weeks hence.

OUR DUSKY VISITORS.— Among our other visitors from a distance was a dozen or so of well dressed and gaudily painted Indians of both sexes from Walker Lake, two hundred miles away. Whether they came down to help us celebrate, or merely to see how far their deadhead tickets on the railroad would take them does not appear. Neither did it appear that our local Pintes put themselves out in the least in the way of honors or welcome to the visiting brethren, not even to the extent of trying to clean them out at poker, or to have them toot their horns in front of the Blaney, or acknowledge their presence in any manner. The visitors were quiet and dignified generally, and with the returning excursion train, on the tender and water car thereof, took their departure as unnoticed as they came.

THE MINERAL EXPOSITION.—All parties intending to send minerals to Independence for the Exhibition, or contribute money to the case fund, should do so during the coming week. The money must be sent on immediately or the cases will not be ordered in time for the Exhibition. The assay office collection is being packed and will be shipped in a few days. The money necessary to make this thing a complete success is still far short of the amount required, and it is hoped that liberal subscriptions will come in during the next few days. The following additional amounts have been received since our last report: W. A. Greenly, $2 50; Didier Elisee, $2 50; Jacob Vagt, $2; Pat. Clinton, $2 50.

TEMPERANCE MEETINGS.—Mr. Hugh R. Hughes, Grand Lecturer of the Independent Order of Good Templars of California, will deliver a free lecture at the Independence school house tonight, taking for his subject "The Whisky War." Mr. Hughes will be at the Sabbath school to-morrow afternoon and address the class, with the view of organizing a "Band of Hope." He will lecture at Big Pine on the 9th instant and at Bishop Creek on the 11th. The public are cordially invited.

THE FOURTH AT BISHOP.—An interesting account of the proceedings of the celebration of the Fourth by the people of Irving School District will be given next week, it having arrived too late for this issue.

A "NEW PLAN."—See Mr. A. C. Harvey's advertisement elsewhere about his new plan of carrying on the business of blacksmithing and wagon-work. It is a good departure, destined to work mutual benefits.

PATENT.—A patent was received at the U. S. Land Office July 2d for the Hirsch gold and silver mine, entered by Nathan Rhine in August last. The patent was issued June 15th.

THE ROLL.—County Assessor Irwin's footing up of Inyo's assessment roll for the present fiscal year shows the following property valuation:

Real Estate	$ 649,614
Personal property	451,464
Total	$1,101,078

This shows an increase over last year's roll of only about $15,000. Considering the dull times this statement indicates that a uniform assessment has been made, but on a basis proportionately higher than the rich and well populated counties on the other side.

NEXT TUESDAY.—The Board of Supervisors, sitting as a Board of Equalization, adjourned until Tuesday next, when the assessment roll will be examined and tax-payers afforded a possible chance to secure reductions.

SATURDAY, JULY 7.....1883

POEM.

BY CRIT. HAMPTON.

One morn the purest crystal rays
Of light that shown from Heaven's bars,
Were caught by angels there, and made
A galaxy of Thirteen Stars!

These by their luster lit the path
To guide the Goddess on her way,
To usher in a freemen's land,
Our grand Republic of to-day.

There floated first our country's flag,
Proud to be the angel's pride,
Free as the breeze it floated on,
Bold as the men who for it died.

That flag was there baptized in blood
And torn by many a British shell;
Though powder-stained and tattered, still
They loved it more and prized it well.

All those who bore that flag were men,
For principle and home they fought;
And fathers, brothers, gave their lives,
The priceless boon by blood was bought.

They struggled to secure for us
The blessings of a people free;
With trials sore, with strife and blood,
They won for us our liberty.

And with that flag a name breaks in,
And by its luster we behold
Its type of crystal purity,
Encircled by a love untold.

Yes! long as floats that starry flag,
Untarnished as its folds of white,
Shall live the name of Washington,
Our watchword for the true and right.

'Tis just to celebrate this day;
Let banners wave and cannon roar,
And tell again the story old,
Of tyrant kings and eight years' war.

In that great strife some friends came o'er
From sunny France to share our cause,
And he, the honored La Fayette,
So justly won a world's applause.

How noble 'tis to struggle on—
For principle alone to die;
Ah! surely those were God-like men,
And have their names enrolled on high.

Oh, Liberty! Thy voice was heard;
For thee they faced the shot and shell,
Though cannon of Europe's host
Were pouring in a storm of hell.

Then we recall the record true,
Of women fair and braver still,
Who soothed the bleeding wounds and seemed
An angel's mission to fulfill.

Through all these cares our country lives;
God bless the men who for it died!
God bless the wounded soldiers too,
Fit emblems of the true and tried.

And now all nations on the globe
Have learned to know that freedom true,
Forever hovers near our flag,
The glorious Red, White and Blue!

An age of progress has been ours,
And still although our flag is young,
America can well be proud
To hear her songs of triumph sung.

We've plucked the lightning from the cloud,
Controlled it with an iron hand,
And sped a message 'neath the wave
To all Europe's classic land.

Above the wave our iron horse,
Whose fiery eyes look down below,
Between two cities leaps along
And sees the world's ships come and go.

And more, our pride, our good free schools,
Where rich and poor alike can be Instructed in an upward course
Of wisdom, truth and liberty.

A thousand bright achievements done
Has shown the world the progress made,
By freemen in a freeman's land,
Where tyrant rule can ne'er invade.

On high, among the noble names,
Whose loss has melted hearts to tears,
Appears a golden memory
Of California's pioneers.

To us of California born,
Next dearest to our flag should be Devotion to our Pioneers—
A blessing on their memory!

Now may a benediction rest
From God of Heaven upon the land,
Where persecuted find a rest,
As free as waves upon the strand.

Our Country! Oh what words can tell
The hearts that turn in love to thee!
Our hope, our life, our love is thine,
A safeguard for thy liberty!

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.
In the matter of M. J. Canadas, an Insolvent Debtor.

M. J. Canadas having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said M. J. Canadas is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The Sheriff of the County of Inyo is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said M. J. Canadas, Debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of accounts and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use. The said Debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said Debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court room of said Court, in the town of Independence in the County of Inyo, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF JULY, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts, and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said Debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated June 13, 1883.

The Brooklyn Bridge

The cities of New York and Brooklyn are hoving a good deal of difficulty with their bridge. Since the calamity at its opening, in which so many persons were trampled to death and wounded, there has been several runaways of horses attached to vehicles, and other minor casualities, which were attended with accident and created no small amount of alarm. It was thought the bridge would be a popular place for promenading on the evenings of sweltering days, but it is found that the iron of which it is chiefly composed, retains the heat till a late hour of the night, which makes it a place to be avoided. The press and authorities of the two cities are engaged in the attempt to discover some plan by which the evils complained of may be overcome. In the meantime the ferries are continuing to reap their accustomed profits from those who avoid the magnificent structure which promised New York and Brooklyn so much mutual benefit.

Another Mormon Arrival

There was an arrival from abroad of over 700 Mormon converts at the port of New York on the 1st inst., who were at once started off for Salt Lake City. It is believed these new comers have been indoctrinated with all the tenets of the Mormon Church, including polygamy. They go into Utah Territory knowing that there are laws of Congress for the suppression of this abomination or ignorant of their existance. In either case the missionaries who bring them hither should be held to an accountability for their open defiance to the enactments of the federal government. Surely these people are a worse acquisition to our population than the "assisted" paupers, for they promise to give trouble hereafter. In a moral point of view they are infinitely worse, and if the paupers can be shipped back to Europe, why not the Mormon recruits? It would become the next Congress to give the subject consideration.

SENATOR VOORHEES has recently called the attention of a Washington court to what he terms the costly inefficiency of the Department of Justice. The government had asked the postponement of a case in which Voorhees was opposing counsel, on tha grounds that there was no money to engage special counsel. The Senator then proceeded in his most persuasive manner to remonstrate against delay, and assuring the court that the Department of Justice had the services of twenty-one lawyers at its disposal, whose salaries aggregated $80,000 a year. No one of these lawyers, he said, was working two hours a day, and yet not one was willing to try a cause unless supported by counsel specially retained. Of conrse it is understood that the special counsel do all the work, leaving the regular employed counsel with abundant leisure to study causes in which the government is not interested. The Indiana Senator proposes to get the opinion of the President as to the policy of retaining a corps of lawyers by the year and employing special when it has a cause of any importance to try.

W. W. CORCORAN, of Washington, having brought home the remains of John Howard Paine and erected a monument over them, now proposes to do as much for the remains of Francis Scott Key, the author of "The Star-Spangled Banner," whose grave occupies an obscure place in the graveyard at Fredericktown, Md., and is in a sadly neglected condition, being nearly hid by noxious weeds and overgrown bushes. Nothing but a headstone twenty-four inches high and twenty inches broad marks the poet's resting place. The bodies of his wife and child lie beside him.

If you were married on the cars would you call it a railroad tie?

EVE was the first maid. This however, does not break the rib theory.

A NOBBY thing in boots—a bunion.

The Fourth of July at Bishop.

On the evening of the 3d and the morning of the 4th the anvil artillery began to boom, preparatory to the celebration of the day of our nation's birth.

At 9 o'clock A. M. the procession formed at the Irving school-house, where thirty-eight little girls, all dressed in white, were decorated with sashes of red, white and blue, with a crown of blue and gold on which was printed the name of the State the wearer represented. The boys had duplicate rosettes, and formed the escort of the finely ornamented car, drawn by six gray horses, that carried these lovely impersonations of our Union to the grounds.

The car on passing through town was photographed by the artist, Mr. Smith; each little girl in the car was presented with a nice bouquet by Mrs. Sneden.

When all was ready, we proceeded to the grove on McLaren's ranch, where a stand and seats had been prepared, and never was the weather more delightful; for, though it was a little cloudy and rained on the mountains, it only sprinkled a very little on the the picnic grounds. For really, our celebration was more of a Sunday School picnic than one of a national character.

Before the exercises commenced, all the Sunday school children were presented with tickets for ice cream, which was served to them gratis, by Mrs. Bourland and others.

Our music consisted of an organ, played by Miss Gracie MacAfee, with singing by the Sunday school children, led by a good quartette of adult voices. Two pieces were very finely sung: "Viva la America," and "Come where my love lies dreaming," which had the assistance of the excellent, well-trained voices of Mrs. Smail and Mrs. Caleff. The girls representing the States were grouped at the right of the stand; and it would be hard to find, in any land, a fairer, healthier, set of girls, full of the life of these lofty hills, "whose granite sills" were laid in the foundation of the world. In their midst sat the Goddess of Liberty—Miss Annie Lent, whose Grecian features looked the emblem she wore. Her golden crown was brilliant with the immortal thirteen stars.

After prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. A. Clark, the President, Mr. J. Bourland, presented Prof. J. H. Shannon as Orator of the Day. He proceeded from carefully prepared notes, and gave a very fine discourse; glancing back to the Declaration (which, by the way, was omitted, as the book had been left behind) he first gave a general view of the original colonies; of their struggles to become a free and independent nation, as Providence had designed they should be; showing how hard it is for a people to throw off allegiance to a mother country, wherein all the associations of their former lives clustered, but like the bride of Liberty she was, she turned to young America as her home forevermore. Coming down to the present time he made a grand appeal to the wives and mothers of this Republic to feel the importance of the great charge and responsibility laid upon them of perpetuating and inculcating the doctrines of Liberty and Equality, the basis principles of all self-government; and to be prepared to wield that mightier power of warfare and welfare than bullets—the ballot, which is mightier than the sword to the pulling down of the strongholds of tyranny and the upbuilding of national freedom throughout the world. He wound up with a fine address to the children of the rising generation, who were soon to take the places of their parents on the stage of active life, to take their respective parts in all the vast labors of the world, in agriculture, mechanics, commerce, and legislation; and that now in youth was the time to learn what the world had accomplished in all the arts and sciences, and to be prepared to add something more to the sum from their own observation and experience, the only source of true knowledge. But I can only touch a few salient points in the oration, which I am sorry to say, was received with too little appreciation except by a few; but as the audience was mainly children (as many of the older ones had gone to Independence to celebrate) who were out for physical, more than mental, enjoyment, it may be the more excusable; but I don't think a Demosthenes or a Patrick Henry could get a Bishop Creek audience to cheer. It may be their dignity instead of indifference, if it was not that they fail to keep it up on all occasions. Had there been anything harder than the ground for my parasol to rap on, I would have cheered a time or two. A speech without applause, is like a song without music, and does not enthuse.

The chairman then said he would appoint a committee of one hundred or more whose business would be to set tables and prepare lunches, of which all present were cordially invited to partake, as Bishop Creek always had enough to eat and to spare. The dinner was well enjoyed by all, both great and small.

I left them swinging and making merry in the shady grove, which will remain a bright spot in the memory of at least the happy children present on this Fourth, 1883. L. H.

A FLOWING petroleum well was struck lately in the Pico Cañon, San Fernando oil district, at a depth of 1,600 feet. The strike was so unexpected that at least eight hundred barrels flowed away down the cañon, and were lost before the oil could be controlled and carried into tanks.

Crook In Control

General Crook's mission to Washington ended as satisfactory as his late expedition into the Sierra Madre mountains. He has made an arrangement with the War and Interior Department by which the captives now in his hands, and others which may surrender, shall remain under Crook's charge until further orders. The Interior Department places a portion of the San Carlos Reservation at the disposal of the War Department, and places the entire police control of the Indians in General Crook's hands. He will thus have the work of disciplining the Indians under his direction, without inteference from the Indian agent. As the Indians have confidence in General Crook, it will be easier for him to control them than any other, and the fact that he is in especial charge of them will induce others to surrender. For once the Washington departments seem to have worked hand in hand with the general in the field.

The Adulteration of Tea.

There is a strong probability that the adulterators of tea will find this country a poor market in which to vend their abominable wares. The Chinese Minister in Washington is said to be in entire sympathy with the movement to put a stop to the traffic. He will act with the authorities to the extent of his official abilities to have the repressive law of Congress carried out. It is alleged that there is a tardiness on the part of Chicago and San Francisco in procuring the appointment of tea inspectors. If this complaint holds good it is to be hoped measures will at once be taken—at least so far as San Francisco is concerned—to remedy the delay. Tea drinkers here can attest that we are not always able to procure a pure article, and there is no place in the country where an inspector of tea is more urgently needed—San Francisco Call.

IT is a strong argument in favor of marine transportation facilities that there is abroad a great doubt of such means to get California's wheat crop to market.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

JAMES E. PARKER.

DAMIETTA.

This cholera-stricken city contained about 30,000 inhabitants when Egypt was taken possession of by the English government, and may now contain a few hundred more Europeans than at that time. It is situated on the east branch of the Nile, about eight miles from the sea, and about 118 miles by rail northeast from Cairo. This city is now being depopulated by cholera at the rate of a little more than 100 deaths per day, and as if this scourge were not enough, famine has come as an auxiliary force in the work of depopulation. In order to check the spread of the disease, a military force is surrounding the city, with orders to arrest such of the population as might seek safety in flight. This order may have been necessary to prevent the spread of the cholera, but care should have been taken to supply the town with provisions. As it is, the people have the alternative of death by cholera or death by starvation.

THE President has given up the trip to the Yellowstone. He says that it will have to wait until he is a private citizen and can with propriety get out of reach by telegraph for a week or two. When he inquired last week of a Signal officer how long it would take to run a military telegraph temporarily to Yellowstone Park from the point nearest to it on the on the Northern Pacific Railway his idea was that it might take a week, and would probably cost $500 or $600, which he intended to pay out of his own pocket. He found, however, that it would take more time and very much more money than he had estimated. The President thought this too high a price to pay for a picnic among the geysers. He says he has deferred his trip until the summer of 1885.

THE impending troubles between France and China have brought to light the fact that the Chinese Government is greatly in need of money. It is stated that the resources of the country have been overtaxed by the Emperor's household expenses. The Emperor maintains in various capacities abont seventy women, and the matter of clothing them is a very serious one. Two hundred and fifty taels, which amounts to over one-half of the land tax of the Empire, was expended last year in the silks, satins, pearls, etc. The grave question now presented to the rulers of China is how to reduce expenses and increase the revenue. The Chinese harem must go and the tariff on boiled linen be revised.

AT a recent dinner party in Paris the host provided a novelty which may possibly become a feature of dinner parties in this electric age. Beside each plate was a telephone, which was connected with a distant salon, where a superb orchestra was playing. The guests were thus able, between the courses, to pass the time pleasantly in listening to good music, instead of making obvious remarks about the weather.

THREE thousand Chinese laborers engaged in building the railroad extension north of Redding have struck for higher wages. They were paid $1 per day and now demand $1 25. This is one of the fruits of the Restriction Bill, and a very agreeable fruit it is. As the Chinese beceme scarcer, wages will advance until, in a very few years, the white workingman will have some little influence in the labor market.

TIM DESMOND and John Kehoe, a Deputy Constable in Bodie, had a pistol fight in that place at 1 o'clock on the morning of the 5th, which resulted in the death of Kehoe, who received seven bullet wounds. Desmond was slightly wounded in the right wrist and side, and sustained a scalp wound from a blow with a pistol.

THE subsidies which the Mexican Government has bound itself to pay to intended railways to be built in that country now foot up over $108,000,000. It is safe to predict that it will be at least 108 years before all the roads are built or all the subsidies paid.

BUTLER'S demeanor at Harvard was dignified and such as becomes a Governor of Massachusetts. In his rounds with the college trustees the venerable political pugilist has had decidedly the best of the battle.

THE execution of negroes down South goes blithely on. White murderes and ruffians continue to go unpunished there and the stream of immigration sets steadily west and north-west.

THE westward march of the cholera continues. This year it may winter in Africa, but next year it will most likely make its appearance on the other side of the Mediterranean.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL COURSE.

The Law, and the State Superintendent's Explanation of the Same.

Following is a copy of State Superintendent Welcker's circular letter, of March last, addressed to the school officers of the several school districts throughout the State. The Inyo Board of Education, at its late session, requested its publication in these columns as the best means of acquainting the public generally with the scope of the act designed to bridge the wide chasm existing between the public school and the State University. It depends wholly upon the will and determination of but an enterprising few, especially district trustees, to thus open the doors of the highest institution of learning in the State to the intelligent youth, no matter how poor, of at least every advanced school district in this or any other county. We earnestly commend the whole matter to the full consideration of all interested. For unavoidable reasons, the publication of this letter and other matter connected with the late proceedings of the Board of Education has been delayed. We give the circular now only, as follows:

For the purpose of rendering the Universlty of California more accessible to the pupils of the public schools of the State, and allowing the advantages of that institution of higher learning to be enjoyed by all, rich and poor alike, a bill was introduced in the last Legislature by the Hon. A. Caminetti of Amador county, the provisions of which are as follows:

SECTION 1. Section one thousand six hundred and sixty-three of the Political Code of the State of California is hereby amended to read as follows;

Section 1663. 1. All schools, unless otherwise provided by law, must be divided into primary and grammar grades. The County Board of Education must, on or before the first day of July, 1883, prescribe the course of study in each grade; provided, that it shall not conflict with section 1665 of this Code.

2. The Board shall also prescribe a course of study, not in conflict with said section 1665, that will fit and prepare the pupils therein to enter the scientific departments of the University of California, to be divided into four grades, requiring one year to each grade, and to be known as the Grammar School Course.

3. The Grammar School Course shall apply to, and be taught in school districts which have elected to have the same taught as hereinafter provided.

4. The Board of Trustees of any district may, by order duly made and entered on its minutes, upon petition or otherwise, call meetings of the qualified electors of the district, as provided in subdivision 20 of sectson 1617 of this Code, to determine whether the Grammar School Course shall be taught in such district.

5. If such course shall be chosen, it shall thereafter take the place of and be substituted for the course prescribed for the grammar grade.

6. The County Board of Education shall provide and require that examinations in each of said courses shall take place at stated periods not less than twice in each school year, for promotion. It shall also provide for conferring diplomas at the end of the course of study in the grammar grade and in the Grammar School Course for those who satisfactorily pass the required examinations.

7. The County Board of Education may amend and change, subject to said section 1665, either of the above courses of study whenever necessary.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect and be in force fifty days after its passage.

This bill was approved March 9, 1883.

It will be seen that whenever a district is financially able to employ, in addition to the necessary primary grade teaching force, at least one good grammar grade teacher, who is able to give good instruction in the requirements Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 14, of Bulletin No. 6 of the University (which are given below), and the people of the district shall so elect, there will at once be established a system whereby the young people of that district may enjoy the benefits of their own free University.

[Extracts from University Bulletin No. 6.]

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

N. B.—All examinations are conducted in writing, except such as must of necessity be oral, such as reading and the pronunciation of foreign languages. Candidates must be at least sixteen years of age, and must present certificates of good moral character.

All candidates for courses leading to a degree, and candidates for the Student at Large Course, must pass a satisfactory examination in the five following named subjects:

1. English. Candidates will be expected to write a composition of at least two (foolscap) pages in length, correct in spelling, punctuation, grammar, and division into paragraphs, upon a subject announced at the time of the examination. [For other details of requirements in this and other of the remaining subjects, see Bulletin, as they are too lengthy to be given here.—ED.]

2, 3, and 4. Mathematics—Arithmetic, Higher Arithmetic, Algebra and Plane Geometry.

5. History and Geography.

11, 12. Any two of the following named subjects: Physics, Chemistry, Botany, Physiology and Free Hand Drawing.

Mineralogy. Equivalent to the first 75 pages of Dana's third edition.

* * * * * * *

It appears from what precedes, that a student may be admitted to the Colleges of Agriculture, Civil Engineering, Chemistry, Mining, or Mechanic Arts by passing a satisfactory examination on the requirements numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 13, 14, [the last two being History and English], and those numbered 11 and 12. In the latter any two of the six subdivisions will suffice; as for instance, free hand drawing, and physiology, which is now required by section 1665 of the Political Code to be taught, and is taught, in the grammar grade.

This would admit the applicant to full standing in the Freshman Class of either of the five Colleges above named.

It is feared, by some, that four years after leaving the primary grade would not suffice to prepare students for the University. If this be true, the remedy would be found in the hands of the County Superintendent and the Board of Education. In grading and arranging the course of studies for those districts where the people shall elect to establish the Grammar School Course, they could move the line of demarcation up two years; giving two yesrs longer to the primary grades with the corresponding increase of studies taken from the grade above, and leaving four years to the grammar course grade in which to prepare for the University. Even should the pupils never go to the go to the University, they will be immensely benefited by this broader culture.

I have consulted with the President of the University, and through him with the faculty, and find them disposed to do every thing in their power to facilitate the entrance of the young men and women of the State into that institution.

I learn from the President that the Faculty have passed the following resolution:

"An applicant who has not been able to attend a school in which complete preparation for the University is offered, and who passes a good examination on subjects 1, 2, 3, 4, and 14, may be admitted to a partial course in either of the Colleges of Science, with the privilege of gaining full standing whenever he makes up his deficiencies."

"The Professor of English Literature announces his willingness to accept equivalents for the requirements laid down under subject 14, provided the equivalents receive his approval. It will be desirable, indeed in all probability necessary, that his approval should be obtained at least a school year before the applicant intends to present himself for examination." President Reed says: "The Faculty will, I am sure, extend to students admitted under the provisions of this resolution, and who show unmistakable ability and the disposition to do the work of the Colleges he enters in a satisfactory way, every reasonable consideration with respect to deficiencies."

This measure is in nowise intended to interfere with High Schools in their work of complete preparation for any or all of the Colleges of the University; nor in their work upon their general course of studies for those not intending to enter the University.

It will be seen by examining requirements 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 11, 12, 13, and 14, that it is possible in many districts throughout the State to prepare students to enter any of the scientific colleges of the University. To enter the College of Letters, in either course thereof, requires some preparation in Latin or Latin and Greek and classical history and geography. These requirements, it is apprehended, are not at the present time so easily attainable as those for the Colleges of Science; albeit the amount of mathematics required is not nearly so great as for the latter colleges.

Finally, by the wise and liberal spirit animating the Faculty of the University, it has been rendered possible to enter that institution on a partial course which may afterwards be filled out into a complete course, bringing a degree, by having a reasonably good preparation in grammar and composition in our own language; of arithmetic; of algebra, to include quadratic or equations of the second degree; geometry, up to solid geometry or geometry of three dimensions; English literature, to the limited extent described in requirement 14.

I earnestly commend the serious consideration of this scheme, whereby the University may become the great and beneficial institution it was intended to be, to the teachers, educational authorities, and to the people of the whole State.

WM. T. WELCKER,
Superintendent of Public Instruction.

IN the trial of the Jews in Hungary, the prisoners accused of having placed a corpse in the river with a view of passing it off as Esther Satatmissy, whom the prisoners are charged with murdering, declared that their confessions had been obtained by threats to murder them in prison. One was compelled to drink large quantities of water, slapped, struck and dragged by the hair and shown the gallows. Others were beaten and compelled to gaze at the sun. A number of witnesses testified as to the the shocking treatment received at the hands of the authorities. Counsel for the defense pointed out that the people of the district where the murder is alleged to have been committed, have been taught that it is not wrong to testify falsely against Jews, the interests of the country requiring their conviction.

SOME of the Chiricahua Indians are said to have gone on the war-path again. There is nothing surprising about that, says the Stock Report, considering the vacillation and weakness that bave characterized the action of the authorities—both military and civil—since Crook's return. The proper way to treat the Indians is to punish them when they do wrong, and protect them when they do right. In fact, that is the only way to govern any men, Indian or white. Instead of that we rob and maltreat the Indians when they do right, and pamper them when they do wrong. What then can be expected but the trouble we have?

THE Tuolumne Union Democrat has begun its thirtieth volume, having been regularly published for twenty-nine years. It is about the oldest weekly paper in the State, and there are none better.

THE list of attractions of the State Fair, in Sacramento, will be lengthened this year. Hitherto, it has comprised hordes of gamblers, thieves and prostitntes of the lowest class, oppressively hot weather, bad water, atrociously cooked food, ill-furnished rooms, pool-box horse races, third-class theatricals, and high prices. Now a pavilion, built by a man in whose hands it has twice fallen down, is to increase the delights of a sojourn at Sacramento, during the time it holds a Fair and its police take a vacation.

WORK is again suspended on the Washington Monument. The contractors can't live up to their agreement. But never mind. There is too much hurry in the erection of this memorial. George himself, wherever he is, doesn't need it, says the New York Graphic.

A COLLECTOR wrote to General Sherman for his autograph and a lock of his hair, and received in reply: "The man who has been writing my autographs has been discharged, and as my orderly is bald I cannot comply with either of your requests."

LAST Sunday several big teams took the county archives and most of the county officers from Aurora to Hawthorne. The Bulletin says County Commissioner M. M. Glenn, County Recorder F. H. Rice and his deputy, W. F. Davis, County Clerk Joe Bleakely, and District Attorney D. J. Lewis, escorted the archives, and Sheriff D. J. Robb arrived on Monday as rear guard. The officers are crowded into Urquart's hall, and it is, and will be, a little inconvenient for a time, but when the new court-house is built everything will be comfortable and they will be glad they had to come. In the meantime Hawthorne is rejoicing over the pleasant addition to the company of good people and good fellows.

SATURDAY, JULY 14.....1883

OUR INYO SCHOOL GIRLS.—In the recent examination of candidates for teachers' certificates, Miss Minnie Thompson attained an eminence in scholarship very remarkable, to the great credit of our local schools, where her education has been acquired. Of about the same age is Miss Elma K. Yaney, who in a class of thirty-five at the State Normal School, gained the rank of first in the first half of the school term, and was only second in the last. Upon the examination her average upon the various subjects were as follows: Word Analysis, 96; Spelling 96: Botany, 95; School Law, 95; Algebra, 92; Composition, 91; Constitution of U. S. and California, 90; Chemistry, 89; Philosophy, 88. At the Notre Dame College in San Jose, Miss Maggie S. Conklin must have distinguished herself, as evidenced by the expresions of our exchanges, which we quote; "'School for Scandal,' by Miss Conklin, daughter of the late candidate for Lieutenant-Governor. Like her father, Miss Conklin is an elocutionist of ability."—San Jose Mercury. "The selection from the 'School for Scandal,' by Miss Conklin. In this selection Miss Conklin showed herself to be the finest elocutionist of the class, and one of the best we have ever listened to. It was a gem of the first water."—San Jose Herald. "Miss M. S. Conklin, daughter of Judge A. R. Conklin, returned yesterday from the school of Notre Dame, at San Jose, bringing the flattering testimonial of a gold medal as the first prize for excellence in elocution. This is quite a triumph for a miss of fifteen to obtain against the numerous talented scholars of this well known institution."—Los Angeles Herald.

RAILROAD PARTY.—D. O. Mills, the New York capitalist and principal owner of the V. & T., and C. & C. railroads, accompanied by Superintendents Yerington and Laws, passed down to the end of the track day before yesterday. In his observations of his new railroad investment it is to be regretted that he did not visit this side of the valley, and its farming region, and not entirely confined himself to the iron track through the sand. It is stated that among other important works ordered, a side track of about a mile circuit will be laid to the Montezuma furnace site, and that Mr. Miller will at once begin erection of his smelter and sampling works there. Supt. Yerington will be down from Carson again within the next eight or ten days.

THE MINERAL EXPOSITION.—Mr. Woodhull has finished packing the Independence collection of Inyo County ores and minerals, and the whole will be shipped to San Francisco the coming week. The specimens are over five hundred in number, and they fill fourteen boxes, and weigh about one ton. The specimens are from every district in the county, and every known mine of any value, and comprise samples of gold, silver, copper, and lead. They have been selected with great care, both for their beauty and richness, and we shall be much mistaken if they do not attract much attention when placed on exhibition.

CAPTURED.—All of the fourteen work animals taken from Spencer's ranch at Bishop Creek were retaken in the White Mountains, near or on Cottonwood Creek. A dispatch received at Bishop Creek states the party in pursuit of the alleged thieves had captured them in the Yosemite Valley, after pursuing them for eleven days. The posse consisted of Constable Drake, Pope Adle and Bob. Russell, their prisoners being Milt. Schick and Charley Jones. We are not apprised as to the nature of the evidence against them, but which will doubtless be brought out on their examination.

NO BUSINESS.—The County Board of Equalization have as yet transacted no business. Supervisor Spencer is evidently more intent in looking after the horse thieves, while Mr. Boland was not much expected here on account of the distance, and the evident hardship which would be entailed upon important mining interests by his absence from his work. However, it is believed that a majority of the Board will convene next week, and get through the business, thus averting serious complications.

INDEPENDENCE BAND OF HOPE.—At the close of an address by H. R. Hughes on last Sunday afternoon 33 names were obtained for a Band of Hope, and the following officers were elected: Superintendent, Mrs. H. G. Kernodle; Assistant Superintendent, Geo. H. Hardy; Secretary, Fred. W. George; Treasurer, Minnie Harris; Usher, Charles Thurston; Chaplain, Mrs. E. P. Hardy. The Band meets Sunday at 3 o'clock P. M. The meetings are open and the public are cordially invited to attend.

A SALT SPECIMEN.—Sheriff Gregg has contributed a splendid specimen of salt from his salt marsh, near Big Pine, for the Mineral Exhibition. The piece is about three feet by two in size and eight inches thick. The salt has crystalized around and over a sage brush, leaving a portion of the brush partly exposed, with the branches covered with salt crystals. It is a fine specimen and will weigh about one hundred pounds.

AT BISHOP.— Mr. R. C. Julian is paying a business visit to Bishop and Round Valley in the interests of THE INYO INDEPENDENT. We trust our patrons will spare no effort to make his work a success.

IN A NEW BUSINESS.—Wash Brierly is now running the old Horton saloon at Bishop Creek, and flings his business card to the breeze this week. Wash is a "Good Injun," and will attract good customers.

PERSONAL.—Last week we received a call from Mr. H. H. Welch, formerly Secretary for the Inyo Con. Company at Panamint. He has gone northward on some engineering work....Mr. J. S. Rothschild, accompanied by H. Kramer, the owner of several mining properties in Cerro Gordo, is in town. This is Mr. Kramer's first visit and he seems pleased with the outlook....R. S. Miner, Esq., started out this morning for his home in Bridgeport....News has arrived that Judge A. R. Conklin has started East from Los Angeles, probably accompanied by his sister, Mrs. E. M. Reddy, their aged mother having died....W. J. Lake leaves in a day or so for San Francisco, and a trip to the uncivilized wilds of Missouri....Jos. Garringer has gone to Los Angeles, with several teams of roadsters....Dan'l Crough and H. Levy propose to set out to-morrow for the other side, via Bridgeport and the Yosemite. There are various rumors afloat about their alleged intentions, but it is safe to presume that both will return shortly.

INYO LODGE, I. O. G. T.—A lodge bearing the above title was organized here last Sunday evening, by H. R. Hughes, G. L. The following officers were elected and installed for the ensuing term: W. C. T., J. W. P. Laird; W. V. T., Mrs. S. D. Thurston; W. S., Mrs. H. Laird; W. A. S., Mrs. J. Crough; W. F. S., Mrs. H. G. Kernodle; W. T., Mrs. D. Stubblefield; W. M., Fred George; W. I. G., Charles Thurston; W. O. G., Willie Chalfant; L. D., Geo. H. Hardy. The lodge will meet every Wednesday evening. The charter will remain open for the addition of new names until next Wednesday evening.

NEW TIME.—The new time table of the Carson and Colorado road will be found elsewhere this week. Freight and construction trains are now running sixty miles or more south of the last station mentioned therein, but no regular passenger trains, mail or express, are carried below Bishop. The Big Pine and Independence stations will probably be added next week, as soon as the telegraph line is completed.

INYO COUNTY will make a creditable display of her minerals, despite the small-souled opposition of certain parties in Independence—thanks to the liberality and public spirit of Messrs. Harris & Rhine, John C Irwin and others, who can see the great advantages that may be gained by properly bringing before the public a fine display of the mineral riches of Inyo,

NEARLY COMPLETE.—The railroad track is now laid to a point within five miles of the grounds laid out for the present terminus on Big Lake. A commodious depot, round house, and turntable will be placed there.

IN addition to a well-written and highly complimentary account of the celebration of the Fourth here, the Candelaria True Fissure perpetrates the following among its local squibs:

That was a sure case of goneness in the youth who, when he got back from Independence, could only articuiate: "A blonde dress with an ecru complexion, and such a bang, oh! oh!! oh!!!

One of the young men, who went to Independence, was wakened when the train reached Belleville. He began uttering something that sounded like "Ecru colored silk, with tea roses and a blonde complexion—way up!"

Two of Candelaria's young men lost their hearts on the return trip from Independence, but neither of them mourned the loss half so much as another who lost his hat while leaning from the train, then leaving Big Pine, to wave an adieu to the young lady he had been trying to mash, and who was looking the other way, while talking to her best feller.

The guests of the people of Independence have every reason to thank them very warmly for the generous hospitality which was met at every turn. Not one has a word to say but in praise of the complete success of the entire trip.

There is not much use going up to Alaska to mine. William B. Owens waites to the Sierra Tribune from Harrisburg, Alaska, on the date of May 21 and says: "There is no money in the place. Traders use leather checks to trade with. People are coming here on every ship by the hundred, and a majority of them have no money to get away on. There is no chance here to work for wages, for there are no mines to work. A man cannot walk one mile on account of the underbrush and moss being so thick. The only way a man can get around is in a canoe. There is no gravel around here, and the quartz does not amount to much. Something might be developed in the interior after a while; but that will not be for some time, as it costs too much to get out through the country. It costs ten cents a pound to get stuff over the portege after it leaves the canoes. It is packed on the backs of Indians. The Yukon river is the place I speak of when I say the interior. It is 2,000 miles long. No one knows anything about the river so far as gold is concerned. Harrisburg is on the lower edge of Alaska. The day's length at this writing is about twenty hours."

IT is not often that a motive for a new trial is based on the beauty of the successful litigant. In a London court a Miss Bullock brought suit against a railway company for £2,300 damages for personal injuries sustained through the negligence of defendant's servants. The jury found for the plaintiff, and the learned counsel for the other side argued that the good looks of Miss Bullock and her sisters had had such a preverting influence upon the jury as to entitle the defense to a newtrial. If pleas of this sort are to prevail against the gravity of the law, handsome women may as well stay out of court when they need redressing.

EX-SPEAKER KEIFER, being asked who was to be the next Republican President, replied: "Old Tecumseh Sherman; you can just put that right down."

ENGLAND'S unassisted emigrants on our northern frontier are giving rather more trouble than the other classes give on the Atlantic seaboard. News comes that the British Cree Indians, who had raided across the border from Manitoba, have defeated the U. S. troops under Lieut. Col. Ilges near Fort Assiniboine. Better send Crook up there to hunt the Crees into their holes, as he did the Apaches in Mexico, the Bannocks in Idaho, and a whole lot of other red brethren everywhere.

AN exchange has discovered that the year 1900, though divisible by four, will not be a leap-year, becauso only the first years of those centuries which are divisible by 400 are leap-years. To which a bucolic editor exclaims; "Gracious! have we got to wait till 2000 for an eligible offer?

THE Carson Appeal says: Yerington, Bliss & Co. have found a liberal market for their lumber in Salt Lake City. The box factory here is shipping some of its products to Southern California.

THE following official order was issued recently in New York: Under existing laws the "trade dollar" is not a legal tender, and is not recognized or redeemed by the government.

THE definition of a polite man: "A man who listens with interest to things he knows all about when they are told by a person who knows nothing about them."

KING OMORU, one of the sovereigns of the African coast, leaving 706 widows. That lays old Brigham Young and Mormondom entirely in the shade.

ROSA BONHEUR is in her sixty-first year. She dresses in male attire, and paints incessantly.

MRS. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE is building a church near Jacksonville, Florida.

BARON ROTHSCHILD, of Paris, lights his private carriage with electricity.

HANLAN is reported as having won $53,000 in the last six years.

LOS ANGELES has 200,000 acres in cereals.

AT a convention of the Railway Service Superintendents of the United States, recently held in the Postoffice building, Washington, a good deal of business of interest on the Pacific Coast was transacted. Among other things, arrangements were perfected for putting on mail cars on the Carson and Colorado Railroad, to run from the Mound House, above Carson City, Nevada, to Bishop Creek, Inyo county, Cal. Besides affording better mail facilities for Bodie, Candelaria, and other places, this will do away with several large Star-routes that now exist between Caliente and Independence, Inyo county, and between other points in the vicinity. This will be good news to the people down about Independence.—Virginia Enterprise.

"IOWA is out of debt," says a telegram to-day. That being the case, the name of the State should be changed to Idontowe—ah! [Who threw that brickbat?]—Virginia Chronicle.

THE assessed value of property in Mono County is $3,560,938. That's $193,000 less than last year—Bodie Miner.

Took The Risk.

When Brigham Young was alive he collected his tenth of the farmer with a persistency that baulked at nothing. On one occasion he called before him a subject who has since removed to this State and said:

"Brother Blank, yon have not brought in my wheat this year."

"I didn't raise a single bushel," was the reply.

"Then I'll take it in oats."

"I have none."

"Well, hay will do."

"I have no hay."

"Then bring in potatoes or corn."

"Both crops were a failure, O wise Prophet! All I have off my farm are ten bushels of onions, and of course the Lord don't eat onions."

"May be not," growled the old man, "But you bring me in a bushel and we'll take the risk of it."

Mr. Blank says it was that bushel of onions which convinced him that there was something suspicious about old Brigham's inspirations. It was too strong a religion.—Wall Street News.

A RAILROAD SURVEY.—The Homer Index of last Saturday says: A few weeks since it was announced in the newspapers that the Union Pacific Railroad Company had determined to push the Utah Southern line across the continent independent of the Central Pacific. We now understand that a party of civil engineers, fully equipped for the summer, landed at Hawthorne a few days ago, and struck out for the southern portion of this county to begin the work of surveying the route for the proposed new road. It is more than likely that they will follow very closely the line partially surveyed by Jay Gould some two years ago, which would lead them across the Sierras from the head of Deadman's Creek to the head of the North Fork of the San Joaquin; but they may possibly turn by way of Mono Lake and follow the route surveyed last summer, which will take them up Lee Vining Creek, across the Sierras, through Tioga Meadows or McLean Pass, down by Magee lakes, and along the southern slope of the Mount Hoffman range, across the head of Yosemite Creek, and thence down the Pilot Ridge divide, between the waters of the Tuolumne and those of the Merced. In any event, it is only a question of time when a railroad will be constructed over the last-named route, which passes within five miles of Yosemite Valley.

THE Sergeant-at-Arms of the House makes more money than anybody else connected with Congress. Besides getting a gooq salary he is a banker. The government furnishes him all the money he wants, and he loans it out to members at a legal rate of interest. It is possible that in particular cases he gets more than legal interest. Congressmen are like government clerks. They always want to draw their pay in advance. Probably three-fourths of the members are indebted to the office of Sergeant-at-Arms all the time. As the Sereant-at-Arms disburses about two millions of dollars a year it can readily be seen what an admirable chance he has for making a fortune. The office is estimated by good judges to be worth anywhere from $50,000 to $100,000 a year. In view of this fact it is not to be wondered at that there are so many candidates for Sergeant-at-Arms of the House. The office of Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate is not worth so much because it does not disburse so much money.

THE Chinese Government at Lama Miao, the great entrepot, punishes highway robbery with violence by a sentence of death from starvation. Mr. Gilmour saw this sentence carried out, the man being placed in a cage in the street, with his head outside, so that he might see the eating shops, and die slowly of hunger and thirst. He was four days dying there in public. The Chinese citizens found this interesting, and strolled up every evening, laughing and jesting, to see the unhappy wretch suffer.

NEW YORK has a law against false rumors which affect the financial standing of individuals. Any person who invents or helps along a rumor, knowing it to be baseless, in order to influence the price of stocks, "or any merchandise or commodity whatever," may be fined $5,000 and imprisoned for three years. This is a severe penalty, but it is none too strong to meet cases where deliberate falsehood may ruin scores of honest men.

Lessons Given in Painting and Embroidery.

PERSONS DESIRING TO TAKE LESSONS in Oil Painting and Embroidery can do so by calling on me, as cheap as in the city. Having taken a great many lessons in both, I feel competent to teach; come and see my work and judge for yourselves. This Embroidery is the South Kensington Stitch;—is very stylish everywhere, not only to ornament our rooms but our dresses, aprons, etc. I am also prepraed to do Stamping, from the latest patterns in San Francisco.

Respectfully, Mrs. Dr. KERNODLE.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.

In the matter of M. J. Canadas, an Insolvent Debtor.

M. J. Canadas having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said M. J. Canadas is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The sheriff of the County of Inyo is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said M. J. Canadas, Debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of accounts and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use. The said Debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said Debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court room of said Court, in the town of Independence in the County of Inyo, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF JULY, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts, and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said Debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated June 13, 1883.

Literary California.

The spirit of art, in its literary and graphic sense, seems to be domesticated in California, to an extent out of proportion to the age of the State. The artistic faculty, manifested either in letters, colors, or the chisel, has seemed to need a long transmigration, a metempsychosis, from generation to generation, growing constantly to full flower. Unquestionably this spirit has materialized in the older settled parts of the Atlantic coast in plainer outlines and details than in any place between the two oceans. Horatio Greenough, a native of Boston, was the first American artist to make pilgrimage to Rome to perfect his taste in sculpture by studies of the antique. Out of the same aged community came Longfellow, Whittier, and the circle of worthies who by pen and preachment have affirmed New England's title to a great share of the country's culture. But how are we to account for the impulse gained by letters in California, for the inspiration which has guided the brush of our painters, for the refined taste which puts a delicate finish upon our architecture, our oratory, our accomplishments? It is not our age, for we are yet in the heyday of youth, full of the sap of life. It is not our ancestry, for we have none. Out of the wild life which fringed our mountains with mining camps, and made existence the mere rude give and take affair that it is in the first stages of society, could all these later and most delicate chords be drawn? We have no archaic age, and the well defined presence of an intellectual development must be due to the physical inspiration of sun and sky, touched into being by the gentleness of our winds, moved mightily by our lofty mountain outlines, wrought to rapture by our wide plains. Who can account for the forms of beauty which came into Greek hands in the age of Pericles? Was it not due to the climate, the cloud-capped mountains, and the beauties with which Nature gemmed that land? Is it saying too much for California to declare that here are more men and women full of the artistic faculty, more that feel the pulse of poetic fancy, more that can charm with the graces of speech, than can be found in all the Republic in a like population? We will have here another Corinthian age. Here another Phidias will conjure with the marble. Here Demosthenes shall charm the bees again from honey sweet as that of Hymettus, by the seductiveness of his oratory, and here the canvas shall be made to breathe in works that will bring pilgrims to stand uncovered in their worship.—Oakland Times.

BILL ARP is the soundest and truest of philosophers, and there is a vein of poetry underlying the first of these paragraphs as touchingly, tenderly beautiful in effect as simple and unique in expression. Referring to his farmer life, he says: "We are happier on the farm than we are in town, and feel more secure from the ills of life. We fear no disease or pestilence, no burglars or thieves. We lock no doors, and Mrs. Arp has stopped looking under the bed for a man. We love to hear the churn dasher splashing in the buttermilk. I love to hear the roosters crow and the peacock holler, and see martins sailing around the martin gourds. I love to have a neighbor stop and chat about the growing crops. I love to take the children with me to the water-mill and fish below the dam amid the roar of falling waters, and paddle around the pond in an old leaky bateau. I love to wander through the woods and glades, wear old clothes that can get no older or dirtier and get caught in a shower of rain if I want to." Horace remarked, about two thousand years ago, that the town was the best place for a rich man to live in, and the country was the best place for a poor man to die in, and, inasmuch as riches are uncertain and death sure, it becomes a poor man to move to the country as soon as he can get there. Farmers have their ups and downs, of course, but don't collapse and burst up like tradesmen. They don't go down under a panic.

Mackay In Paris.

PARIS, June 26.—The round of amusements which Mr. Mackay is providing for the American colony since his return from the great fetes at Moscow are the all-eclipsing topic of the hour. At the ball given last Saturday Mr. Mackay hired the King of Sweden to dance with the American ladies, paying him a thousand dollars an hour for the work. About midnight he struck for higher wages, and Mr. Mackay stood the raise with true American sang froid. By 4 o'clock the king was completely blown with his social exercises and taken from the room in a fainting condition. Mr. Mackay offered to pay all his funeral expenses if he died, which generous offer made him many friends among the Swedes. The Prince of Wales telegraphed for an invitation to the ball, but the American millionaire, remarking that Wales Consolidated was a good short, declined to issue an invite. When his little bon mot was translated in the morning journals the city was convulsed with laughter. Several descendants of the Bonaparte family who attempted to climb in the windows of the ball room were thrown into the basin of the fountain by Mr. Mackay, who stands over six feet in his stockings, and is called the "strong man of Nevada." This graceful act of courtesy to the Straight Repubs of the Empire is well appreciated. Although Mr. Mackay danced until daylight and went off shift at six o'clock, he whipped two editors of the royalist faction before breakfast for publishing an incorrect descripton of some of the dresses worn at the blowout. When the bodies of the editors were borne away in an ambulance to the Hospital des Invalides the crowds applaused in the streets.

On Sunday last Mr. Mackay was taken with a chill, and, feeling that his hour was near, purchased the tomb of Napoleon for a family vault and had it at once taken to his garden. On recovering in the afternoon he sold it to the Czar at an advance of fifty per cent. The Journal of Finance applauds this masterly stroke of business. To-day there was a rumor that Mons. Pattoun, Imperial keeper of 3,000 crossents of the Union, had struck bird's-eye porphyry in the Hale & Norcross winze, and that there was much excitement. Some of Mr. Mackay's friends immediately formed a company to import prophyry to Paris, and he kindly allowed them to take 10,000 shares of the Union stock at par. The Grand Consolidated Bird's-Eye Porphyry Company (limited) is now one of the solid stocks of the Bourse. The first shipload of porphyry will arrive inside of a month.

The only accident which marred the harmony of the grand ball was when the eldest daughter of Count de Chambord fell into one of the tanks of champagne, which had carelessly been left in the corridor, and was drowned. The tank held 1,000 gallons, and the body was not discovered until the floor managers had drank the tank nearly dry.—Cable to the Carson Appeal.

NERVE ACTION.—Very delicate experiments have been made to determine the so-called "reaction time" in sensation—that is the time between the moment of excitation of the senses and the moment at which the person indicates by a signal that he has become conscious of the sensation. Mr. Beaunis, of Nancy, France, has recently sought to measure the reaction time for smell, or to tell how long it takes to realize the sensation of smell after the excitant of that sense has been applied to the olfactory nerves. He gives in Compses Rendus a table of the numbers obtained with ten different substances. They range from thirty to seven hundredths of a second for ammonia, and forty-six for acetic acid, to sixty three for mint, and sixty-seven for carbolic-acid. In the case of musk, he was unable (notwithstanding repeated attempts) to fix precisely the moment of the smell sensation. The numbers given show that the reaction time for smelling is longer than that for touch, sight and hearing. (In the author's own case it is shorter than for touch.) Dr. Buccola, of Turin, has recently made experiments on smell, with different apparatus, and gets results which agree in the main with those of M. Beaunis.

THE SUEZ CANAL.—The announcement of M. de Lesseps that he will soon commence a second canal, a return line, close to the existing rout, and that all the capital, 125,000,000 francs, has been subscribed by Frenchmen, does not meet what England demands, representation in a canal, claimed to be international, not French, for herself and other maritime powers, pro rata, to their shipping passing through. In the management of the present canal, composed of thirty-three members, all are French, save three Englishmen, who are there by toleration, not by right. All the functionaries are French, and all are at the nod and beck of M. de Lesseps. The canal dispute seems to be settling down into an anti-English question, as a means of thwarting John Bull for not dividing his Egyptian gains with monsieur, who had backed out of the risks. In the administration of the existing as well as in the execution of the second canal, the watchword seems to be: "Exclude the Ehglish—the nation who holds nearly one-half of the stock and supplies by her shipping the four-fifths of the receipts."

HON. JOHN A. MARTIN, of Kansas, Secretary of the National Republican Committee, says the Committee will meet at Washington December 12th to fix the time and place of holding the next National Convention,

A Story For the Marines.

"A warm day like this," said the nautical "cop" yesterday afternoon at Eight and Chestnut streets as he shook the beads of prespiration from his walking-cane, "reminds me of a pretty warm place I once got into, and on a freezing cold day. Don't know what a 'case whale' is, do you? Well, it's a whale that has a cavity in its head which holds most one-third of all the oil that the whole whale produces. Tee body of a seventy barrel 'case whale' yields fifty barrels and the head twenty-five barrels. The incident I speak of happened while I was on board the whaling-ship Eliza F. Mason.

"We had captured a hundred-barrel whale, and after the head was split open I was detailed to dip out the oil. It's just like going into a big bath-tub, and a man stands almost up to his armpits in oil. I was wading about in the monster's head when I was suddenly startled by seeing the surface of the oil burst into a blaze, caused, as I afterward learned, by one of the crew accidentally dropping a box of burning matches. The only thing to do was to dive under the oil, and I did it, with my sheaf knife in my teeth. I turned my head after I got underneath and could plainly see the flames jumping about three feet. After I could breathe no longer I attempd to come to the surface, but the heat was so intense that I had to dive back again, and made a desperate effort to dig my way out with the knife. I managed to dig a hole large enough for me to thrust my head through, and then, by a mighty effort, escaped into the sea. It was a pretty tight squeeze, I can tell you, and my body was so warm that it made the water hiss all around me. The captain of the vessel thought I had been burnt to death, and when I swam to the side of the vessel he was so frightened that he told me there was only one thing that prevented him from turning gray in a night."

"What was that?" asked the listeners.

"He was bald-headed."—Philadelphia Press.

CHIEF MOSES has the Indian idea of a bargain. An annuity of $1,000 has been settled upon him and he was given an equal amount in a lump sum to build him a house. Now this Indian, who never had $100 in his life, is grumbling because he was not given $15,000 in silver dollars. The San Francisco Chronicle opines that this is the direct result of the coddling process which has been carried on for some time with the Indians. It is costly and so far as one can judge is the best way to give the savage a hearty contempt for the white man. If Moses had been treated less handsomely his gratitude would have been greater.

ABOUT 2 o'clock yesterday morning, says the Virginia Enterprise, a fire broke out in the town of Belleville, on the C. and C. Railroad, which destroyed about half the business part of the place, Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express office, together with the general merchandise store of Abrams & Co., Fulton & Flurshutz's saloon and a number of other buildings. The loss is extimated at $55,000, on which there was $30,000. insurance. The fire originated in Abrams & Co.'s store. The cause is unknown.

THE Abbe Moigno has formed a company in Paris, and has raised $150,000 for the purpose of dragging the Red Sea and Bitter Lakes in order to recover the chariots, treasure, arms and other remains of Pharoah's host, which he believes lie there covered with a saline deposit. The research will be prosecuted by divers. The expedition is ready to leave Marseilles, and is only detained by the outbreak of cholera at the Dead Sea ports.

ACCORDING to the programme laid down, the Lord Chief-Justice of England will have a royal time in this country. The railroad millionaires have vied with each other to show him honor, and he will travel about in a special car train like a prince. Some of his British critics have commented on the action of the Bar Association of New York in paying the expenses of the Chief-Justice from the time he leaves London.

GLASS is beginning to take the place of wood and iron in making railroad bridges in England. The inventor makes blocks of glass, which he hardens by a special process. In solidity it is said they leave nothing to be desired. The experiments already made have given surprising results, and the cost is below that of bridges of wood and iron. Moreover, the glass cannot be injured by insects like wood, nor rusted like iron.

GREAT preparations are being made for the entertainment of the Grand Army of the Republic, which is to hold its 17th annual reunion and encampment at Denver, Colorado, beginning on the 24th instant. A series of cheap excursions will be arranged each week of the encampment. All important towns and places of interest in the State will be visited.

THE Presbyterians and Methodists have made a lodgement in Mexico, and are trying to bring the people over to the Protestant faith; but they do not succeed very well. The Mexicans who are not already firm in the Catholic faith are firm in their prejudices against the people of the United States. They refuse to see any difference between a Gospeller and any other Yankee.

BROMIDE of ethyl is a new substitute for chloroform. It is a powerful agent, and a teaspoonful, when inhaled, will put anyone to sleep in thirty seconds, and keep him utterly oblivions to what is being done. The unconsciousness lasts only from three to four minutes, when the patient awakes as if from a natural sleep, without headache or other disturbances of any kind.

THE Standard mine. of Bodie, and the Idaho, of Grass Valley, were the leading dividend paying mines of California in 1882—the former paying thirteen dividends, amounting to $720,000, and the latter twelve dividends, amounting to $224,750. The next highest dividend payer was the Bulwer Consolidated, of Bodie, of $120,000.

NEW JERSEY law prohibits the selling of cigarettes to minors under sixteen years of age. An eight-year-old youth of Jersey City, to whom a clerk refused to sell the other day, picked up from the floor several remnants of cigarettes and lighted one with the remark: "De Legislature can't stop me from smoking old buts, anyhow."

IT has now leaked out that the much advertised trip to Europe of the Apollo Commandery of Knights Templar of Chicago was taken by only twenty-three members.

THE TRANSITION STATE.

Inyo County, while in a state of transition from the past era to the new—from mule teams and stages to the railroad and telegraph, seems to be awaiting the effects of these modern elements before business life begins. While there is considerable more than the usual amount of develowment going on there has not yet been time for the miners to realize returns. The very late season has retarded crops, leaving the farming interests in comparatively the same situation. Throughout all the towns times are dull. On this account Bishop Creek is losing quite a per centage of its population, but it is a safe prediction that many of them will be glad to return after a time.

In the meanwhile, it is a dull and discouraging business—this thing of running a country newspaper. A printer's bill is about the last thing that nine out of every ten men will pay anyway, and it is especially disliked where for one excuse or another it has been allowed to run long over time, as is the case with a great number in this and adjoining counties. It is almost needless to add that it has become absolutely necessary that all such shall be settled up in full.

When the inevitable reaction occurs, THE INYO INDEPENDENT proposes to enlarge and effect somewhat of a change for the better in its general style. The time is near at hand, and after that no paper will be mailed from the office unless it shall have been paid for in advance.

ABOUT 20 members of Apollo Commandery, Sir Knights, of Chicago, under command of one Norman T. Gassette, have just grandly sailed away from New York foreign countries for to see. At the Chicago Conclave three years ago, this Gassette had his doughty feelings much hurt because he couldn't have things his own way, his Commandery, as right well he knew, being the largest in the United States, hence the wishes of its Commander should not be gainsaid. When it was decided the next Conclave should be at San Francisco, and not where Sir Gassette wanted it, then uprose that mighty Knight and swore by the Great Lard Interests of Ohicago, his Apollos should never conclave any in San Francisco! And if Gassette and his Apollos didn't go there, who else would? And that's how it comes he and his body guard now happen to be on their way across the raging main.

THE proposition that is being urged in some quarters looking to a call by the Governor of an extra session of the Legislature, is certainly ill-advised. A session of the average California Legislature is not a source of much profit to the State, and the people are always glad when the session ends. Much more do the people object to a special session, as it entails a very heavy expense. The object of the proposed session is the impeachment and removal of Messrs. Humphrey and Carpenter, Railroad Commissioners. But this would not be done, even though the gentlemen mentioned had failed to make any showing whatever in the matter of the correction of railroad abuses. It was plainly evident that the railroad representatives held the balance of power at the late session.

A LETTER from Fulton, Oswego county, New York, says: A Caughdenoy youth had an experience the other day which he probably does not care to have repeated. While crossing the river his boat ran into a log and upset. In his struggle to reach terra firma his hat was lost, one shoe and a $20 watch. As soon as he reached shore he was attacked by a ferocious bull and chased up a tree. In his hurry to get out of the way of his pursuer, the poor youth ran his head into a well-filled hornets' nest. He then jumped to another branch, only to have it break under him and let him fall to the ground. He drove the bull away with the broken branch, and left at once.

THE clerical profession is doing its best to keepiug the supply of sensations. The Louisiana preacher who translated one of his brethren with a pistol did well in his way, but it looks as if the two Connecticut divines who met in the water at a baptism, and fought until they were separated by the candidates for immersion, have done a trifle better—though both still live.

MR. HENDRICKS recently remarked: "Did you ever think what a task lies before a Democratic President who succeeds a long Republican administration? Just think of 100,000 Federal offices to fill and 10,000,000 applications for them. I am quite willing that any man who covets the task shall have it."

THE people of San Bernardino are about to construct an immense reservoir in Bear Valley, by building a monster dam across Bear Valley cañon, to be of masonry, 100 feet long and 45 feet high. It will form a lake covering more than a thousand acres ten to twenty feet deep. The land has been purchased, and the dam will be built at once, at an estimated cost of about $10,000. The entire expense of the project will be $35,000.

The Daddy of all Bonanzas.

"Some time ago," says the Fresno Expositor, "we made mention of the discovery of a remarkable lode of gold and silver bearing quartz near the summit of the Sierras, in this county. At that time we stated that the ledge was 200 feet wide and three miles long. About three weeks ago Professor Beck, of New York, who was the discoverer of the lode, accompanied by C. C. Pearce, John Besore and Nelson Kirk, started from Fresno flats for the purpose of making a more thorough investigation of the find. The party has returned and make a marvelous report. Instead of a ledge 200 feet wide they report that it is nothing less than a mountain of precious metal. Mr. Pearce, one of the party, stated to an Expositor reporter to-day that he had been mining and prospecting for thirty years, and that he never had seen anything that would approach this find in extent or richness. He says there are hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of ore in sight. So extravagant are his statements that, were he not well vouched for as a man of truth and veracity, we would be obliged to doubt his statement. He describes this bonanza as being apparently the crater of an extince volcano. It lays at an altitude of about 13,000 feet above sea level, and towers up a solid mass of gold and silver bearing quartz over 1,000 feet thick and 2,500 feet above the surrounding valleys."

A Comstocker to whom we read the above has become much excited about the find. He is going for a controlling interest. He declares it is just what he has been hunting for years. He says he already has a plan for working the deposit. He will fill up the old crater with charcoal and coke, and as soon as he gets the whole mountain red-hot will tap it at the bottom, draw off the molten gold and silver through ditches, and spread it out over all the Fresno flats until it is cool enough to divide up into sections and half and quarter sections, when he will invite settlers.—Virginia Enterprise.

Causes of the Cyclones.

THE astronomers tell us that the largest and most remarkable group of spots that has appeared upon the sun this year is now visible in the northeastern quarter of the disk. Through a smoked glass, without a telescope, it looks like a fly on a pumpkin. Another group, near the centre of the disk, composed of much smaller spots, can also be seen without a telescope. But with a telesthere is almost no end to the details that appear in these spots, and particularly in the larger groups. By means of a right-angled prism the image of the sun can be thrown from the eye-piece of a telescope upon a white-washed wall, or a screen of paper, and then the observer, dividers in hand, can measure at his leisure yawning chasms thousands of miles across, and narrow bridges that stretch completely across the chasms and change their form from hour to hour. If the earth could be hurled into the sun like a solid shot into a target, the hole thus made would be small beside one of these enormous sun caverns, which sometimes form and disappear within a few days. Nobody can have any idea of the real aspect of the flaming globe which shines overhead every day, seeming always the same to the ordinary observer until he has seen it with a telescope when the great sun spots are pitting its surface and the dazzling photosphere is thrown up into mountain ridges of fire. When our Oakland observatory is completed, and the glass put in place, our citizens will have a chance to view the great fiery furnace which lights and warms a universe of worlds and precipitates electric storms and cyclones.—Oakland Tribune.

IN the United States Circuit Court, Monday, Justice Field referred to the trial of the tax case of San Mateo vs. the Southern Pacific Railroad as a test case, and said that the proceedings were suspended in the other cases, pending a decision of the Supreme Court. Owing to complaints that the record of the case tried did not contain all the facts, the Supreme Ceurt decision was stayed, and consequently the order stopping proceedings in the other cases was vacated, and all of them would come up soon as ready. In answer to a question by Attorney-General Marshall, Justice Field stated that, according to the decision of the State Supreme Court, the Attorney-General had control of all the cases brought by the people to recover taxes. The Attorney-General announced that he would be unable to attend to the cases until September 1st. Justice Field was of the opinion that, owing to the importance of the matter, all possible haste was necessary, and stated that the sitting of the Court would be closed upon August 18. There are over sixty tax suits, and they will come up before the Court next Monday.—S. F. Bulletin, July 11.

REDFISH lake, near Sawtooth city in the Wood River region, Idaho, has suddenly disappeared. The lake had an area of several miles and was many fathoms in depth. It was on the summit of one of the peaks of the range some 11,000 feet elevation above the sea, and has been there since the white man has known the country, says the Hailey Times, but lately—the day of the occurence is not known—the bottom fell out. The country formation is granite and limestone, and an immense fissure has has opened, whether caused by separation or settling of the earth's surface or from volcanic action, is not known. At present the bed of the lake is dry, and presents the appearance of a deep gorge or valley on the summit of the mountains. This lake contained millions of redfish, and was a favorite resort for bear, deer and other game.

ON the 1st instant the law of Congress removed the stamp tax on matches, as also the tax on checks, drafts, orders, vouchers, perfumery, proprietary medicines and bitters. There is also a change in the cost of money orders, which went into effect on the 1st instant. The reduction of letter postage to two cents does not begin until October 1st. The postal notes for amounts under $5 will be issued in September, if ready for use by that time.

SIERRA COUNTY, Cal., is noted for showing the richest quartz in the world, and the wonderful bonanza uncovered at the Four Hills mine this Summer is but another convincing proof that that county is entitled to being called the banner county of the State. Mr. Phipps, of Eureka, paid a visit to the Four Hills mine recently, and upon his return gave the following facts relating to that property to the Plumas National: "Under the former workings of the mine a shaft had been sunk to the depth of 80 feet, showing good ordinary milling rock. Some time ago it was found necessary to enlarge this shaft, and work was commenced at the top. On one side the miners encountered very rich rock, and in a shaft or pit about twelve feet long and twelve feet deep, something over $100,000 has been realized. The small mill belonging to the company has been run on the poorest ore, and it is necessary to clean up as often as twice a day. Hundreds of pieces show more gold than rock, and in places ribs of pure gold an inch wide can be found. What the extent of the rich chimney is, is yet to be determined, but it has every appearance of being extensive."

THE upper or northern end of the borax marsh, lying east and south of the town of Colnmbus, says the True Fissure, is once more a scene of industry. After an idle period of about fifteen years, the manufacture of borax has received renewed activity. Some three or four companies have been formed and have begun operations in real earnest. Material for tanks, boilers and other machinery arrives by rail quite often, and finds its way southward by means of teams. The advance in the price of borax has done much to increase the manufacture, and the field in the southern end of Esmeralda is almost inexhaustible.

MEN like Mackay, Vanderbilt and others of our American millionaires have effectually closed the avenues of European travel to the average American. Prior to the time of American extravagance, living in France was much cheaper than it was in this country. To-day everything in France is beyond all price to foreigners, especially Americans. We publish, this issue, a racy excerpt from the Carson Appeal, which well illustrates the exaggerated ideas in which the millionaire Mackay is looked upon abroad. The pretended cablegram is happily conceived.

THE late Henry Seybert, an Eastern millionaire, left a large number of bequests, amounting to $4,500,000, for public and charitable uses, among which was one of $50,000 to endow a chair of moral and intellectual philosophy in the University of Philadelphia, with the expressed wish that the University would thoroughly investigate modern spiritualism, in which he was a firm believer. The University accepted the bequest, and has now begun steps to carry out the wish of the testator. A commission has been appointed, of which the Chairman is Dr. William Pepper, Provost of the University and a gentlemen of acknowledged scientific attainments of a high order. Dr. Pepper will look into the physiological and medical phases of the problem, and will devote his attention to the subject of spiritualism from these standpoints. Professors Leidy and Kœnig will contest the physical aspects so far as they relate to natural philosophy, while Mr. Fullerton and Rev. Professor Thompson will view the subject from a purely intellectual and metaphysical standpoint. There is now on hand available for the prosecution of an investigation $15,000. No formal meeting of the Commission has yet been held, although there exists among its members a general understanding of the work and the necessities of an investigation.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.—The Board of Supervisors were presumed to begin an annual session on the 2d instant, for the purpose of equalizing taxes and examining the county assessment roll of 1883, but there being no quorum present business was adjourned from day to day by Chairman Robinson until the 16th, when Mr. Boland was present. In the afternoon of the following day the entire Board assembled—A. Spencer, Thos. Boland and E. Robinson, Chairman. The application of J. W. Symmes for reduction on the assessment of his land of $1 per acre was rejected. The application of Harris & Rhine for a reduction from the Assessor's valuation of $21,500 to $13,800 was rejected. L. Wood's application for reduction of $1,500 on his assessment of $4,500 was rejected also. The military roll was examined, corrected and approved, whereupon the Board adjourned.

SCHOOL CENSUS AND RELATIVE STATISTICS. — School Superintendent Charles H. Groves favors us with the following school statistics for this county: In 1882 the number of school census children (between five and seventeen years), 519; this year there is one less, or 518. Under 5 years last year, 229; this year, 222—another falling off. Percentage of attendance of average number belonging, 90.91 in 1882, and 92.838 this year. For the same years the Superintendent made 15 and 15 school visits, while the total number school visits by Trustees aggregated 45 and 33; other persons, 219 and 482. Amount needed to support a school, $111 45 per month last year, $130 this year. Total expenditures, $7,603 85 and $7,045 49. Total valuation of school property, $14,564 in 1882 and $12,231 in 1883.

THE MONTEZUMA.—Messrs. W. P. Miller and W. T. Farrer, general managers of the Owens River Mining and Smelting Co.'s projected works, were at the mine and furnace site last Monday. Through the active operations of S. D. Woods, Esq., Mr. Miller has been buying ores of all descriptions, assaying $100 per ton or more, from various mines and dumps in the Inyo range. It is transported by the railroads to his works at Melrose for reduction and experiment. He urges upon miners the importance of having frequent assays made, and that their ores be closely and carefully assorted.

PROSPECTING.—Mr. H. B. Botford, on experienced Utah miner, in company with Mr. J. F. Elder from Los Angeles, arrived here last week after a very roundabout trip from San Francisco. After outfitting they spent four or five days examining the Mazourka cañon country. They have gone to Big Pine, with the intention of ascending Black cañon and crossing the White mountains into the Deep Spring region. Unless they "strike it" sooner they are bent on looking all over Inyo, which is certainly a big contract.

PERSONAL.—A friend, writing from Lone Pine, July 19, among other things, says: "J. M. Keeler arrived here today from San Francisco and Virginia City. He is accompanied by a mining man, said to be representing certain California and Nevada capitalists, and with whom he goes this week to the Argus and Telescope Ranges and Mining Districts, where he thinks he will be able to show something worthy the attention of capitalists who mean business."

GOLD HUNTERS.—Last Tuesday a Lone Pine party consisting of "Steve" Chabrie, Geo. Palmer, José Alvarez and others set out on a prospecting trip to find some alleged rich gold fields in the mountains down in Kern County. The locality has been searched for before, it being a pretty well authenticated fact that somewhere in that region was made the first discovery of gold in California, notwithstanding Marshall's claims at Sutter's mill-race.

PROLIFIC.—About the 1st instant a cow on the ranch of J. H. Martin, on Bishop Creek, gave birth to five well-developed calves. We are assured that this statement is vouched for by several of Mr. Martin's neighbors. It would be interesting to know the breed, and how thts bovine quintette may get along through their natural existence.

BIG PINE.—In connection with her magnificent water-power, splendid farms and a vast "back country" of mines, on completion of the new smelting works the town of Big Pine is destined to be the foremost place in Inyo County.

A VISIT.—Ex-Supervisor Meysan, accompanied by his accomplished family, was here paying Independence friends an agreeable visit during the past few days. Our young folks here should have gotten up a party in their honor.

PARTY. — On Tuesday evening last Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brierly, of Bishop, gave a pleasant party in commemoration of the second anniversary of their wedding day.

SUPERIOR COURT.—In the Superior Court yesterday the case of Clarke vs. Nichols was dismissed. C. Meysan vs. E. Chabrie and Paul Houard; judgment ordered in favor of plaintiff.

SODA.—Johnny Stoutenborough and Jim Birchim, of Bishop, have gone to Long Valley to locate soda lands, some good prospects having been discovered there.

LUMBER.—The Black Rock Saw Mill boys have for the past month or more been quite busy getting out lumber to fill orders.

IMPROVEMENT.—C. F. Lily is erecting a dwelling house at Owens City, where he fills the position of train tender.

DISSOLVED.—Blazer & Dunn, the old time blacksmith firm at Bishop Creek, have dissolved partnership. See notice.

THE MONTEZUMA MINE AND FURNACE. About ten days ago a new body of ore, measuring many tons, was opened on the Montezuma mine. It is of fine grade and gives promise of being as extensive as the body heretofore opened and developed. The new find is situated about 300 feet below the present dump and dips into the hill as if it ran into and formed a part of the deposit from which the old body of ore is an output. It is exceedingly suggestive in that it indicates the presence of a very extensive deposit throughout the entire hill. Explorations at this point will be vigorously prosecuted and it is confidently expected that results will largely increase the extent and value of the property. It is the opinion of several leading experts, who have recently examined this property, that the Montezuma is a large and permanent mine, and that the wonderful product of Cerro Gordo will be here rivalled. On Monday last the Furnace site was located and surveyed; a side-track laid out and at the present time the grading and track laying are being carried forward to connect the site with the main railroad track. The material and lumber for the furnace are en route and will all be on the ground by the first of next week, when work will be begun and prosecuted in earnest. The mine and furnace are owned by the Owens River Mining and Smelting Co. The station and grounds have been named Elma in honor of the daughter of Mr. W. P. Miller, the Superintendent of the Company.

HELD TO ANSWER.—In the Justice Court of W. C. Brierly, at Bishop Creek, Monday last, was held the examinaation of Milt. Shick and Charley Jones, charged with stealing fourteen horses from A. Spencer. Geo. M. Gill appeared for the prosecution. The defendants waived their right to introduce evidence on their own behalf, and both were bound over to answer on a charge of felony. Shick's bond was placed at the sum of $1,000, which he furnished; but Jones was held in the sum of $2,000, in default of which he was brought here and jailed. It transpires that the pursuing party had a hard job in hand to catch them. Near Lake Tenaya they came upon Jones, covered him with guns, and inquired why he didn't run. He answered with the inquiry "Do you think I want to get killed?" Shick had spied the party and fled like a coyote into Yosemite. Anxious to get anywhere out of reach, he ascended the ropes up the sides of Castle Dome, and on the following morning attempted to descend on the other side; on an Indian blanket he had found he slid a long distance down the steeps and at last came within a few feet of going over a cliff a thousand feet or more perpendicular. Somehow he managed to get back, and descend as he went up, and when he got into the valley again, was captured. We hear thar the Rev. Andrew Clark, out of the charity of his heart, is one of the boy's principal bondsmen. If we assume that the captured men are the guilty parties, this is an anomalous position for a minister to occupy.

ADDITIONAL SUBSCRIPTIONS.—The following has been received for Independence: S. D. Woods, $5; A. N. Bell, $2; total for Independence; $101 50. The Treasurer has received from Bishop Creek the following; W. Hutchings, $1 50; J. L. Bourland, $2; and the following in the sum of $1 each; S. G. Sneden, S. Martin, G. Stevens, Marks & Cohen, J. C. Harniss, J. H. Bulpit, J. Shaw, A. S. Mizner, F. P. Blaisdel, W. J. Phillippay, L. Munsinger, W. Powers, P. McCabe, A. Spencer, Van Epps & Burden, H. F. Rediker, John Clark, W. J. Dunn, A. K. Briggs, W. C. Brierly, B. L. Ford, Jacob Koch, W. A. Walker, J. Blair, "R & J," J. Shelley, W. L. Zimmerman, J. Elkeles, G. M. Gill, J. L. Bourland, total, $32 50.

THE MINERAL EXPOSITION.—Since our last report a box of splendid ore specimens, consisting of gold, silver, and lead, over 200 pounds in weight, has been received from Darwin, which will make an important addition to Inyo county's exhibit. A box of specimens has also come in from Biseop Creek and Deep Spring, containing some fine pieces of gold and silver ores. The minerals were all shipped by C. & C. R. R., on Thursday, and consisted of nineteen boxes, weighing a little over one ton.

A REDUCTION.—By the notice elsewhere, it will be seen that the Bishop Creek mills have reduced the charge for grinding to $8 per ton. This is a material point in favor of the farmer and consumer alike.

THE Kern County Californian says that J. B. Haggin's experiments have demonstrated that cotton can be grown there with marked success. He has also experimented largely in the culture of hops, and expects next year to put in a large quantity, eventually having a hopyard of 600 or 1,000 acres.

A. H. GRISWOLD, once a mining superintendent in Bodie, came up from Hawthorne Tuesday, on a visit to his son. Ed. Griswold, of the Free Press office. He returned on the afternoon stage. Mr. Griswold is on his way to Big Pine, Inyo county, on mining business.—Free Press.

Two Salt Lake hoodlums, one a son of Apostle Rich and the other of Probate Judge Smith, shining lights in the Mormon church, entered the Zion's Savings Bank a day or two since, felled the cashier with an iron bar and then made off with all the money they could get.

THE Scott Liquor Law of Ohio touches the tax-payers on that tender point, the pocket. Its operations are already indicating a great reduction of general taxation, and is becoming correspondingly popular.

HENRY WARD BEECHER earns more than $30,000 a year, and yet never has any money. He buys whatever pleases his fancy, without regard to utility or his necessity for it. He paid $250 for a book recently, saying "It only means one more lecture."

THE Commissioner of Patents, in a decision just announced, says: "He who uses reasonable dilligence and first reduces an invention to practice, embodying it in practical form, must be regarded as the first inventor, and entitled to a patent as against one who, although prior in time in making it, by negligence allows it to remain unknown. Where inventors withhold their inventions and confer no benefits on the public, there is no reason why protection should be afforded them if other and more dilligent inventors produce the same thing and do confer such benefits. The rule is well established, that an applicant cannot have a patent for that which has been patented to another, unless he can make out such a case as would defeat the patent."

THE jute mill at East Oakland is ready for operation. It is one of our most important manufactures. It will give employment to about four hundred young persons, who may be usefully taken out of idleness and off the street and taught habits of industry. The Times heartily commends this phase of its policy to all our people. The young have been crowded into the gutter by Chinese labor, and one generation has grown to iniquitous worthlessness as a result. The jute mill offers opposition to Satan. Let it be encouraged by every citizen who wishes well to his kind, and let its products have preference in the market, because they represent white labor, and the regeneration of white youth.—Oakland Times.

THE Fourth of July oration delivered at Independenco, Inyo county, California, by S. D. Woods, and published in last week's INDEPENDENT, is a master piece of rhetoric and original thought. —Esmeralda Herald.

How to Cook Oatmeal.

Have the water boiling over a hot fire; put in a sufficient quantity of salt to season the porridge; then taking a spoon in one hand, sift the oatmeal in with the other very gradually, stirring rapidly all the time, until the porridge is as thick as it is desired. Cover the pan and set it back where it will continue to boil without burning. In half an hour it will be thoroughly cooked.

Oatmeal was in use in Scotland for generations before the rest of the world discovered its value, and the manner of cooking it in vogue in every cottage cannot be improved. Some American cooks recommend its being soaked over night in cold water; others stir it up with cold water before adding it to that which is boiling. Either method makes mush, and not porridge, entirely destroying the delicious graininess of the oatmeal. Every one who has made cornmeal mush knows that the meal will cook in half the time if scalded at once in the boiling water, instead of being moistened with cold water first. The same is true of oatmeal. I think any one who tries the Scotch way will never return to the other. Once or twice I have made the porridge for breakfast with water which was not quite boiling, with the result that the sticky and sudden mush was left upon the plates to be thrown out to the chickens. Oatmeal not thoroughly cooked might be given as a medicine in cases of constipation, but proves very irritating to the bowels of young children.

EVERY day comes news from all sections of the country of defalcations of trusted clerks and servants. This could all be prevented in a very simple manner if business men would but look after their own business. Let it be understood that the baoks and accounts of all having the handling and charge of money will be experted at stated intervals and it will prevent these defalcations.

WHILE two thousand citizens of Goodland, Indiana, stood in the park listening to a Fourth of July oration a liberty pole which stood beside them was shivered into fragments by lightning—but strange to say no one was injured. Who would live in such a country when six days' travel would bring a person to God's country on the placid Pacific, where lightning bolts and cyclones are unknown.—Oakland Tribune,

THE formation of a company to dredge the Red Sea for the chariots and trsasure said to have been lost by the unfortunate and lamonted Pharaoah while in pursnit of a party of fleeing Israelites, will probably drive Col. Ingersoll to write another lecture inveighing in his bitterest style against this stupendous manifestation of credulity.

ACCORDING to advices from Bahera, in Egypt, the cattle plague has ended with the death of all the cattle in that district. The cotton worm is now doing great damage there.

M. J. Canadas having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said M. J. Canadas is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The Sheriff of the County of Inyo is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said M. J. Canadas, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of accounts and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use. The said Debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said Debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court room of said Court, in the town of Independence in the County of Inyo, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF JULY, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts, and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said Debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated June 13, 1883.

JOHN A. HANNAH, Judge of the Superior Court.

Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk,

By THOS. CROUGH, Deputy Clerk.

Somewhat Salutatory.

A Nebraska journalist who had been summer fallowing himself on a stock ranch for a couple of years, suddenly assumed control of a country weekly, and in the first issue after he struck the quarter deck of the concern, he published a small and unpretentious card in which he said:

The former editor of this sheet is practically and politically dead, but The Sausage still survives. It is just as well, though, and a mighty sight better, as I am a hoss at editin and sling one of the most caustic and fluentest quills west of the Missouri river. I have a record behind me which doesn't need a new coat of whitewash every spring, like that other editer which recently peyunked and drawed out of the game. At gitten up obituaries I'm a tossel-top, and if there's any hitch in the program I can generally furnish a fresh corpse on short notice, and at the usual slight advance on cost of insertion. I merely throw this out as a feeler to the opposishun, which I hear, is a massing its forces agin me and my paper, and by the freckled-faced, bow-legged, cock-eyed gods of war, there will be a power of high priced opera music floating in the air, if any of 'em try to clime me. If there is any cote house ring in this sweet scented locality, I'll get on to it, sure as you're a foot high. If there is to be any munkying with the free born, untrammelled country delegates to the next county convention, I'll be there with my face washed and hair combed back of my ears. I've licked many a good man, and I've been licked once or twice in my varigated career, but I've always noticed that them fellers who whipped me were not the same men afterwards, and drooped along for a while like a sun struck tomato vine, and finally dropped into the grave with a dull thud, having kinder outlived their usefulness. I want it distinctly remembered that I'm in from the back counties, and ain't up to the cote etiket of the strawberry blonde or the pulpy dude. If I make any miscues it will be more an error of the head than the heart, but for all that, I propose to run a jam up, sizzling hot, nifty little paper, and move along with the best kind of harmony; but if harmony bucks and trles to do any sort of dirt on me, harmony will have to git off the track and let me glide right inter the confidence of the public. If this journal says anything out of the way and grieves any mottled-faced tender-foot, remember I'm the man he wants to see about it. There ain't no back stairs or back windows to this sanctum sanctorium. I'm always in. I'm ever on the tripod, and now with these few brief remarks I cordially invite everybody's co-operation and subscriptions. The tone of the paper will be pure in sentiment, chaste in expression and typographically bang up and delirious."—Texas Siftings.

A Chicago man has invented a single wheeled carriage. The vehicle has shafts which are so fastened to the horse that it can neither tip nor upset unless the animal should fall. The seat and box are behind the wheel. The advantage claimed for this novel contrivance is that it can be hauled on any path wide enough to accommodate a horse. The plain inference is that, as it will carry a load, it would be an admirable substitute for the pack-mule on mountain trails, where greater speed can be obtained on the descending grade, with the driver borne along in comfort. The public will have greater or less confidence in the invention, as the case may be, after witnessing its performance.

American mosquitoes have made their appearance in London. Their nationality was discovered from the fact that they carried jack-knives and "talked through their nose." They also had "N. J." embroidered on their backs. When these pests visit Germany Bismark will issue a proclamation against them, but he will find that he has not the American hog to deal with.—Exchange.

"Contimpt av Coort"

Judge Mullahey fined another man yesterday for skurrying across the tail end of the police court room with his hat on. The Judge has a keen eye for contempt of court.

This reminds us of a story told of a Chicago justice of the peace. A young lawyer met this justice on the street, familiarly slapped him on the shoulder saying "Hello, old cock, how do you do?" A few days later the limb of the law had some business before the justice, and as soon as he stuck his head inside the court-room door he was fined $10 for contempt. He denied the charge vehemently, but was finally crushed by a recital of his offense and the court's assurance: "I'll tache ye me lad, that this coort is an object of contimpt wheniver and wheriver ye may meet it."—Rocky Mountain News.

Dyspepsia, which is so much complained of and seems to be so widespread, arises from various causes, and is cured in various ways. Many people imagine that the internal organs in all individuals are the same, and that like treatment will produce like result's in everybody. The internal organs are alike in different people just as their faces, hands, feet, figures, are alike. A celebrated surgeon who has attended a thousand autopsies, says that the aspect of the inside of bodies vary as noticeably as the aspects of the outside of the same bodies, and we know that the variations are infinite. It is very rare that we find the hands of any two persons agree exactly in form, proportion, color, symetry, even though the same number of glove may be worn by both. The same thing is true of the other external members of the body, and equally so of the internal organs—the heart, the lungs, the liver, the stomach, and all the rest. Just as a man must have his clothes made to order if they are to be a perfect fit, just as he must have his own last for his shoes, and his own measure for his gloves, so he must fit his stomach with food "convenient" for it.

The Shepherd Dog's Sagacity.—A flock of sheep blocked up the entrance to a bridge spanning Mill Creek, near Chester Park, O. A large shepherd dog had been trying to get the sheep to cross the bridge, but they were suspicious and held back. Presently the dog, discouraged at his unsuccessful attempts to drive them, leaped upon the backs of the sheep, which in their crowded condition looked like one wooly floor, ran along to the bridge entrance, leaped upon the floor, and, seizing in his mouth the neck of one of the ewes, dragged her along onto the bridge. Once on the floor of the bridge, the old ewe's suspicions were allayed, and she trotted on across followed by the whole flock, while the dog stepped to one side, let them all pass, and trotted along behind.

The new high license laws in the West differ widely. In Illinois all licenses hereafter for the sale of spirits and wines are to be granted upon the payment of $500 a year, and for beer at $150. The Nebraska law puts the fees in cities of a certain grade at $1,000, and at $500 for all other places. The law of Iowa permits the towns to fix the amount, and there is no uniform rule on the subject. In some places it is as low as $75, and in others as high as $1,000, while there has been a large increase in the average amount all over the State, and a considerable reduction in the number of liquor sellers.

There is nothing so entertaining around the family fireplace as a good, clean newspaper, and nothing so degrading to the unformed minds and passions of young girls as a sheet which pictures forth in striking colors the unchaste acts of shameless women. Besides, though a paper conducted on such a plan may prosper for a time, its success will be ephemeral. Even those who at first gloat over its daily dishes of lewdness, will tire of them; while no matter how carefully it may in the future be conducted, it can never wholly regain the confidence and support of those whom it had previously disgusted.

The magnitude of the railroad business over the quay from Oakland to the depot, and the great labor and responsibility of those in charge, will be more clearly appreciated by considering the vast number of trains leaving each day. There are 168 local trains—22 main line passenger trains—4 emigrant trains, and 2 freight trains—making a total of 196 trains passing over the quay daily—but this does not include trains switched from shore to depot by switch engines, nor engines going up and down to the depot for their trains. Oakland Sentinel.

The Abbe Moigno has formed a company in Paris and has raised $150,000 for the purpose of dragging the Red Sea and Bitter Lakes in order to recover the chariots, treasure, arms and other remains of Pharaoh's host, which he believes to lie there covered with a saline deposit. The research will be prosecuted by divers. The expedition is ready to leave Marseilles, and is only detained by the outbreak of cholera at the Red Sea ports.

At Eagle Pass, Texas, on the 12th, the first permanant iron bridge over the Rio Grande, uniting the sister Republic of Mexico with the United States at that place, was finisned by the Mexican and National Railway.

The New York Tribune is engaged in discussing the derivation of the word "demijohn." California philologists never bother their heads about its etymology so long as they can sample its contents.

A Bear in a Bar-Room.

While Watt's menagerie was being transferred from the railroad station to Oakland Garden yesterday morning, one of the bears managed to unfasten the door of his cage, and, effecting an an escape on Ruggles street, tumbled out of the wagon in which he was being drawn, and lumbered into a neighboring drinking saloon. Several patrons of the establishment made a wild break for the door on seeing the beast enter, thinking possibly they had "got 'em again," but the bear paid no attention to them, and made straight for the bar. The bar-keeper, whose back was turned at the time, faced round on hearing the noise, when he saw the animal standing on his hind legs, his forepaws resting on the edge of the bar, his head bobbing up and down and his mouth wide open, displaying a remarkably fine set of white and glistening teeth. The dispenser of the ardent doubtless had served many hard customers in his time, but never one like this; and he dashed through an open window to the sidewalk, shouting, as he alighted, "You can have him; I don't want him!" For some time nobody dared enter the place, though the bear stuck to his position, "mopping and mowing," and executing a sort of a solemn dance on his hind legs. Finally, the keeper of the animals came back and tried to get the beast out, but his efforts were in vain. Ursa Major refused alike entreaties and commands. Then a happy thought occurred to several persons at once, and they shouted in unison, "He wants a drink!" The keeper immediately seized upon the idea and put it in practice. Pouring out a bountiful libation of beer, he offered it to the bear, which lapped it up greedily, and then, his thirst being assuaged, the big animal suffered himself to be quietly led back to the wagon and his cage—Boston Herald.

It is estimated that there will be fully five thousand Knights Templar from the East at the Triennial Conclave to be held in San Francisco next month. The Mounted Commandery from Covington, Kentucky, will bring their horses, all coal black in color, with them.

OUR MANUFACTURING INTERESTS.

The development of manufacturing on this coast within the past few years has been much greater than most people are at all aware of. The returns of the City Assessor of San Francisco for the year ending June 30, 1883, are very suggestive on this head. Naturally enough, that city leads in this as well as other evidences of permanent developments of like nature, and so all important to true prosperity. But San Francisco in this matter has a dozen or so of other towns and cities closely upon her heels. Among these, and most prominent, are Oakland, Alameda, Los Amgeles and Sacramento; the first named bidding fair ere long to become the leading manufacturing city west of the Rocky Mountains.

But, while it is true, there are many articles that can only be manufactured at a profit in central localities like those named, especially those requiring very expensive and extensive plants and correspondingly broad markets, there is scarcely a community, certainly not a county, in the State but would give fair support to a number of additional manufactures of some kind. It don't matter if the demands of the market did not more than equal the product of the proprietor alone in certain lines of manufacture, he and the community both would be materially bettered by the establishment of such. With the aid of but a limited amount of machinery and appliances, skilled labor being presumed, it is possible in a country even like this to establish a paying business in several different lines of manufacture other than flour and lager beer, which now about comprise the entire list. In most cases such local manufacture might amount to but little more than the mere fitting or "assembling" of different parts elsewhere more or less made ready for certain articles—a plan quite common even in manufacturing centers. Most of the furniture, wagon, harness and some other manufacturies produce their work in that way, and in the same way, and, proportionately, to a better profit, their part of such work can be made a "home industry" in almost any community. Among other of these things, worth at least the suggestion and a thought, comes broom making, fruit packing, and a tannery.

San Francisco manufacturies, all told, give employment to 30,000 persons, while the value of the product is but little less than $60,000,000 per annum.

Two weeks' time was spent in selecting a jury to try the case of ex-State Treasurer Polk, of Tennessee. One thousand men were examined before twelve could be found sufficiently ignorant to sit upon the case. A telegram of the 23d states that the trial has commenced. Before the jury was secured the men questioned had not heard or read anything of the defalcation; two of them did not know in what district they lived, and several of them did not seem to know whether the defendant was an ex-President of the United States or the one at present in authority.

THE Daily Evening Free Lance is the title of a new journal in Los Angeles, just launched out by T. S. Harris, formerly of this county. It is for free distribution, depending upon support as an advertising medium; but in its literary matter promises to be particularly spicy and interesting.

THE ergotine prepared by a firm of manufacturing chemists in Dresden, and containing the active principle of ergot of rye, is said to be the most costly pharmaceutical preparation in the market. The price in Germany is about $3 50 a grain.

THE construction of a tunnel under the Straits of Gibraltar is the last new thing out in tunnels.

THE Sioux sun dance was participated in by three young braves at the Rosebud Agency, D. T., on Tuesday.

IT is reported that the cholera has appeared at Naples and in several parts of Russia.

THE Canadian Pacific Railway proposes to extend its telegraph system to Japan by cable.

THE American riflemen were given a banquet by the British Volunteers, in London.

THE French are pleased that England is likely to reject the canal contract.

THE STRIKE.

It is believed by many people that there is one certain outcome to the telegraphers' strike—a Government postal telegraph system. The following special to the New York Evening Post is interesting:

The few Congressmen who are in the city think that the telegraph strike will so sharply call attention to the relations of the telegraph to the Government and the people, that it will give an impetus to the postal telegraph scheme, or to some plan for the better regulation of telegraphic communication. "The time has passed," said a United States Senator, "when the General Government or the States can permit the people to be placed at the mercy either of a monopoly of capital which controls the telegraph wires or a monopoly of labor which seems to control the operators. The telegraph is as much a common carrier as the railroad or as a steamboat is. It is as much of an element in the transmission of intelligence as a locomotive; and the Government has as much right to control it as it has to carry the mails. The public used to complain when the mail system was extended that it would interfere with the rights of private parties; and when the Postoffice entered into the business of carrying small packages it was said that it would injure the express companies. But the people were benefited, and the express companies still live and pay handsome dividends. Senator Edmunds, you will remember, called attention to this subject in the last Congress, and gave notice that he should, at the first opportunity, in the next Congress introduce a bill for a postal telegraph, and this strike will do much to bring many over to Mr. Edmunds' way of thinking. But this movement will not take the direction of purchasing the lines of the present corporations, with their watered stock. Competent telegraph men say that the Government, with the right of eminent domain, which it has under the power to establish post routes, could establish a postal telegraph system for $15,000,000, which would be practically equal, as to all central points, to the Western Union Company, with its almost $100,000,000."

"And," the Senator might have added, "a thousand times less of the over bearing hoggishness which characterizes that great corporation, especially as displayed toward its employés, through which comes the present great strike." What the immediate outcome of this strike is to be can now only be surmised, as affecting the parties at issue; but, as above intimated, no matter how it may result in that regard, it is bound to do a great deal toward popularizing a Government postal telegraph system. There are some 17,000 operators and linemen in the employ of the Western Union and other telegraph companies. Of these about 15,000 are engaged in the strike. With this immense reduction of the skilled working force, it is not possible to carry on the wonderful amount of telegraph work demanded by the business of the country; and this business must suffer as well as both the parties at direct issue. So it, and some possible preventive for similar future occurrences, becomes everybody's concern.

However it may be with the strikers in general, popular sympathy must certainly rest on the side of this army of striking telegraph operators. For the miserable pittance of about $44 per month, they have been compelled to sit at their instruments never less than ten consecutive hours, often twelve, night and day alike, with no day in the week they can call their own, nor extra allowance for Sunday or holiday work. Though not laborious, their work is exhaustive, demanding a constant tension of both mind and nerve, and a never-ending sense of personal responsibility and "answerability" to the exacting lords to whom they owe their situations. A lifetime of such work and pay might give say a mill each in bank to the credit of the most saving of these skillful and over worked operators, while their aggregate labors net millions in clear profits to the owners and taskmasters. We strongly hope the strike will succeed, that's all.

No good American who goes abroad with plenty of coin need return without a decoration or an order of nobility—gewgaws which seem to be most highly prized in a republic. The London World has been estimating the number of petty sovereigns in Europe who have orders and patents of nobility for sale cheap. More than two dozen seem to be in the market, not counting the variegated assortment held by the Pope. Even the ex-empire of Mexico—which is about as dead as Maximilian—has three on sale, signed by the ex-Empress, and valuable only for the parchment on which they are engraved. Yet they seem to have attractions for many Americans and propably a large number could be found throughout the country. Like the recent passion for old masters, this is an acquired taste, which, fortunately, doesn't attack the untraveled.

A car manufacturing company of Troy is building a train of cars for the exclusive use of the Mapleson Opera Company next season. One of the cars is fifty-five feet in length, and is designed for the special use of Madame Patti. It contains a saloon, bed rooms, dining-rooms, closets, etc., all fitted up in the handsomest style possible. It is better to be a prima donna than a journalist.

CETEWAYO, King of the Zulus, is dead.

Mining Law.

Where the petition on its face shows no error which can result in material injury, certiorari will be denied.

An application for a patent for a lode claim should not be rejected because it conflicts with a patent placer claim, in case the lode was known to exist at the date of the application for placer patent.

Where the owner of a known lode fails to file his adverse claim during the statutory period of publication of the placer application, he is restricted by law to his lode, and twenty-five feet of surface ground on each side thereof.

In the State of Texas, all minerals in the public school, university, asylum, and public lands of the State of Texas be, and the same are, reserved from the operation of the laws for the sale of such lands.

In Texas, any one taking up a mining claim shall do at least $200 worth of work per annum on the same, and furnish annual proof of the same to the Land Board.

General averments of fraud and wrongful use, without specification or detail, do not present a case for consideration.

The statutory direction that the end lines of a lode claim must be parallel should be followed as a rule, but under peculiar circumstances an exception to the rule may be allowed.

The taking up of more width of surface ground for a mining claim than is allowed by law does not invalidate the location, and the monument stakes may be moved to cast off the excess.

Whatever is fundamental to the possession and right of possession of a mining claim is remitted to the courts, and parties who fail to set up an adverse claim to an application regularly made cannot protect their rights by a protest submitted to the Land Department.

One making application for a patent to mineral ground, is required by law to put on the premisas notice thereof. The courts will presume such notice given; which notice is of itself a warning to all that the parties are about applying for patent—seeking to obtain title. If one party knows the facts, or has opportunity to know them, and chooses to take his chances, the other party is estopped.

The Secretary of the Interior has just decided that where two applications are pending in part for the same ground, the abandonment of one gives life to the other, instead of the property reverting to the public domain. Also that a claimant obtaining a judgment in his favor from a competent court can proceed with his application for a patent, notwithstanding an appeal, and all will be valid if he be successful in the appellate court.

Hereafter, no application for a patent to mineral land will be recognized at the land offices, which includes more than one lode.—Chicago Mining Review.

Improving on Further Acquaintance.

As some persons who disappoint us at first improve on further acquaintance, so are many of the mining districts on this coast which disappointed the pioneer prospectors, beginning to show, under more patient and skillful exploration, a much greater wealth than they were at first supposed to possess. Many localities that in the early day were passed by as unworthy of notice, and even some in which a good deal of work was done, but with results so little encouraging that they were afterwards abandoned or nearly so, have in these later times begun to attract capital and gather in population by reason of the much medium grade ore they contain and the promising indications shown. It is true, ores can now be worked with profit which were entirely worthless twenty years ago. Many and notable changes have during this period taken place in the business of mining, more especially in the departments of metallurgy and ore extraction. During these years our prospectors and miners have learned many things they required to know, and forgotten a few that they might better never have learned. They have discovered that Comstock and Eberhardt lodes are few and far between. They have learned that less than hundred dollar ore can be worked with profit, and forgotten, or at least partially forsaken their roving, unstable habits and stock gambling practices; besides some gains made in other forms of grace and other kinds of saving knowledge. Hence this rehabilitation of the once neglected and nearly deserted districts and this contentment to there abide and work for more moderate but surer returns. This ability to subsist at less cost and make living wages out of lower grade ores is equivalent to the discovery of new mineral regions and richer deposits in the olden time. So great is the extent of our known mineral domain and so abundant its resources that some improvement in the habits of our mining population and in our methods of mining is of more moment just now than the discovery of new metalliferous regions. Our prospectors have already run over too much territory making locations and doing little else. As a general thing they have too many claims with too little work done upon them. The miner who has stopped in one place and proved his lodes is apt to have something to show for his labor, whereas the persistent prospector has generally very little.—S. F. Press.

THE new high license laws in the West differ widely. In Illinois all licenses hereafter for the sale of spirits and wines are to be granted upon the payment of $500 a year, and for beer at $150. The Nebraska law puts the fees in cities of a certain grade at $1,000, and at $500 for all other places. The law of Iowa permits the towns to fix the amount, and there is no uniform rule on the subject. In some places it is as low as $75, and in others as high as $1,000, while there has been a large increase in the average amount all over the State, and a considerable reduction in the number of liquor sellers.

ACCORDING to the last report of the Director of the Mint, the number of men at work in the mines of California in 1882 amounted to 37,147, being much the largest number so employed in any of the States or Territories of the Union. Colorado, with 28,970, ranks next in this respect.

PERSONAL NOTES.—Quite a party of distinguished gentleman passed a pleasant day at the railroad front last Sunday. Among others were Horatio C. Burchard, Director of the United States Mint, Ex-Attorney General Clarke and Judge Belknap of the Nevada Supreme Court, with Superintendents Yerington and Laws....Judge W. C. Burnett, a well-known attorney from San Francisco, spent the last week in Darwin, looking after the interests of the reorganized New Coso Mining Company. He expressed himself as well pleased with this country, and went home prepared to make a favorable report on the Company's property.... Mr. S. D. Woodhull left for the Bay this morning to be gone two or three weeks on mining business. In the while he will look sharply after Inyo's mineral exhibit during the Conclave, and has promised us some newspaper correspondence.

TELEGRAPHIC.—The Western Union Company has been slow in extending its wire along the track of the Railroad, the line now being but little this side of Alvord—the Big Pine station. Doubtless the prevailing strike of the telegraphers has a material effect upon their present operations. In order to secure direct telegraphic connection or communication with the main line a number of leading business men propose to give the Western Co. an ample subsidy to induce them them to construct a regular branch to this town. Local operators will tender their services free until such a time as the branch line may begin to pay. In this connection THE INDEPENDENT man has accepted the local agen y of the Associted Press.

ASSESSMENTS.—The Swansea Mining Company has levied assessment No. 3 of twenty cents per share, the proceeds, doubtless, to be devoted to the new furnace. The old Virginia Consolidated, of Kearsage, comes to the fore with a levy of one cent a share. All its mines being patented we presume this is simply to pay taxes and office expense, while the Company is allowing one of the most valuable properties in the county to lie idle.

SUPERIOR COURT.—On the 26th, in the Superior Court, Charles Jones and Milton Shick, under arrest ch rged with grand larceny appeared and entered a plea of "not guil y." They did not ask for counsel, but it is generally reported that W. P. George will appear in their defense. The trial was set for August 6th, and a venire of forty jurors was ordered issued, returnable at that date.

THE TRAINS.—About the 1st proximo regular passenger, mail, express and mixed trains of the Carson and Colorado will commence running to the terminus. According to what the Company are at present calculating upon, the southbound train will arrive at Independence station at 4:20 A. M., and leave for the north at 11:35 A. M. The new time table will probably be given in these columns next week.

MONEY TRANSFERS BY TELEGRAPH. Wells, Fargo & Co. announce Independence as being included in their telegraphic system of transferring money. About 135 other offices are named on this coast, but the system extends practically to all important points in the East. The charge is 25 cents for transferring sums of $50 or less; 50 cents for $100, and over that amount one-half of one per cent.

TO MOJAVE.—V. G. Thompson put in a re-appearance home during the past week, after skirmishing around a wide scope of the southern country for a month or more. He will go back to Mojave, and open out a big new hotel—with a certainty of securing the patronage of all his many Inyo and Kern county friends.

CAUSE WHY.—Someone writes a postal over the signature of "Not a Subscriber" inquiring why this paper does not reach its subscribers at Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo until Monday. We fail to see what the difference is to one who is "Not a Subscriber."

WHERE HE IS.—Johnny Brisco, a well known Cerro Gordo pioneer, writes from Redding, Shasta County, that he wants THE INDEPENDENT. He is flourishing in the position of general superintendent of a horse and cart on the railroad.

THE DEFIANCE.—Supt. Gorman is making a very successful run of the furnaces on about 600 tons of good ore. The new work in the mine is reported as showing remarkably favorable developments.

THE RAILROAD. — Track-laying has been completed to Hawley, which will continue to be "the front" until next Fall. Work on the depot, engine house and turn-table is going on, a train load of material going down every day.

GOOD.—A telegram received from Supt. Yerington this morning informs us that the Railroad Company has "deadheaded" the Inyo County mineral exhibit through to Reno. It is a very handsome and appropriate action.

CORRECTION.—Our mention of the new railroad station at the Montezuma mine, last week, should have given the name as Elna, instead of "Elma."

ON "BIZ."—During Henry Levy's absence Charley will transact all business matters for him, as will be seen by a notice elsewhere.

REGULAR SESSION.—The regular August session of the Board of Supervisors will begin one week from next Monday.

FOR SALE.—See notice of a valuable piano for sale.

SOUTHERN INYO.

DARWIN, July 25.

Scarcely a day passes that we fail to note in the public prints the report of new discoveries and the organization of new mining districts. The enterprise and persevering energy of prospectors seems to know no end.

During the month of February past, a company of men, some 23 in number, came up from Calico to a point some 40 miles south of Panamint, at what has been known for years as Anvil Springs. Here they organized a mining district, under the name of Butte Valley District of Inyo County. They found and located about forty mines, some of which, after a little development, show well. The deepest working up to the present time has been done by the Bradley brothers and associates upon the Christmas Gift. This is a gold and silver mine, apparently a contact vein, lying between gray granite and brown porphyry, and at the outcrop shows a width of less than a foot. A tunnel run 60 feet taps the ledge at a depth of 60 feet. Here the ledge is between 2½ and 3 feet in width, a well defined ledge, smooth walls, good free casing, and nearly perpendicular. The ore is base, and will carry at least 30 per cent. lead. The ore carries a large percentage of iron, which in its turn carries gold. The average value of the ore is not far from $100 per ton, two thirds being gold. The ledge so far as opened shows nothing but pay ore, not a pound of waste rock being visible. The general character of the other mines in the District is about the same as this on the surface; and after visiting half a dozen where work had been done to the depth of 10 or 15 feet, the conclusion is drawn that the mines are permanent and are widening as they go down, and will yet be placed in a paying position. There is an abundance of water and nut pine timber at a convenient distance. Parties interested have already taken steps to organize a San Francisco company, to erect either a mill or a furnace. The latter is thought by some to be the most feasible.

Another cluster of mines, similar in character, was found about 10 miles south of Anvil Springs, and at a distance of about five miles from the eastern edge of Panamint Valley. The ledges are four in number; croppings about eight inches in width, and very rich in gold, much of which can be seen without the aid of a glass. Water is in abundance near at hand and wood at a distance of 15 miles. This discovery was made in the latter part of June by a party from Darwin.

OTHER PLACES.

At Reilly, they talk of soon starting the mill. At Snow's Canyon, Stapp, Morton and Smith are again running the mill on gold ore. At Wild Rose, Pfefferly is at work opening up the Virgin mine. Capt. Keeler is now there with an expert, examining that and other mines. At Darwin, the Defiance furnace started up yesterday on Defiance ores.

RAILROAD MATTERS.

Mr. Oliver, of the Railroad, with companion, has gone south, leaving here the morning of the 23d. The probability of the railroad passing in the near vicinity of Darwin looks quite favorable, from the fact that this Company has proved, so far, the truth of the old maxim, that "Where there is a will there is a way;" and what is apparent to the public, must be as plain to them that it is entirely to their interest to bring the road through this section, if it is possible to do so.

TRANSIENT.

A later note received from "Transient," dated July 27, says: "Mr. Oliver returned here on the 25th, and yesterday gave Darwin Canyon a thorough inspection, and it now looks as though he would be able to get into Panamint Valley by that route. He is certainly doing his best to accomplish the object, and I believe he will succeed. Darwin is holding her breath for his decision."

TOO MUCH CLIMATE.—A private note from Sher. Stevens informs us that Los Angeles climate came near wiping him out of existence, so, accompanied with the rest of the family, he has made San Francisco his future abiding place—and finds it salubrious, climate and everything. And, as our sincere wish, may he and his ever so find it till the big boom the family waited so many long years for for Inyo may prove a reality in which each and all of them may have a full compensating share, even though they may have to brave a return here to secure it.

By ROBERT A. GUNN, M. D.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR CONTAINS 648 octavo pages, and is printed on fine paper and handsomely bound. It is sold at the low price of three ($3 00) dollars a copy, so as to bring it within the reach of all.

The work differs from all other books on Domestic Medicine in having the diseases systematically arranged, according to their classification. Everything is described in the plainest possible language, and the prescriptions are written out in plain English, so that they can be employed by any intelligent reader.

Druggists will find this book of great advantage in aiding them to give advice when asked to do so.

Dentists will find much information in it that will prove valuable to themselves and their patients.

Teachers will be better prepared for the performance of their duties in the school room by studying it.

Parents will find it a reliable adviser in everything relating to the rearing of their children.

Every family can save fifty times the price of the book every year, by consulting it.

It is complete in all its parts, and is the most recent book of the kind published.

The book will be sent free by mail or express on receipt of three dollars.

SATURDAY, JULY 28.....1883

Bill Nye's "Boomerang" Correspondence.

Spring, gentle, touchful, tuneful, breezeful, sootheful spring is here. It has not been here more than twenty minutes.

The bobolink sits on the basswood vines and the thrush in the gooseberry tree is melodius as a hired man. The robin is building his nest, or rather her nest, I should say perhaps, in the boughs of the old willow that last summer was busted by thunder—I beg your pardon—by lightning I shruld say. The speckled calf dines teat-a-teat with his mother and strawberries are like a bald headed man's brow—they come high, but we can't get along without them.

I never was more tickled to greet gentle spring than I am now. It stirs up my drug-soaked remains and warms the genial current of life considerably. I frolicked around in the grass and filled my pockets full of 1,000 legged worms and other little mementoes of the season. The little bare-foot boy now comes forth and walks with a cautious tread at first, like a blind horse; but toward autumn the backs of his feet will look like a warty toad, and there will be big cracks in them and one toe will be wrapped up in a part of a bed quilt and he will show it with pride to crowded houses.

Hogs vs. All Other Stock.

By a careful analysis of the Treasury reports it is found that the hog furnished more export material than all the fat cattle, all the dairy products, all the horses, all the mules, all the sheep and all the poultry products put together. While the exported hog product for the two years of 1879 and 1880 amounted to the great sum of $180 087,626, all the products of all the other domestic animals and the live animals themselves, amounted to only $105,870,382, making about $75,000,000 in favor of the hogs, as against all and every other domestic animal and products from the same that found an export market. Really this shows well for hog raising. How important is the hog stock to this nation. The hog multiplies fast and matures quickly. When it is considered how important a factor the hog is in the production of wealth, it is not a little strange that the real scientific knowledge of how to raise them and keep them healthy is so little understood. As seen above, the hog brings more money to this nation from other nations than all the other domestic animals put together, and yet there is not a man in America who understands the diseases of the hog, or can cure him when he is sick. We think here is a field that our agricultural colleges and veterinary doctors had better explore.

THE following orders have been issued from the Postoffice Department:

Postmasters at offices not located in Government buildings must require a deposit of fifty cents for each key to lock boxes. On return of key the money will be refunded. Necessary repairs for locks for which deposits have been received will be allowed.

Letters addressed to friends of owners of a box, stopping temporarily with him, may be placed in the box if directed to his care or number of the box.

All box rents must be paid within ten days after commencement of quarter or they will be declared vacant. The Department will insist upon a strict compliance with this regulation.

A person renting a box is entitled to have the letters of his family put into it. Each box must be restricted to the use of one family, firm, or corporation.

PROGRESSIVE INDIANS.—The Piutes at the Pyramid Lake reservation, Nev., are showing considerable progress. They have dug five miles of ditch for irrigating purposes this year, and will raise 1,000 bushels of wheat this summer. A number of children are attending the boarding-school, begun last fall by direction of the Government, and many of them can read, write and do some work in primary arithmetic. They are also taught to cook, sew, etc., and have made considerable progress in this direction. Mrs. McMasters has charge of the school, and Mrs. Mapes is matron. Religious service is conducted on Sunday by Mr. Aibby, the Baptist minister of Wadsworth. The services are well attended, and the Indians are generally respectful and attentive.

CURE FOR WARTS.—A correspondent of the Scientific American writes as follows: "Some years since a corn-doctor advised me to use coal oil. My hands were covered with them. Having little faith I tried it, putting a drop on each of common kerosene and letting it absorb; where there was a hard crust, scraping it to facilitate absorption. In a fortnight, after twice daily treating them, they began to lessen, and finally disappeared without scar. I have advised others to try it, with like effect on persistent use. Simply soften the top, drop the oil on, and let it be for some minutes to absorb."

THE New York Times has published one of the most comprehensive forecasts of the Presidential campaign ever prepared. It places Blaine far in the lead. Arthur second in line, and Edmunds third on the Republican side. The first choice of the Democrats is Tilden, the second M Donald, and following come Butler, Bayard, and Thurman. Blaine and Tilden would have shown more strength had they come out and promptly demanded the nomination, but as it stands Blaine has the best show, and if nominated by his party would make a strong fight against Tilden, should the Democrats make him their choice.

LAST year Arizona produced over 17,000,000 pounds of copper. Thus far during the present year the increase has been 33 per cent., and new furnaces are going up. It will be a safe estimate, thinks the Tucson Citizen, that Arizona's output will be at least 25,000,000 pounds for 1883.

Colorado Bridge.

Mr. L. W. Beach, one of the enterprising business men of the Needles, passed through Daggett day before yesterday on his way to San Francisco. From him we learned that business at the Needles is booming, and that a number of substantial business houses are fast approaching completion. The river has subsided at the rate of six feet a day for several days, and is now about as low as it was when the work of building the bridge commenced. The new bridge is progressing very rapidly, at the rate of forty-five feet a day, and it will be completed about the latter part of next week, if no accidents occur to retard the work. The bridge when completed will be over 1300 feet long. In a couple of weeks daily trains will be running regularly over the bridge. The Needles will become quite an important town, and will derive its support from the surrounding mines, the railroad and steamboat travel, and also from the agricultural lands along the river.—Calico Print.

A petrified forest about 300 acres in extent has been discovered on the Arizona side of the Colorado river, in the Buckskin mountains. There are petrified trees twenty inches in diameter, and there is not a bush that is not petrified, the sagebrush and grass being all turned to stone.

APPLICATION FOR A PATENT

....TO THE....

POLETA QUARTZ MINE.

No. 239.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, BODIE, CAL., April 28, 1883.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE Poleta Gold Mining Company, a corporation, whose postoffice address is Room 79, Nevada Block, San Francisco, California, has this day filed its application for a patent for 1 500 linear feet of the POLETA Quartz Mine or Vein, bearing gold and silver, with surface ground 600 feet in width, situated in the Bishop Creek Mining District, County of Inyo and State of California, and designated by the field notes and official plat on file in this office as Lot No. 37, in Township 7 South, Range 34 East, of Mount Diablo Meridian (unsurveyed), the exterior boundaries of said Lot No. 37 being described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a stake in mound of stone at the SW cor of the Pajaro claim, from which the side line center monument of La Nina claim bears N 59° 15′ W 9 ft dist, and the NW monument claimed for the Schuman claim bears S 65° 45′ W 7 ft dist, and running thence N 24° 15′ W 300 feet or 4 545 chs to a stake in stone mound at the northwest cor of the claim and the westerly end and center of the Pajaro claim, from which the original NW stone monument of the Poleta claim bears S 68° 45′ W 12 5 ft dist, and the NW cor of the Pajaro claim bears N 24° 15′ W 300 feet dist. Thence N 65° 45′ E at 9.45 chs the side line stone monument of La Nina claim bears N 24° 15′ W 1 feet dist; at 10 81 chains the side line monument of the Garfield claim bears N 24° 15′ W 2 4 ft dist; at 1469 2 ft the NE cor of the Pajaro claim; 1509 ft or 22.725 chs a stake in mound of stone at NE cor of the claim. Thence S 24° 15′ E, at 300 ft or 4.545 chs a stake in mound of stone at easterly end of lode line, from which the original stone monument for the Poleta east end and center bears N 65° 45′ E, 119.30 ft dist, and a stake at easterly end and center of the Pajaro claim bears S 65° 45′ W 30.8 ft dist; 600 ft or 9.09 chs to a stake in mound of stone at the SE cor of the claim. Thence S 65° 45′ W at 30 4 ft or 0 46 chs the SE cor of the Pajaro claim; at 10.95 chs the east end center monument of the Schuman claim bears S 13° 58′ W 3 49 chs dist, the SE cor of La Nina mine bears S 17° 52′ W 6.67 chs dist, and the SE cor of the Schuman claim bears S 0° 35′ E 9 64 chs dist 1500 ft or 22 725 chs to stake in mound of stone at SW cor of the claim from which Mineral Monument No. 32, Bishop Creek Mining District, bears N 36° 46′ E 6 36 chs dist. Thence N 24° 15′ W 300 ft or 4 545 chs to the place of beginning.

Magnetic variation 15° 45′ East, containing 20 65 acres.

The location of this mine is recorded in the Recorder's office of Bishop Creek Mining District, in Book "A" of Bishop Creek Mining District Records. The adjoining claimants are the "Pajaro," "La Nina," "Garfield" and "Schuman," claim-owners.

Any and all persons claiming adversely any portion of said POLETA quartz mine or surface ground are required to file their adverse claims with the Register of the United States Land Office at Bodie in the State of California, during the sixty days period of publication hereof, or they will be barred by virtue of the provisions of the Statute.

JAMES E. GOODALL, Register.

It is hereby ordered that the foregoing Notice of Application for Patent be published for the period of sixty days, (ten consecutive weeks) in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper published at Independence, Inyo County, California.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.

In the matter of M. J. Canadas, an Insolvent Debtor.

M J Canadas having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said M. J. Canadas is hereby declared to be insolvent.

The Sheriff of the County of Inyo is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said M J. Canadas, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of accounts and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him or to any person, firm or corporation or association for his use. The said Debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered.

It is further ordered that all the creditors of said Debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court room of said Court, in the town of Independence in the County of Inyo, on the SIXTEENTH DAY OF JULY, 1883, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts, and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said Debtor.

It is further ordered that the order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper of general circulation published in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors.

And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated June 13, 1883.

JOHN A. HANNAH, Judge of the Superior Court.

Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk. By THOS. CROUGH, Deputy Clerk.

Mining and Assorting Ores.

Many miners in prosecuting their business in this country have paid too little attention to the formation known as talc. This substance is generally found in the neighborhood of mineral, and common custom has assigned it to the dump. That there are formations that carry mineral other than the generally accepted ores is being proved so conclusively that to say anything is barren is making an assertion that is likely to give the lie on test. Carbonates, in the early days of Leadville, were known to exist, but were supposed to be valueless, and hence the bonanza camp lay for years undeveloped and unthought of, other than for its placer mines. Talc is an [illegible] mineral, which, though not [illegible] is not generally [illegible] miners, and [illegible] signed to the [illegible] would not see anything that looked like mineral in it. Recently at Bonanza, Colorado, some miners working a prospect were throwing this valuable mineral over the dump, and other parties coming along and seeing it bought the property for a fraction of what there was in sight and on the dump. Lately the Nellie S. mine, at Leadville, has been consigning talc to the waste dump that on assay runs from $20,000 to $50,000 a ton in gold. The Palomas Chief has given us some magnificent specimens of native silver in talc, and now and then the Chuchillos are furnishing specimens that are plentifully specked with silver. To prospect thoroughly, formations lying adjacent to bodies of mineral should be assayed, and hearsay or common custom dispensed with. The fact that we cannot see mineral in rock is no evidence that it is not there, and more caution should be observed about rejecting mineral substances with which we are not well acquainted.—Colorado Black Range.

If the striking telegraph operators can hold out for sixty days, they will, we think, be victorious. The greed of the Western Union is almost without a parallel. This is a fight of capital and cupidity against brains and bravery, and the public sympathy will always be with the latter. And this attempt of the Western Union to crush the manhood out of its employés is a powerful reason why the Nation should condemn the lines, operate them in the interest of the public, paying fair wages to all employés, and charge the public sufficient to maintain the service. This could be done without charging the people a dollar, and we think that it would be well for the now idle operators to petition the incoming Congress to condemn the lines, or erect new ones—better, perhaps, to have new ones altogether.—Sacramento Bee.

At Quito, the only city in the world on the line of the equator, the sun sets and rises at 6 o'clock the year round. Your clock may break down, your watch get cranky, but the sun never makes a mistake here. In one part of the city it is the summer season, and in the other part it is winter.

The money order system was introduced in the Sandwich Islands on the 1st of May. Twelve offices are now in operation, and the number is to be increased to twenty. The natives and Chinamen take to the new arrangement almost as kindly as the foreign born residents.

It is curious to read, in a Baltimore paper published early in the century, that 139 slaves had been sold at auction for the benefit of the United States, and the proceeds over $50,000, placed in the treasury.

Two New Kinds of Wheat.

In the eaarly part of last Winter Wm. Eagan, a Dibble creek farmer, sent to Yolo county and got a few sacks of Pride of England and also of French wheat, which he sowed on the 28th of January, on gravelly land. He sowed eight acres of the former and four of the latter. He cut both lots of grain a few days ago, getting one hundred sacks of the Pride of England and about fifty sacks of the French wheat. The former yielded about forty-five bushels to the acre, the latter not quite so much. The Pride of England is a long, round grain, and about the color of Club-head. It has a short beard at the end of each mesh. It is much earlier than Club-head, and does not thresh out with the wind near so badly as it does, and it yields about three times as much. Both the Pride of England and the French wheat are full, plump grains, while the Club-head is badly shriveled and is only valuable for chicken feed. Mr. Eagan thinks the Pride of England a little the best wheat, and the trial he made this season has convinced him that it is the best that can be raised in the State. These varieties of wheat are superior to the Club for three reasons: They yield more to the acre, mature earlier and thresh out less with the wind or while being handled.—Gridley Herald.

The Spanish do not take kindly to boxing and fist fighting as an amusement, but resort to the stiletto or knife. In the place of prize fights with gloves or bare knuckles, they have exhibitions of their expertness with knife. These tools are made of wood with a stiff leather point. This is colored with lampblack so that a home thrust shows plainly on the white dress of the unlucky contestant, who is then considered dead, and walks out of the ring amid the jeers and hisses of all the pretty girls in town, while the other fellow is kissed and feted and made drunk on good wine. The alleged dead man receives no bodily harm, but he goes straightway and gets drunk on cheap wine at his own expense.

Kaneen, the new County Commissioner at Virginia City, ably seconded by Werren, made a clean sweep of the rotten old city government last Tuesday. They reorganized the fire department, and elected Wm. Pennison Chief, removed Chief of Police Bradley, cut off police officers, Justice's clerks and inaugurated several other wholesome reforms. Chairman Canavan was so thunderstruck at the way things went that he could only look on in amazement. Storey county has long needed a dose of Kaneen.

The Most Remarkable Liar.

The most remarkable liar the year has developed is summering in that quaintest, queerest, and most dilapidated of all southern towns, Moorhead City. He sends a telegram to the Philadelphia Press saying that a gentleman tied a little child, 3 years old, to a number of toy baloons and then threw her into the air, holding up his hands to catch her as she should descend; when, lo, over the house-tops out toward the sea the little angel floated away, the mother going into convulsions and all the spectators, save a gallant old sea-dog, paralyzed with fear and astonishment. "Man the boats!" cried g. o. s. d., just as if the boats could sail the upper air and bring the little birdling back. Away floated the child; a gentleman sailing in his yacht discovered her, and having his Spencer repeating rifle with him, began firing at the balloons. One by one the buoyant bladders were shot away, until birdie began to descend, and finally came down into a sand heap as safe and sound and as softly as if she had fallen into a nest of feathers. Then shouts of joy rent the heavens like a cyclone; then mother revived, and her own precious darling, cooing and crowing, was placed in her all-embracing arms. And now Tom Ochiltree, George Alfred Townsend, Eli Perkins, and all the rest of the monumental liars of the age—go hide your diminished heads in the silence of the tomb, and never tell a lie again.—Troy Daily Times.

About 620 [illegible] by the Commissioner of the General Land Office from the thirty special agents engaged in the investigation of fraudulent land entries up to July 1st. About 350 of these reports have shown sufficient evidence of fraud to justify the Land Offices in summarily canceling the entries. The records show that, without exception, the fraudulent entries, whether homestead or pre-empted, cover the full area of land allowed by law, namely 160 acres. The land already restored to the public domain upon the reports of these agents is about 56,000 acres. A great deal of this land is located in rich valleys of streams, and is held by the Government at a double minimum price of $2 50 per acre.

London papers say that a fund of $50,000 has been raised in that city to spend among the Southern States "in efforts to convince them of the propriety of recognizing some part of the public debt." This accounts for the recent spasmodic attempt to give at least a nominal value to Confederate bonds. We take it that the English subscribers to the fund are ignorant that the fourteenth article of the amended constitution of the United States contains this clause: "But neither the United States, nor any State, shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States," etc.

It is very easy to comprehend how the Western Union Telegraph Company can pay heavy dividends on watered stock, when it is remembered that such instances as this are not infrequent—a Sacramento operator, says the Record-Union, competent for daily routine commercial work, received up to the day he struck, $40 a month. The man has a wife and two children, and in order to win bread for his home, has been, whenever tired nature permitted, working four and five hours over daily time. But we are told that the demands of such workers are unreasonable.

A number of San Francisco merchants have organized themselves into a league to protect themselves against the railroad. If any one of the number is not fairly dealt with by that company it is accepted as an imposition upon the whole league. If any member brings suit against the company, the expenses are borne by the league. Attorneys are employed and the merchants are in a fighting attitude.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The regular meeting of the Board oi Supervisors, beginning on Monday next, will be one involving considerable thought, brainwork and action on the part of that honorable body. That legislative monstrosity, the County Government Bill comes into play. They will have to set the figures of taxation on the present assessment roll, and provide for the payment of current salaries and general expenses in cash. The conundrum arises: How is the old indebtedness to be paid off without an entire refunding of the present indebtedness?

NOT much is passing over the wires just now in regard to the telegraphers' strike. The fact is the news in regard to this formidable labor struggle is being deliberately suppressed by the news collecting agencies, which are the creatures of the Western Union Telegraph Company. The Brotherhood is not only standing firm everywhere, but is daily gaining strength. Meanwhile the business of the Western Union has fallen off so that the receipts have not half paid expenses. The telegraphic commercial business is utterly demoralized, and we are thoroughly glad of it, so far as that company is concerned.

THE age of chivalry is not past. When editors all over the country are fighting real duels and sham dueis, and standing up and facing the music of each other's six-shooters in real, downright, dead earnest shooting scrapes, the man who says that the quarrels of editors are all bosh, and that after their papers are out they go around the corner and take a drink, is a liar and a double dyed villain and bought with British gold.

THE year of disaster scores the frightful calamity at Ischia amongst its most awful fatalities. It is denied that an earthquake caused the slaughter, which is attributed to a subsidence of the land, as if the foundations of the island had lost their footing on the bottom of the sea, and had spread, causing the supermarine portion to gape open and crumble. The loss of life counts now over four thousand.

AT San Francisco, during the past few weeks, there has been a vast amount of tonnage in port. 30,000 tons of grain are now loading. There are 90,609 tons disengaged. This is due to an immense wheat crop of the coast for export this year, which, it estimated, will exceed that of 1880, which amounted to 1,500,000 tons for export, and was the largest and heaviest. On Monday morning the unprecedented rate of £2 7s. 6d. was accepted to Liverpool.

GOVERNOR MURRAY of Utah hits the bull's eye of the Morman target when he suggests the abolition of the plan of governing Utah by an elective Legislature and the substitution of a Legislative Council, to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. There is nothing in the Constitution that prohibits this form of government for a Territory.

THE following is well said by the San Francisco Stock Report:

"Some of our rich mining men ought to come forward and enable the Mining Bureau to make a creditable display of its collection of minerals. If the mining men do not take any active interest in an exhibition of mining products they can hardly expect the general public to do so."

A RIDICULOUS story was put afloat by some smarty that General Crook, instead of capturing the Chiricahuas, was captured by them, and there are many journals which repeat it with a professed belief of its truth. So often has this been done that the Interior Department feels annoyed at the fabrication, and has authorized its flat contradiction.

RAILROADING in Illinois, where cyclones abound, is diversified by the occasional blowing of a train from the track. In the latest reported accident of this nature thirty-four persons were more or less injured. The originality developed in the Great West extends even to its railway disasters.

THE largest steamship in the world will hereafter be used as a collier, carrying Scotch coal from the Forth to the Thames. The Great Eastern can carry 20,000 tons of coal on each voyage, and in this humble sphere it is hoped that the owners may at length receive dividends.

GENERAL WEAVER, the Greenbacker, wanted to take part in the joint discussion between the Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor of Iowa, but it has been decided that his candidacy is not of enough importance to warrant the intrusion.

THE Italian Government has adopted a very cold-blooded way of disposing of the victims of the Ischia earthquake. Instead of putting a large force of men on the work of rescuing people buried in the ruins it allowed many of these wretched creatures to perish miserably of exhaustion and exposure, when a trifling expenditure of energy and money would have saved their lives. And now when the bodies of the dead have begun to infect the air, the scientific device is adopted of pouring liquid lime over the ruins, thus eating up the dead and turning the ruined cities into vast charnel-houses. This will be a cheerful site on which to rebuild the pleasure gardens and gambling places of the Roman Summer resort.

THE schedule of pricee for tourists to the Yellowstone National Park has been printed. It shows that the men who secured the lease of the place are determined to make money while they enjoy the monopoly of taking in the stranger. The rates for room and board at the hotel are $5 a day; saddle-horses per day, $3 50; guides, $4 a day; hire of a tent per day $6. These prices, it will be seen, are a trifle in excess of Yosemite in its palmiest days. It may be that the heavy cost of transportation makes them nothing more than fair; still, one is inclined to doubt the expediency of charging so much for saddle-horses in a country where mustangs are so cheap.

THE number of victims of the earthquake at Ischia now reaches 4,000. The scenes of death and suffering surpass in harror those of any previous disaster on the island and the insufficient means of rescuing injured survivors added largely to the death list. These repeated calamities seem to have no effect on the inhabitants of the lovely volcanic island. They rebuild the watering places after each earthquake and go on with their business as though no disaster hung over their heads.

NOTWITHSTANDING the disapproval of the Pope, Cardinal Simeoni and the "Castle Bishops," the Irish Nationalists have swelled the Parnell testimonial fund to near or over $100,000. The indications now are, however, that he will have to devote a portion of this windfall to paying the board and other bills of the poorer Irish members of the House of Commons. Some of them are reported so hard-up as to be threatening to resign their seats unless something is done for them.

AN order has been issued by the Federal Government for an inspection, by our Consuls, of all vessels leaving foreign ports for this country, to find out that there is no cholera on board. There has been no confirmation of the report that this disease has made its appearance in England, but there is no telling when it may be brought there, and the instructions to the Consuls are that special attention shall be given to vessels sailing from Liverpool and London.

THE Treasury Department has received a remonstrance from the British authorities against the alleged pauper emigrants who were going to friends in this country who had promised to take care of them, which emigrants had shown letters to that effect on their arrival in the United States. The important international question now arises: Can John Bull bull-dose Uncle Sam?

AS THE blasters on the lower section of the Great Sierra wagon road are now directly on the trail to Yosemite, and are setting off from 350 to 400 blasts per day, their operations make it exceedingly lively for people passing that way on horseback.

THE Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle says that in that State Mr. Tilden's prospects for the Demoaratic nomination for the Presidency are becoming a topic of discussion, the rural press especially advocating his availability.

A NEW ORLEANS physician assures the citizens who are dreading the approach of the cholera that the safest place in the world against the disease is the piney woods.

THE number of persons who have received one or more votes for United States Senator in New Hampshire in joint convention of the Legislature, is forty-six thus far.

THE Free Press says that hereafter Senator Pat Reddy will spend most of his time between Bridgeport, Bodie and Hawthorne.

THE trade dollar is in disgrace, refused by all business men, but its motto still remains: "In God we trust."

THERE were 665 deaths from cholera in Egypt on Tuesday last.

THE CARSON & COLORADO POSTAL CAR.—Hon. H. J. McKusick, United States Postal Railway Superintendent, has completed arrangements with Superintendent Yerington for a postal car on the Carson and Colorado Railroad. It will be fitted up at the Carson shops, —Virginia Enterprise.

Formative Causes.

When the human mind begins to comprehend the infinite that lies hidden in each fragment of creation and that every atom of the universe is an expression of some undiscovered force reaching back to some hidden and unknown cause, it staggers under the thought that attempts to grasp the wonderful mystery that is presented. The constant and never ceasing change, that is written in the existence of all things, the never ending motion, visible and invisible, which drives forward on its endless march every particle of created matter from the mighty ocean tides that sweep the continents, to the massive mountains that slowly, under the marching tread of centuries, yield their tribute to the abrading energies that are ever at work, comes from no self-inherent principle, but are the results of some cause reaching back beyond the grandest stretch of human comprehension.

We behold the endless march of waves that beat and break upon the shores, bearing grains of sand, which, perhaps sometime in the history of the ages, may have been mountains that have been ground by the ponderous forces of centuries never ceasing from their mighty task. We watch the currents of mighty rivers hurrying with irresistable impulse to the far off sea; the clouds in heaven's blue sky sailing like phantom ships to unknown shores; and everywhere and in everything find unmistakable tokens of a power, vast, omnipresent, invisible, imparting motion, activity and the semblance of life to every particle of the universe. As wonderful as are the visible phenomena of nature, the hidden and invisible is no less marvellous and interesting, The crash and fury of a storm on sea or land may be astounding and appalling, but it is no more grand and wonderful than the silent formation of the limestone strata hundreds of feet thick, from the shells of almost imperceptible infurosia in the awful solitudes of the ocean's unstirred depths. The crash of the avalanche or the thunder of Niagara's terrific spectacle is not more sublime than the affinitive forces that fashion the rocks or fill their crevices with the crystaline forms of various minerals, or are silently building continents under the waters of the ocean, sometime to be peopled by coming generations of men.

It is evident that everything within the limit of human comprehension from the breath of a flower to the sublime march of the planets in their orbits, that every step from microscopic germ to systems of worlds, shows the presence and existence of a cause or a succession of causes reaching backward and pointing to a primal center.

The laws that have governed the formation of many mineral products that have already been discovered are not well understood and have not been thoroughly investigated, so that before the geologist and mineralogist a wide and interesting field of study is open. Many theories have been advanced, but no substantial basis of science has yet been satisfactorily demonstrated. The highest success and most profitable development of the productive industry of mining depends upon the solution of the problem of mineral formation, and a better understanding of the conditions that determine the character and formation of the different minerals.

Scientifically considered, mining for the purpose of utilizing the varied abundant mineral resources of this country can at the present time be classed only as a grand experiment in which the results have been singularly successful. This great industry, possessing such wonderful possibilities, must continue to occupy this position until the patient fingers of science have carefully unraveled the network of causes that determines the formation and deposition of mineral bodies.

The fact that there is abundant proof to show that all of the formative forces of nature are in constant and active operation to preserve an equilibrium, and there must be endless rebuilding to meet the constant abrasive and consumptive demands, with the instances shown where mineral deposition and vein formation has recently been manifested and is still in operation, tends to prove that at least a large proportion, if not all minerals with which we are at present acquainted, were gathered together by an affinitive attraction, which, according to its laws, selects from suitably fitted elements the material to form, under the different symbols of crystaline harmony, the perfect manifestation of its presence and power. The apparent disordered conglomeration of the different varieties of dissimilar rock and minerals, seeming almost inseperable, prove upon examination a most orderly arrangement of each variety gathered together under its own peculiar form of manifestation in a most orderly symmetry and harmony, each true to its type and order of expression. Nature is sublime in her patience and persistence, and time is not an element to be economized in her great creative efforts. A million years to fashion and form the foundation of a continent from the washing shells of minute creatures is a miracle sublime in its stupendu ous grandeur.

From the extent and solidity of the work, as so far manifested, it is probable that the formative history of minerals was long continued and the work was done in one of those restful, readjusting periods when the disseminated, disintegrated atoms of grand upheavals, released from the furious tumult of conflicting forces, were allowed to yield to the more harmonious constructive influence, which in the grand silences of Nature's calmer attitudes, fashion most wonderful and beautiful creations and mould them in permanent and attractive forms. The symbols of frost tracery in the hush of Winter's night, the polished cube of galena, the sheet of copper, the glistening stalactite, the quartz crystal and forms of other minerals are all tokens of the same fashioning forces and are children of the same shy and quiet mother, working in the calm and peace after the battle and tumult of the day, with means and materials that may be measured and understood.—Chicago Mining Review.

THE German Universities have at last determined to suppress dueling among the students.

ANIMAL TRAP.—The following was obtained through the Mining and Scientific Press patent agency of S. F.:

James H. Cook, Lone Pine, Inyo County, Cal. No. 281,461. Dated July 17, 1883. This is a new animal trap of that class known as the gravitating platform, in which the weight of the animal causes the foundation to give way and precipitate him into a receptacle. In this there is combined with the receptacle a cover, or lid, formed with a number of independent, hinged spring flaps, or sections, operating entirely below the level of the top of the trap, and hinged at the extreme outer edges. There are springs for resetting each section, and a bait arm for suspending the bait over the center of the trap.

BORN.

At Lone Pine, Inyo Co., Cal., July 31, 1883, to the wife of Fred Burkhardt, a son.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 4.....1883

ASCENT OF MT. WHITNEY.—On Saturday last W. L. Bliss, son of D. L. Bliss, George D. Oliver and Thomas Davidson, of the Carson & Colorado R. R., left Lone Pine with a pack-train for the summit of Mt. Whitney. The party occupied about a week's time on the trip, and report that the view from the highest mountain in the Union as being indescribably grand—there being no wind, no clouds or fogs. Their report of their visit to society circles will induce many tourists to make the same trip. The one material and important thing remains to be accomplished, in the interest of science and civilization —i. e., the establishment of an astronomical observatory and signal service station on the summit, as proposed by Prof. Langley.

A COUNTY BOARDER.—In Justice Thos. Parker's Court, on Thursday last one Jesus Nevarro, a Mexican, was sentenced to pay a fine of $80 or suffer a penalty of eighty days' imprisonment in the county sweat-box. His offense against the laws and the welfare and dignity of the good people of the State of California consisted in having stolen a saddle from Ira Brown, of Haiwai Meadows, under peculiar circumstances. The prisoner is hardly recognized by the Mexican population, it being said that he habitates among the Indians on George's Creek. He will be made somewhat useful around the Courthouse and grounds, cutting wood, etc.

THE TIME CARD.—We give elsewhere this week the new time table of the Carson and Colorado, which will doubtless work regularly when the machine work gets fairly into play. The trouble for the past two days, in the arrival of train and mail matters, was caused by the burning of a bridge over the Truckee river near Verdi, on the Central Pacific. As soon as this can be fixed up again, all difficulties, we think, will be remedied. The regular postal cars for the for the C. & C. are now about completed.

INSTALLATION.—The following officers of Inyo Lodge, No. 546, I. O. G. T., were installed last Wednesday evening by G. H. Hardy, L. D. G. W. C. T.: W. C. T., J. W. P. Laird; W. V. T., Mrs. S. D. Thurston; W. S., Willie A. Chalfant; W. F. S., Mrs. H. G. Kernodle; W. T., Mrs. H. A. Stubblefield; W. M., Fred. W. George; W. D. G., Chas. E. Thurston; W. C. G., Thos. Parker; W. C., A. Clark; W. A. S., Mrs. P. A. Chalfant; W. D. M., Minnie Thomson; W. R. H. S., Mrs. E. Johnson; W. L. H. S., Julia Cook.

AN INDIAN KILLED.—The first—and let us hope the last—accident occurred on the Railroad at the Independence Station on Wednesday last. It proved fatal, and the unfortunate was an Indian known as "Fish Springs Jack," who, it is said, was trying to become familiar with the fly mode of getting on and off a train. He fell beneath the wheels and his legs were crushed from his body. Other Indians were given charge of his remains, which they brought across the valley and buried somewhere south of town.

BULLION.—During the past week the output of gold bullion from Beveridge District, according to the statement of the agents of Wells, Fargo & Co. at this place, amounts to 100 ounces each from the Lasky and McEvoy mills. Both were running on ore from the Keynot, and the result figures up $2,800 in gold. The clean-up at Lasky's mill was from one week's work, and at McEvoy's from six day's crushing.

MINING MEN.—During the last week D. L. Bliss, F. R. Bliss, and Charles Forman, accompanied by S. D. Woods, made an extended examination of the mines and mining property in and about Darwin and in the neighborhood of Section 21, above Bishop Creek station. The examination was made in the interest of capitalists who desire to invest in this county, if properties can be found warranting the same.

COURT.—In the Superior Court, next Monday, will be commenced the trial of Jones and Shick, charged with stealing Spencer's horses, unless a continuance is granted on account of absence of counsel for the defense. Forty trial jurors have been summoned to attend, besides quite a number of witnesses subpœned.

THE TELEGRAPH.—A special train came down on the railroad Thursday last, distributing on the way wire, brackets, insulators, etc., for the telegraph line. The foreman in charge of the work says that the line will be completed to the Independence depot in about two weeks.

THRESHING.—Hessian announces that he will be in the field with his thresher again this season. In accord with everything else, charges have been reduced, and as is well known, the machine will do good work. See advertisment.

HARVESTING.—So far as we can hear the yield of small grain will be fully up to the average this year. The harvesting and threshing season is at hand throughout the valley.

RUBBER BOOTS.—Attention is called to the advertisement this week of the Goodyear Rubber Co., regarding their "Crack Proof" rubber boots; they are the best quality made.

MCEVOY'S MILL.—A complete new pulley for the cam shaft of the gold mill at Freeborn Coñon has arrived and is awaiting transportation to Beveridge per pack train.

SUPERVISORS.—The Board of Supervisors will begin a regular session on Monday next.

"ANOTHER VICTIM."—Such for many times has been the caption of regular items during this season of the year—referring, of course, to the deadly perils of the Panamint and Death Valley deserts. On Sunday last a man arrived at Lookout, himself in a condition of almost utter exhaustion, reported the finding of a dead man about one mile east of Modock. The unfortunate had evidently died from the effects of the heat; no canteen was found with him, and nothing whereby his identity could be established. He had trudged across the valley with his roll of about forty pounds of blankets. Frank Fitzgerald and Patrick Dowd went out and gave the unknown remains a respectful burial.

ASSORTMENT OF ORES. — Unless miners and shippers of ore are careful to assort their ores down to metal they are destined to be disappointed in their returns. Rock alone does not pay to ship and reduce, and every pound of such material only adds to the cost and lowers the yield per ton. Too much care cannot be given to this matter. Every piece of rock which is doubtful should be rejected—not necessarily lost, but sorted out as second class and saved until it can be carefully sampled and assayed. When local works get fairly into operation the different grades of ores can be handled for what they are worth.

PERSONAL.— During the week THE INDEPENDENT office received, among others, calls from L. A. Hall, General Route Agent of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express; C. J. Burns, a Tuolumne boy and representative of Albert Man & Co. of San Franbisco; H. H. Welch, C. E., whilom of Panamint, and S. D. Woods, Esq.—the two latter having come over from the train to-day. M. A. Wheeler, on return from a brief business trip to the Bay, called in last Thursday.

THE MONTEZUMA.—Operations of the Owens River Mining and Smelting Co., at Elna, are being carried forward with vigor. Great progress will be made during the coming week, and it is confidently expected that the furnace will be in readiness to begin operations in about thirty days. Mr. Farrar, who has been appointed resident Superintendent of the works, paid Independence a flying visit this morning.

SWANSEA.—Most of the necessrry material for the new furnace at Swansea has been received, and doubtless the works will be crowded right along to completion. The valuable slag-pile of the old works will be utilized, and an entire new life infused into the surrounding mines.

SCHOOL.—The Camp Independence (Milton District) school will begin a regular term on Monday next, with Co. Superintendent Groves in charge as teacher. The entire building and furniture has been overhauled and repaired, and the bell sounded again as of old.

FOR DEEP SPRING.—P. A. Chalfant, and Wm. (Billy) Hedge, start today for Deep Spring Valley, the former to see what may be seeable, the latter because it is to be—as it has been—his home—"till further notice."

THE Hawthorne Bulletin man is making fair progress in the lying business. Following is one of many samples:

"Charley Kimball has among his pets a garter snake which has been taught to write several words on a bed of sand which has been leveled and smoothed for the purpose. The intelligent reptile first makes a line across the sand from right to left, and then begins crawling out the words which are to be written. It never gets under the guide line, and when it comes to the space between words it lies on the line, and punctuates when necessary by making small dots in the proper places with its head. It is particularly fond of ice, and will write vigorously when a small piece is held out to it as an inducement."

THE following programme was strictly carried out at Louisville, Ky., August 1 in opening the Southern Exposition: The President and his escort were received at the Exposition building at 12 o'clock, by the President and Directors of the Exposition Company. The address of welcome was delivered by the Mayor of Louisville. The President was presented to the audience by the Governor of Kentucky and made a brief speech in response and at the conclusion set all the machinery in motion by a silken cord, which opened the throttle-valve of the engine. The night attractions were of an unusual character. The vast building with its annexes and the park was illuminated by a thousand electric lights, making a brilliant spectacle. The musical features of the day attracted crowds from all the surrounding country. The Seventh Regiment Band, a grand organ built for this occasion in Boston and a chorus of 500 voices, finely drilled together, furnished music of the highest character.

RUMOR has it that a prominent young business man of Lynx Creek, tiring of taking life single handed, will at no distant day consolidate his fortunes with those of a charming belle of that section. The event will be celebrated with great eclat, as it will be the first ceremony of the kind performed in the booming camp of Howell.—Prescott Miner, July 24th.

The "prominent young business man" in this instance is our Jerome B. Hoover, and the "charming belle" is a bright "school-marm" of that section.

IT is rather unfortunate, just as our Government is going to take England to task for legislation hostile to American cattle, that a new and frightful disease should break out in Iowa, carrying off cattle and horses in numbers and in a horrible manner.

Legitimate Mining.

A late issue of the New York Mining Record, with consummate sarcasm and force, says:

We have been rather amused at the zeal with which "the legitimacy of mining" has been recently defended in certain quarters, as also at the avidity with which these defenses have been published by our exchanges in the mining districts; amused, very much as we should be to read a labored defense of the legitimacy in a social point of view, of marriage, or of purity in women, or bravery in men; as much amused as we should be with an elaborate effort to prove the legitimacy of farming, or of honesty in all business occupations.

Of course, the mining whose business legitimacy is thus vouched for is that of precious metals. Surely, the legitimacy of a business which supplies the measure of value of the products of all human industries, whether with hands or head, needs defense or demonstration about as little as pure gold needs refining, as little as the lily needs painting, as little as the violet needs additional fragrance.

An industry which in a single quarter of a century from a comparatively small part of the surface of the earth hitherto unproductive, turned out as much as $3,161,000,000 in gold, not to speak of $1,705,000,000 in silver, or an aggregate of $4,866,000,000 of the money metals, can hardly need the evanescent certification of newspapers as to its legitimacy from a business point of sight. This product has been the base upon which all the industrial and commercial transactions of mankind of the epoch have rested, the central pivot around which all other industries have turned. It has been to every other industry what oxygen is to animal and vegetable life on earth. It has exercised an influence upon the age and the economic and other relations of nations, beyond that of any force. And it has been of far greater necessity than any other mundane thing. Wheat and Indian corn even are not so essential; for innumerable populations live without them—resorting either to rice, potatoes, or some other satisfactory substitute. Wool is widely replaced by many millions of men either with silk, cotton, flax or fur. The money metals have no sufficing substitute, not even the clearing house appliance, which some oversanguine mono-metalists, we see, are somewhat confident in the end may be so developed as to render gold altogether unnecessary as a money agent.

THE Mexican Government has announced its intention of centralizing the jurisprudence regarding all mineral or mining property in the Republic, having in view the fact that it will give greater security to parties purchasing and developing mining property in this country. At present all the rights of mineral jurisdiction are vested in the States, and they legislate each separately and individually, according to what they consider their best interests, some of them levying a tax of as much as two per cent. on the produce of mining properties. Their idea is to form a general code on the basis of the present one, and have an agent in each State authorized to administer its laws. As far as can be gathered from incidental conversations, it appears that the mineral States, which are decidedly in the majority are decidedly opposed to it and look on it as a high-handed act of the Government, infringing materially on the States rights. Very few States of the Union are non-producing of the precious metals, so that no doubt the popular voice is against the measure, as it will have the effect of turning a considerable amount into the Treasury instead of the State fund.—El Paso Times,

THE Superintendent of the ostrich farm at Anaheim, Cal., has been so annoyed by vicious and boorish visitors that he has found it necessary to close the gates to all except such as are provided with tickets, which are available on two days in each week. There are now over sixty eggs in the incubators, and, although conspicuous signs request visitors not to go near the house in which the incubators are, they persist in attempting to enter, even going so far as to attempt to break the lock which barred their way. Damage to the extent of thousands of dollars could be done in a very few minutes were the incubators to be meddled with.

IF Carey, the informer, really was killed, as the telegraph reports, by O'Donnell, the invincible, the world will breathe a sigh of relief upon proof of the fact. It will then only remain to hang O'Donnel in due form and the Phœnix Park episode in Irish history will be at an end. The murderers of Burke and Cavendish were rightly executed, Carey deserved his fate; and, as a murderer, O'Donnell will deserve his.

THE Tahoe stages are crowded daily, and the lake is enjoying a season of prosperity unparalleled in its history as a summer resort.

THE Napa Register says that John Wolfskill, near Winters, gathered and sold $4,890 worth of apricots off 250 trees, standing on less than three acres of land.

DURING the last year the Napa Consolidated Quicksilver Company has paid nine dividends of $10,000 each, while the Great Western has paid only one of $12,000.

VIPERS have become such a pest in France that the Minister of the Interior has deemed it necessary to offer a reward for their destruction.

IT is said that Carey and Farrell, the informers in the Phœnix Park trials, are now being detained in Newgate for shipment to a British colony.

A CLAIM comes from France to two hundred thousand acres of rich coal and iron lands in West Virginia.

ENGLAND has better crop prospects, it is said, than she has had in any Summer for many years.

Household Items Well Worth Remembering.

Never put pickles in a jar that has had lard in it.

Beeswax and salt will make rusty flat irons as smooth as glass.

Fish may be scaled much more easily if dipped for a moment in boiling water.

Shellac is the best cement for jet articles. Smoking the joint renders it black to match.

It will rest you wonderfully to change your seat in the room occasionally if you have a long day's sewing to do.

Tough meat may be rendered as tender as any by the addition of a little vinegar to the water when it is put on to boil.

It soothes and cools a feverish patient to bathe him with warm water in which a little saleratus has been dissolved.

Roasted coffee is one of the most powerful disenfectants, not only rendering animal and vegetable effluvia harmless, but really destroying them.

If the brass of a kerosene lamp has come off, it may be repaired with plaster of Paris wet with a little water, and will be as strong as ever.

To beat the whites of eggs quickly, put in a pinch of salt. The cooler the eggs the quicker they will froth. Salt cools and freshens them.

In caring for furniture remember to keep water away from everything soluble therein, oil from everything porous, alcohol from varnish, and all acids from marble.

To take tar and shoemaker's wax out of clothing, break an egg and take the yolk alone and rub the soiled parts with it till the tar softens and comes out, then wash with water.

THE Chinese laundries, in San Francisco, have recently tncreased their rates from fifty to seventy-five per cent, the assigned reason being scarcity of washermen and higher wages. The washers and ironers that formerly were paid $1 and $1 50 a day, now receive $2, and as the supply is not equal to the demand, the employés of the laundries are becoming very independent.

THE machinery for an oleomargarine factory was recently sent to a little place above Vancouver, W. T., where it was intended to establish a factory. The residents, however, objected, and one night recently took the machinery and dumped it into the Columbia river.

IT is currently reported that Hon. John Boggs has offered the Glenn heirs $1,250,000 for the estate of the deceased farmer king. That is a big sum of money, but the ranch is of equal proportions, and it is not likely the offer will be accepted.

THE annual revenue of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, is now $125,000. Of this sum $10,000 is paid the dean and $5,000 each to the three canons in residences. The maintenance of worship in the Cathedral, independent of the stipends to the clergy, costs $11,000 a year.

Fortunes n Fees.

It is said that Judah Benjamin, who has just retired from the English bar, probably received as large an income from his profession as any lawyer in Great Britain or in the United States. His fees for several years must have reached about $100,000 annually. There is probably no lawyer in the United States whose income from his profession averages more than half this sum, but we need look no farther than Nevada to find many whose fees in single cases have far exceeded $100,000. Ex-Senator Stewart could throw some interesting light on this subject. In the case of the Chollar vs. the Potosi, tried in 1864 or thereabout, the late Charles H. Bryan was called in as assistant to Stewart, Baldwin & Hillyer, and for making a speech to the jury of two or three hours in length he received a fee (in stock) which is said to have netted him over $100,000. It did not do the poor fellow much good, however. He went East, bought the race-horse Lodi and brought him out here to beat Winter's Norfolk—which he failed to do, and Bryan's $100,000 soon melted away. Talking of big fees and the Chollar-Potosi case, by the way, reminds us that one of our Territorial Supreme Court Justices charged the Chollar Company $60,000 for refusing to grant the Potosi Company a new trial. That was all right; the Chollar Company didn't "squeal" about his Honor's fee, but when his brother-in-law (through whom the transaction had been carried out) came in with a demand for $25,000 to keep his mouth shut, they declared it was very unprofessional. That Judge has left the State, and is not likely to be a re-Turner. A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun cites the following cases: "The first great fee ever known in this country was received by Clarkson N. Potter, in the foreclosure of the Canandaigua Railroad not many years ago. It is said that he received $100,000 in that case. It is reported that that Charles O'Conner received $100,000 in the Jumel will case and $100,000 in the Parish will case. In the latter case Judge John K. Potter and Daniel Lord received large fees. It is stated that Harry L. Clinton charged $250,000 in the Vanderbilt will case. Judge Geo. M. Comstock of Syracuse charged and received $50,000. Mr. Scott Lord, counsel for the contestants of the Vanderbilt will, received $100,000." There have been contingent fees paid in California, according to the Bulletin, which reached as high as $250,000. A fee as high as $100,000 was paid in the New Almaden case. A number of contingent fees in early times in that State were as large as $50,000. That journal says: "In one case within our recollection a lawyer received $40,000 for about two hours' work. His fee was contingent upon success. He settled by compromise to the satisfaction of all parties. Some large fees were paid in the early history of the Comstock lode. But those days are over. A few lawyers in New York earn as much as $25,000 a year. But if all receipts of members of the Bar were divided by the number of lawyers in practice it would be found that such an average would furnish only a very moderate income.— Virginia Chronicle.

A WRITER in the Century says that "seasickness is the result of reflex irritation arising from little surprises to the muscles, and shocks to the nerves engaged in performing certain important functions—notably of locomotion, respiration and vision—and when the groups of muscles thus engaged are once educated to the surrounding circumstances, the nervous revulsions are not experienced." By the time one has digested the foregoing he is ready to do anything but he will usually hurry to the taffrail and gaze off into the wide, wide to-come.

BOSTON has 304 electric lights, which cost sixty-five cents apiece each night, and they displace a thousand gas lights, which cost less than six cents each. That is, while each electric lamp costs as much as ten gas lamps, it takes the place of only three.

Gambling at a Discount.

Gambling is evidently loosing ground. Whether the continued loss of margins is beginning to weary the adventurous spirits who have been in the habit of putting them up and to discourage them from pursuing any further a constantly loosing game, or whether the leaden dullness of the markets is the cause, it is certain that the brokers are sitting in idleness and looking in vain for lambs to shear. The consequence is that the price of seats in the Stock Exchange has dropped down lower and lower until a sale has been made for $23,000. As this includes a life insurance of $10,000, it will be readily seen that the privilege of licensed gambling is not now considered worth a very heavy amount.

A year ago a seat in the Exchange fetched $36,000. The quotation has fallen gradually but steadily. The last sale previous to that now reported was made at $27,000. Now the price declines $4,000. The next drop is looked for anxiously by the brokers, and there is some fear that there may be a stampede to get out of the Board while a respectable value still attaches to the seats.

Is this decline an indication that people have left off going down town to Wall street to be fleeced by "blind pools" and the raids of big operators? Can those who have the gambling spirit upon them have made the discovery that the board of green cloth is less perilous than the stock board, and the racing card a safer study than the stock list? If so, what will be the broker's loss may be other peoples gain. At all events, there are many people who believe that as the Exchange seats go down the standard of public morality will go up, and who would not object to see the stock board drop out of existence altogether, although it has given us a jovial set of yachtsmen, athletes, polotists and swells generally as any city can boast of or any community covet.—N. Y. World.

Silver.

It is probable that the ocean contains a little of everything soluble in water, and it is curious to find from the experiments of foreign chemists that sea water contains an appreciable quantity of silver in solution. Malaguti, Durocher, and Sarzbund have ascertained that a small quantity of silver occurs in sea salt. Sea water itself contains about 1 millegramme in 100 litres. Various sea weeds, the fucus serratus and fucus ceramoides, contain at least 100-1000th. It is also present in chemical products for the preparation of which common salt is used; as for instance in carbonate of soda and hydrochloric acid. Silver is likewise found in the ashes of land plants, and the insoluble portion contains more silver than the soluble portion. The ash of ox-blood, rock salt, and most probably coal also, contains minute traces of this precious metal.

THE WASHINGTON MONUMENT. — The action of the monument is watched most carefully, and its every movement registered. Two plummets are suspended in its inside, one from a height of 260 feet, and the other from a height of 150 feet. The movement of these are compared many times a day. The movement of one should be about one and a half times that of the other, if there were no irregular internal movement of the part of the structure. But the register shows that the movement is irregular both in direction and in size. Sometimes the plummets move in opposite directions, and sometimes in the same. Sometimes the top moves a little, but its whole sway since the foundation was strengthened has been only one-quarter of an inch. All of these movements are very slight, and some of them can only be detected with a microscope. The longer plummet line is incased in a wooden box, to prevent the atmosphere having any effect upon it, and once the finding that the spiders had drawn the line out of the perpendicular, a careful investigation is made daily to see that the lines are not influenced by outside causes. Once, when great consternation was caused by the irregularity of the line, it was found that an owl was perched upon the top of the line. It was caught, killed, stuffed and given to Mrs. Hayes, and is now probably on exhibition at Fremont. Col. Casey says the monument will be finished by the Fourth of July next. It will probably have an elevator in the interior, and on its top will be one of the finest views in the world. America will never be ashamed of the Washington monument, and it will go down to posterity as one of the greatest doings of the past. Up to 1856 it had cost $300,000, and since then the appropriations have amounted to $800,000, so that altogether it will, when completed, have cost $1,100,000.

THE Indianapolis Wooden Dish Co. has just perfected a new machine for making wooden dishes. This machine takes the veneer from the veneer mill, cuts out the blank, shapes and scores it, folds it up, and takes the wire from the spools forming the staple, drives the staple at each end of the dish, drives and clinches it, and throws the dishes off from the machine complete at the rate of sixty per minute. The works have a capacity for turning out 200,000 wooden dishes per day.

FAR from being exaggerated it now turns out that the reports of the awful calamity in the Island of Ischia have been put too low. It is now estimated that 4,000 persons perished in the mysterious subsidence of the ground. What with cholera, yellow fever, earthquakes, wars, divorces to the right of us, divorces to the left of us, it begins to look as though the first sounds of Gabriel's trump would soon be heard.

Feeding Salt to Pigs.

I have seen salt fed to pigs for fifty years, and in the last twenty years have fed many heavy hogs, ranging from three hundred to six hundred pounds net. I feed them all liberally with salt; have never lost one, nor has one been sick an hour. These pigs have been fattened in a close pen, and their principal food was corn meal made into dough. This dough I have salted at least once a day. Sometimes my pigs would fail to clean out their trough; in that case I would put a handful of salt into my bucket, with some water, pour it into their trough, and they would lick it up with great relish. In addition to the salt, I feed coals from the stove. I make it a regular custom to feed coal, and it is astonishing what a quantity a pig will eat, and how healthy and robust it will make him. Let the pigs have plenty of salt and charcoal, and we shall hear less of the cholera.—Southern Farmer.

THE PROSPECTOR.—Speaking about the life of a prospector, the Salt Lake Tribune says: It requires men who do not wilt because they are broke; who can enjoy the sun, rain and rough fare, and wark 15 hours a day; who outwalk a horse without a dollar in their purses for 12 months every year. What a charm there is in this free life under the all-embracing kindly sky of the Rocky Mountains. No care of church, State or household. All the world ahead, no property or money to bother about, with everything to hope and little to lose. No spike-tailed coat to be crushed, white shirt to be "biled," fine boots to be shined or duties to society to be performed. No calling to assist the Great Ruler in regulating and running the universe. None or few of the petty things, in short, that fret the life away after once it has settled into its rut. The West is full of men who put in their young years in the happy-go-lucky style of the "prospector," and half their regret for the loss of their first youth comes from the fact that they must now be housed up, cabined, confined. Is the genas "prospector" to go out? We trust not yet.

COMPLICATED MACHINES.—A writer in an Eastern journal says: "The tendency to complicate machines and make them universal, or machines of many kinds, is fast becoming extinct. It has been usually found to be a much more costly way to produce work than with special machines made for one kind of work, or at least not many kinds of work, and then only when they were similar in their processes and manner of production and operation.

COUNTY GOVERNMENT.

The Board of Supervisors of Inyo County has been in session for the entire week, without transacting any business to speak of, and to-day came to the conclusion to adjourn for a week or two week's rest—until the 3d proximo. At 4 o'clock P. M. they adopted Ordinance No. 1, creating county funds, the first in order being the "Salary Fund," which the County Auditor estimates will require for the year $8,486 10. The ordinance referred to does not, of course, specify any particular per centage of tax proceeds to be devoted to the funds mentioned; but the Auditor's estimate of the sums which will be necessary for the year's current expenses amounts up as follows: To General Expense Fund, $7,520 00; Hospital Fnnd, $3,000 00; General Road Fund, $1,500 00; Inyo Bonds (Interest), $2,000 00; School Fund, $2,152 00; and Contingent Fund, $1,000 00, making a total of $25,658 00. This is making a fair average of the County's income for expense purposes. The only question is as to what will be done with the old debt, a difficulty to be solved by a a funding proposition, if the new County Government bill is held constitutional.

The Board annexed ordinance No. 2, fixing date of their meetings in February, May, August and September.

The official publication of the ordinance referred to will be given next week.

CHARLES COMSTOCK, aged ten years, of Colesville, Broome county, New York, died a few days ago. Some time before his death he told his parents he was waiting about something remarkable which would soon take place. No more attention was paid to the remark. after his death, and at the time appointed for his funeral, a paper was found on which were written these words: "Within twelve days after today, on Friday, at three minutes past 3 o'clock in the afternoon, something remarkable will happen." His own funeral took place on the very day and hour of which he wrote. If not a premonition, it was certainly a singular prediction, as the boy was in perfect health at the time of the writing.

THE Assessor of El Dorado County completed his roll, the Board of Supervisors allowed his bills, the Auditor refused to draw a warrant in accordance with the County Government Act. he Assessor went before Judge Williams, of the Superior Court, on mandamus. On hearing, it was decided that said Act, so far as it relates to the salary of the Assessor in that County is unconstitutional and void. The ground of the decision is, that the classification of Counties for salary purposes is not a compliance with the requirements of the Constitution. If further pursued as it most likely will be, and Judge Williams sustained, another County Government Act will prove of no force or virtue.

LAKE GEORGE has had five names. The Indians called it Andia-to-roc-te, or the place where the lake contracts, and Canideaioft, the tail of the lake, until 1646, when Father Joaques and Sieur Bourdon, Engineer-in-Chief of the Governor's Staff, arrived on its borders. It was on the eve of the festival of Corpus Christi, and they named it the lake of the Blessed Sacrament. General Johnson, in 1855, changed this to Lake George, in honor of George II. This it has borne every since, although Cooper introduced it to his readers in the "Last of the Mohicans" as Lake Horicon, the silvery waters.

THE New York Tribune tries to make the tariff the great issue of the day; but it is not very successful even in its own party. Here is what George William Curtis says in the last issue of Harper's Weekly.

"The message of the Republican President, the debate in Congress upon revision of the tariff and the platform declarations of both the parties during the summer show plainly that the tariff is not an issue upon which the parties divide, and that Democratic protectionists and Republican revenue reformers will each abide with their own party."

It is said that the palace car on which President Arthur left for the West was fitted up with a wine department, and that six cases of champagne, three cases of Rhine wine, four gallons of old Bourbon, three of old Cognac and five of Bordeaux wines were aboard. Arthur is a Grant-like Stalwart. But where are the memories of Mrs. Hays?

MISS MARY, the daughter of the late President Garfield, is now a charming girl of sixteen, and to her has fallen a greater share of physical beauty than to any other member of the family. She is pursuing her studies at a private school.

SPEAKING of the opening of the mineral exhibit at San Francisco, the "Mining and Scientific Press says: A creditable mineral display will be made at the State Mining Bureau this month. although the assistance it was hoped would be rendered was not by any means liberal. Only five Counties in the State contributed money, mineral and cases for the separate County displays. These were Mono, Inyo, San Bernardino and Tuolumne. From Inyo County, particularly, came a very creditable and extensive lot of minerals. This is due, no doubt, to the constant reminders THE INYO INDEPENDENT gave the peopje, and to the perseverence of Capt. J. M. Keeler, who greatly interested himself in the matter.

The facts are that beyond getting a beggarly pittance appropriated by the State for the Mining Bureau, Capt. Keeler did not do much to be proud of. After proposing in this paper to be one of ten citizens to pay for the necessary cases, the Captain headed the first subscription list with the munificent sum of $3. Hence all the subsequent trouble about getting sufficient money together to do anything at all. J. S. Gorman, Nathan Rhine, J. J. Gunn, S. D. Woods and many others are entitled to most of the credit. When he was fully advised of the matter, Supt. Yerington, of the Carson and Colorado Railroad promptly shipped the ore to Reno free, and upon telegraphic application to Supt. A. N. Towne of the Central Pacific for a like favor, he responded—"Your wishes shall be our pleasure." So it appears that there are other parties who are "greatly interested" in the matter. Mr. Woodhull, in active charge of the exhibit, writes that the specimens have been most advantagously displayed and that the formal opening will occur on the 15th instant.

THE remarkabe announcement is made that a lady in Philadelphia who was wholly unknown to the Pension Agen was identified by two professional thieves who were also unknown to the Pension Agent, and on the identification the lady succeeded in drawing nearly two thousand dollars of pension money. The remarkable part of the story is not that the money was stolen, but that the thieves were caught and that a large part of the stolen money was recovered. What the public wants to know is this: If the pension agencies are so loosely managed that a perfect stranger can walk away with $2,000, what percentage of the $80,000,000 annually paid out is fraudulently paid? The pensiou office needs looking into.

IN Bodie, on Tuesday last, Chester W. Mills, an old resident of that place and Aurora, committed suicide by blowing out his brains. The only light thrown upon the cause of the deed was that a few hours before killing himself Mills remarked to a friend that "his wife would not let him go to work." The Coroner's jury found that the deceased was named Chester W. Mills, was a native of Massachusetts, about the age of 52 years; that he came to his death on the 31st of July, 1883, by a gunshot wound, administered wilfully by his own hand. In 1867 the deceased was a resident of this county, and his first wife was the lady killed by the snow slide which destroyed the old town of Kearsarge.

IF the Mexican Government interposes no objections Gen. Crook cannot be too quick in getting across the border once more in pursuit of the remaining Apaches. While the stories which represent his late campaign as a failure instead of a success are unworthy of belief it is a fact that the fragment of the tribe south of the border have not come in as agreed, and that they have again commenced outrages on the Mexicans. Gen. Crook is probably as anxious to go after the hostiles as other people are to have him go. He has assumed the responsibility of subduing the Chiricahuas, and will naturally desirs to make a clean job of it.

ANOTHER old story is spoiled. It has been printed a thousand times that the revival hymn, "Hold the Fort," was founded upon an incident connected with the fight of Allatoona, in the Atlanta campaign—that Sherman signalled from Kenesaw Heights to Corse, "Hold the fort for I am coming," and that a piously-determined answer came. But no such message was sent or received. Sherman was on Kenesaw during the Allatoona fight, but was unable to get any answer to his signals for a long time. At last, by the aid of powerful field glasses, the signal officer saw the flag through the embrasures of the fort display letters which meant "Corse is here." After the fight Colonel Dayton, an aid-de-camp of Sherman's received the following characteristic, but impius, dispatch from General Corse: "I am short a cheek bone and an ear, but am able to whip all h—ll yet!" It is difficult to see how such a message could have been made the basis for a revival hymn, but by the aid of a little romance it was done.

CHARLES A. DANA of the New York Sun receives $20,000 per month. It seems scarcely credible that an editor can worry through on such a trifle, and yet Charley lives well and dresses quite respectably.

The Mineral Exposition.

The majority of the exhibits for the coming exhibition of the State Mining Bureau presumably have been received. Large boxes, small boxes and middling-sized boxes, the aggregate, with contents, weighing several tons, are piled up on the floors occupied by the Bureau on Sutter street. Professor Henry G. Hanks, the State Mineralogist, does not think there are enough of them and hopes for more.

"There will be a creditable exhibition, I think, which we need not be ashamed of," he said yesterday to a Chronicle reporter, "but I do not think that I dare to say more. We have been bitterly disappointed at a lack of cooperation; still there is room enough and time enough for receiving and arranging more specimens and I hope that the Chronicle will make this understood. We did what we could by personal solicitation and by sending out circulars. In San Francisco we raised only $310 by solicitation. The exhibition will be creditable, as I said, but it is a shame that this State, so magnificently rich in minerals, should not show to the thousands of visitors we shall have the best we can do. Yes, its a shame."

The arrangement of the mineral treasures of the Bureau has been remodeled within the past few days. The classification is now by counties, the counties being arranged alphabetically. This has disadvantages as well as merits. Five counties only will make what Professor Hanks calls "special exhibits." These are Inyo, Butte, Tuolumne, Mono and San Bernardino counties. The most extensive exhibit is forwarded by Inyo county. That county has sent S. D. Woodhull to assist in arranging its specimens.

"I am afraid," Professor Hanks added, "that people generally will think that Inyo and one or two other counties are the most of the State, not because they are necessarily the best, but their energy has resulted in making for them an exceptionally fine display."

THE ARRANGEMENTS.

The Bureau will relinquish use of one room on the lower of its two floors to an exhibition of machinery used in mining. Minerals will be shown illustrating not only the product of California and Nevada, but also of the Eastern States and of some foreign countries, notably Italy. The available space will be covered with tables, in addition to the old and several new show-cases. The westerly side of the main exhibition room will be devoted to California. Inyo County at present has the post of honor, its show-cases being at the south end, the first reached by the systematic spectator in his way through the Californian exhibition. Inyo County paid for two show-cases, which are already filled, and several more will be necessary to accomodate its display. The County specimens weighed a ton. The Central Pacific and the Carson and Colorado roads remitted all freight charges. According to Mr. Woodhull, this ton of material represents the practical working ores. San Bernardino County paid for two cases, and they will contain a fine exhibition of silver and copper ores, borax and marble. Butte County's paid-for two cases will exhibit the products of hydraulic mining at Cherokee. There are some diamonds. Interesting objects are the tusk of an elephant found 350 feet below the lava, showing that it was deposited before the lava flow; also wood found 200 feet below the lava in good preservation. Tuolumne County shows gold ores principally. Mono County makes a good exhibition. There are some County exhibits so limited that the joint specimens of three or four can be put in one case, and not a very large case is necessary. The present arrangement will be continued permanently, each County being by itself and extensions being made as necessary from time to time to admit of locating fresh specimens. Professor Hanks seems enraptured with the Inyo County collection and recurred to it frequently, styling it "magnificent," and expressed a belief that the people of the County would be repaid for their enterprise by the investment of thousands of capital in their section. One series of fourteen cases contains a general collection of mineral collection, arranged scientifically for study, gathered for educational purposes. It has no direct connection with the coming exhibition as tending to illustrate California's mineral wealth. Through the center of the hall have been placed large tables for the accomodation of large exhibits. Italy has a department of its own, including the minerals, marbles and fossils of the country. Four cases are occupied. The exhibition loaned by the President of Honduras, all antiquities, fills two cases.

Messrs. Radovich and J. Z. Davis of this city have each put in two cases. The former illustrates the products of his mines, and the latter shows beautiful foreign minerals selected for their beauty. They glisten very attractively. Back of Mr. Davis' exhibits are a lot of "curios," among them being the head of an alligator, the jaws of a man-eating shark, two alligator's eggs, and something not claimed to be mineral—an old rattle belonging over one hundred years ago to a London policeman. A corner contained a hornet's nest at least fifteen inches in diameter. Mr. Davis has given to the Bureau what is worth $2,000. Nevada has four cases, containing gold and silver, principally the latter, and also a considerable showing of borax. Arizona's two cases show principally silver, but some gold. Two cases are given up to general curiosities. One case is filled with Egyptian curiosities. California antiquities monopolize one case. The most valuable gold specimens are now in the Bureau safe. Professor Hanks does not dare to transfer them to the exhibition hall until he has the attendance of policemen, which he hopes for when the exhibition shall open, which will probably be next Monday or Tuesday. Most of the exhibits will belong to the State. The State expends nothing, the Bureau only between $300 and $400. "We could have expended thousands to advantage," Professor Hanks says. The Professor has been assisted at his work by Mr. Senderling, J. G. Davis and Mr. Woodhull and claims to have been compelled to make up by labor the lack of funds. —San Francisco Chronicle,

A WASHINGTON dispatch of the 7th says: "There is going to be a funny fight in army circles when Sheridan comes to Washington. It is said by a War Department man that Schofield, who is now at the head of the Department of the Pacific, and Pope, who is at the head of the Department of the Missouri under Sheridan, will both try to stay where they are. Neither of them want to remove to Chicago. Schofield is one of the biggest men, socially, on the Pacific Slope, and Pope is king bee in Kansas and Missouri. Neither could cut a very wide swath in Chicago for a very long time, and neither care to go there for that reason. Hancock is out of the fight, apparently, nobody showing a disposition to disturb him. Sheridan will not come here until the 1st of October, but the fight against the removal to Chicago will begin several weeks before that date. Entering upon another branch of the subject, the War Department man said that the carpet knights, who have been attached to Sherman, and who have been stationed here for several years, are greatly disturbed by reason of the impending change. Several of them have been in Washington for years, drawing a Colonel's pay when, in fact, they are Captains, and they dislike very much to go back to their regiments. They are social stars here, and as they draw $5,000 a year they do not contemplate with equanamity a reduction to $1,800 and banishment to the frontier. Sheridan will probably bring his staff from Chicago, and, although it is probable that several of Sherman's clerks will be taken care of, there are several who will have to resume their proper rank and place in the field.

MILLIONAIRES have hard times and manifold troubles. Jay Gould's big steam yacht can only make fourteen miles an hour, ships a great deal of water, and her ornamental woodwork is warped by the heat from the boilers. When Jay rode the brake into New York when he went there to seek his fortune with a patent mousetrap, he found no fault with the ornamentation of the woodwork of the car tracks.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11.....1883

STRIKE IN THE POTOSI TUNNEL.—During the past week a new body of ore was struck in the lateral drift running southward from the original Potosi Tunnel, Cerro Gordo, at a point 725 feet distant. The ore uncovered is a rich and beautiful chloride, similar in character to that which has always been yielded by the Ygnacio. The size of the body of ore is not yet determined, but it gives promise of being extensive, as it lies at a most suggestive and favorable point, being just under the "open cut" from which has been extracted during past years some $200,000. The strike is now at a point where all experts who have examined the mine have agreed there should exist a large body of ore. Without doubt the problem of the continuance of the Ygnacio mine is now solved in its favor.

A NOTABLE CAPTURE.—According to Pap Walker, of Olancha, a gentleman known as "Hank," foreman of one of Bixby's gang of sheep men, run across in the mountains the other day a big bear with her three cubs. He killed the mother and captured all three of the cubs, but fonnd them just one too many for him to handle. He has two of them now in captivity. They are lively pets of about a month old. W. T. Grant and Webb Walker immediately started out to get the cub which escaped, and when last heard from they were at the head of Yosemite Valley. Pap Walker says that he expects to get word from them somewhere in Alaska next season, still hunting for the bear. The captives are to be taken to Los Angeles.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—Mr. A. Smith, the well known photographer, arrived in town this week, bringing with him all the apparatus and appurtenances necessary to a well arranged gallery. He will remain in Independence about ten days and is prepared to turn out a class of work equal in all respects to the finest done anywhere on the coast. This is likely to be the last opportunity that the people in this end of the valley will have of getting their photographs taken, and so all who are desirous of "seeing themselves as others see them" should lose no time in calling at Mr. Smith's gallery.

GONE A-VISITING.—Jesus Navarre, the Mexican sent to the County sweatbox for eighty days for feloniously appropriating a saddle, concluded on Tuesday last to decline the further hospitalities of Inyo County and the Blaney House. Maybe he disliked the light work of tending to the Court House yard—wanted more exercise, perhaps; so he set out for his old haunts in the Indian rancherias. It may be considered ungentlemanly in him to leave so soon, but what else could be expected of a thief?

OFFICERS ELECT.—The following named oficers were installed by Oasis Lodge of I. O. G. T. at Bishop Creek on the 4th instant. J. E. Mills, P. W. C. T. & L. D.; Wm. Rowan, W. C. T.; Miss Nellie Hughes, W. V. T.; F. L. White, W. S.; Wm. Clark, W. T.; J. Rowan, W. F. S.; W. J. Dunn, W. M.; Joseph Shelley, W. I. G.; I. O. Clark, W. O. G.; Wm. Little, W. C.; Miss M. Clark, W. D. M.; Miss Fannie Yandell, W. R, H. S.; Miss Minnie Smith, W. L. H. S.

SUPERIOR COURT.—Monday last some forty drawn jurymen and several officers and witnesses put in an appearance before the Superior Court, it being supposed that the trial of Milt. Shick and Charley Jones was to take place. It appearing to the Court that they had no counsel, and there being no lawyer here except the District Attorney, the panel of jurymen was excused until September 3d. Jones was remanded to jail and Shick is at large under his $1,000 bond.

WATER.—At the railroad station at Lone Pine, the company's well, at a depth of some forty odd feet developed a depth of seven feet of water plenty good enough. The well-diggers are now at the Independence station. It is likely that a system of windmills, tanks and necessary appliances will be adopted along the line as fast as possible.

A CHANGE.—We hear that Supervisor Spencer, the heavy merchant of Bishop Creek, has leased the Gregg & McDonald store at Big Pine, and will put in a heavy stock of goods. "Pope" Adle, we hear, is to become the manager.

TO PHYSICIANS.—Doctors contemplating hunting a field of practice in this county will do well to read the card of Dr. S. A. Middleton, elsewhere this week. The Doctor intends a change of climate for his own failing health.

FROM IDAHO.—A lengthy and interesting communication from J. R. Ross, formerly of Bishop, has been received and will be given next week. He is at Challis, and speaks well of that whole country.

OFF FOR THE BAY.—Supt. Laws started out yesterday for a brief visit to his family at tide water. S. D. Woods, Esq., will also leave in a few days for the above destination, on important "biz."

AT VIRGINIA.—R. C. Julian, formerly of the Bishop Creek Times, and late of this paper is at Virginia City slinging type on the Enterprise. He is a first class printer, and has the best wishes of many friends in Inyo.

AT ELNA.—Operations at Elna are being carried forward as rapidly as possible. It will yet require thirty or forty days to get the furnace ready to fire up.

Brown Monster Ores.

INDEPENDENCE, Aug. 6th.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT:—Owing to the report circulated by certain parties that the owners of Melrose Reduction Works were not doing justice to the sellers of ore, I, in justice to the Melrose Company and for the information of prospectors, add hereto a statement received by me this day with check attached, and leave parties in interest to judge for themselves:

155 sacks of ore, weighing 16,653 lbs.
Assay—Gold 25 100 oz.
" Silver 67 65-100 oz.
" Lead 52½ per cent. @ $77.48— $654.14
Less R. R. freight— $136.31

Balance.....$508.83

A. W. EIBESHUTZ.

PROSPECTING.—One of the most encouraging outlooks Inyo has enjoyed for years is the fact that the hills are quite alive with prospectors hunting for "mineral." New miners' cabins are being rigged up, especially on the Western slope of the Inyos. More or less ores, of almost all grades and varieties, are being shipped over the C. & C. road every week. Thus the ball starts a'rolling.

THE RAILROAD.—The Carson and Colorado R. R. construction train has about concluded its work and during the coming week will be disengaged until time shall determine what further operations are necessary for the final success of the grand enterprise.

AT BISHOP CREEK.—From authentic report the principal business at Bishop Creek at present is croquet-playing.

THE United States topographical and geological party under J. C. Russell, which has been operating round about Mono Lake for several week past sounded the lake very thoroughly and ascertained its depth to average 130 feet. This is a much less depth than the lake was generally supposes to have. The deepest place found was in a crater or fissure about 20 feet wide and 100 feet long, near the minor island of black lava, the depth here being 160 feet. The Russell party will shortly proceed to the peak of Mount Dane (13,287 feet heigh), where they will spend some time in making observations.—Homer Index.

THE Commissioner of the General Land Office has given the following opinion: "If the millsite is timbered, there would seem to be no good reason why the claimant should not be permitted to cut and remove the timber thereon for the purpose of constructing a mill, reduction works, tramways or other necessaries required in the development of mining interests. In permitting the removal of the timber from such millsite or tract of non mineral land prior to the issuance of patent therefor, it is strictly forbidden to make such timber an article of sale for private gain or speculation."

PROF. SIR W. THOMSON, in his new treatise on natural philosophy, is led, by a consideration of the necessary order of cooling and consolidation of the earth, to infer that the interior of our world is not, as commonly supposed, all liquid, with a thin, solid crust of from 20 to 100 miles thick, but that it is, on the whole, more rigid than a continuous solid globe of glass of the same diameter, and probably more rigid than such a globe of steel.

THE reports from Washington Territory show that prompt measures are needed to check the smuggling of Chinese over the Northern border. The Restriction Act was obtained with so much difficulty that we cannot afford to have its good effects nullified for lack of a few custom officers on the Dominion border.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR should come to Bodie while he is in California. The Eastern man who would lave his feet in the placid waters of the Pacific without visiting Bodie would go to France and never think of visiting Paris.—Bodie Miner.

Atonement.

Oh! skies of Summer, fair and blue,
Mine eyes with tears are dim
As, lifting them, I ask of you,
Do you smile over him?
Oh! Summer breezes, breathing sweet
Of tangled meadow bloom,
Where hast thou sped thy wandering feet,
That turn not back to home?

The birds are wild with heartsome glee,
Their silv'ry songs I hear;
The brooks are speeding to the sea
With sounds of Summer cheer.
As beautiful as yon fair time,
Earth smiles to heaven to-day,
But, oh! within a distant clime,
Life's pearl I cast away.

I reach out blindly, nor can find
One trace of what I lost;
My heart was cold, my eyes were blind,
I could not count the cost
Nor guess a Summer yet would dawn
As beautiful as then
But all its glory be withdrawn
And drowned in seas of pain.

Oh friend of that divinest youth,
No pride or wrath to-day
Drives from my heart the bitter truth
As I kneel low to pray;
And mingle with despairing tears
Your well beloved name.
Come back, dear one, thro' all these years
I've lov'd you still the same.

Blow gently, western winds, I ask,
And whereso'er he dwell
Fulfill for me the loving task,
My mad remorse to tell;
And you, shining heavens, bend down
With azure smiles of light,
Nor dim them with the storms' black frown
But make his pathway bright.

The winds may waft their sweetest sighs,
The world with glory shine;
The earth bloom fair as Paradise,
The air breathe sweet as wine;
But from its beauty and delight,
I've garnered hate for you,
The poison blossoms of the night;
The bitterness of rue.

Too late, too late! Hush, hush that song,
Glad birdling, wild and gay;
You rouse the sleeping fiends to throng
Around my heart to day.
I pray in vain; in vain I make
Atonement, dear, to you,
In vain I strive for love's dear sake
Our pledges to renew.

Too late? Oh, dear, lost friend, look back
Once o'er this road of years;
Behold my wretched life's great lack;
Its loneliness and fears.
And know that ev'ry tear I weep;
Each pulse of agony,
Is the dark harvest that I reap
Of faithlessness to thee.

A Dairyman Dumfounds a Dominie.

Recently there was a great revival of religion in a Western town, where butter, cheese and milk are the principal products. One evening, after meeting, a dairyman approached the dominie and remarked:

"You are doing a noble work here, sir, I am pleased to see."

"Yes, a great many prodigal sons are returning home," replied the minister.

"Ah!" exclaimed the dairyman, "What effect do you suppose that will have on the veal market?"

"Sir!" said the astonished preacher, "what do you mean by such a worldly allusion as that?"

"Oh! I didn't know but what the return of so many prodigal sons might cause a great demand for fatted calves, and thus raise the price of veal," retorted the wicked man, as he walked off whistling "When the Cows Come Home."

A GENTLEMAN in Paris who had been wont to give five sous daily to a blind beggar whom he passed every day on his way to his business, gave him one morning by mistake a napoleon, and afterward discovering his error, ascertained from another beggar his beneficiary's address, and called there to recover his gold piece. A tidy maid opened the door of a comfortably furnished suite of apartments. Monsieur was requested to take a seat, and in a minute or two the beggar made his appearance, neatly dressed, and with faultless shirt front. The object of the visit was stated. "My clerk is just making up the day's accounts," he observed; "If a napoleon has been found in the box it shall be restored to you." The piece of gold was found, and the beggar handed it back to his visitor. As the latter was retiring, the beggar called out to him: "I beg your pardon, sir, but you have forgotten to give me the half-penny out of it."

IN a recent lecture Prof. Flower, F. R. S., remarked that the whales of our time are the largest of known creatures, past or present. Instead of living in an age degeneracy of physical growth, we are therefore in an age of giants; but if may be at the end of that age, for the whales—like other existing great animals—are fast approaching extinction.

THE most enduring and effective "swearing off" from the use of intoxicating beverages is that reported by telegraph lately. The would-be teetotaler cut his throat from ear to ear. He gave up his vice from that moment and never tasted another drop as long as he lived. The funeral was largely attended.

ARTICLES made of rubber often deteriorate rapidly. Mr. Herbert McLeod has determined experimentally that the change is due to the combined influenced of light and oxygen, but that neither of these agents can produce any alteration without the aid of the other.

A JOURNAL BOX slightly out of line or level will absorb a large amount of oil, and yet be continually hot; waste power by unnecessary friction, besides grinding and cutting the shaft. It will always pay to attend closely to such matters.

BY evaporating skimmed milk in a vacuum Mons. Muller obtains a product which can be kept for many months in a dry atmosphere, and which he thinks will be of considerable value for making pastry and other kinds of food.

A BRAZILIAN physician, Dr. Freize, has discovered in the blood of yellow fever patients a minute parasite which he believes is the cause of the disease.

WHEAT was cultivated long before the dawn of historic times. Like other cereals, it is not known in a wild state with certainty, and its origin has been a subject of much speculation. De Candolle is inclined to accept the testimony of travelers who report finding the grain growing wild in remote parts of Asia. Other botanists suppose the original wild plant to be now extinct. Still others believe that the original plant is still growing wild, but that its characteristics are so unlike those which the wheat has assumed after its long cultivation that the two are considered as different species. Some thirty years ago, Mons. Fabre, a French gardener, claimed that after cultivation for a number of years he had produced wheat from aegilops ovata, a grass of southern Europe. Grant Allen maintains that the wheat plant has descended by processes of evolution and degeneration from the lily; and that in one of its stages it was the coarse grass which Fabre regarded as native wheat.

IT has been noticed recently that a large proportion of current silver half dollars are marked with the impression of a small cross. The mark appears sometimes on one side and sometimes on the other, and on different parts of the coins. The same mark has been observed also on the silver dollar. The fact has excited some curiosity, and has been remarked by several persons who are apt in observing such things, as being singular and hard to account for. The crosses all seem to have been made by the same stamp, hence the supposition is that they have been made by the same person. The puzzle is of what use is the stamping and for what purpose is it?

FROM the latest report of the British consul at Tientsin it appears that China has but one colliery in complete working order. It is located at Kaiping, not far from Pekin. The coal supply is considered ample, as the coal-bearing stratum is supposed to be about one thousand feet thick, with thirteen seams. A railway six and a half miles in length—the only one in all China—carries the coal from the mine to a canal, where the loads are transferred to barges.

Letter from Idaho—An Old Inyoite's Observations.

CHALLIS, Idaho, July 28, 1883.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT.—Having promised to write you something about this upper coast of the Pacific and my trip, there will no more favorable time present itself, perhaps, than now. You will therefore allow me to briefly describe a country, which to fully write up would be a very laborious task.

In the outstart we may safely say, that all this new Northwest country is remarkable for its health and purity of atmosphere. It has been so peculiarly situated that immigration has reached it only through the severest toil, and, in consequence, the day of its development has been very much retarded; but now things are about to change. There is coming into Oregon, Washington and Idaho (the three heretofore neglected countries), from the South, a railroad to connect San Francisco with Portland; the Oregon Short Line from the East, and the Northern Pacific from the Northeast to connect direct with Lake Superior. All these roads concentrate in the range of the Columbia River and Puget Sound; so that hereafter, instead of having no way of inland and transcontinental communicaton, fair and full facilities will be furnished for intercourse and traffic with the world.

Now the advantages of this portion of the United States may be mentioned. They will soon be appreciated. Instead of the great traffic of the business world being compelled to take long trips to go around this portion of America, from this time on it will seek the more natural route. It has been long known to navigation that the easiest point of approach to any portion of the Northern Pacific coast for the Asiatic trade (which must ultimately be the great trade of the Western shore of America) is north of the mouth of the Columbia. That is to say: If a ship is loaded at Asia, on its East trip to America it can make as far north as the Columbia mouth (on account of the ocean currents) and then go coastwise to the South, and make the whole trip more safely and speedily than it could to sail direct across, regardless of the ocean's peculiaries. This, of itself, will ultimately decide the route and fix the destiny of commerce. Commerce controls the world. It is easy to see the result. Argument cannot change it, Nature destined it; and now she is only placing destiny in line.

The only question to be considered as to the supremacy of this new field in holding the attention, commerce, and wealth of the nations of the earth, (after deciding this country healthy and lying in Nature's route for the trade of the world) is: Have these new states the natural surroundings and supplies in their borders, or territories, to supply the necessaries, comforts and luxuries of life? If they possess a good supply of the raw material, with usual facilities for manufacturing, then the question is self answering. On these points we need only refer to the proof which a limited but universal record has made. No country ever surpassed this as a wheat growing land. A fine growth of excellent quality of kernel and an unfailing crop has been the unbroken record. All other crops, with the exception of Indian corn, which is not a success on the Pacific coast, grow in equal abundance and thrive with wheat. As for grapes and healthy growth of stock, no country surpasses. The finest herds of cattle, the finest flocks of sheep, the best muscled and fleetest bands of horses roam through her valleys and over her plains. The capacity of this country to impart and sustain animal life is surely unsurpassed, if equaled, on any other portion of the globe. Fruits of all kinds that may be raised anywhere in a parallel latitude are raised in this field, in abundance, and of the finest quality. Water power throughout the length and breadth of this land is simply unlimited; the only things necessary are manufactories and the requisite skill, means and energy to put them into operation. Coal has been discovered in large quantities in the Puget Sound country, and is supposed to be as extensive and good as in other parts of the world. Besides there are some inland indications of coal that are good; althougo as a whole, there are no very promising fields yet known outside of the Sound region. If the general land should prove to be a coal field, it has yet to be demonstrated. Iron abounds in this region from the coast to the peaks of the Rocky Mountains. There is no fear as to both quality and quantity as the country develops to need and manufacture it.

Our fisheries are unequalled in any portion of the globe as our record fully demonstrates. From the most delicate trout to the largest salmon, in numbers and flavor, the Columbia river is the chief field of production; besides, from our coast no sea fisheries surpass ours. A simple statement of the facts would be that the Columbia fisheries excel all other known fields.

MINES.

Although rock mining has stood at a discount in Oregon, Washington and Idaho until within a few years, at the present time the new mining fields of Idaho, aside from coal, are improving; and, to-day, they are proving equal to most mines in the different portions of the nation, and promise, from present indications, to take a front position in extent and richness. With comparative small or limited facilities for mining progress, Idaho will put out, probably, 4 or 5 million of mineral wealth this year, and discoveries for the last 2 or 3 years show that she will undoubtedly prove immensely rich for a vast space of territory. Oregon and Washington display less signs of the presence of mines, although iron and coal abound to a great extent; and in the first the precious metals continue to yield a fair reward to the hand of toil and an increase each year to our circulating medium. Still the great wealth of this new coast lies in no one resource, more, perhaps, than in the uncounted comforts and wealth of its timber. The lower Columbia and the Sound countries are a vast world, one might almost say, of choice heavy growth of dense forests, and so handy for shipping to the rest of the world who need it. Yet the upper Columbia is generally more than well supplied in large portions of her waters. All kinds of rock for building, and the mechanical arts are more than usually plenty.

To sum up then. This new Northwest posesses health, fertility, native resources, very rich in grasses, mineral and timber, unlimited water power and fisheries. Is the natural gateway of the commerce of the world, and is just approaching that state of existence and development to bring all her resources into play. The world has surrounded her and left her, as it were, for a concentration of action, and it may be, as many of her citizens predict, that the progress of this partially new field, under all its bearings, will outstrip anything yet known, in the line of advancement in all those branches of prosperity so much sought by all mankind. You may say, what are the chances for one to get a hold in such a country? The chances are these: There is room for all. If you wish to buy into the choicest and most developed situations the prices are already high. If you wish you have ample fields to take up good raw material that will, undoubtedly, prove, in most instances, just as good as those who have gone before. It is not one, but thousands of points that are to be occupied. The march is this way, and whoever joins in the army stands his or her equal chance of success when all are with the tide.

J. R. Ross.

Telephonic Defects.

There is still much to be accomplished in the perfection of the telephone to to make it meet all the demands of practice. For the purposes of communication at short distances it is indeed very servicable; but when a certain distance has been exceeded, the present capabilities of the instrument are overtasked. In principle there is no limit to the capabilities of the telephone; and though we do not anticipate that the apparatus will ever be made perfect, we may reasonably expect that it will be so far improved as to make it serviceable for intercommunication between distances of several hundred miles. At present, on account of the imperfect character of the insulation of such lines, sounds sent over them, rapidly lose their distinctness as the distance over which they pass increases. This is especially marked in the daytime, and the practical limit of long-distance conversation is perhaps thirty miles. Under the most favorable conditions, at night, when the confusion of noises which intefere with the proper transmisoion of sounds is hushed, pefectly distinct sounds are sent and received over distances of 200 to 300 miles.

The reason for this peculiar behavior is to be found in the induction which one electric current exerts upon all others in its neighborhood and which it has thus far been found impracticable to entirely obviate. Thus the very sensitiveness of the telephone gives rise to one of the chief sources of trouble in its use. How susceptible the instrument is may be inferred from the following: If two telephone wires are suspended in the air twenty feet apart, a conversation transmitted over either line will be distinctly heard on the other; and telegraph or electric light wires exert a much stronger influence. Even the cut ends of wires and the splicings of a telephone line are said to act as small transmitters, and to receive and forward the natural sounds which may be produced around them, such as the singing of birds or the croaking of frogs, so that a conversation over a wire of considerable length has, as it were, to run the gauntlet among the scraps of talk imparted from neighboring lines, the crackling and hammering due to induction from telegraph and electric light wires, and the vague murmer compounded of an infinite number of lesser disturbances; and it is not surprising that it is soon overwhelmed by so many adverse influences.—Scientific Press.

THE fact is generally known that the United States Senate is at present evenly divided as between Bepublicans and Democrats, and that Mahone holds the balance of power. Which suggests to the Detroit Free Press the advisibility of all the Republicans and Democrats pairing off and allowing the Virginia gentleman to run the machine alone. This would certainly be a step toward economy, and as Mahone could have all his speeches printed, without delivery, there would be much time saved. The suggestion is certainly a good one.

THE Record-Union, of Sacramento, asserts that the San Francisco Chronicle receives $80,000 a year from the Spring Valley Watsr Company, and makes the comparison wiih consistency of being the tool of one monopoly while antagonistic to another, the Central Pacific Railroad.

SHOULD the theory of the Carson Appeal, that the immense body of water found in the deep mines of the Comstock comes directly from the lake prove correct, the Bodie Free Press suggests that boiled Tahoe trout can be had on the Comstock by pumping them from the water of the deep mines.

SOME of the paupers landed in New York have got help and opened saloons. Fifty years from now some of the obituaries of prominent New Yorkers will begin: "He came to this country at an early age as an assisted emigrant."

We seem bound to have trouble with Germany via Mexico. The exciting news comes by wire that the German Minister in that Capital continually taunts the American Minister with being the representative of a powerless nation, one that Germany can lick for a morning appetiser. Our State Department will doubtless send some instructions to our Minister, Mr. Morgan. He will be ordered to stay off the street when the German Minister is out walking, or to refuse pretzels, pumpernickle and beer when offered by that diplomat. Our advice to Mr. Morgan is to fall on the German Minister, give him a sound thrashing, close his peepers, split his smellers, knock his grinders down his throat, and leave him looking like a quarter of beef that has been shot for at a rifle match.

A Honolulu newspaper has been publishing some excessively plain talk to King Kalakaua. It tells him that not one among his advisers commands public respect; that the public money is being squandered to gratify personal vanity; that the public works are shamefully neglected; that the government contract system is a scandal, and that only the remarkable prosperity of the nation restrains the people from giving vent to their opinions. "Let that prosperity have a slight check," it says, "and the whole affair will drop like a pack of cards."

A single-wheeled buggy has been invented in the East that may prove just the thing to get over these mountains with. It consists of a wheel which will be attached to a horse by means of a pair of buggy shafts, and which will carry at the end a buggy seat. The inventor claims that by means of this new contrivance absolute safety in driving is secured, as the wheel can only tip or turn over in case the horse does the same thing. He also claims that this new vehicle can get anywhere a horse can.

It was the steamer City of Washington on which General Ord was a passenger when stricken with the yellow fever at Havana. Tenaciously the brave old man clung to life. He did not want to go to the hospital, and when at last convinced that this would be the best course to pursue, and as he consented to be removed, he remarked: "I never retreated before, but it looks as if I should have to go this time." Men like Ord take a great deal of killing before they are dead.

Miss Arthur, the President's daughter, and her party sailed recently for Martha's Vineyard in the United States steamer Dispatch. Miss Arthur is described as a most charming young lady, and she and her companions are reported to be having a most delightful time. We trust the report is true, says the Brooklyn Eagle, and take this occasion to rebuke an ungallant Eastern journalist who cynically observes that it costs the American people more than $100 a day to supply the steamer Dispatch with coal.

The Supervising Architect of the Treasury announces that the only result of the recent sham investigation of his bureau is that the work of the bureau has been suspended for a month. If this is the case, says the New York World, the saving represented by the diminished stealing is alone sufficient to pay the expenses of the investigation. But perhaps his is one of the departments in which the stealing goes on when the work stops.

The cheerfulness of the Western Union telegraph managers is not inconsistent wiih the fact that nearly every customer of the company is complaining of the delay in the transmission of messages. It is the high privilege of all well entrenched monopolies to luxuriate in the sentiment so forcibly expressed by Mr. Vanderbilt, "The public be d——d."

There are now over sixty eggs in the incubators at the ostrich farms at Anaheim. The Superintendent states that he is troubled daily by inquisitive and vicious visitors who persist in attempting to enter the house in which the incubators are situated.

The Mexican government has subsidized 11,415 miles of railroad at $12,000 a mile—making an aggregate of $136,000,000— when its total annual revenue is only $25,000,000.

The Supervisors of Napa County have repealed the ordinance levying County licenses and in future people will be allowed to transact business without paying license therefor.

Wheat is having a boom. The cause probably is that the crop is much shorter than was anticipated.

MORE WORK AND LESS GROWLING.

As a general rule the average miner is, on one subject at least, a confirmed growler, and that is that his especial ores are not fairly treated by the ore buyers and the reduction works. The disposition of every one in examining his mine is to chose the best specimens on every occasion. These specimens at last come to be regarded as average samples of the mine, when in fact there may not be one pound of like ore in a ton. He sells a car load, and if the lot does not hold up to his favorite specimens hugged up to his heart for years, he growls. Nothing, from a sensible, business point of view, can be more wrongful or silly. Learn to be as sensible in the judgment of your own mines and ores as those of others, and if your ores should fall below your hopes lay the blame where it generally belongs—upon the ores themselves or your want of skill and knowledge in assorting the same. Established smelters and purchasers of ores, whose every business incentive must impel them to deal squarely by all, become very tired of the constant and senseless complaints of miners on this subject. It behooves our miners here, upon the threshhold of new things and opportunities, to do more substantial work and less growling. Work will win; growling don't get ore to market or build up large returns.

A musical wonder is exhibited in London. It is called the canina. The notes are produced by dogs, twelve of whom are seated inside a long box. Keys on the outer board communicate with wires, which touch each animal's head, and when the performer strikes the ivory, and the contact warns the dog, a whine, a yell, a bark, or a bass growl is the response. The harmony is defective, but the laborious training has given the strange orchestra a moderately tuneful facility.

The above described instrument is a mere infringement, though, scientifically considered, perhaps something of an improvement, on the "Swinette," patented years ago. Thfs was a combination of pigs and hogs, selected and arranged with their respective tails projecting over a sort of a key-board, according to pitch and volume of tone of the different voices, the latter, of course, pertaining to the opposite end. By using suitable wooden mallets on the tails notes of any required pitch were produced, from which the audience could select such as in their individual judgments were the most harmonious, same as when the average boarding school Miss is banging a piano. But the swinette never became popular outside of Cincinnati, on account of the difficulty of applying stops, or cut-offs, but few of the pigs ever knowing when to shut up, once they were started.

The United States Senate Commission on the relations between labor and capital is to meet in New York. We are afraid that the members will not accomplish much. The Western Union troubles are to be inquired into, but, while the operators will give all the information they can, little can be expected from the heads of the company. Jay Gould has been on the stand before in similar inquiries, but the examinations have always failed signally in this case. He can dodge an uncomfortable position with ease and grace, and he generally manages, without actually declining to make a reply, to say just as much as he pleases and no more. Still it is just as well to have the inquiry. It may do some good.

In the legal mill about to come off, for which the preliminaries are being arranged, County Government Bill is likely to get knocked out of time in about three rounds, by Supreme Court. There will be much interest taken in the event, the stakes and gate money considered. In this connection there is a wrestling match, catch-as-catch-can, going on in Mono, before R. M. Briggs, Referee, to decide whether license or no-license is the best man, for the first fall. The second match will come off at Sacramento, on appeal from the Referee to the Supreme Judges.

Like all California enterprises, the Soldiers' Home scheme is a failure. After a waste of considerable time and a great deal of money, the home designed for disabled soldiers is but partially completed, and the supply of money has disappeared. There will be a call for more mud, and no doubt the edifice and grounds will be completed after costing twice the original estimates. Califoruia is great in the greatness of the jobs that are constantly being put up.

Nothing in ever lost by taking pains in small things. The butcher who rolls up your purchase into a great clumsy bundle you never can respect; but your heart yearns toward him who says, "You would like to have me trim this, sir?" following up the query by removing two pounds of bone and four pounds of meat which has cost you $1 75. Your heart yearns to him notwithstanding you have but 25 cents' worth for your share of the transaction, while he has your gratuity of $1 50. The only thing which saddens you in the whole matter is the thought that the next time that butcher sells those trimmings he will realize but 3 cents per pound for them.—Boston Transcript.

Probably an Unconstitutional Law.

An El Dorado Judge has rendered a decision the effect of which is to declare the county government Act unconstitutional, and later Judge Beldon, of San Jose, who stands high as a judicial officer, in a case entitled the People et al. vs. County Auditor Pittman, dismissed a writ to compel the defendant to issue a warrant to plaintiff upholding the County Government bill, Judge Spencer of Department No. 2 concurring in the opinion. The grounds of the alleged unconstutionability, about as follows, are given by the Alta California:

"The constitution says the Legislature may classify the counties by population, in order to make uniform laws regulating the emoluments and duties of county officers, and in making forty-eight classes out of fifty-two counties it is impossible to resist the conviction that it was a palpable evasion of the spirit of the Constitution, and an effort to perpetuate the special legislation by which the salaries of county officrs were fixed in answer to the demands of the officers themselves rather than in response to the public interests. Formerly a Sheriff or a County Clerk-elect who was dissatisfied with the salary he would receive, and happened to be influential among the local delegates in the Legislature, would get an Act passed readjusting the compensation of officers in that particular county, and it was to stop this practice that the requirement of a uniform law was engrafted on the Constitution. But if the fifty-two counties are to be arranged in forty-eight classes, it will be just as easy as before, in the great majority of instances, to get special legislation changing the established rules of salary. Instead of passing an Act to increase the salaries of the Sheriff and County Clerk of a specified county, it will be necessary to substitute the number of the class for the name of the county, and as generally each county is in a class by itself, it will be, in effect, special legislation, though nominally done by uniform law. The Supreme Court has yet to pass upon the matter, but the chances are that it will uphold, rather than overturn, the decision rendered by the El Dorado Judge."

Speaking of the Mineral Exhibit the San Francisco Bulletin says of "the Great Gilded Block:" "The Eastern visitors will be interested in the great gilded block representing the average amount of gold produced. The block represents $80,852,608, the average annual yield of thirty-three years from 1848 to 1880. The total production during that time was $1,017,476,065. The average yearly production of gold would form a cube of 4.4 feet. There is also exhibited the model of the largest bar made from a single run. It was produced by the North Bloomfield Hydraulic mine and contained $114,280."

The Central Pacific Railroad Company will not hereafter receive applications or permit settlement upon lands of the company in less quantities than a single section, and all such applications will be respected only if actual improvements in the way of fences and cultivatiou have been made. It is the object of the company to dispose of all their lands iu this State in ranges, except perhaps some agricultural land, but they will not permit live stockmen to apply for a quarter section or eighty acres of meadow land to be used for cutting hay unless s proportionate amount of grazing land is applied for with it. If people must "fence and cultivate," says the Winnemucca Silver State, the lands they desire to purchase, and if they have to buy 560 acres of worthless land to get 80 acres of some value, the railroad company may as well close their land office so far as this State is concerned, as hereafter they will find purchasers, like angels visits, few and far between. This seems like short-sighted policy, for as long as railroad lands are not fenced they can be utilized for stock ranges without purchase.—Virginia Chronicle.

Los Angeles is the second city in the State in the matter of railroad importance. Five lines center right here now, two of them forming the overland route par excellence. The number of local trains, each composed of half a dozen passenger cars, and the long and numerous freight trains passing in and out every day in the year is astonishing. Shipments from this region East are heavy, of great variety and value. Then it is to be remembered that only a beginning has been made. In five years from now we shall be treading on the very heels of the metropolis.—Express.

Plantation philosophy: Honesty is getting scarcer ebery year 'kase dar is more people ter pervide. Pleasures decrease as da come near us. De fish is a heap bigger 'fore yer gits it outen de water. De injurious in dis world is allers de fanciest. De brandy bottle is fixed up finer den de bread tray. A well fed nigger is de happiest man in de worl'. It doan make no diff'ence 'bout clothes, but gin him some hog and den take care.—Arkansaw Traveler.

The fact that only three of the 2265 couples whom Rev. Dr. Miner of Boston has married have been parted by divorce leads him to think that "the state of mind which brings people to a Universalist clergyman for union is that which will enable them to live happily together." Perhaps it is because those who believe themselves sure of heaven, as the Universalists do, are more willing than others to bear the trials of this life.—Detroit Free Press.

A colored man in Virginia asked a white man for a small sum of money due him. Such an insult could only be wiped out with blood, and the high-toned, chivalrous Virginian shot his persecutor dead. The negroes of the South are slow to learn, but a few more such wholesome lessons will be apt to teach them their places—and repudiate their debts like gentlemen.—Norristown Herald.

Mount Whitney.

On the morning of July 29, 1883, a party made up of Willie Bliss, son of D. L. Bliss, of Carson; George D. Oliver and Thomas Davidson, of the engineering corps of the Carson and Colorado Railroad, with Jesus Carrasco as guide, and a pack train of six mules, left the village of Lone Pine, destined for Whitney's summit. A writer in the Virginia Enterprise gives a long account of the ascent, from which we select:

ON THE SUMMIT.

The day was yet young as the extreme summit was reached, and at last they stood upon the lofty height. What saw they? The widest horizon in America; a dome of blue immeasurable; vast sweeps of desert lowlands; range on range of mighty mountains, grand and eloquent; grace, strength, expansion, depth, breadth, height — all blended in one grand and awful picture, and as the eye takes in these features, a sense of soaring fills the mind, and one seems a part of the very heavens, whose lofty places he pierces. The breadth and compass of the world grows upon the mind as the mighty distances flow in upon the view like the waves of the sea. On the east, miles below, like a spot of silver in the sun, lies Owens Lake. That glimpse of miniature hills are the Alabama mountains; that line of silver winding here and there among the spots of green, small as a thread, is Owens river. The senses swim as they gaze down, down, down toward the levels of the world where men dwell and carry forward their traffic and trade. No sounds of life mar these high airs. A silence profound and deep holds a wide empire. No bird sings or soars—no insect beats with its tiny wings this wide sea of air. This lofty place belongs to the heavens and God. On the extreme summit has been built a monument of stone, ten feet in height, to mark the prior presence of some adventurous climber. It is impossible to describe the magnificence of Whitney's surroundings—the countless grandeurs that crowd the view on every hand. The best that can be said or written but suggests at last the real. The eye alone can lead the mind up to a true conception of so mighty and marvelous a group of wonders.

THE COST OF THE TRIP.

The present trip cost for guide and six mules, $10 per day; supplies some $15 more, making the entire cost for three persons for a five days' trip, $65. If one desires to be economical the trip can be made for at least one-third less. Outside of the fact that Whitney is the extreme summit of the continent, the trip in many respects presents as many objects of interest as any trip of similar length in the United States. Once known and its avenues will be crowded during each Summer by eager and enthusiastic tourists. The much talked-of trail, to lead from Lone Pine to the summit direct, will greatly facilitate the ascent, and add much to the interest of the trip, as it will lead through some of the wildest, boldest and grandest portions of all the Sierras. The trail has been accurately surveyed by W. L. Hunter, Esq., of Lone Pine, and efforts are being made to obtain a Government appropriation for its building.

Have Convicts Been Lawfully Convicted?

It is believed that there is so much in the point raised at Sacramento against the conviction of felonies on information that it is to have a thorough trial. The statement has been made that the provision in the Federal Constitution requiring convictions only on indictment by a Grand Jury applies to Federal courts alone, but we are not aware of any such judicial construction of the language. If it be so limited in its application, then the Grand Jury system is certainly applicable to a very small field, for there is no Federal statute against murder, arson, robbery, nor any of the offences against person and property which lie outside of treason, mutiny, counterfeiting and interference with the mails. Hence, any State may convict without the primary investigation made by a Grand Jury. The convicts in the State prisons are alert in the matter. Those in San Quentin have already raised $5,000 to fully test the question, and if it go against the State there will be a great jail delivery, for nine-tenths of the convicts are serving sentences passed upon conviction by information. California is nothing if not peculiar. We do not believe that such a thing was ever known before as convicts raising a purse of thousands to test a constitutional question in the courts.

The matter has been quietly but effectually worked up, and it is probable that $10,000 will be raised in the prisons and out to equip the case for trial. It should be decided on its merits, without considering the effect of the enlargement of so great a number of men confined for crime, and if the decision go against the State, let it be a warning to those who are never so happy as when tearing down some established institution or assaulting some safeguard of liberty and justice. This emergency, so interesting to the convicts, has caused a singular spectacle at San Quentin. First the assessor of funds to defend the prison management in the investigation progressing at Sacramento, went around amongst the guards and prison officers, who were compelled to pay down a stated percentage on their salaries to pay the price of its defense. Next the hat was passed around amongst the prisoners to raise money to test the information question, and between the two assessors the prison has been as lively as a church with deacons in every aisle passing the hat for pennies.—Oakland Times.

Press dispatches from all over the Coast tell more about the Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar than anything else just now. No doubt the display will be grand, and the State of California expects her metropolis to do her work on the square with the noble guests. San Francisco has never been more honored. Let us hope that for the sake of the commonwealth she may win laurels of praise.

There is a smack of business in that telegram which was published in the telegraphic columns of this paper yesterday, which stated that for the past eighteen months munitions of war in large quantities had been shipped to China from time to time by manufacturers in this country. This indicates that the smile which is "childlike and bland," belongs to the Mongolian at home as well as abroad, and all the apparent unwillingness to engage in a conflict with France has been only a cloak to cover vast preparations for war which portend trouble for the tricolor. —L. A. Express.

Scene—a small lawn on Seneca street. Time — noon. Personage — a parrot sunning itself on a porch beside its open cage door, and a strange dog wandering upon the lawn. The parrot speaks first: "Sick! Sick! Sick him!" The dog, with ears and tail ereet, looks about for something on which to charge; he espies the parrot and an exciting scene ensues. From out of the confused mass of dog-hair and parrot feathers comes the shrill cry: "Git out, you! Git out!" Dog breaks for street. Parrot, after looking at herself from head to foot, gravely exclaims: "Polly, you talk too much."—Rome Reporter.

Investigations by the Internal Revenue Bureau into the adulteration of beer, have developed facts so startlin that a circular has been issued requiring brewers to forward a statement of all articles used in the manufacture of lager. If the order is not obeyed, the offenders will be closely followed by the Revenue agents.

Correct.—Major John H. Dennis, in his well understood and sensible style, remarks: "It is almost an invariable rule that the people who find the most fault with the contents of their local paper are those who sponge their reading of it, and who never contribute a nickel to its support."

The dispatches indicate that the cholera in Egypt is abating. It is probably because there is little material left for the scourge to work on.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

Board of Supervisors of Inyo County met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the County Salary Fund, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A General Expense Fund, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A Hospital Fund, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A General Road Fund, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested, or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the Interest and Building Fund, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A School Fund, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A Contingent Fund, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 18.....1883

A NEW IDEA.—While this year there has been no crops of cherries, peaches, apricots or plums for the myriads of little birds to feast upon and destroy, the pests have been effectually cleaning out the growing grapes. To save the fruit, amunition and much vexation of spirit, perhaps the following hint from the Napa Register might be profitably acted upon: "The following device for keeping birds from cherry trees might prove useful to orchardists, at least to those having but few trees: A Westchester (Pa.) gentleman has conceived a novel method to save his cherries from birds. He has hung a string of sleigh-bells, to which a cord has been attached leading to the house, with which the bells are occasionally rung. The birds give the tree a wide berth." An improvement on this would be a strong electric current conducted by wires, which at the touch of a key could tap bells all over an orchard. In the Spring the birds might be let alone to destroy insect germs, and afterwards notified to vacate when they wern't wanted.

THE DEFIANCE.—Supt. J. S. Gorman, of the Defiance mine and furnaces at Darwin, left by the C. & C. R. R. today with his family for a couple of month's sojourn at San Francisco. We gain from Mr. Gorman the following facts regarding the Defiance property, which during his absence will be in charge of Mr. M. G. Nixon. In the past three months the main incline shaft has been sunk 194 feet, making a present depth of 286 feet. The work is in a fine ledge, carrying frequent bunches of pay ore. Two shifts are kept at work, and the shaft will be continued to a depth of 700 feet. The late run of the furnace was stopped until a supply of "wet" or lead ores can be extracted, with which to smelt about 100 tons of "dry," rich silver ores now remaining on the dump. The bullion produced during the run—60 tons—will go over the C. & C. in a day or two, on a train of seven or eight cars. The metal will arrive at the Bay at a good time to attract attention toward this county.

DIED.—The Phœnix (A. T.) Herald of August 1st contains the following announcement of the death of Jimmy Graham, a young man formerly well known in this place: "Mr. James Graham, a brother to Wm. Graham, of Gillett, died last evening in the hospital, of pneumonia, from which he had been suffering for two or three weeks. Mr. Graham was a native of Tuolumne county, Cal., and came to this Territory from Havilah, where he has parents now residing. His brother William, who was telegraphed for some days ago, came down and was in attendance on him at the time of his death. The deceased was at one time in the stock business in California, and we learn was a young man of exceptional good character, and his promise for the future was very bright, but the fell destroyer of all our hopes and all our fears has gathered him to his own."

HE WAS "THAR."—The Republican rancher and Hickory, his Democratic hired man, the other day discussed the comparative merits of the two "grand old parties." "You must admit," said Farmer Joe Slinn, "that at the close of the war, after having whipped you fire-eaters, the Northern people treated the rebels most magnanimously." Hickory —"Yer kan't show it, by the —— ——, sence Grant hung Lee!" "But Gen. Grant did not hang Lee." "But he did, by ——; wasn't I thar ter his funeral?" After Hickory's having announced himself as a possible candidate for the Legislature, the discussion closed.

SCHOOL MONEY.—On the 13th instant County Superintendent Groves made the following apportionment of State school moneys:

	School Dist.	Library Fund.
Bishop Creek	$148.34	$16.48
Big Pine	74.17	8.24
Darwin	74.17	8.24
Independence	74.17	8.24
Irving	74.17	8.24
Lone Pine	148.32	16.49
Milton	74.17	8.24
Round Valley	74.17	8.24
Union	74.17	8.24
Totals	$815.85	$90.65
Grand Total		$906.50

NEW LIFE.—At every camp in the Inyos are evidences of new life and activity. The ability to sell ores has excited many of our miners to fresh endeavors, and from many places long dormant ores are being extracted for shipment. The late favorable returns from ore shipments have greatly encouraged "the boys." Persistent search and patient labor will in the near future bring about an era of great prosperity.

IMPROVEMENTS. — The extensive improvements under way at Judge Hannah's place has encompassed the removal of the old China house on the corner of Market and Mary streets, which is good. The building, now occupied as a photograph gallery, stands in the street.

NEW FLOUR.—The Oak Creek Flouring Mills, after their almost entire reconstruction, are now turning out the finest quality of flour which has been produced there for years—it is indeed A No. 1. Mr. Bell has reduced the charge for grinding to $8 per ton.

SCHOOL.—The Bishop Creek school will open on the first Monday of next month with Mrs. H. H. Welch, nee Hortense Kittrell, in charge as teacher, assisted by Miss Carrie Stoutenborough.

BIG PINE.—The new term of the Big Pine school will begin next Monday, with the old teacher, Mr. Crit. Hampton, re-engaged for the third year.

TO-NIGHT.—The Masonic Lodge will hold a stated meeting at the Hall this evening.

MORE ABOUT THE POTOSI TUNNEL STRIKE.—During the past week an examination was made by several gentlemen of the ore body recently uncovered in the lateral drift of the Potosi Tunnel at Cerro Gordo. The vein as at present disclosed extends across the entire face of the drift and lies on a clay seam some twenty inches in thickness, which follows the vein along the footwall it. self inclined at an angle of at least 60°. But little penetration as yet has been made into it, yet enough is seen to indicate the immediate presence of a large body of ore. The vein matter as yet is not of the highest grade, but it is of that character which at some portion of it is sure to develop into great richness. By survey the vein seems to have a direction N. 15° E. and S. 15° W., making it a nearly northerly and southerly ledge. If this direction should prove true upon further development it either shows the ledge to be an entirely new one, or upsets the East and West ledge theory heretofore held by some experts. It is the intention of the owners to immediately prove the extent and richness of the new find, and if it should hold, without doubt Cerro Gordo will have a new day.

MAIL CONTRACTS.—The Postmaster-General has given notice, through a circular or two stuck up around town, that sealed proposals for carrying the mails from Independence to the Railroad station "6 times a week once each way" from Sept. 16, 1883, to June 30, 1884, the same to be received by our Postmaster here until August 25th. This is a villainous arrangement on its face. Suppose a contractor gets the job and sends a man and horse over there and back once each day, on regular time, which mail train will he connect with? The mail one way or the other will be subject to 24 hours delay before getting here. And only six times a week instead of seven as heretofore by the stages. The result of this will leave a good opportunity for some enterprising man to carry passengers and express separate from the U. S. mail.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The following are the names of pupils of Independence school, E. Gibbs teacher, with percentage in recitations for month ending Aug. 10, 1883: First Division—Sarah James, 98; Minnie Harris, 96; Allen Shannon, 95; Henry Harris, 92; Maggie Crough, 91; Frank Sherrer, 89; Ernest Laird, 89: Pierce Johnson, 89; Lena Harris, 86; Lester Laird, 87: George Wood, 85; Geo. Rose, 83; Ethel Hardy, 82; Kate Hardy, 81; Alice Rose, 79; May Parker, 79; Mattie Wallace, 78. Those of the Primary Division who deserve special notice for punctuality and deportment are: Hudie Harris, Mabel Chalfant, Elsie Eibeshutz and Carrie Gregg.

PERSONAL.—Deputy Sheriff Daniel Crough arrived home during the week, bringing his bride along of course. A gay party of young folks tendered them a cordial reception at the Court House last evening....Chief Engineer Oliver, of the C. & C. passed a day or two in town, before his return to the northern end of the track... H. Levy and family arrived home on Wednesday last, after a pleasant visit to friends in San Francisco....Mr. F. S. Northup, lately from Western Missouri, an uncle of Mrs. Dr. Kernodle, is paying Inyo a visit...Nathan Rhine went to San Francisco last week, and Mr. S. D. Woods sailed out for the same destination this morning.

OLD RESIDENTERS.—In a couple of well-known old residents of Lone Pine, natives of Chili, are presented notable examples of longevity. Bucarrio Serrano, who is every day in the saddle, hale and hearty, is over 97 years old. Esteben Santevanis, who served in the Chilean war of independence, is aged 95 years. He lost his hand at Lone Pine last 16th of September, while celebrating "Independence Day," but is now able to work several gardens, and outwalk from Cerro Gordo to Lone Pine most any young man.

NEW THEORY OF ORE BUILDING.—According to latest reports on Cerro Gordo Hill by a mining expert who has lately returned from the Bay, from Walker Lake to Owens Lake the mountains are one solid mass of base ores. The theory advanced by our expert is that the valleys being filled with salt is a sure indication of base metals; also, that the ocean being permeated with salt indicates the presence of metals, in the following order: Silver on top, lead between and gold on the bottom.

THE SUPERVISORS.—In the published ordinances elsewhere this week will be found about the entire result of the proceedings of the regular session of the Board of Supervisors. No bills were allowed or routine business transacted in a week's session, and the only other action had was to adjourn to a special meeting to be held September 3d. The New Confusion and the County Government bill are beginning to work out some of their beauties.

THE PHOTOGRAPHER.—Mr. Smith informs us that he will leave this place to return to Bishop on Thursday next, therefore all who have business in his line will do well to look after it immediately. Mr. Smith is by far the most accomplished artist who has ever visited this section, his work in crayon, water and oil colors being especially good.

"NEW AMERICA."—That portion of the valley lying east of Owens River and penetrated by the railroad is now popularly known as "New America." It is to be confidently and earnestly hoped that the development of New America will carry Inyo County into new conditions of prosperity.

THE LINE.—The telegraph line to the station opposite Independence was to be completed to that point to-day, according to latest report.

THANKS.—John Kispert and Uncle John Lank are entitled to the thanks of this office for favors in the shape of watermelons and grapes.

AT WORK.—Supt. Wingard will resume prospecting to-day on one of his promising claims across the river. We hope soon to pay it a visit and report upon its merits. Mr. Wingard is as fairly entitled to success in mining as any man who ever tried to earn it, and it is to be hoped that he has struck, or will, "strike it rich."

TROUTING.—Several fishing parties have during the past week, been taking in the enjoyments of "camping out" on the streams from the Sierras. The men, women and children, we notice, return with appetites just as good, if not better, than before they enjoyed faring upon fish.

APPOINTED.—Daniel Crough has been re-appointed to the County Board of Education, term expired. Mr. J. J. Gunn, of Darwin, has also been made a member of the Board, by the Board of Supervisors at their meeting last week.

GONE NORTH.—The Railroad construction train, with four hundred thousand, more or less, of "heathen Chinese," went northward last Wednesday, and is not likely to be heard from again for some months to come.

NEW POST OFFICE.—A new postoffice has been ordered established at "Keeler's Station," at the end of the railroad track.

TO RESUME.—Mr. Gibbs will resume his school at this place next Monday, after a week's vacation.

ACTION OF THE HEART.—As with each stroke the heart projects something like six ounces of blood into the conduits of the system, and as it does so some seventy times a minute and 4,200 times an hour, this implies that it does the same thing 100,800 times in twenty-four hours, 30,000,000 times in a year, and more than 2,500,000,000 times in a life of seventy years. The mechanical force that is exerted at each stroke amounts to a pressure of thirteen pounds upon the entire charge of blood that has to be pressed onward through the branching network of vessels. According to the lowest estimate that has been made, this gives an exertion of force that would be adequate, in another form of application, to lift 120 tons one foot high every twenty-four hours. Yet the piece of living mechanism that is call upon to do this, and do it without a pause for threescore years and ten without being itself worn out by the effort, is a small bundle of flesh that rarely weighs more than eleven ounces. It is in the nature of the case, also, it must be remembered, that this little vital machine cannot be at any time stopped for repair. If it gets out of order it must be set right as it runs. To stop the beating of the heart for more than the briefest interval would be to change life into death. The narrative of what medical science has done to penetrate into the secrets of this delicate force-pump, so jealously guarded from the intrusion of the eye that it cannot even be looked into until its action has ceased, is nevertheless, a long history of wonders. By means of the spygmograph—a writing style attached to the wrist by a system of levers and springs—the pulse is made to record actual autographs of cardiac and vascular derangementa.—Edinburgh Review.

THE first appearance of Yellow fever was coincided with the discovery of America. It reached Lisbon in 1774, and in 1778 broke out upon the western coast of Africa in the establishment of St. Louis and of Goree and along the coast of Sierra Leone. Sierra Leone and Boulam were ravaged in 1794. It was not untill 1820-22 that medical science learned how to effectually combat this terrible disease, as at precisely this epoch it had attained its greatest spead in the Northern Hemisphere. Spain ceased to be ravaged by this pest in 1828, after the great epidemic of Barcelona. In 1830 Goree and St, Louis were again devastated; in 1848 a epidemic, but less considerable, passed through the African settlements, and then came the sad times of 1873, 1878 and the following years. Yellow fever is still the scourge of Senegambia.

THE President is making his Yellowstone pilgrimage as mysterious as an initistion into the Sons of Malta. No persons are allowed on the reservation where he and the Indian chiefs are whiffing the pipe of peace, unless armed with the password, and it is given out that in this silence and mystery Mr. Arthur is incubating a new Indian policy. Instead of agents and annuites the Indians are to have bonds issued with coupons, and the scissors will replace the tomahawk while the noble savage will be taught to clip coupons instead of lifting scalps. According to the new plan the Indians are to take lands in severalty and live like white men, eating their bread in the sweat of their faces. The new policy has merit and Mr. Arthur has done many worse things than set it going.

A great many Chinese enter the United States from the Btitisb possessions on the north. Recently seventeen landed at Port Townsand and escaped into the woods. There is no punishment for eluding the exclusion law. If these parties were caught all that could be done with them is to send them out of the country. There is no penalty for violating the law and if a penal clause is not attached to it, Chinese ingenuity may be relied on to find means of introducing into the country as large accessions to their numbers as before the passage of the Exclusion Act.

THE bell rung by the San Francisco Vigilance Committee in 1856 hangs in the belfry of the Baptist Church at Peialuma, California, which purchased it in 1858. During the war the Unionists of that town rung it after every Union victory, much to the annoyance of those who sympathized with the South. One night the latter took the dell from the belfry and carried it off to a public store. It was recaptured and rung with renewed vigor. Next morning it was found broken, and is now shown to visitors as a relic of old California days.

THE Commissioners of Grant county, N. M., have taxed the Southern Pacific railroad $6,000 per mile upon 100 miles of road in that county. The Company is three years in arrears and the county has determined to commence action against them for their delinquent taxes.

MRS. GLADSTONE, whom Disraeli once described as "the woman without a single redeeming vice," devotes her life to the suffering and poor, who are her special charge. She spends scarcely anything upon herself, wearing the shabbiest of clothes, to save money for charity.

A COLORABLE excuse: Countess—"I told you expressly to paint the chamber blood color and you have made it blue." Painter—"I beg your pardon; I thought the gracious Countess had blue blood." —Paris paper.

A GREAT many foolish persons in Butte Co. have been running to a Chinese doctor, whose bills were high, to discover that he knows nothing, only how to charge.

YOLO County Supervisors have decided to issue bonds to the amount of $95,000,

A WRITER in the Southern Farmer says that his cow gives all the milk that is wanted in a family of eight, and that from it, after taking all that is required for other purposes, 260 pounds of butter were made this year. This is in part his treatment of the cow: "If you desire to get a large yield of rich milk, give your cows every day water slightly warmed and slightly salted, in which bran has been stirred at the rate of one quart to two gallons of water. You will find, if you have this daily practice, that your cow will give 25 per cent. more milk immediately under the effects of it, and she will be so attached to the diet as to refuse to drink clear water unless very thirsty; but this mess she will drink almost any time and ask for more. The amount of this drink necessary is an ordinary pail at a time, morning, noon and night."

THE most unkindest cut of all: Mr. Tralala to barber, after enjoying a hair-cut and his first shave, and receiving his check—"I think you have made a mistake. Isn't a shave 20 cents?" Barber, deprecatingly — "Really, I couldn't think of charging for that, sir." —Life.

NEW JERSEY, it is claimed, is the only State where the farmers pick green blackberries, cover them with black varnish and pass 'em off as perfectly ripe fruit. — Philadelphia Chronicle-Herald.

GOV. BUTLER is making much ado over the tanning of human skin at Tewksbury Almshouse. Years ago the rural schoolmaster tanned human hides every day and was commended for it. —Norristown Herald.

THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

This order had its birth in those trying times when Europe and Asia, Christianity and Mohamedism, waged such fierce conflicts for the mastery of the world. The Crusades are apt to be regarded as a bitter conflict between the devotees of two rival religious beliefs, born of bigotry and barren of important results. Such is a mistake. The Crescent was raised against the Cross in deadly warfare, true enough. The fate of Europe, from the standpoint of religion was at stake. But with religion went everything. Had the Crescent won, all Europe would have been like Turkey to-day. With the Mosque, Mineret and the Koran went plurality of wives, despotism, horrible burdens of taxation, barren fields, filth, wretchedness, misery and want.

The Crusaders had won Jerusalem from the Saracen and hundreds of pilgrims, religious devotees, crowded forward to visit the Holy City, the Manger, Calvary, the Sepulchre and the Mount of Ascension. Palestine was full of the followers of "The False Prophet." These pilgrims were subjected to most inhuman treatment at the hand of the "Infidels." In 1113 two Knights, companions in arms, one French, Godfrey Bisol, the other English but of Norman French descent, Hugh de Payens, determined to form a league for the guarding of the highways and protection of pilgrims to the Holy City. To these there soon joined themselves Godfrey de St. Aldemar, Payens de Montidier, Rolal Glendeniar, Archibald de St. Amon, Andrew de Montbar, and Robert, Count of Provence. There were nine in all, and the English Knight, Hugh de Payens, was chosen first Grand Master of the Order. They were called Knights Templar, or Templars, because there was allotted to them to keep their arms a building named the Temple of Jerusalem, part of the Convent. The solemn oath by which they swore to do their duty was as follows:

"I swear to consecrate my words, my arms, my strength, and my life to the defence of the mysteries of the faith, and that of the Unity of God. I also promise to be submissive and obedient to the Grand Master of the Order. Whenever it is needful I will cross the seas to fight, I will give help against all Infidel Kings and Princes; and in the presence of these enemies I will not fly, but fight, if they are Infidels."

They called themselves "Poor Soldiers of the Holy City." They wore a long white mantle, to which was afterwards added the red cross of the crusaders on the left shoulder. Their war cry, which became famous all through the Orient, and which carried terror to the hearts of their foes on many hard fought fields, was "Beauseant," from their banner, which was striped white and black, with a large red cross in the center. "Beauseant" is old French for a black and white horse.

The Templars have many legends and many emblems, but the seal proper of the order is a horse ridden by two Knights. It is commemorative of the poverty of the Order, whose first Grand Master and his friend, who together conceived the idea of founding it, were so poor they had but one horse and rode double. The legend peculiarly of the Knights is "In Hoc Signo Vinces," and refers to the cross on their banner. Their "Beausant," or banner, was inscribed with the legend: "Non nobis, Dominie, non nobis, sed nomini tuo, da gloriam." The courage of this band was never excelled. In one of their battles the Knight who carried the "Beauseant" held it raised above his head until the victorious Musselmans had pierced his whole body and cut off both his hands. Their fame drew numbers of the bravest soldiers of the day to their ranks. They became a large and most powerful body. Later they settled on the Island of Cyprus which became famous as their headquarters. Afterwards they had their headquarters at Paris where the Temple of the Order, as their convent was called, became the center of great wealth and influence. In England also they were numerous, rich and powerful. At the beginning of the fifteenth century the kings of these countries made war on the Order, procured its suppression and spoiled it of its riches. Jaques de Molay, a Burgundian, the Grand Master, and many Knights were burned. In England they were seized by stealth, imprisoned and dispersed among monks of other orders.

As a branch of Masonry, although of very exalted degree, the Templars are among the comparatively recent degrees. Masonry in its elementary forms, claims an antiquity reaching back to the days of King Solomon who erected the magnificent Temple of the Israelites at Jerusalem about 1,000 years before the Christian era. The Knights have many forms, emblems, legends, ceremonies and lessons referring to the stirring days and glorious achievements to which they owe their birth. The order is found in all parts of the world, and its ranks include nobles, crowned heads, kings and emperors. The Knights visiting California are almost without exception distinguished men in their several communities.—Los Angeles Express.

The New Postal Notes.

The new postal notes, which are to be used after September 31 in the transmission of small sums of money through the United States mails, are being printed rapidly in New York city, and they were ready for shipment to all parts of the country last Wednesday. Books of notes for the Postoffices of the far West were completed August 11th. Every book contains 500 postal note forms, with the address of the Postoffice printed on each note. The pages of the books are perforated, so that when the notes are torn out stubs remain to show the amounts for which they were issued. A note can be filled out by a Postmaster not exceeding $5, at a cost to the sender of three cents for each note. The notes are made payable to bearer, and they can be used as fractional currency in any place to which they are sent. The notes are all printed on pure linen banknote paper of the very best quality, chemically prepared in such a manner as not to be affected by moisture or exposure to light, while it is sensitive to the action of acids or other liquids commonly used by forgers. The color of the paper is a pure lemon, and the front surface is printed over with an underlying tint of golden brown—a combination selected by Superintendent McDonald as being the safest and most suitable for the purpose. The water marks in the paper, twisted in the form of a figure 8, have the words "U. S. Postal Note" in duplicate—reading from both left and right. These water marks can be seen only when the note is held up between the light and the eye. Three printings are required to complete the note. In the underlying tint is a vignette consisting of a classical female head wearing a helmet. Much of the tint is made up of miniature photographic designs, containing the words "United States Postal Note" repeated many hundred times, and engraved so finely that one can read the words with the naked eye, while it would be difficult to make a counterfeit. Winged wheels, with a halo from behind, make up a portion of the tint. The back of the note is elaborate and is printed in a dark green. In the center is the monogram "U.S.," engraved with a geometrical lathe. The monogram is imbedded in an intricate cycloidal lace work of white line cutting, the tracings for which were done also with the geometrical lathe. The contract for engraving and printing the several million postal notes which will be required by the Postoffice Department in the next four years was awarded to the Homer Lee Bank Note Company in June, and the Postmaster General obliged the company to give bonds to the amount of $2,000,000. About 200 skilled artisans were employed by the company to complete the first part of the contract, and they have been at work in relays day and night for a month.

FINLAND has a new religion, and a queer one. It is confined to two or three counties. Its inventors call themselves the "Pure by Excellence," and profess the superiority and supremacy of woman, who must control the family. In every house where the new doctrines are practiced a woman, elected by her companions, is invested with a sort of directing power, which gives her the right to inflict penance and even rigorous chastisement. The new creed requires that all its disciples shall confess their sins to certain women at least once a week.

W. W. MORELAND, Private Secretary of Governor Stoneman, is engaged visiting and investigating orphan asylums that receive State aid. About $200,000 a year is expended for the maintenance of orphans, half-orphans, and abandoned children in private asylums. Under a law passed last session $150 a year is paid to the asylums for maintaining foundlings until they reach eighteen months of age. Far as reported he has found the orphans of the State healthy and well cared for.

A FRENCHMAN, living in Louisiana, whose wife deserted him, amused his neighbors by telling how he got her back without trouble. "Did I run after her and beg her to come back?" he dramatically asked. "No, I did not run after her. I zhust published in ze papaire zat I have drawn fifty tousand dollars in ze lottery, and she vas back much quicker as no time."

THE arguments in the prison investigation are concluded, and the case is now taken under advisement by the Governor and Judge Wallace. It will probably be some time before a decision is arrived at, and when it is declared it will command the respect of the State.

THE first postage stamp ever used in this country is believed to have been brought out in New Haven in 1846 by E. A. Mitchell, who was then the Postmaster there. Mr. Mitchell, in response to many complaints of inconvenience in paying postage at the delivery windows, as the office was sometimes closed, and it took time at best, finally got a stamp engraved and printed. These stamps were sold at postage rates and proved very convenient. Mr. A. E. Lines, an engraver at New Haven, has found the original design. He had engraved it in 1846, and saved it. The stamping tool was made for use as a cancelling stamp, is now used, and the letters were engraved on brass. Recently Mr. Lines showed his old design to Postmaster Sperry, of New Haven, who told him he had been offered $400 for one of the impressions.

THERE is something almost pathetic in the history of labor strikes in the last thirteen years, as told to the United States Senate Committee, now engaged in investigating the relations between capital and labor. The record shows that there have been in this country and Europe 2,524 strikes, lasting in the aggregate 9,027 weeks, or 54,162 days, and resulting in a loss to the strikers of $22,237,000. Of the whole number 72 are known to have been won by the strikers, 91 were compromised, 189 were lost, and about 2,000 are unaccounted for, though it is supposed they too were lost. It would appear, then, that when a strike is made the chances are 2,280 to 72, or 30 to 1, that it will fail, and the results of the failure fall upon the strikers and their families.

THE south and west are getting the benefit of the year's booms. The Industrial Exposition at Louisville is the great event in that line, while the Knight Templar Conclave will draw the closest attention of a superior class of citizens in every State to the wonderful resources, both developed and latent, which California offers to capital and enterprise.

THE doings of the Detroit Copper Company look wonderfully like business just now. Another load of two thousand pounds was shipped down to the railroad to-day.—Bodie Miner, Aug. 16.

THE GRAND ARCHES.

Speaking of the decorations in San Francisco, the Chronicle says: The pedestals are decorated with the square and compass and other emblems of the Order pointed in blue and gold. Above there are showy shields and trophies of arms and flags, the combined colors of the Templars and the flags of all nations forming a pleasing contrast to the light brown hue of the arch on the northwest side and the dark brown hue on the east side. The framework of the arch is of Otegon pine of considerable strength, the strong wind which sweeps the main thoroughfare in the afternoon making solid workmanship a necessity.

The arch at the junction of Post, Market and Montgomery streets, though far smaller than that on Market street, appears very high. Its design is far more modern than that of the Market street structure. It is also of a lighter hue. The pedestals are high, the arch semi-circular and the entablature lighter and more ornamental than the Gothic design. On the Sutter street side of the arch stands a tall Knight, in brown armor, looking like one of the figures in steel that stand in the niches of the Tower of London. Above the guardian Knights are painted shields and trophies of arms, in which the red, white and black, so emblematic of the Templar Order, predominate. Above these trophies are other painted stands of the colors of all nations. Above the keystone of the arch is a grand trophy and shield with the motto, "In Hoc Signo Vinces." The entablature is decorated with the representation of a bas-relief descriptive of an ancient tented field and band of mounted Knights. The whole work is surmounted by the tall figure of six Knights in armor, three on each side, and all bearing banners of their Order. The Knight in the center stands erect and holds aloft a banner which flutters in the breeze above those of the other two Knights, who kneel and look toward the center figure. Three Knights face toward Market street and three face in the opposite direction. The figures are typical of warriors armed cap-a-pie. From their casques float long plumes of red, black and white, their tunics are of white and red, and above and beneath this dress appear their coat of mail and gyves. The concert is very spirited and effective, and the archway receives fully as much attention as is paid to the more expensive and pretentious work that spans the wider street. From the archway droop American and Templar flags, while garlands and wreaths entwine the pedestals.

NEWS from Terrell, Texas, says a bloody war of races is imminent at that point between the whites and blacks, growing out of the lynching of Martin Bradley, a negro who attempted to rape a young white woman, Miss Cora Brackman, early on Tuesday night, and was lynched on the following Friday night. Three days later (on the 19th) several hundred negroes assembled at Wells' Point, Forney, Eleus and other neighboring towns, armed themselves, determined to burn Terrell and murder the white inhabitants, but the whites were informed of these events and prepared for defense. Nearly every white man in Terrell strapped a shotgun on his shoulder, and the town was patrolled all night. The negroes knew of of this state of affairs and refrained from making the attack, The town is under guard day and night. The telegraph wire is down, and there is no information direct. The facts detailed came through by rail on the night of the 20th. The dispatch adds: "The white men are determined and it will be terrible for the negroes if they make the threatened attack. Cool counsel from leading negroes and the following of it by their race can alone prevent a virtual obliteration of all those engaged."

ONE of the ships advertised for sale by the United States government is the New Orleans, which was commenced in the latter part of December, 1814, at Sackett's Harbor, N.Y, Work on her was prosecuted for six weeks, and was stopped and never since contioued. She has lain there and rotted for the past sixty-nine years. Of course she is practially valueless, but it is suggested that, as she is a subject of curiosity, drawing thousands of people annually, canes might be made of her as souvenirs, and greatly to the profit of purchaser, as she is apprised at but $200. She was to be of 4,200 tons capacity.

THE Virginia and Truckee Railroad Company offer $100 reward for the man who attempted to ditch the Virginia passenger train on Friday morning of last week.

THE SUPPLY OF GOLD.

The question of the future supply of gold is becoming one of interest in view of the fact that, since 1861, every gold producing country, except Russia and Australia, have shown year by year a marked decline, and the increase of these two countries by no means meets the deficiency, so that the total amount of gold produced shows a falling off of from an average of $139,020,000 in 1861 to $108,885,000 in 1882, a decrease of $30,155,000 in the last 21 years. During this time it must be understood that the territory of mining has been widely extended, and that a large proportion of the silver mines, opened within this time in the newer Territories, nearly all add something to the product of gold as they, in almost every case, show a good percentage of this metal. Hence it appears that the production of gold continues to decrease, although more than usual activity is manifested in the Southern States, and within the last 10 years the silver mines in half a dozen new Territories have added their not inconsiderable tribute to the total amount. The question of a permanent may be well taken into consideration by those who would urge the demonetization of silver and use of gold alone as the currency of commerce and business. Before creating a new demand it is well to measure the volume of supply, and estimate its sources and probable continuance. The currency question of this country is clearly indicated by the measure of its resources.

It is probable that new sources of gold will be discovered, and that the old fields, under improved appliances, will continue to yield their tribute for years, but whether it will keep pace with the demand is a question of more than passing interest.

IT is learned from "Lida," the correspondent of the True Fissure, residing at Lida Valley, that the mill at that place has been running half time since July 1st. It is doing custom work, and producing a fair showing of bullion. Two lots of ore taken from the Morning Star, which is the first eastern extension of the Death Valley lode, have been worked with good results. One lot paid $207 per ton, the other $168. The ore from the North Star (Blue Dick) and Cinderilla has been worked and produced three bars of bullion. As these are the mines of the parties who made the clean-up, and are very reticent as to the value of the bullion, the amount was not ascertained, but, presumably, the yield was good. The mill company, which is composed of Messrs. Stewart & Vollman, is now engaged crushing ore from its mines in Death Valley. The ore is paying well. The first bullion shipment was made about the 5th instant, one bar weighing 1,100 ounces. The mill will be kept running indefinitely. The returns have just been received from three lots of high grade ore sent to San Francisco for reduction. The lot from the North Star paid $1,320 per ton; from the Morning Star, $750 per ton, and from the Sewana, $1,335 per ton. The large percentage of gold contained in the ore from the North Star and Sewana induced the shipment to a market that would realize all the mineral in it. The mill at Lida accounts for but little other than the silver.

A COPY of the Carson Independent, published by the late Israel Crawford, twenty years ago, accidentally fell into the hands of a Reno Journal reporter the other day. It is a curiosity in its way, as reflecting pioneer life in the sagebrush. Its columns teem with exciting news from the seat of war, received by pony express, rich mining discoveries, shooting scrapes, etcetera. Among others an account is given of an attempt by a gang of roughs to assassinate Pat Reddy, the noted lawyer, from which Reddy escaped by a miracle with his life, but had his right arm so badly shattered with bullets that it had to be amputated. None but old timers can fully appreciate early life in Nevada.

LATE advices from St. Petersburg show that the revolutionary fraternity has not abated its energy since the coronation but is as implacable as ever. The discoveries of conspirators in high places are as numerous as ever, and an endless procession of manacled prisoners passes, without interruption, from Eastern Russia to remote Siberia. Such is the secrecy with which the prosecutions are conducted and so rigorous is the suppression of the press, that no news is obtained from Russia, except such as is gained from time to time by one or two correspondents of English papers, and it is of the most meager description.

THE San Francisco Chronicle, with its old-time and characteristic enterprise, scored a world-wide triumph in journalism in its great issue devoted to Conclave matters.

THE Daily Report, of San Francisco, comes out in fine form as a first-class evening paper. It is independent, spicy as the best and thrives on its own merit.

THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER.

A newspaper is a business enterprise, and must be conducted on business principles. Men are constantly asking favors from newspapers, says the New York Tribune, which means a sacrifice of space representing money, who would never dream of asking lawyers to take cases without fees, or expect their doctors to take their pay in thanks. Newspapers, being business enterprises, must live in a business way. The daily journal is a product rather than a force. It will not only reflect but represent the age it lives in. It is true, and especially true in this country, that newspapers, in the hands of men having convictions and believeing that they could, with this modern lever help to move the world, have accomplished great things. Without them the great movement of the past century for the furtherance of personal, religious, and political liberty would have traveled at a snail's pace. As a rule, newspapers are what their leaders make them. The responsibility of subscribers is as great in its way as that of the editor. The surest way of keeping the standard of our journalism high, and of raising them, is for that portion of the public which knows the necessity of a dignified and able press to withhold its support altogether from newspapers which cater to depraved tastes and are reckless of the truth, and to give it to newspapers which can safely be taken into the family, and are not only decent, but just.

IF the English papers are to be believed, the new Chinese corvette, the Ting-Yuen, just built at Stettin by a German firm, will be quite as dangerous to its crew as to an enemy. At the first discharge of one of the big Krupp guns, skylights and windows were smashed, a smoke stack was snapped in two, a thick iron rail on the bridge was wrenched from its place, furniture was shattered to pieces and an eruption of coal from the bunkers appeared on deck. Not satisfied with this experiment, the effect of a whole volley was tried. The effect was tremendous, and very nearly reduced the whole vessel to a condition in which gentlemen could have put it in their pockets and carried it away as a memento of the occasion.

THE following curious sign is kept before the eyes of the public at the foot of a steamboat landing in Portland, Maine: "No passes given to tramps. Do not take the trouble to ask for them. In those days there was no passes given. Search the Scriptures. Thou shalt not pass.—Numb. xx., 18. Suffer not a man to pass.—Judges iii., 28. The wicked shall no more pass.—Nahum i., 15. None shall pass.—Isaiah xxxiv., 10. This generation shall not pass.—Mark iii., 30. Though they roar yet can they not pass.—Jeremiah v., 22. So he paid the fare thereof and went.—Jonah i., 3."

AS EVERYONE knows, the great strike of the telegraph operators has proved a failure. It is just such results as this that open public eyes to the rapacity and power of individual and corporate wealth—the merciless and grinding cupidity of the Goulds and Vanderbilts, and if some starved-out operator turns communist or nihilist it is not much to be wondered at. If these men of a-million-a-month income should happen to contract the Asiatic cholera and kick the bucket, there would be much ostentation about their funerals, but very little real mourning.

So far as a decision of a United States Circuit Court has effect, the Chinese restriction act is stamped out of existence. This decision is in a line of other nullifying acts by the State, Treasury and Justice Departments, and is doubtless inspired by the Executive. It is a bold attempt on the part of the Executive and Judiciary to undo the work the legislative department has done.

THE New York Times prints the list of a dozen army and navy officers charged with either duplicating pay accounts, embezzlement, bigamy or drunkenness, awaiting the return of the Secretaries of War and Navy for trial by court martial, and says great efforts are being made by friends to screen some of them from the consequences of their acts.

THE Enterprise says that a rancheress of Washoe Valley has a novel method of preserving eggs for Winter use. In Summer she breaks the eggs, pours the contents into bottles, which are tightly corked and sealed, when they are placed in the cellar, neck down. The contents of the bottles come out as fresh as when first put in. She puts a dozen eggs into each bottle.

THE Boys and Girls Aid Society of San Francisco will furnish children for adoption, or for indenture or wage service, to persons applying with satisfactory endorsement. Address E. T. Dooley, Superintendent, 68 Clementina St., San Francisco, who will furnish all particulars concerning this benevolent and most praiseworthy organization

THE business at the San Francisco clearing house last week was the largest of any week for a long time, and among the largest in the history of the institution. There were twenty-five ships taken in that port the last week to load wheat for Europe. The next four months will witness active business on this Coast and a large movement of produce out. As prices are high the revenues will be of a corresponding magnitude. The wheat crop alone will return at least $40,000,000 and may go a decade better. Every sign points to an unusually prosperous year for every California interest. The influx of newcomers will be very large.

THE five principal nations of the world, in point of territory, are the British and Russian, the Chinese, the Brazilian and the United States in the order mentioned. The British Empire covers 8,388,000 square miles; Russia 8,325,393; Chinese Empire about 4,540,000; Brazil and the United States respectively, 3,388,000 and 3,002,852 square miles. With respect to population, the British Empire has 305,400,000; the Chinese, according to the latest estimate, about 270,000,000; Russia 100,038,324; the United States 52,000,000; and Brazil about 10,200,000.

A LARGE wagon load of goods left Los Angeles a few days ago for Resting Springs, which is distant about one hundred miles from Daggett Station, on the new railroad from Mohave to the Needles, and just inside the Inyo lines. It takes from twelve to twenty days to make the trip from the station to the camp. Ten miles a day is an unusual pace, as the road lies through sand, and the wheels labor and creak through it just as through snow. Water is worth a fabulous price on the way, if a caravan happens to get out of it.

THE Postoffice Department, in accordance with a requirement to that effect, recently sent a notice to a woman in Ohio informing her that a letter addressed to her was held on account of insufficient postage. She didn't let her curiosity get the better of her and send the required stamp for it. But instead she sent a note, and this is what it said: "When pumpkins are ripe I will send you one that has more brains than ever had the man who made this ruling on postage."

THE Catholics and Orangemen had a serious riot on the 20th at Coatbridge, Scotland. It was kept up two days, spite of all the police could do to suppress it. On the second day, after reading the Riot Act and being strongly reinforced, the police charged and dispersed the mob, arresting fifty Catholics. The were a number of serious casualties, but none immediately fatal.

THE man who was so eager to imitate the foolhardy feat of Captain Webb at Niagara has evidently weakened. He now talks of sending a dog through the rapids, in order to test his patent bathing apparatus, but the authorities are determined to put a stop to this clear case of cruelty to brutes. It now looks as though this man's desire to achieve notoriety would be nipped in the bud.

ROCHESTER, Minn., was partially destroyed on Tuesday by a cyclone, which also blew a railroad train off the track; the loss of life is estimated at over 100.

SMALLPOX, cholera and yellow fever are reported to be raging in Mexico and Central America.

BOTH ends of the Northern Pacific were connected in Montana Wednesday.

How to Frighten the Birds.

Many California papers are proposing plans for keeping birds from trees bearing small fruit. The Napa Register proposes to hang strings of sleigh bells on the trees, with cords reaching to the house, by means of which wild tunes may be jangled out. If they want no more trouble with the birds let the ranchmen send East to the manufacturers of toy balloons and get them to manufacture a lot of artificial hawks, the bodies of which may be inflated with gas. One or two of these let up into the air 200 or 300 feet, by means of a small cord, will protect whole acres of ground against birds. If there is anything that causes loss of appetite to a small bird it is to have a large and able hawk plunging about over his head. When the rubber manufacturers take out a patent for this invention of ours, either as a toy or scarecrow, we shall claim a royal royalty.—Virginia Enterprise.

MOODINESS seems to typify the life of ex-Governor Stanford, who does not look like a man who enjoys his millions. He used to be seen here frequently three years ago, on the streets and at the theaters. Everywhere he had a curious absorbed look, and was attended generally by a male companion, who appeared to be a kind of a body guard. With him the millionaire exchanged a few words, but for the most part he sat through tragedy or roaring farce, his heavy features unlightened by a smile or a gleam of interest, and his large hands clasped over the big golden head of his cane. He has by all odds the strongest face of any of the Central Pacific managers. He appears to be a man without intimate friends, and to have a profound suspicion of human nature, probably due to the fact that he has been brought in contact with so many unworthy specimens of the tuft hunter and adventurer.—S. F. Letter.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all Officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 2.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present. E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The regular meetings of the Board of Supervisors must be held at Independence on the First Mondays in February, May, August and November of each year, and must continue from time to time until the business before them is disposed of.

Such other meetings must be held to canvass election returns and other purposes as provided by law or ordered by the Board.

The Board shall also meet on the first Monday of July, as a Board of Equalization, and must continue in session from time to time until the business of equalization is disposed of, not later than the fourth Monday in July.

The Board shall meet on the first Monday of October of each year, for the purpose of levying State and County taxes, and fix the rate of county licenses.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.

Attest: JOHN CROUGH,
Clerk.

PERSONAL MATTERS.—Mr. M. G. Nixon and Henry Mack, of the the Defiance at Darwin, passed southward last Wednesday, after a visit to the Clover Patch District, in southern Mono. They report Joe McDermott's mines as being really splendid, which Mr. Nixon and he (Joe) are now developing, while the mill is under lease to Farmington. ... General Superintendent Yerington of the Railroad, with his family, went to the end of the track on Tuesday morning last, in his private car.... Capt. Keeler paid us a call to-day, with encouraging news from Cerro Gordo and Wild Rose Districts.

TELEGRAPH.—It was rather an old-time delight, the other morning, over at the depot, to listen to operator and Station-master Jones manipulate the telegraph instruments. After so many years of isolation, it seemed quite an experience to be talking, as it were, with the whole outside world. The wires of the Western Union are now complete to Hawley, and if anyone in the valley has anything urgent or complimentary to say to anyone anywhere within modern civilization they can say it right quick.

A KILLING.—A dispatch from Hawthorne last Thursday gave the following account of the demise of a quite noted character in Nevada: "In Hawthorne this morning at 6:30 'Jimmy Fresh' killed Richard Darling, alias 'Rattlesnake Dick,' by shooting him once in the head and twice in the body. It appears that Dick had threatened Jimmy's life last night in a quarrel and this morning as he (Dick) was going into Shoner's hotel Jimmy opened fire on him, with the effect just stated."

IN THE FIELD.—Our readers will note elsewhere the advertisement of Messrs. Knapp & Laws, whose extensive general merchandise stores are located at Hawthorne, Wabuska and the "Construction, C. & C. R. R." In its line of specialties the firm enjoys a good trade all along the line; besides, our farmers may find it decidedly advantageous to ship their products to them.

A QUERY.—The all-absorbing question among our local financiers is as to whether outstanding county warrants issued since 1880 are legal or not, and if they have not been issued exactly according to law, can the floating indebtedness be refunded? Can there be obtained the two-thirds vote necessary to ratify the proposition? The developments of the whole muddle are being anxiously awaited for.

BURNED.—On Monday last the house and adjacent structures on the ranch belonging to Geo. H. Palmer, near the Lone Pine bridge across Owens River, were destroyed by fire, involving a loss altogether of about $1,000. The owner was not there at the time time; but a couple of dissolute men were, who, however, succeeded in saving the hay-stack.

IS IT TRUE?—Sheriff Gregg says that there is a rumor afloat at Bishop to the effect that both Wm. O. Harrell and Johnny Williams had been killed in a fight somewhere in Arizona. The report comes from a letter received by a lady at Bishop, but the whole matter lacks confirmation.

NEW ARRANGEMENT. — The Good Templar Lodge has entirely re-painted, papered and fitted up the lower story of the Masonic Hall, which will be used hereafter as its place of meeting. The lady members of the order are zealously working for the cause; and, with their assistants, deserve credit.

THE KEYNOT.—It is said that the late clean up at the Keynot mill was first class. Not having received the Superintendent's report so as to get the figures exact, a statement is laid over until next issue.

A CHANCE FOR TEAMSTERS OR FARMERS.—In an advertisement elsewhere this week Mr. Rittgers, of Lone Pine offers for sale a fine teaming outfit at a very low figure.

OFFICIAL.—The Superior Court and the Board of Supervisors will commence grinding out legal and official business again the 3d proximo—one week from next Monday.

FILED.—The Carson and Colorado Railroad Company filed in the County Clerk's office to-day a fine plat of the road, as it extends so far through this county.

BISMARCK says that France threatens the peace of Europe.

MOUNT VESUVIUS is again in a state of eruption.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 25.....1883

Run on the Rail.

"Was I ever in San Francisco?" said Doolicker, in response to Theophilus's question. "Was I? Well, I've been there more times than you've got hairs on your head."

"Well, say, paw, did you ever count the trains you met on the road between Omaha and San Francisco?"

"Of course I have, Theophilus; I used to run an engine from Omaha to 'Frisco."

Theophilus laid aside his slate and said his teacher had given him this problem to solve:

Suppose there is one train each way every day—one train leaves Omaha each noon, and one leaves San Francisco each noon. It takes five days to make the trip. How many trains does each train meet?

"Pshaw, Theophilus, I am ashamed of you. You ought to solve so simple a problem in a twinkling. If I had never run a train on that road I would know how many trains any one of them would meet. Of course if it took five days to go from Omaha to San Francisco, and there was only one train a day leaving San Francisco to Omaha, it stands to reason that the westward bound train would meet five trains coming east."

"But then, paw, I can't figure it out that way. I make it ten."

"You can't? Well, you're a stupid dolt, Theophilus. If it wasn't as as the nose on your face I could prove it by my own experience. Now it used to take us just five days and one hour to make the run from Omaha to San Francisco, and there was one train a day each way. When I was half an hour out from Omaha I used to meet Bill Sheffield's train. Then uext day I met Bob Santley's, the next Jack Moseley's, the next Jim Baker's, and the next, just before I got to 'Frisco, Dan Hackney's. That's every train I met—just five, you see."

"But, paw, just as you left Omaha you met the train that left San Francisco five days before, didn't you?"

"Yes, of course."

"Well, when you had gone half the distance, hadn't you met the five trains which left San Francisco before you left Omaha? What became of the other five that left San Francisco while you were on the road?"

Doolicker thought he heard the telephone bell ring and went in to see what was wanted.—Chicago Herald.

A New Cannon.

The great multi-charge cannon which recently arrived in New York is expected to constitute a new departure in ordnance. Since the Civil war the United States has been falling behind the more warlike nations of Europe in the invention and construction of military arms, but, if successful, this cannon will be the most formidable weapon in the world. Heretofore all cannons have received the full charge of powder in the breech, but the multicharge gun contains four "pockets" underneath, each of which holds twenty-eight pounds of powder, while the breech itself holds but eighteen pounds. As the projectile starts from the breech the force of the entire one hundred and thirty pounds of powder is concentrated on it, one "pocket" after another rapidly discharging its contents. The gun is twenty-five feet long and weighs twenty-five tons. It is rendered doubly strong by a steel lining, and, it is thought, can hurl a projectile through a solid piece of iron twenty-four inches thick. It will shoot, it is claimed, from twelve to fifteen miles, and is intended for both harbor and naval defense. The present gun was manufactured at a cost of over $50,000. The projectiles with which it is loaded weigh from one hundred to one hundred and fifty pounds. A company with a large capital has been organized for the manufacture of the gun.

Where He Lost.

A Hoosier, who was jogging into Indianapolis the other day, looked so down in the mouth that an acquaintance halted him to ask if any of the family were dead.

"No," was the rather regretful reply.

"Anybody sick?"

"Guess not. The old woman was licking the children when I came away."

"Then what's the matter?"

"I've been busted by a railroad."

"How?"

"Why, you know them five acres of mine out there? Well, I was calculating to ask the company $5000 for the right of way across and have enough land left to pasture the cows and raise our taters, but they played sneak on me."

"They did?"

"Yes; sent one of their agents to me and bought up the whole patch for $50 an acre and I've got to vacate. That's just the way with them monopolies and no one need tell me that a poor man has any chance in this country."—Wall Street News.

THE death of Judge Black removes from our politics and polemics one of the most interesting and picturesque worthies of the century. Born and reared a farmer, his education was largely gotten from books read, as Franklin read, in the intervals of arduous toil. What systematic culture he obtained was by a few months attendance at a private academy, which he left at the age of seventeen. In his after career as Prosecuting Attorney, Judge, Chief Justice, and Attorney General of the United States, he continually exhibited the highest professional attainments and genius of the first order, and it was said of this farmer boy of Somerset, by a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the U. S., that to listen to his arguments before that august bench was edifying as the reading of Macaulay. He was a great man and a patriot; peace to his ashes and long life to his example.

THE dispatches indicate that the cholera in Egypt is abating. It is probably because there is little material left for the scourge to work on.

The Old Comstockers.

The first locators of the Comstock lode seem to have but little interest in it now, and they are scattered far and near. Alva Gould, who staked the parties who discovered silver in Gold Hill in 1859, lives in Reno, and runs a fruit wagon around through the ranches in the valley. Abe C. Curry is dead. A. G. White, of the firm of White & Murphy, is in the sheep business. He lived some years at Tecoma, Nevada, but moved north last year. John Murphy made a raise and died in San Francisco. R. D. Sides is at work on Theodore Winters' ranch in Washoe Valley. Joseph Kirby lives in this city. Henry B. Comstock suicided in Boise City in 1868. Emanuel Penrod is in Elko county, mining. Pete Riley and Pat McLaughlin are dead. John Bishop is knocking around, and not rich. H. B. Camp is in New Mexico. James Corey is working a mine on American Flat. Joseph Webb is dead. E. Belcher is in the cattle business at Evanston, Wyoming. Abernethy is at Suisun, and Baldwin is at Napa on a farm. Casteli froze to death at Meadow Lake. J. C. Osburn is dead, and Joseph Rodgers shot himself in this city. Sandy Bowers is buried on the hillside back of the Bowers Mansion in Washoe Valley, and his widow is telling fortunes for a living. Len. C. Savage has been buried some years, and his widow is a respected citizen of Reno. Norcross is foreman of a planing mill in San Francisco. James Finney ("Old Virginny"), is dead. Not one of the old boys have a cent's interest in the Comstock, and few of them much property of any kind.—Enterprise.

To prevent mould on the top of glasses of jelly lay a lump of paraffine on the top of the hot jelly, letting it melt and spread over it. No brandy, paper and no other covering is necessary. If preferred, the paraffine can be melted and poured over after the jelly is cold.

How could any of us endure a man who never committed a sin of any sort in all his life?

How old Ben Franklin lied when he said "Early to bed and early to rise makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."—New York Graphic.

It is remarkable that the Conclave came and passed without untoward accident or casualty. The great crowds came the long journey by rail, indulged in crowded excursions by land here, and on the water in steam craft and sail vessels, met in packed audiences and marched in long processions, without the least harm happening to man, woman or child. The result is a decided compliment to the management and safety of our transportation agencies as well as to the general committee which so wisely supervised all the movements of the great pilgrimage. —Oakland Times.

The Wheatland Graphic is authority for the statement that C. P. Berry is to be appointed Railroad Commissioner in place of Carpenter, who contemplates resigning.

Twelve years ago Germany had only 1,870 theological students. Now it numbers 3,707 Protestants and 760 Catholics preparing for the ministry.

At Los Angeles Robert Proby is under arrest for pretending to be dead, with a view of cheating the Odd Fellows out of $7,000.

What "Hall's Journal of Health" Says

The best of remedies in many cases of accidents are are a cool head and a knowledge of what should be done.

There is no immediate danger from severing a superficial vein of considerable size; but not so with arteries. When an artery is cut the red blood spurts out in a jet at each pulsation. The first thing to be done is to check the bleeding until the doctor comes. This can always be done by pressing the thumb on the artery above the wound—that is, between the artery and the heart—or else, if the wound is small, pressing the thumb firmly on the wound; this stops the flow of blood through that artery below the point of pressure. If the wound is where it can be bandaged, use a small compress, which may be a small stone, piece of wood or other hard substance: put this on the wound and tie a bandage or pocket handkerchief around to produce pressure and keep the stone in position that the bleeding can't go on.

If the person could forget that the wounded was a human being and imagine that he was stopping a leak in a cask, he would do it coolly and effectually. It is the responsibility that unnerves us. A cool head is best for heroic deeds.

If a person receives a fracture of the skull, life often depends on at once raising up the splintered edges of the wound, so as to relieve pressure on the brain. Any one might do this with the blade of a pocket knife, or even a nail, and thus, perhaps, save a valuable life, if he knew that it was necessary and had presence of mind.

Thus all can appreciate the value of such knowledge as may be utilized at any time in the relief of suffering and the saving of life, since various accidents are constantly occurring on every side of of us. Without such knowledge no one is safe for one hour, and he can give but little aid to others in case of need.

If a person is thrown from a wagon in the street and severely injured, hundreds, perhaps, will gather around him; and although he may be bleeding to death from a wound that could be instantly compressed with the thumb and the bleeding stopped, the chances are that not one person will come to his relief, because not one will know what should be done. In Dr. Hall's Health al Home a case is mentioned where a child of ten years accidentally tapped a main artery of the leg with a pocket knife. One member of the family hastened to call a physician, while the others wept bitterly as they watched the life blood flowing away, and not knowing what to do, they did nothing to check the flow of blood. When the doctor arrived the child was dead.

A soft alloy which attaches itself so firmly to the surface of metals, porcelain and glass that it can be employed to solder articles that will not bear a very high temperature can be made as follows: Copper dust obtained by precipitation from a solution of the sulphate by means of zinc is put in a cast iron or porcelain lined mortar and mixed with strong sulphuric acid, specific gravity 1.85. From 20 to 30 or 36 parts of the copper are taken, according to the hardness desired. To the cake formed of acid and copper there is added, under constant stirring, 70 parts of mercury. When well mixed, the amalgam is carefully rinsed with warm water to remove all the acid, and then set aside to cool. In 10 or 12 hours it is hard enough to scratch tin. If it is to be used now, it must be heated so hot that when worked over and brayed in an iron mortar it becomes as soft as wax. In this ductile form it can be spread out on any surface, to which it adheres when it gets cold and hard. Amateur Mechanic.

The recent decision of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, which virtually nullifies the Chinese Restrictive Act of Congress, is creating much discussion. The petitioner before the Court came from Hong Kong, a British colony, and the Court decides he is therefore not amenable to the Restriction Act, which applies exclusively to subjects of the Chinese Empire. The question seems to depend upon the status of Hong Kong Chinamen under the English law. If Hong Kong Chinamen are not Chinamen under the English laws, the Marysville Appeal says, they must be English Chinamen, and the United States will be compelled to treat with England in relation to the matter. One thing is certain, if England claims Hong Kong Chinese as her subjects we would have heard of before this late day.

Captain Eads was interviewed in New York the other day. He says the Tehuantepec ship railroad will be built if he lives five years longer; that it will save 2,400 miles of sea voyage over the Panama canal between Liverpool or New York and the Orient, and that it will cost about $50,000,000. He further said he had received many letters from England touching the enterprise of building a ship railroad across Suez; the fact being, that while England had the country Lesseps had the exclusive right to buy the canal, but could not interdict the building of a ship railway. Captain Eads thinks a ship railway for the ninety miles across Suez could be built for $25,000,000 or $30,000,000, against the $100,000,000 which the Suez canal cost.

It is recently reported that a disease of a very peculiar nature has make its appearance in New South Wales. Persons affected with it exhibit symptoms very similar to those of hydrophobia. The malady is attributed to the use of of the flesh of sheep infected with parasites.

More Legal Nonsense.

Mr. Dods, who despoiled the Oakland treasury in order that he might have material for private speculations, has taken up his residence in the State Prison for five years—so the sentence says. But this righteous judgment is, it is reported, to be imperiled because Mr. Dods' lawyer has a grand theory of innocence upon which he can elevate Mr. Dods to a higher court. This lawyer appeals in this strain: Mr. Dods did not intend to steal the money; he expected to replace it; he was infatuated, and desperate in his speculation, and his intention was not to steal. Now, in the intent to commit the crime, lies the essence of the guilt, and as Mr. Dods' intention was good, or at least, not bad, he cannot be guilty as charged.

This is the lofty logic upon which the case is to be appealed to the Supreme Court. Of course, it is all nonsense. Probably very few of the thousands of embezzlers and defrauders who have abused public and private trusts have intended to steal, but nevertheless, the money has been converted to private uses, the trust has been outraged and the culprits are guilty, and deserve the full legal penalty for their crimes.

Intentions are well enough in their way. Even good intentions serve some purpose—they say that hell is paved with them. But good intentions are not strong enough to lift a poor miserable thief out of the stocks because he stole to meet his pressing needs; nor should good intentions free from guilt one who fritters away the public funds in private speculations. We hope the Supreme Court will sit down quickly and very heavily upon the counsel of Mr. Dods, and that Mr. Dods himself shall remain in durance until he has time to consider how strange it is that a man with such innocent intentions could be so great a rascal.

The outcome of a recent scandal at Modesto, in this State, shows the danger of mob violence. A couple of weeks ago, when charges were first made that a lawyer named Robbins had been tampering with a number of young girls there, public indignation was so great that, had the officers not spirited the accused away from the place he would have been lynched. Now public opinion has almost entirely changed. A medical examination of the children alleged to have been tampered with has proven the charges to be groundless, and the mother of the girl who first made the complaint against Robbins has been held up to scorn as a would-be blackmailer—one who had used her children for similar purposes in other communities. The charges against Robbins included other citizens, all of whom came near being hanged by the indignant populace. There is now some talk of tarring and feathering the McCrellis crowd and driving them from the town.

It is said that John Wesley was once walking along a road with a brother, who related to him his troubles, saying he did not know what he should do. They were at that moment passing a stone fence to a meadow, over which a cow was looking. "Do you know," said Wesley, "why the cow looks over the wall?" "No," replied the one in trouble. "I will tell you," said Wesley; "because she cannot look through it; and that is what you must do with your troubles; look over and above them." Depend upon it, in the midst of all the science about the world and its ways, all the ignorance of God and His greatness, the man or woman who can say, "Thy will be done," with the true heart of giving up, is nearer the secret of things than the geologist or theologian.

The Index learns that O. C. Ross, of Truckee Meadows, has been experimenting with the much-talked of Arabian millet. This year's crop of the grass has grown to a height of seven feet. The leaves resemble those of corn, and are about an inch and a half in width and twelve to eighteen inches long. It is claimed that the leaves are sweet and juicy, and that they are eaten with avidity by cattle.

It is said that 15,000 head of beef cattle were shipped from Nevada to California during the past two weeks, and that this immense draft on the meat supply was caused by the throng of Eastern beef-eaters who assembled in San Francisco to witness the Conclave. And yet Nevada is looked upon in the East as an almost worthless waste of rocks and sand.—Enterprise.

JAMES E. PARKER.

JAVA, in which the recent disastrous convulsion occurred, is the most populous country on earth. It has an area of 50,260 miles, while California has 197,801 miles. Java's population is over 19,000,000, of whom nearly 200,000 are from China and about 50,000 are from other countries. Geographically considered, Java is of an intensely volcanic nature. Two nearly parallel ranges of mountains run lengthwise through the island. The smaller range forms the southern coast of the island, and is separated from the larger central range by high table lands. To the north of the higher range the land slopes gradually to the sea. The southern range has many peaks from 5,000 to 9,000 feet in hight, while the central range has fourteen higher than 9,000 feet. Of the peaks of the island thirty-eight are volcanoes, many of them constantly active. Not only are constantly occurring harmless eruptions on the island, but there have been many nearly as disastrous as the present one. In 1772 the volcano Papandayang threw out ashes and scoria which, if collected together, would have formed a cube a mile and a half on a side; 3,000 people were killed by this eruption. Two consecutive eruptions of Galunggung desolated a much larger area, and destroyed not far from 20,000 people. The present disturbance seems to be as severe as any that has yet occurred, but of a somewhat different character. In former cases the destruction has been mostly caused by the matter ejected from the volcano. In the present case the subsidence of the lava has been the cause of the great loss. Villages have buried in water instead of ashes.

CENTURIES ago the ancient Greeks operated lead mines in Northern Greece by methods so imperfect as to leave a large quantity of the metal still in the residium of the working. A number of years ago a French mining engineer made an anlysis of the debris of these old mines, with results so satisfactory that the business of reworking the enormous heaps of scoriæ was at once begun and successfully carried on. These operations for a considerable time furnished the greater part of the lead supply of the Mediterranean coast. Explorations have recently been made by an enterprising Englishman in some old Phœnician mines in Cypress, which disclose the existence of rich placers of mineral wealth in the old workings of the extinct mines of that island.

THE managing electrician of the electric company which lights Lowell, Massachusetts, narrowly escaped death, recently. He was inspecting the dynamos, which were in full motion, and was regulating the screw of the brushes, when he slipped on the oily floor. In falling he kept hold of the screw with his right hand, and with his left instinctively clutched thh dynamo opposite to save himself. At once the full force of the twenty-five horse-power current, strong enough to have killed several men, passed through his body. He fell apparently lifeless, but was restored by hard rubbing. He feels no pain, but is filled with an indescribable weakness.

AN unusual act by a railroad corporation will be performed by the New York and Sea Beach Railway Company this month. The total gross receipts of the road for the 12th and 13th of September will be divided among the company's employés. There have been more than half a million of people carried over the road so far without an accident, and the care taken by the employés in handling the throngs of passengers leads the railroad managers to reciprocate the good services rendered. It is a pity that such a policy could not be more generally adopted if its effect was, as in this case, to secure the greatest care and courtesy from the employés in the public's favor.

SOME statement of the present county financial muddle, with some quotations from the law and high opinions, will be in order next week, after the trouble of this session of the Board or Supervisors is over. Those who may be losers on county warrants held, or on work lately performed for the county, can now begin to appreciate the effects of the mild and sweetening county government bill.

DR. CLANSTON, of the Edinburgh Asylum for the Insane, recommends a diet of milk and eggs as the best medicine for the "mind diseased." He reports a bad case of acute delirium cured in three months by four quarts of milk and sixteen eggs daily. Therefore he says: "I preach the gospel of fatness as the great antidote to the diseases we have to treat."

JAMES CAREY, the informer, early in 1882 sent two men to London to shoot William E. Forster, then Chief Secretary for Ireland, but their courage failed them.

HERE is a pertinent fact from the Chicago Mining Review: "The chief factor in the development of any locality is the unappreciated and usually poorly sustained local paper. The true value of mining claims, the advantage to capitalsts, the rich strikes of well-conducted properties all fail of their legitimate influences if the fact is not made known outside of the narrow circle of isolated localities. As important as is the local and special press to the mining interests, as has been proven in a thousand cases. no other business expects so much or pays so little to the very right arm of its success. Papers that have earnestly and faithfully labored to attract the attention of capital and to build up on a permanent basis the mining industry of a camp, have been left to starve and die in the place they have done so much to establish. No other business expects gratuitous advertising, and it is a short sighted policy for miners and mining companies to neglect the best, and many instances, the only means that can be used to advance the interest of camp and industry."

AT a meeting of the Railroad Commissioners, Foote read a letter from Fresno, asking the Board of Trade to take some action upon the rate now charged for canned goods from Fresno to Stockton, and from Fresno to Los Angeles. The charge between the two first-named places is $54 a car, and between the two latter places $60. A Fresno fruit packing company was compelled to pay $54 a car more if shipping East from Los Angeles than from Stockton, although the former was 300 miles nearer the point of destination. The company had refused to make any change in the rate. On motion of Carpenter, the letter was referred to the railroad company, with a request for an immediate reply. Regarding the statement that the original copy of the schedule of passenger rates was partly in the handwriting of an employe of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, Secretary Andrus replied that he had himself prepared all the schedules, and that there were none in existence in anybody's handwriting except his own and his clerk's. Hereafter the Board will meet on the first and third Fridays of each month.

WINTER lingers in the lap of spring down in New England; such surprises as snow in May are not infrequent; then comes the brief hot summer, and with the advent of September Jack Frost appears and gives strong hints that the season of flowers and fruits is nearing the end. This month was not four days old when a hard frost fell upon Western Massachusetts and adjacent parts of New York, cutting down the tobacco and probably injuring the late-planted corn. There may be greater variety in such a climate, but most people, especially if they depend upon the soil for their bread, prefer the monotony of California seasons, with nothing but occasional drought to alarm the farmer.

A FRENCH naval demonstration is regarded as probable on the Chinese coast in the direction of Canton. Admiral Peyron, Minister of Marine and Colonies, has a telegram from Saigon, saying that according to Mandarin accounts, 1,200 inhabitants were killed and 1,500 wounded, during the recent bombardment of the forts on the Hue river. Besides two transports leaving with 1,000 men for Tonquin between the 10th and 20th, another transport will take a battery oi mounted guns, and material for 4,000 men, from the African Army. The French will retain their present position in Madagascar until satisfaction is given them by the Hovas.

THE Emperor of Anam's treasury is not likeiy to be rifled by unscrupulous officials, considering the formidable guards who protect the State money. Retaining sufficient cash for current use, the Emperor seals up his reserve funds in the hollow trunks of trees, and throws them into a pond in the Palace grounds, which is kept filled with crocodiles. To get at the money, the Paris Temps says, it is necessary to kill the crocodiles, and as this cannot be done in secret the Anamite sovereign feels quite secure from being robbed.

IN the Rabbit Hole sulphur mine in Humboldt county, Nevada, a vein of nearly pure sulphur has been uncovered a distance of 200 feet long by from 30 to 40 feet wide and of unknown depth. The Humboldt Company operating there has expended on their property not less than $60,000.

PEOPLE who affix postage stamps to newspaper wrappers in such a way that part of the stamp laps over and adheres to the paper itself, run the risk of having their paper sent to the Dead Letter Office. In that shape the paper becomes a sealed packet, subject to letter rates.

IT is said that one of the leading printing houses of San Francisco made a clear profit of over $10,000 on the simple item of printing Knight Templar cards. Many members of the Order used up several thousand of these cards.

THE reports from Egypt indicate that a steady decline in the severity of cholera is going on, and that Europe and America ma safely trust in avoiding the contagion. It is to be hoped the researches of the experts sent out from England will result in a mass of information by which future outbreaks of this disease may be either prevented or sensibly allayed. The trouble in the past has been that the data needed to formulate preventive sanitary legislation has been wanting, and if, as a result of English occupation, the Egyptians can obtain the information needed for the purpose, their temporary loss of political freedom may be but a small price paid for a great gain.

THE ancients understood the value of the grape as a cure for any disease, acting strongly upon the kidneys, helping digestion, and being successful in restoring to health those who are weak or emaciated. No one can state the quantity or method of using; from three to ten pounds being used, according to the constitution of the patient. They are generally divided into three or four portions, taken at regular intervals through the day. The skins and seeds are rejected, and the grapes must be fully ripe, even then acting injuriously on the teeth if they have symptoms of decay.

BARLEY is a very nutritious article of food and easily digested. The American grain is richer in starch than the European. Some samples contain as much as 69 parts of starch in 100, with 26 parts of albuminoids, three to four parts mineral matter, and over one part of phosphoric acid. Ground into a fine flour and mixed in one-third of its weight of equally fine oatmeal to improve the taste, and we have an article for gruels for the sick excelled by nothing else, and far superior in every respect to beef tea.

JOHN MACKAY seems to have taken hold with the Postal Telegraph Company in real earnest, and proposes to get his old partner, Fair, to put in a few millions also. The work of putting up the new system of wires is already being vigorously pushed; branches are being established between New York and the oil-regions, Chicago and St. Louis are being united, connection is to be made with the Hoadly cable, and a trunk-line will be immediately run across the continent.

THE lavish hospitality of the Pacific Coast Knights is a matter of surprise to their Eastern brethern, as in addition to the $40,000 subscribed by the public for the Conclave, California commanderies have spent $130,000 out of their own pockets in entertaining their visitors, while the De Witt Clinton Commandery, of Virginia, put up the snug little sum of $10,000 for the same purpose.

SITTING BULL is a wise Indian and should be rewarded with a medal. The managers of an Iowa fair offered him free transportation to their show, but the wily savage declined. He fancies that the only safety for him is to live quietly on his reservation. It would be a great thing for Arizona if the Apaches could be made to share his opinion.

IT takes a good deal to kill a Bourbon. A post mortem of the body of the late Count de Chambord showed that death was caused by "cancer of the stomach, atrophe of the kidneys and fatty degeneration of the heart."

AT the Virginia and Truckee Railroad Company's shops there is a car just receiving the finishing touches that is worthy of the inspection of all who are fond of viewing excellent workmanship in that line. It is a combined passenger and baggage car for the Carson and Colorado Railroad, thirty-six feet long, and will seat twenty-eight passengers. The interior is finished with natural walnut and ash of a delicate and very attractive grain; the seats are covered with red plush, backed with a green material of the same character, and the arm rests are nickel-plated, presenting a most cheerful appearance, and it is indeed a comfortable conveyance. The exterior is painted canary color, with olive trimmings. The outfit was constructed here, and reflects great credit upon the mechanics who were engaged upon its construction. It is doubtful whether better work can be turned out of any car shops in the country. D. R. Culp did the painting, Benjamin Lyon the woodwork and Daniel Kelly the iron-work. The car will be ready for active service in a few days.—Carson Appeal.

THE activity in mining matters, although changing its location from the stock room to the camp, is a change that indicates a healthy improvement in the right direction, and one that promises most important and permanent results in the future. There is nothing in the character of gold or silver mining that should make it any different from mining for coal or iron, and when it is established upon the same basis its real advantages will become so prominent that it will attract all the assistance required to push its development to production, to meet the steady demand that will be created for its regular output.—Mining Review.

THREE large sticks of timber were recently hauled into Virginia for pump rods, each being 60 feet long and big enough to give six strong horses a full load to draw it on trucks.

Copper Mining.

The work of development of the copper mines in Santa Fé district has been continued at intervals during the summer. The amount of copper in the ore has not, in most cases, been considered of a high enough percentage to warrant the erection of smelters upon the ground. The expense of building a smelter, though not great, yet the cost of operating one in that almost waterless country is something of an object. The smelter at Soda Springs is now idle and could easily be put in order to work the ore from the district, but here again it is claimed the cost of hauling is so great that the returns would not substantiate it. These difficulties removed, the county will begin to assume its proper place as a copper ingot producer. The Reno Journal estimates that a few years from this time copper mining will take the lead as the most profitable of all other mining in this State. There are innumerable ledges and deposits in Nevada that carry from four to eight per cent. copper, that are now practically worthless, that within a few years will be made to yield handsome returns. Mining on this coast is in its infancy yet. What has been and now is accomplished in other countries can and will be accomplished here. The Calumet and Hecla mines on the south side of Lake Superior, yield but four and one-half per cent. of copper, and yet the stock pays a handsome dividend to its owners. The copper mines of Sweden, which yield but one and one-half per cent. of metal are worked at a profit, while the Newfoundland copper mines, which are considered very valuable, yield only six and one quarter per cent. The copper prospectors would hardly take a second look at even the best of the ores mentioned above. What they want are ores that show from thirty to sixty per cent. — Candelaria True Fissure.

The Value of Metals.

Following are the names of those metals valued at over $1,000 an avoirdupois pound:

Vanadium—A white metal discovered in 1830, $10,000.

Rubidium—An alkaline metal, so called, from exhibiting dark red lines in the spectrum analysis, $9,070.

Ziriconium—A metal obtained from the minerals zircon and hyacinth, in the form of a black powder, $7,200.

Lithium—An alkaline metal, the lightest metal known, $7,000.

Glucinum—A metal in the form of a grayish-black powder, $5,400.

Calcium—The metalic base of lime, $4,500.

Strontium—A malleable metal of yellowish color, $4,200.

Terbium—Obtained from the mineral gadonlite, found in Sweden, $4,080.

Yttrium—Discovered in 1828, is of a grayish-black color, and its lustre perfectly metalic, $4,400.

Erbium—A metal found associated with yttrium, $3,400.

Derium—A metal of high specific gravity, a grayish-white lamellar texture, $3,400.

Didymium—A metal found associated with cerium, $3,200.

Ruthenium—Of a gray color, very hard and brittle. It requires the strongest heat that can be produced by a wind furnace for its fusion; $2,300.

Niobium—Previously named columbium, first discovered in an ore found at New London, Conn., $2,300.

Barrium—The metallic base of baryta, $1,800.

Palladium—A metal discovered in 1803, and found in very small grains, of a steel-gray color and fibrous structure, $1,400.

Osmium—A brittle, gray colored metal, found with platinum, $1,300.

Iridium—Found native as an alloy with osmium, in lead-gray scales, and is the heaviest of known substances, $1,090.

THE Arizona Miner gives the following, and persuades itself that it is true: H. H. White, who has been working on the Dunkirk mine for some time past, last Sunday, while reading the Bible under the large pines east of the mine about half a mile, becoming absorbed in thought, unconsciously dropped the Holy Book from his hand in such a way that it fell over a precipice about fifty feet high. Descending into the cañon to recover it, Mr. White found it lying upward opened at the gospel of St. Matthew, chapter vii., while a large piece of rich quartz, which had been dislodged by its fall, lay on top, tearing a large hole in the seventh verse, so familiar to all Christians: "Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you." Accepting this as a good omen Mr. White searched, and, in a few moments, succeeded in locating the ledge, which was over two feet in width, and assays $225, on an average, to the ton. The mine is considered the richest thing yet struck in this district, and an offer of $5,000 made the fortunate owner of it was declined.

THE new postal cars for the Carson and Colorado railroad have been completed and will be put on the road, beginning the first trip with the down train this morning. There are three of them. Ernest Hawley, a son of Judge Hawley, of Carson, has been appointed one messenger, and Norman Conklin, a son of A. R. Conklin, of Independence, California, as another. The name of the third has not yet been learned. The work done by these cars can but be very beneficial to the country through which the railroad runs, and the expedience of handling the mail will extend to all the stage connections.—Candelaria True Fissure, Sept. 1st.

THERE is something peculiar about Irish wit, and something peculiarly agreeable in it. When a skeptic had been persuaded to attend mass he was either impressed or befogged by the ceremony, no one could tell which, but he turned to his companion, and said in a hoarse and solemn sort of a whisper: "Pat, me boy, this bates the divil!" Pat did not even turn to his friend, but reverently making the sign of the cross, answered; "Jimmy, my boy, that's the intention."

THE epizooty is prevalent among horses in Contra Costa county, and some valuable animals have died of it.

JAY GOULD'S new yacht is likely to prove a terror to the shipping of New York. To run down and sink one boat and crash into another is a pretty good day's work and reflects great credit on the enterprise of the millionaire's pilot. It will take a good-sized "sinking fund" to pay for the damages of such reckless yachting.

INDIAN KILLED.—Thursday morning last we observed three Indians laboriously lugging a sort of stretcher through the sagebrush two or three hundred yards south of this office. On the stretcher lay the body of a powerfully built young Indian known as "Fighting Jack," "Two-and-a-Half," also by other names. Jack was entirely dead, and this was his funeral procession, consisting, besides the three stretcher bearers, of deceased's mother and sister. The latter was the wife of Charley, who, with his brother Sam, well known and well behaved young Indians, and Old Tom, likewise a relative of some degree, were the pall bearers. So it was quite a family affair. But the mother alone manifested grief, and she only while the procession moved; then she wailed piteously but not at all when the bearers were at a halt. For some reason not apparent the two females maintained a uniform distance to the right of about forty yards from the corpse. The mother had more than usual cause to mourn—it was her husband and the father of this dead Jack who was smashed up by a locomotive across the river here a few weeks ago. But, save for inherent maternal reasons, there was no good cause for her to mourn Jack's taking off, for he had been a most undutiful son and the terror of the family from his earliest youth—oftentimes clubbing his own mother to obtain her hard-earned silver wherewith to get drunk. Drunk or sober, Fighting Jack, as the name implies, was altogether a tough brother and an object of fear and dislike of all his dusky acquaintances. This may account for the paucity of the attendance at his burial. It is generally conceded Jack needed killing. Not long since he stole some money from Long Jim, of Georges Creek. Jim told him he would get him drunk before long and kill him. But, Wednesday evening, Jack got drunk at his own expense, down here in front of town. Sam, above mentioned, went down to warn his besotted relative by marriage that Long Jim and an able bodied friend were around and looking for him (Jack). But Jack construed this in such a way that he started in to kill Sam, and would have done so, only that Sam outran him. Jack yet had plenty of whisky, and having nobody to fight or molest him, soon became oblivious to dangers of all kinsd, and then it was, as we are informed, that Long Jim and his friend came along and literally and deliberately choked him to death. We mention relevant facts as briefly as possible and omit criminating particulars in the foregoing so as to leave the mind of every possible juror in the case in the perfect normal condition of blankness required by law—otherwise, we should have been less brief.

SUPERIOR COURT.—In the Superior Court on Monday last was begun the trial of Milton Shick and Charles Jones, on a general charge of wholesale horse stealing. District Attorney Laird appeared for the prosecution and W. P. George, Esq., for the defendants. On motion of counsel for the defense and order by the Court, the accused are to be tried separately, the case against Jones coming up first by agreement. Out of the first venire of forty jurymen ten were secured last Monday, and out of an additional drawing of ten names th two more were secured yesterday. The examination of witnesses for the State is in progress to-day, the first one called being Shick—whose own trial may or may not come hereafter; that depends on developments. The jurymen are: W. H. Huff, Paul Howard, A. H. Johnson, John A. Lank, E. R. Norris, A. McKellips, Fred Schabbell, Fred Albers, John Barnes, E. H. Blake, Jos. Waggoner and A. M. Meads. Both sides are fighting earnestly and the case bids fair to occupy a week or more time yet. If the evidence of Shick, who has "squealed" on his pal, or "turned State's evidence," can possibly be taken as truth, two prominent citizens are badly smirched—the one for aiding and abetting and the other for suborning a witness. As the case progresses it will doubtless transpire, however, that the statements of a self-convicted thief and traitor don't amount to much.

THE MCEVOY MILL.—Supt, Chas. McEvoy is in town, and from him we glean a general report of the late operations of the Company's little mill in Freeborn Cañon, Beveridge District. Since his last visit here the mill has reduced 43 tons of Keynot ore which yielded $3,500; a lot of 40 tons from the Buena Noche, resulting in $2,000; a run on about 80 tons from the Company's mines produced $4,400, and some 24 tons from the Lapwing yielded 134 ounces of "dust" worth $16 per ounce. Other small lots were run through, with equally good results. This is in addition to our last report of a $1,200 clean-up from the Golden Wreath ores. The mill has met with several little break-downs which occasioned delays, but it is now in good working order. Some fifteen men are now mining out ore for reduction at this mill.

ADMISSION DAY.—The anniversary of California's Admission Day, September 9, occurs on Sunday (to-morrow) this year, in consequence of which Governor Stoneman has proclaimed that next Monday, the 10th, shall be the legal holiday. And, it is to be hoped, that if the day is not deemed worthy of any more pretentious observance that at least every flag in the county may be flung to the breeze to commemorate the occasion.

SHORT.—During the past week the typographical force of this paper has been "powerful weak," as it were, with many other matters to attend to aside from slinging type-metal. Matters will be in better shape hereafter, but the present issue is necessarily "short." It differs from a good many subscribers, who are very long——time about paying up.

LETTER FROM COL. STEVENS.

Following is an extract from a letter to C. D. Begole, Esq., written by Col. S. Stevens, August 18, at the gold mines in Spottsylvania Co., Virginia:

The company who sent for me own 1,000 acres of land on the Virginia gold belt, from which large amounts of gold were taken previous to the war, some from veins and some from surface washings. They fancied they could use a hydraulic process, but I found on my arrival they had no ground fit for it, as the bed-rock is not over four feet from the surface. But after a careful examination, I told them if could put the water on the top of Manor House Hill whence I could run it in ditches to any part of the estate I thought it would pay. They told me to go ahead and do it.

I laid out a system of ditches to concentrate the water in a small reservoir on the flat about 60 rods from where I wanted the water, but 100 feet below it. I then built a reservoir on top of the hill that holds 300,000 gallons. An immense pump and an 80-horse power boiler placed at the lower reservoir forces into an upper one a stream sufficient for two large ground sluicing heads. The entire estate is covered with yellow pine, and wood costs us but 60 cents per cord, and the cost of water is less than 6 cents an inch, miner's measurement.

I have taken out as high as $10 to the hand, and have not yet reached what I consider the rich ground. The best possible labor is abundant at one dollar per day. We have been short of water for a fortnight past, but 24 hours' rain has come and we are again at work. In the meantime I have moved my sluices to a point where the water used runs back into the creek above the reservoir, so that I keep it running round and round like hibernating coon food.

My health continues good, and I find I have no difficulty in doing the thinking and directing for from eight to twenty men. Give my regards to all inquiring friends.

SHERMAN STEVENS.

UNAUTHENTICATED.—A report received from Lone Pine states that Jos. Le Cyr had written from Calico news of the death, at that place, of Wm. T. Grant, one of the most widely known men in Inyo. When last heard from Grant was at Mojave, alive and well, where we are inclined to think he is now. A letter to this office from a friend of his at Calico, dated on the 1st instant, contains no reference to such occurrence.

THE REPORTS.—They having been recived only late last evening, it has been found practically impossible for THE INYO to give this week the official and lengthy reports of the proceedings of the Board of Supervisors. All will be published in the next issue, together with the reports of the County Auditor and the Treasurer in full.

TO START UP.—A correspondent writes that Mr. Reese, manager of mines for Haggin & Carr, has gone to work again with a small force of men upon their mines in the old Slate Range. Mr. Reese has stated that he expected to put up a mill there soon.

ASSESSMENT.—An assessment of $1 per share has been levied upon the stock of the Bishop Creek Ditch Company.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.
Attest: JOHN CROUGH,
Clerk.

Adopted this 11th day of August, 1883, by the following vote: Ayes, E. Robinson, Thomas Boland, A. Spencer—3. Noes—none.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 2.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present. E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The regular meetings of the Board of Supervisors must be held at Independence on the First Mondays in February, May, August and November of each year, and must continue from time to time until the business before them is disposed of.

Such other meetings must be held to canvass election returns and other purposes as provided by law or ordered by the Board.

The Board shall also meet on the first Monday of July, as a Board of Equalization, and must continue in session from time to time until the business of equalization is disposed of, not later than the fourth Monday in July.

The Board shall meet on the first Monday of October of each year, for the purpose of levying State and County taxes, and fix the rate of county licenses.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.
Attest: JOHN CROUGH,
Clerk.

Adopted this Eleventh day of August, 1883, by the following vote: Ayes, E. Robinson, Thomas Boland and A. Spencer. Noes—none.

A Human Cannon Ball.

"It was just before the battle of Shiloh," said Col. Watts to a reporter of the Louisville Commercial, "when I was engaged carrying dispatches from one division to another located about one hundred miles south of us. Every precaution had been taken to head off all communication and the greatest care had to be exercised in keeping dispatches and the like secreted, so that in case of the carrier being captured nothing of a tell-tale nature could be found upon him. When I entered the scouting service I had four of my front teeth knocked out and had them replaced by false ones. These were hollowed out behind, and admitted of a good-sized message being secreted therein.

"On the trip that I started out to tell about I had my dispatch secreted as usual, and was riding along very peacefully in the disguise of a farmer going to the mill when I was suddenly surprised by the enemy. I pretended to be very much enraged at them making me their prisoner, but there was no getting out of it, for they kinder dropped on me. They proceeded to search me, and compelled me to take off every stitch of clothing. These they ripped into ribbons, but of course they found nothing, and I was beginning to feel safe, when, standing before them, perfectly nude, one of the fellows stepped up to me and slapping me on the back, said:

"'Ain't he fat? He'd make good beef!'

"This slap was so vigorous that out popped my false teeth. That settled it. The jig was up, and I began contemplating my fate. Seventeen men jumped for those false teeth at the same time, and it didn't take long for them to find the dispatch, which read: 'Send us 300,000 men at once.'

"'So you were on your way for reinforcements, were you?" said a big red-nosed captain, sneeringly. 'Well, we'll just help you along on your journey. Bring up the mortar!'

"'Great heavens,' thought I, 'they certainly don't intend to blow me to pieces.' The mortar was brought up and planted, and pointed in the direction in which I had been traveling. 'Double charge her and stick that fellow in head first,' said the captain. They double-charged her, and forced me in head first. Vivid recollections of everything mean that I had ever done in my life flitted across my mind, and, boys, I actually prayed. But while I prayed I felt them ramming the charge home, and I concluded that my prayers were of no avail.

"I smelled the powder right in front of me. And a happy thought struck me. Something told me to eat the powder, and I began on it. At every jam of the ram-rod I swallowed an extra-sized mouthful, and when the ramming ceased I could see daylight through the touch-hole. A fuse was inserted and touched off, and no doubt the fiends retreated to a safe distance to watch my flight into Alabama. I heard the fuse sizzling as the fire drew to me, but I felt safe, for not a grain of powder had I left lying round loose. The fuse went out with a sudden spurt, and I felt that my life had been saved. The would-be murderers couldn't understand why the gun missed fire, and they begun drawing the charge to see what ailed her. Just about the time they got me out a lot of our cavalry charged upon them and I was saved; but, boys, I can taste the saltpeter and sulphur to this day."

A CORRESPONDENT of the Scientific American says: For four years I have used water treatment to keep away red ants, and have not seen an ant since the first year of using water. If the ants come in at the pantry window, wet several folds of old cotton cloth, and lay it the whole length of the outside window sill, occasionally pouring water over the cloth to keep it wet. They will not cross anything wet. I have used this four years, and have not been bothered by them since the first year.

THE War Department does not favor the construction of debris dams in the upper Sacramento and its tributaries.

THE Hebgeio calls attention to the views presented by Dr. Browne in a recent lecture in New York in favor of temperance in the use of wine instead of entire abstinence therefrom, and says that according to the Talmud the vine originally grew from a twig broken from the tree of life by the pitying Master, who drove Adam and Eve from Paradise, and presented to them that thereby they might forget the sorrows of life. According to Dr. Brown, the Jews have been distinguished among the nations for their sobriety; one reason for this, he thinks, is that he has always been taught to ask Divine blessing when he drinks as well as eats. "A man drinking with a blessing to start with must drink like a gentleman." The Jew furthermore drinks at home, in the presence of his wife, and he drinks the genuine article, not benzine or sulphuric acid. Finally, with the young Jews wine has never had the sweetness of forbidden indulgence. Every Jewish feast is begun and ended with a glass of wine. The first taste a Jewish boy has of this world is two drops of wine, and when the Jew dies wine is always sprinkled over his corpse.

THE most humble of the civil functionaries of the French republic are the naval cats. There are some hundreds of them, and their importance is duly recognized by the state, which supports them in such comfort and dignity as befits their official position. The French naval cat enters the service in his kittenhood, and spends the first year or two of his active career on a man-of-war, where he is berthed in the hold and permitted to devour what he can catch. Having thus passed through apprenticeship, he is sent ashore and quartered in one of the five naval stations, as a terror to the rats and mice that swarm in the victualing yards and store-sheds. He is thence titled to an allowance of five centimes, and this sum is regularly paid by the director of cats, who lays it out in horse-flesh for the use of his forces.

ANOTHER railroad rumor reaches us now to the effect that the Southern Utah intends to buy out the California Southern Railroad. That the former road has designs on this harbor as an outlet on the Pacific we learn from the following notice in the National City Record: "We are informed by parties who are familiar with some of the facts that the Utah Central Railroad is to be extended southward towards the Needles, and that some 300 miles of said road have been under contract. This is important, and is in fact the movement of the Union Pacific Company, working towards an independent outlet to the Pacific Coast. We hope soon to furnish more particulars." We hope there is some truth in this, it sounds so very probable.—San Diego Sun.

METALLIC RED is the color of the new two-cent stamps that go into circulation October 1st. The contractors are now fully stocked, a Washington dispatch informs us, and await requisitions from the Postoffice Department. The distribution will be made from New York, beginning September 15, and sufficient numbers of new stamps will be placed in the hands of Postmasters to supply the demand caused by the reduction in the letter rate of postage on October 1. The Department has not a sufficient number of clerks at present to undertake the redemption of the three-cent stamps outstanding, and it is probable will call Congressional attention to the matter.

CALIFORNIA'S wheat crop for the present year is estimated to be worth $60,000,000. One-third of this will be retained in the State for home consumption and seed, and the rest will be exported to foreign countries. The wheat product of the other Pacific Coast States and Territories will be worth $20,000,000 more, making the total value of the wheat crop of the Pacific Coast $80,000,000, which is more than the entire value of all the precious metals mined in the United States during 1882.

SAM. JONES, Superintendent of the Crown Point and Belcher mines, has made arrangements with the Carson Valley ranchers by which the mills on the Carson river will start up in two weeks. The farmers have decided to use the water supply for the next two weeks, and after that time they will leave it all to the mills. Crushing will be resumed about the 20th, and will doubtless continue without further interruption.—Virginia Chronicle.

THE editor of the New York Sun, Charles A. Dana, has repeatedly declared that Samuel J. Tilden would not again be a candidate for the Presidency. Replying to a correspondent who requested to know what authority there was for this positive assertion, the Sun says: "Our authority is a gentleman named Samuel J. Tilden." This is tolerably conclusive.

As the completion of the Northern Pacific has now become a fact, there are many speculations as to the ultimate effects on business in the Northwest. If is feared, in Portland, that it may for a time have the same disastrous effect on the business of that city the completion of the Central Pacific had on San Francisco.

THE Administration has got back to Washington. The trout out at Yellowstone Park must have stopped biting. The general government will now doubtless proceed to energetic preparations for next year's political campaign, and other urgent national affairs.

THE Central Pacific road is assessed on its 602 miles $18,000,000, as against $13,010,520 last year.

BODIE Miner items: A man has jumped the ground on which the jail in Churchill county, Nevada, stands. This jail is an abandoned mining shaft, into which the prisoners are lowered by a rope and the rope pulled up. The county will at once sink a new jail.

The joke of nominating Gen. Crook for President appears to be taken seriously. A number of papers have commenced abusing the gentleman as if he were a pickpocket.

IT is becoming very apparent that Mr. Blaine is to be a formidable candidate before the Republican National Convention.

Only nine men are in the Battle Mountain, Nevada jail, charged with cattle stealing. By this we judge that cattle stealing is a crime over there. In this State it is a good qualification for an office seeker.

ON the 30th ult., a Judge of the Supreme Court of the State of New York gave a common sense construction to the Chinese Restriction Act and sustained it. He thought a Chinaman was a Chinaman wherever he came from, and that a cook is just as much a laborer as any other man that works with his hands. This reverses the decision of a lower court that practically nullified the act.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15 1883

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

A PORTLAND, Or., dispatch of the 11th inst. says: Villard and his party of distinguished guests all reached this city this morning from Missouri. The reception accorded the party was the most imposing demonstration ever witnessed north of San Francisco. In honor of the visit of President Villard and guests the city has been most elaborately decorated. Triumphal arches spanned the streets in many places, while on all the public and business houses and private residences were masses of flags, bunting, evergreens and flowers. Flags of many nationa floated from staffs all over the city. The shipping was finely decorated. The procession was over three miles long, requiring one hour to pass a given point. The procession was composed of military organizations, civic societies, firemen and various trades. The exercises at the pavilion consisted of addresses by President Villard, ex-Secretary Evarts, Carl Schurz, Lord Russell, M. P., John A. Kasson, Senator Conger and several noted Germans. This evening a grand concert and banquet was given in the Mechanics' Pavilion, at which over 2,000 ladies and gentlemen were present, To-morrow evening the city will be illuminated in honor of the visitors. The most elaborate preparations are being made to light the city. Villard and party will leave for the Sound with the guests on Thursday morning.

THE meeting of railroad managers which is to convene in San Francisco on the 20th instant will be the most important ever held on the Pacific Coast. One of the main features of the convention is said to be the final disposition of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad. About one-half of the stock in this road is held by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad Company, while the Central Pacific Railroad Company holds a similar amount of the stock, the balance being in the hands of some Eastern capitalists. With which side they will vote is not yet known, but it is expected that the Central Pacific Company will win the fight, as their road is the only connection with the Atlantic and Pacific at the Needles.

THE press generally throughout the State takes the view that it is unfortunate the State Board of Equalization determined to raise assessments. It will result in no increase of taxes this year, but will be sure to bring about a rise hereafter. The high valuations will be sure to induce extravagance on the part of Legislatures and State and County officials, and they will know no rest or happiness until the highest rate of taxation ever known, on the low assessments, are restored. The assessment of property, at its full valuation, will result in the end in wild extravagance of public administration and ruinous taxation.

A LATE press dispatch from Butte City, Montana, announces the death at that place of Thomas Laspeyre, formerly of Inyo. In early days he represented San Joaquin county in the Legislature for several terms, and enjoyed the highest regard of all during his long career in this State as an honest lawyer and polished gentleman. It will be remembered that he was Judge Reed's formidable opponent at the last election for District Judge. May poor Tom rest in peace.

THE President has issued a proclamation announcing that the World's Industrial Cotton Centennial Exhibition will be opened on the first Monday in December, 1884, at New Orleans, and continue until the 31st of May, 1885. The proclamation is in accordance with an Act passed at the last session, which directed that such proclamation should be issued when the President is informed that suitable provisions for buildings and other arrangements are being made.

IN default of an order of the Board of Supervisors as is required by "An Act to establish a uniform system of County and Township Governments" for the publication of "a fair statement of their proceedings," we again take the liberty and pleasure to delay reporting their proceedings. Such as were had may be given in our own way next week, should more important matters not interfere.

JULIUS BEHLING, of Bradford, Pa., is the latest crank in the Sam Patch line. He proposes to leap from the bridge on the Erie Railroad, eighteen miles from Bradford, supported by an immense umbrella. The bridge is the highest in the world, being 301 feet from the ground.

A CHANGE oi venue in the Coombs murder case, tried twice at Carson, has been granted. The third trial will be held at Reno.

TWO OPINIONS.

During the late session of the Board of Supervisors, and pursuant to request, District Attorney Laird addressed the following to the Hon. Board:

GENTLEMEN—In answer to your communication respecting your right to allow the salary of the County Auditor for the months of May, June and July, 1883, for services rendered as County Auditor during those months, I beg leave to say:

That the office of County Auditor was created, and the salary fixed, by an Act of the Legislature, and there is no law which allows the Board of Supervisors to create the office or fix the salary, therefore the salary of said office is not an indebtedness or liability created or contracted by the Board of Supervisors. The powers of a county can only be exercised by the Board of Supervisors, or by agents or officers acting under their authority or authority of law (Section 2, Statutes of 1883, page 299). Therefore, in construing that Act, as to the powers of the Board of Supervisors to create an indebtedness or liability, sections 5 and 36 must be read together.

The prohibition upon the powers of the Board to create an indebtedness is, that "the Board must not contract," etc. In this case the Board has not contracted a debt, nor will they contract one in the sense of the prohibition, by auditing and allowing the salary of the County Auditor, because the liability to pay the salary of the Auditor was created by the Legislature when the office was created and the salary fixed by them. It is quite clear that the restrictions upon the power of the Board of Supervisors to contract an indebtedness or liability, as contained in the County Government Bill, has no application whatever to the auditing and payment of demands for salaries of officers whose appointment or election is provided for, and salaries fixed, by law.

It follows that you should audit the demand. Respectfully,

JOHN W. P. LAIRD.

ANOTHER OPINION.

The following, dated at San Francisco, August 27, 1883, is from the Attorney General to District Attorney Laird. It will be seen that, contrary to Mr. Laird's conclusion, the Attorney General holds that "no liability (officers' salaries, of course, included), incurred and unpaid for lack of funds in a past year can legally be paid from the income of a following year.

DEAR SIR—Your letter of July 23d has remained thus long unanswered on account of my constant attendance at the U. S. District Court, and also for the reason that some weeks since I wrote a letter to Mr. Hardy, your County Treasurer, conveying my opinion upon the question propounded by you.

Section 18, Art. XI, of the Constitution, has received judicial construction in the case of the San Francisco Gas Light Company vs. Brickwedel (x Pacific Coast Law Journal, page 655) which clearly prohibits payment of indebtedness incurred by the county in a past year out of the income of a future year, unless such indebtedness was incurred as provided in said section of the Constitution, that is by an election held, and a two-thirds vote of the people of the county, etc. A county cannot ratify an act which it was not originally authorized to perform, and I am, therefore, of the opinion that no election could properly be held for the purpose of bonding an indebtedness already created. Very respectfully,

E. C. MARSHALL,
Att'y General.

THE Express wants the United States Mint at Carson removed to Los Angeles, alleging that the Comstock has ceased to yield, and that "the metropolis of Southern California" is a central location, etc. Guess not. Firstly, the Comstock will not be "played out" for a generation to come; secondly, one State is not likely to get two such Government institutions, and, nextly, if it did, this valley will be the most central point in a vast mineral surrounding. Figuratively, grapes and oranges may "coin money," but literally it requires a mint coin to the precious metals.

EGYPTIAN corn has been grown extensively in Kern County this season. It is found to be better for all purposes than Indian corn, and is easier cultivated, requiring less irrigation, and will probably supersede the latter entirely. It is put through a thrashing machine and a vast quantity can be sacked in the course of a day. If it can be cut with a header the gathering of the crop will be materially facilitated. This will be thoroughly tried, but success is doubtful.

IT is stated that several prominent Democrats are making arrangements to establish in San Francisco a new morning newspaper, to be conducted in the interest of the whole Democratic party. The reason given is the dissatisfaction expressed at the course of the Examiner, that journal, as is asserted, being run to suit the tastes of only one wing of the Democracy—that favorable to the political aspirations of the owner.

THE South now has nearly 200, or, more exactly, 191 cotton factories in operation and in course of erection there, which is more than one-half the number in the New England States, though the former, of course, are on a much smaller scale, and they manufacture only the coarser yarns and fabrics.

THE great tunnel through the Cascade mountains for the Cascade branch of the Northern Pacific Railroad will be from 16,000 to 18,000 feet long.

CALIFORNIA as a State is now thirty-three years old. The progress she has made in material prosperity during that time is marvellous. Her right to assume the robes of Statehood were hotly contested in Congress. The opposition came almost wholly from the South, which objected to her free Constitution, as that section coveted her magnificent domain as a profitable field for slave labor. The struggle in Congress between the advocates of slavery and free soil continued from December 22, 1849, till the 7th of September, 1850, and in two days after, the act of admission was passed. In the Convention which formed the Constitution of California were several able Southern members, who understood very well that the population was of a character that would never favor slavery, and their judgment in yielding the point was vindicated by the vote subsequently taken upon its ratification. There were 12,064 ballots in its favor and only 811 against it; 1,200 votes were set aside for informality. One condition of the act of admission was that the people through their Legislature or otherwise, should never interfere with the primary disposal of the public lands within the limits of California; another, that no tax or assessment should be levied upon the pubiic domain; and still another, that all the navigable waters within the State shall be common highways and free forever.

THE Secretary of the Interior on the 7th ultimo, concurring with Commissioner McFarlane, rendered a very important decision in regard to desert lands in California. He holds that it is not neeessary that these lands shall be so sterile and barren that they will not produce at all, but if they will not, one year with another for a series of years, without irrigation make a fair return to the careful, ordinary skillful, and industrious husbandman for the seed, toil and expense in endeavoring to obtain a crop, the land may be justly regarded as desert, within the intent of the statute. The crop may be an inferior one, but the land should return a fair compensation for the labor and money expended. If such returns cannot be had, the land would, after trial or without, remain unoccupied and desert. Those lands that will not pay for cultivation or use without water are within the scope of the Act. He further says thsse cases have been long pending and the coniroversy in relation to them should be ended.

THE fever prevalent at Guaymas is not yellow fever, but "tonto" (crazy) fever, so called from the fact that its victims become delirious. It appears every year, but has been unusually severe this season on account of the lack of rain. It is a typo-malarial, or bilious intermittent fever. There have been hundreds of cases this year, and about twenty have died. Nearly all the business houses have closed. Guaymas is a good place to stay away from just now. Three persons from there, says an exchange, are sick with the fever at Tucson.

IT has recently been ascertained that the people of tropical Africa use the kola nut to make a beverage which combines the qualities of coffee and chocalate, and is very pleasant to the taste. It is said to aid digestion, and to exercise a healthful and invigorating influence upon both mind and body. It also subdues the craving for alcohol, and prevents intoxication. It is about to be introduced into Europe, and America may some day taste its blessings.

AMONG the victims at Casamicciolo were a Sigñor and Sigñora Bonavita, who left property worth $1,000,000, to which there is no direct heir. Their relatives, in order to determine the succession, have petitioned to have the bodies disinterred, that by an examination of the external injuries, it may be ascertained, if possible, which died first.

IT is said that a few miles above Talulah, Ga., is a mountain with a circular sink in the top that is full of gold. Every piece of dirt taken from it and washed shows the yellow stuff. Large nuggets have also been picked up there.

DETROIT is angry because General Grant, after refusing to lend the caskets given him by the cities of London and Liverpool to the Detroit Art Exhibition, has lent them to the Louisville Exposition.

THE price of trade dollars has been gradually advancing since they were swept out of circulation. The rise is due to a demand for them that has come from London for the Chinese trade.

THE Oakland Times makes a good argument in favor of holding the next National Democratic Convention at San Francisco, and says that a ticket there nominated could not be beaten.

DENVER is in the midst of a mania for artesian wells. Nearly every man is boring one in his back yard, and the usual greeting is: "How does she bore to-day?"

Cowboy Fun.

A Denver, Colorado, dispatch, of the 11th, tells of some characteristic cowboy "fun" as follows:

Details of a bloody affray that occurred at McLane's ranch, in Elbert county, Sunday night, in which eight cowboys were engaged, has just reached the city. Sunday was their day off, and all went to Gate, a station on the Kansas Pacific road, and falling in with companions, opened festivities by taking several drinks. Thence they rode to a neighboring ranch, where they obtained a supply of liquor and started home. On the way two of the party, named Rosseter and McKeever, engaged in an angry dispute over a trivial matter, and all repaired to the herders' quarters to settle the difficulty. As soon as they were inside the men clinched, and both fell to the ground, fighting desperately, their companions urging them on. The table and benches were removed and a ring improvised. The men beat and tore at each other with the ferocity of tigers. The onlookers in their excitement howled and danced about, brandishing their revolvers and encouraging their favorite in the fight. It was a weird, blood-curdling sight. While the orgy was at the highest an oil lamp was knocked from its place, and the room was in darkness. The men made a run upon each other, and in a minute after the light had been extinguished the melee was general. The door was locked, and their being no means of egress, each man was for himself. Amid the resounding blows and curses a pistol shot rang out, and the death-cry of the victim paralyzed whatever of reason was left in the party. Almost before the cry left the lips of the unfortunate man there was a wild fusilade, and for a moment by fitful flashes the gloom was lighted. It was a bloody scene. Rosseter was dead, the two Jones brothers were weltering in their blood, and three others were wounded, some fatally. Robbins and McKeever were the only ones uninjured, and they fled.

Cuba.

A Madrid dispatch states that an important discovery has recently been made in connection with late disturbances in Cuba. This discovery indicates that a conspiracy exists to separate the island from Spain. Arms and ammunition have been purchased in Paris in large quantities and shipped to the interior of the island. Natives have been enlisted and drilled, and, according to the dispatch, quite an army is now ready to proclaim themselves in open rebellion to Spanish rule. The money to make these large purchases is said to have come from wealthy Cubans residing in New York and New Orleans, but this conclusion is not borne out by known facts. There are Cuban residents in both of these cities who desire to free Cuba at whatever expense to others, but the wealthy planters are not generally included in their numbers. It is more probable that the movements reported are the result of a financial speculation. Spain derives a revenue of about $20,000,000 a year from Cuba, which could be diverted to other hands should the island be freed from Spanish control. Washington correspondents have for some time been informed of projects in which, it is said, American capitalists are largely interested to purchase Cuba from Spain. As a preliminary to purchase, a vigorous insurrection might have a good speculation. Cuba in rebellion is a less valuable adjunct of the Spanish crown than Cuba quietly contributing $20,000,000 a year to Spanish revenue.—S. F. Call.

THE definite settlement of the coronation accounts has shown, according to the Novoe Vremya, that the expenses incurred at Moscow by the administration of the Imperial Court do not exceed the sum of $3,250,000.

THE Bishop of Veszprim has issued a pastoral letter, declaring Jew baiting most unchristian-like, and exhorting the clergy to use all their endeavors to divert their flocks from following such a dangerous path.

A VIGOROUS old fellow in Maine who had lately buried his fourth wife was accosted by an acquaintance, who, unaware of bereavement, asked:

"How is your wife, Cap'n Plowjogger?"

To which the Cap'n replied with a perfectly grave face: "Waal, to tell ye the trewth, I am kinder out of wives just naow."

THE wife of the editor of the Sidney Herald, a lady of great beauty, personified "The Press" at the Savage Club ball in London recently. The dress was made of white satin, on which actual copies of her husband's paper had been printed in colored inks.

Lessons Given in Painting and Embroidery.

PERSONS DESIRING TO TAKE LESSONS in Oil Painting and Embroidery can do so by calling on me, as cheap as in the city. Having taken a great many lessons in both, I feel competent to teach; come and see my work and judge for yourselves. This Embroidery is the South Kensington Stitch—is very stylish everywhere, not only to ornament our rooms but our dresses, aprons, etc. I am also prepraed to do Stamping, from the latest patterns in San Francisco.

Respectfully, Mrs. Dr. KERNODLE.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15 1883

THE FACTS.—At a late hour on Saturday evening last we were informed that the State's witness, Shick, on the trial of Jones for horse stealing, had admitted that a certain prominent citizen of Bishop Creek had offered him a pecuniary consideration for him to give evidence as to the whole facts. Having heard rumors that such would be the case, we took the statement for fact, expressing at the same time the belief that the evidence of a "self-convicted thief and traitor" would not be taken for much as against men of good standing. The fact is, as we have ascertained after an examination of the voluminous evidence, that the statement was an error — all the witnesses having positively denied that there was ever any such transaction or effort on the part of the prosecution.

FOURTEEN TIMES A WEEK.—As all interested persons know, the proposals for bids to carry the mails between this place and the railroad were for but six trips a week—virtually throwing us further back in the woods than we were fourteen years ago. It was an absurd proposition, even for an ill-informed Postal Agent. A number of bids went in on that proposition, but, through the representation of facts by Postmaster Hardy, the Department has ordered the award withheld, and requests amended bids for a service of fourteen trips a week, connecting with both the south and north trains daily, thus saving 54 hours' time between receipt and return of our local mails, saying nothing of the every day service as we have had it heretofore.

FOR QUAIL SHOOTERS.—The attention of local Nimrods is called to the fact that the close season for quail expires October 1st, under the new game laws, instead of September 15th, as under the old. There are many persons who do not know this, who will sport after quail from now on, as usual; and if they do, they are liable to be punished, as the State Sportsman's Club will prosecute all violations of the law they know of. A neatly printed copy of the game law will be mailed by the club to any one sending sufficient stamps for postage on it.

THE PEOPLE VS. JONES.—After continuous work with court, jury, and counsel for nearly two weeks, the case of Charles Jones, charged with stealing a band of horses from A. Spencer, came to a close this evening at 4 o'clock. The jury were out but a few minutes, when they returned a verdict of guilty, recommending the prisoner to the mercy of the Court. Next Wednesday, the 19th, is the time set by the Court for passing sentence. Shick, the co-partner in the crime and "squealing" witness, was discharged from custody at the outset.

SLATE RANGE.—The news comes that M. E. Harmon has been appointed Superintendent of the new mines and mill at Reilly, belonging to the Argus Range S. M. Co. It is to be hoped that the Company have squared up their financial matters, and if so, Harman will make an entire success. The mines are very large and rich, the big mill is first-class in every respect, and ready for operations when the builders are paid for it. We hear that they have now plenty of water in reserve, with much of it going to waste.

THE MODOCK.—Mr. J. J. Gunn, who arrived yesterday from Darwin, reports good news from the Modock that Supt. Fitzgerald has made a new strike in the Modock mine, belonging to the Company series. It has been opening out well for the past five or six days, and consists of an unexplored body of fine, 150-ounce silver-lead ore. The furnaces will be started up in about ten days.

REPAIRED.—Roadmaster Boyd, during the present week, cleared off the dirt covering over the culvert across Edwards street and placed a heavy additional planking thereon—a good job, well and quickly done. Since then he has been engaged in filling in the soul and wagon-racking chuck holes, and making other needed improvements on the road hence to the depot.

TO BE CUT OFF.—After the 16th of next month the mail service south of Darwin is to be discontinued, and all stages hauled off, including that between this place and Lone Pine; but a six times a week service is to be put on between Hawley, at the end of the railroad, and Darwin.

A FLAG.—Admission Day was observed here by an adjournment of Court and the display of a large flag with its folds drawn out across the street. Otherwise, matters were quiet as an ordinary Sunday business day with the Piute element left out.

IN TOWN.—Wm. Walker and wife, of Olancha, are at the Blaney House, the latter being under doctor's care. The lady is regaining health, and "Pap" says that he can prescribe for himself for his own ailings.

DEAD.—Pap. Walker confirms the rumor of Bill Grant's demise, as Grant has written direct from Mohave that such was the case. If Grant was that kind of a man we might say that he was dead—drunk.

ROBBED.—A dispatch from Bishop Creek states that the stage was stopped yesterday morning between that place and the station and relieved of the express box, containing $12. No clue to the thieves.

NEXT TUESDAY.—A regular meeting of the County Board of Education will be held at the Court-house, commencing on Tuesday next.

STATED MEETING.—A regular meeting of Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., will be held this evening at their hall.

IN CALICO.—The Calico paper, the Print, September 8, makes mention in advertisements and otherwise, of several old Inyoites who are sniffing alkalie and sand in that caloric locality. Tommy Ryan is building a platform at Lava Bed Station—prospectively, rich. Z. T. Aistrop (the Lost Charley Ross) and Tom. Gill are running the Palace Saloon, broad gauge. Van Briesen has just completed and opened for business a fine stone hotel, the best in that region. Van is highly commended as a landlord, and deservedly for his kind and obliging manners, as many old friends in this county will bear witness. Nevertheless, Van thought some ill-natured things of THE INDEPENDENT once for telling this "true fact:" A couple of our usually staid and sober young citizens left Lone Pine late in the evening for home. In those days we had horse thieves and other tough citizens among us, consequently, talk of Vigilantes. So the young men were not much surprised though considerably shocked when, about half-way home, they observed a man hanging by the neck to a tree. It was a dummy in fact, but they didn't know it. They drove like old Nimshi's boy to town and at once reported to Sheriff Dad Moore. Dad was incredulous, and inquired with unusual minuteness as to circumstances. "Did you drink anything just before leaving Lone Pine?" "Just once." "What saloon?" "Von Briesen's." "That's enough; wonder you hadn't seen two men hanging in that same tree. I'm going to bed again." And, for some reason, Van Briesen construed this as a reflection on the quality of his whisky, while as a matter of serious fact, he prided himself on offering none but the very best.

OPENED OUT.—We learn through an exchange that V. G. Thompson opened his hotel at Mohave for business on Monday of last week. The hotel, just finished, is capable of accommodating sixty guests. Mohave is destined to be an important place, as it is the junction of the Atlantic and Pacific and the Southern Pacific, and will, very likely, be the terminus of our narrow gauge, the Carson and Colorado. The credit of the place has suffered materially heretofore for the want of a good hotel, but if any man can redeem it in that regard it is V. G. Thompson.

THE artesian well at White Plains, Nev., is now down to the depth of 2,500 feet. Fresh water has been struck in the well, but it does not rise to the surface. The well will be sunk a thousand feet deeper if flowing water is not found sooner.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 15 1883

THE prospective complication between France and China threatens the most serious international consequences. War will result in an attempt to blockade the treaty ports, since these are the only ports where a blockade would in any sense affect China. But would not such blockade, by acting as an embargo upon the trade of nations which have treaty rights, be taken by them as an act of war? It is difficult to see how France can successfully attack China otherwise than by way of these very ports, since an invasion of her land frontier by penetrating the province of Yunan by way of Tonquin involves the maintenance of a line so long as to jeopardize success and to imperil retreat in the event of disaster, and besides it would not put her columns within striking distance of any vital part of the Chinese Empire. England is already feeling the friction of the question and it is not improbable that Germany and Russia may share her anxieties.

LAST Monday night a train of thirteen cars passed Sumner loaded with seal skins belonging to the Alaska Fur Company. They were on their way to London, where their chief market is found. As so many who are so fortunate as to have fashionable wives or daughters have a perfect knowledge of the value of these skins deeply engraven on the tablets of their memories, we will attempt no estimate of the value of this shipment, except the general one that it probably mounted up into the millions. Since it would be entirely useless to the enterprising thieves and robbers along the line of the road in Arizona and New Mexico, it will undoubtedly reach the Atlantic sea-board in safety. If the railroad company have been able to operate "all-the-traffic-will-bear-policy" on this consignment of freight it would be interesting to know what they have realized from it.—Kern County Californian.

GRAPE juice is so scarce, that out of the State of California the adulteration of wines is almost universal in our country. Receipts for making wine of any brand, and of any age, without a drop of grape juice, are well known to some wine dealers. The prohibitionists, from Maine to California, and from the Lakes to the Gulf, want more vineyards and more grape juice, and welcome grape culture as well as other fruit culture, as a powerful adjutant in their reform. When the villagers and rural cultivators can literally sit under their own vine and fig tree, when the tempting clusters of the vine in the fresh state are upon the poor man's table for six months in the year, when grape juice in its various preparations is among the family stores in every house hold, the enticement of the grog shop will have lost many of its charms.

THE Tribune, of Chicago, publishes a letter, unearthed from the files of the Department of the Interior, from C. P. Huntington, in which he shows the invalidity and worthlessness of the Texas Pacific Land Grant, which that corporation subsequently transferred to the Southern Pacific and that he now maintains is good and valid and wants confirmed.

A NEW YORK man dislocated the jaw of his mother-in-law the other evening. She intended to talk him to death, but he strenuously objected. He wanted peace, and the police gave him arrest.

THE largest man in the British service is Lieut. Southerland, of the Fifty-sixth regiment. He is eight feet four inches high and weighs about 364 pounds.

☞ IT is said that an invariable rule with Mr. Jay Gould has been never to re-engage a man whom he has once discharged.

OFFICIAL.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

A Circuit Broken.

An Italian organ-grinder was rendering "The Little Widow Dunn" yesterday in the shade of a telegraph pole in South Fifth Avenue. The anthropoid that was attending to the finances of the combination broke his string by climbing once too many times around the lower part of the telegraph pole, and thus released, he ascended to one of the cross bars. The musician, thinking that the monkey was not attending to business, gave the string a jerk without looking around or stopping the music. The resistance told him that something was the matter. He glanced around, saw that the string was fastened to the telegraph pole, and that his collector had absconded, and asked in a troubled voice:

"Whera him monka gona?"

When he saw the children looking toward the top of the pole he glanced upward. Taking off his hat and swinging it he addressed the monkey in vigorous Italian.

The monkey looked down upon him loftily, and the rotary musician picked up an empty tomato can and flourished it in a threatening manner. The monkey retired to the top cross bar, and apparently, to insure himself against being knocked from his perch, grasped a telegraph wire on one side of him, and then carefully reached out with his other arm and caught hold of another wire. Suddenly he seemed to lose interest in the movements of his master, and looked curiously, first at one hand and then at the other. Then he let go the wires and began a minute inspection of the palms of his hands. Having satisfied himself that nothing was the matter with them, he took hold of the wires again and glanced down at his master. Then he let go again, inspected his palms once more, looked around him in a suspecting way, and carefully let himself down with his tail from cross-bar to cross-bar, till he could descend the pole. This he did head-foremost, and with a look that indicated that he thought it better to fly to ills of which he knew than to endure those the nature of which was a puzzle to him.—New York Sun.

WHILE visiting the White mountains last week Mr. P. T. Barnum went to the top of Mt. Washington. It was a fine day and the scene was unusually impressive, and the famous showman gazed about, long, in silent admiration. Then he drew a telegraph blank from his pocket and penciled this message to a friend: "I am on top of Mt. Washington. It is the second grandest show on earth."

FOR every five persons who use tobacco in England, France, and Russia, there are fifteen in Germany and North America, twenty-four in Belgium and twenty-eight in Holland. In Mexico nearly every one is a smoker, and it is said, while the schoolmaster is seldom without a cigar in his mouth, his pupils who have done well in their studies are rewarded by being allowed to smoke a cigar while they study.

PAPER railroad ties are said to be the latest invention. It is by a New York man, who calculates that it is necessary to despoil 300,000 acres of forest each year to supply the seventy million ties needed; that the life of a wooden tie is only five years, while a paper tie, which need cost no more than a wooden tie, will last twenty-five years.

ACCORDING to the Bridgeport Chronicle-Union, in a suit to restrain the Tax-Collector from collecting licenses, on the ground that it was special legislation, and unconstitutional, Judge Briggs, of Mono county, has decided that the law is constitutional and the tax must be paid.

IT is not a matter for boasting, but when one reads of the destruction from cyclones in the Western States, volcanic eruptions in Java, and epidemics in other portions of the world, it is only natural to think of California with satisfaction.

The Lime Kiln Club.

"If Clarence de Melville Bungs am present wid us to-night, I should like to spoke to him," said Brother Gardner as the meeting opened.

Brother Bungs was on the back row with a looking-glass in his hands and a new brand of hair oil on his hair. He rose up with a scrape and a bow, made a great spread of a blue silk handkerchief, and finally stood before the President's desk.

"Brudder Bungs," resumed the old man, "I reckon you am de purtiest member of the Lime-Kiln Club. You puts ile on yer h'ar, wax on yer moustache, an' de perfume on yer clothes reminds me of de wild roses of Varginny. Yes, you am de purtiest an' sweetest one ob de lot."

"Yes, sah," replied the brother, while his face betrayed the fact that he was tickled half to death.

"But—by the way, Brudder Bungs, what am your present bizness?"

"I'ze out of a job jist now, sah."

"When you work how much do you airn?"

"As high as seven dollars a week, sah."

"Jist so. Am dat suit o' clothes all paid fur?"

"No, sah."

"An' you am how many weeks behind on yer board?"

"Not ober six, sah."

"An' you owe dis lodge $3 dues?"

"Yes, sah."

"An' you owe members here as much as $20 fur borrowed money."

"I'ze borrowed some, sah."

"Brudder Bungs, I'ze had some 'sperience wid purty men, an' I nebber seed one yet who wasn't a fraud on de word manhood. When a man sots out to be purty all de horse sense leaves his head. No man can labor and be purty too. He dar'fo' lets work alone. He beats his board, his tailor, his shoemaker, an' all his friends. He looks killin', an' smells like a cologne factory, but he doan' pay up. Ebery smile beats semebody outer twenty-five cents, an' ebery giggle costs somebody half a dollar. I'ze had my eye on you fur some time."

"Yes, sah."

"Six months ago you had steady work, good pay, respectable clothes and was outer debt. You sot out to be purty, an' to-day you wouldn't sell fur 'nuff to pay yer debts. You smell awful nice, but you owe a $26 board bill. Your ha'r curls beautifully, but de tailor am whistling fur his money fur dat suit. Your form am elegant, but you has borrowed money until no one will lend you anoder cent. You smile like a buttercup an' raise yer hat like a Chesterfield, but yer butes ain't paid fur."

"Ize gwine to squar' up, sah."

"Maybe you is, Brudder Bungs, but it am too late so fur as dis club am consarned. Secretary!"

"Yes, sah."

"Scratch de name of Brudder Clarence de Melville Bungs off de roll!"

"She's dun scratched, sah."

"Janitor!"

"Yes, sah."

"Escort dis pusson to de alley doah! He am too purty to remain heah wid us. He am gwine out owin' us fur dues, an'—wall, nebber mind."

There was no need to post the janitor. Every one could picture him as he cleared a space to swing his right leg, and if anybody doubted that Clarence de Mevlille Bungs was "lifted" into the alley he had only to listen to the labored breathing of the janitor as he returned to his seat.—Detroit Free Press.

JAPANESE miners have some curious customs which sadly depreciate the value of their work. They do not appear to appreciate the fact that "time is money." An engineer who has just returned from the mines of that country tells us they light them in a peculiar manner. Every man entering the mine carries with him a large bundle of from five to six-foot bamboo cane, slightly beaten before use. This cane is used as a torch. It burns fairly well for a few seconds until a notch is reached, when the light nearly goes out and the ashes have to be knocked off, a process that must be repeated every half-minute. Every six or seven minutes, a new cane must be lighted, so that a good share of the miners's time is occupied in keeping his illumination in a fairly satisfactory condition. Unfortunately, Japanese miners are, besides, great smokers, and they use a pipe having a bowl the capacity of which is only equal to that of an ordinary thimble. It takes but two whiffs to finish it, when the process of filling up and relighting has to be gone through. Every one has probably had occasion to note the great deliberation with which an average Irishman, when at work, will fill his clay bowl when the foreman's gaze is not on him; but imagination simply shrinks from the task of picturing the rapid progress of work intrusted to a smoking Japanese miner.—Engineering Journal.

SEVERAL patients at the Nevada Insane Asylum have tried to starve themselves, and Dr. Bishop has taken a rather mean advantage of them. He has had a double spoon made by fastening the bowl part of two spoons together and had them soldered tight and smooth. A hole is cut at the point, and if a crank won't eat he gently insinuates the point of the spoon between the teeth, and forces it into the mouth, after which he pours milk or soup in at the top, and when it touches the palate it is swallow or choke. No one has been found who failed to swallow.—Reno Gazette.

IT is a better recommendation for a girl who wishes to marry to know how to cook a joint and boil potatoes than to shine in a ball-room.

A Dog's Trip Over Niagara.

G. Chorman has had in his possession for a time a dog which, though by no means vicious, had become addicted to the habit of barking at teams and pedestrians as they passed along the street, much to the annoyance of its owner, who had tried to break him of the habit. Failing in his teachings, Mr. Chorman decided to put the dog out of the way, and this king a trip over the falls the most effective, proceeded early Sunday morning, with the assistance of one of his employés, to drop him into the river from the center of Goat Island bridge. Bidding doggy good-by as he floated down the rapids, he returned home, but doggy would not have it that way. During the afternoon a stranger, walking across the suspension bridge, observed a dog under the bank and notified the gatekeeper at the American end of the bridge, who, with a glass, recognized the dog, and knowing that he had been sent over the falls, notified Mr. Chorman that the dog was below the bank. Later in the day Mr. Chorman went down the inclined railroad, but could not find the animal; but early the next morning his son went down and soon discovered the dog, who seemed as frisky as though nothing had happened. All at once the dog has become the hero of the hour, and will be allowed to remain and live out the full measure of his days.

YESTERDAY afternoon, says the Topeka Commonwealth, while a street-car was nearing the bridge, a footman signalled the driver by waving his bandanna. The driver whistled down brakes, and the car came to a sudden halt. A young man who was occupying the front platform was thr wn forward, and losing his balance, dropped a watermelon which he had under his arm. The melon fell against the heels of the off mule, which gave a terrible kick with both heels, sending the melon back into the face of the owner. The melon divided into halves; one part of it glancing off struck the driver on the nose knocking him off the platform. The other half went flying through the car window, knocking off one bonnet and two hats, landing in the lap of an old colored "aunt," who at once seized the core and commenced eating it. The mules in the meantime became frightened and flew the track. A granger in the rear end of the car s arted to catch the mules, when he fell over the foot of a Topeka belle and skinned his nose. When the driver sufficiently recovered to head off the mules he found them out in the jimson weeds quietly cropping the succulent sunflower tops. The owner of the melon contemplates bringing a suit against the street-car company for damages.

IT is a little remarkable that among the Californians who have died in the past ten years there should be thirty millionaires. Yet it does not seem that these deaths made a very great or grave impression on California affairs, the huge magnificence of everything there making even extraordinary deaths common place. Of these men who died one left $5,000,000, another $3,500,000, four of them $2,000,000 each, and one $1,500,000. The rest were content with just the sum that made them millionaires.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

A friend of mine who dabbles in stocks walked into a well-known banking house the other day, and created considerable excitement by remarking: "I got a pretty good thing last winter. It was 34 then, and to-day it stands 95." 'Well, I should say so!" exclaimed the senior partner. "But what was it?" "It was a thermometer."—Unknown Liar.

A HUNTER down on the coast the other day left one barrel of his (t)rusty weapon cocked while he rammed a load into the other. His hand, when it heals up, won't look anything like as well as it did with four more fingers.

The Elections of 1883.

The elections this year are not highly important, but they cover three or four States whose influence on the Presidential election will be considerable.

Mississippi will elect a Legislature.

Minnesota will elect a Governor, etc. Governor Hubbard's majority in 1881 was 27,830.

Maryland will elect a Legislature and Governor. The majority of Governor Hamilton in 1876 was 22,175.

Iowa will elect a Legislature, Governor, etc. Governor Sherman's plurality in 1891 was 59,926, in a total vote of 235,037. The election this year occurs October 9th, but in 1884 the election will occur November 4th.

New Jersey will elect a Governor, Representatives, and one-third of the Senate. The vote of Governor in 1880 (the term is three years) was 121,666 for Ludlow, Democratic; 121,015 for Potts, Republican; 2,759 for Hoaxey, Greenback, and 195 for Ransom, Prohibition.

Kentucky will elect a Legislature, Governor and other State officials. Governor Blackburn's majority in 1879 was 43,917.

Virginia will elect a Legislature, and the Democrats hope to recapture the State. The present Legislature has on joint ballot 81 Readjusters and 59 Democrats.

Massachusetts will elect a Legislature, Governor, etc. The vote in 1882 was was 133,946 for Butler, Democratic and Greenback; 119,987 for Bishop, Republican; 2,137 for Almy, Prohibition.

New York will elect a Legislature and minor State officials. The vote in 1882 was 535,318 for Cleveland, Democrat; 242,464 for Folger, Republican; 25,783 for Hopkins, Prohibition, and 11,974 for Howe, Greenback.

Ohio will elect a Legislature, Governor, etc. The vote in 1881 was 312,735 for Foster, Republican; 288,426 for Bookwalter, Democrat; 16,597 for Ludlow, Prohibitionist; 6,380 for Seltz, Greenback, and 139 scattered. The election occurs October 9th.

Connecticut elects a House and half the Senate. The present House has 148 Republicans and 110 Democrats, but the Democrats carried the State on the general ticket, the vote being, for Governor in 1882, for Waller, Democrat, 59,014; Buckley, Republican, 54,843; Rogers, Temperance, 1,034.

Pennsylvania will elect a State Treasurer, and the vote will be awaited with interest to see whether the independent Republicans will go back to the machine. The vote for Governor in 1882 was: 355,791 for Patterson, Democrat; 295,589 for Beaver, Republican. 23,996 for Armstrong, Greenback-Labor; 5,196 for Pettit, Prohibition, and 41,744 for Stewart, Independent Republican.

GEN. GEO. S. EVANS died in San Francisco on Monday last, it is said from the effect of morphine, taken with suicidal intent. He was a native of Michigan, aged 55 years. Gen. Evans was Commandant at Camp Independence during the troubles with the Piutes in the early days of the settlement of the valley. He was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor in 1878, but was defeated by Perkins, and was afterward appointed Harbor Commissioner. It is supposed that he became involved in some trouble in connection with this office which led to his death. He was esteemed highly by all Invoites without exception and his death will be greatly regretted by everyone.

SOMETHING remarkable has just taken place. President Soto of Honduras has sent his resignation to that Government. Wonders will never cease. The idea of a President resigning is something that would make a piece of birds-eye porphyry smile.

IN the late shooting contest between the Nevada rifle team and that from California, the Nevada team won by but 3 points, the score being 878 points to 875. These are about the best scores ever made by any military rifle team in the world.

THE S. F. Alta California has been sold by its former owners to a new company, which will soon take charge of it. Instead of being on the fence, or thereabouts, it will hereafter be a strong, staunch Democratic paper.

PHIL. SHERIDEN has been trotted out as a possible candidate for President by some New Yorkers, while others enquire "What ticket are you going to run him on; Republican or Democratic?"

CHARLEY MCCOMAS, the boy who was captured by the Apaches at the same time that his father and mother were killed, has been recovered. His rescuers claim $15,000 reward, which will be paid them.

THE United States Circuit Court has decided that the Railroad Commission has no power to fix rates for the Coast lines of vessels.

A RACE between the famous trotters St. Julien and Jay-Eye-See for $5,000 will be trotted Sept. 29th, near Boston.

A DESTRUCTIVE fire occurred at Sancelito early last Wednesday morning, by which four buildings were burned.

THE famous actor Junius Brutus Booth died at Manchester, Mass., Sept. 17.

THOSE REJECTED BILLS.

As to those rejected bills: They were rejected, not because there was anything wrong or objectionable in the bills themseleves, nor because any member of the Board was personally averse to their allowance the same as other rightful liabilities of like nature, but simply as a requirement of law and Constitution prohibiting allowance of bills in excess of the county's income for the year in which such liabilities were incurred. The bills so rejected were all dated prior to July 1st, the beginning of the present fiscal year, although in some cases they were rendered for necessary supplies pertaining to this and subsequent years exclusively. No one can reasonably blame the Board for their effort to comply with what appears to be a plain and strict requirement of law. It was not a pleasant duty, quite surely, for any of them to thus deny payment of honest dues—at least honest in their own nature—simply because the public funds happened to be exhausted for the time being.

But, were an individual to knowingly obtain goods and services of others under similar conditions as presented here by this and, doubtless, other counties—giving no intimation of possible inability to pay—and finally to squarely deny payment in toto merely because he did not have the ready cash in his pocket, that individual could justly be accused of obtaining goods under false pretences—in other words, of unadulterated swindling, more open than that usually contemplated under bankrupt laws. As before stated, this is no reflection on those who are endeavoring as officers to execute plain requirements of the law, but it is an arraignment of a law which legalizes swindles by a county in its corporate capacity, and yet of a kind that as an individual act might well send one of its citizens to San Quentin.

We think, however, that by order of the Board the cause of the rejection o such bills should have been endorsed on each and also made part of the records, neither of which was done.

We think, too, that at least a portion if not all these repudiated bills are collectable by law. The law says in effect that members of the Board of Education shall be paid out of the same fund and in the same manner as the County Superintendent, and that, he in turn, shall be paid out of the same fund and in the manner as other county officers.

The Superintendent was allowed his pay, in common with all other county officers, the members of the Board of Education alone excepted. Clearly, the law makes no such invidious distinctions between county officers. Possibly, however, none of them may receive any of the allowance in question, the Treasurer, until further authority, declining to register the warrants.

We think, too, that an action would lie for the collection of all just bills rendered (and now rejected) for supplies of any kind furnished and required for use during the current fiscal year, even though said supplias were dellvered a little prior to the beginning of the year.

Finally, as touching the equities in all these rejected claims, comes the fact that as the restrictive clause of the Constitution on which these rejectlons are based has hitherto been totally ignored, some ordinance declaring its existence and intended enforcement, else an authorized statement of the exact status of public funds available for expenses in the closing quarter of the year, was demanded in equity if not in law.

THE people of Oregon and Washington Territory are still rejoicing over the completion of the Northern Pacific. In about three or four years the cry will be "Railroad extortion; high freights and higher fares."

LAST Wednesday evening as Henry Ward Beecher was stepping into his carriage in front of the Coloseum, in Oakland, where he had been lecturing, a lady suddenly made a quick advance upon the preacher, and seizing him by the hand, detained him until she had impressed a large, loud, warm kiss upon his mouth. The delighted spectators shouted a vigorous approval.

THE wool clip of the United States for the current year, it is reported, promises to exceed that of 1882 by 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds, in a total of about 320,000,000 pounds.

Observations from Bishop.

GOSPEL SWAMP, Sept. 18.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT—Although the world, and the carnal mind generally, have contributed largely to the increase of impiety, and retarded the setting up of the kingdom among us, and although the contest has been sharp and bitter, between the faithful on one side, and the world, the flesh and the devil on the other, Gospel Swamp may yet be considered (like Job) as one to whom righteousness may be imputed. While the wicked enemies of the kingdom are constantly asserting that there is no good thing among us, and constantly struggling to pull down the righteous and godly ones to their own level, bringing false accusations against them; we cannot deny that piety is actually becoming more and more fervent, as evidenced by a healthy improvement in the length of prayer, and pious quotations therein contained. While the scoffer of Gospel Swamp has, for a long period of time, flourished like a green bay tree, lately, his limbs have been torn by the tornado of divine eloquence, his leaves shriveled by the withering scorn of the faithful "high priest in Israel," and his trunk has been shivered and riven by his bolts of divine wrath, leaving nothing but the root standing. The high priest stated that wicked scoffers and unbelievers had wickedly and maliciously stated, "again and again," that the Bible did not teach pure and severe morality, and that whoever so stated was a liar. This elevated system of reasoning, it may be seen at a glance, brought shame and confusion, at once, into the camp of the ungodly, and the place that knew them then, will probably know them no more, forever. Yet, the faithful high priest pursues his peaceful avocations without interruption, making frequent pilgrimages to the shrine of the water-sprite, shouldering a delicate implement known as a shovel, wearing a stern countenance and the garb of a laborer, his feet firmly in-Case'd in a pair of cow-hide boots, from one of which might be seen the glistening and persuading handle of a bowie knife. The whole being a living monument of the love with which Christ fills the hearts of his diciples.

The progress of the cause has been somewhat retarded by the absence of our brightest lights, who, I am informed, groaned in spirit because of their enforced sojourn in your sinful burg, and necessary absence from Sunday-school duties and pleasures. Fortunately they procured, from a pious friend, a copy of the Word "which established them firmly in their going" and fixed indelibly in their minds the lesson they were so desirous of imparting to others. But in the meantime, the bread of life was dealt to our hungry and famishing juveniles by an inadequate number of stewards, etc., which in the language of a "prominent citizen" and previous correspondent of your paper, "causes my blood to run cold, to see the youth of Bishop Creek growing up hoodlums." Since then, I am informed, the "prominent citizen" has dedicated himself to the service of the aforesaid youth, infant and adult, resolved to "never take the horseshoe from the door." "Give them early to the Lord," says the reverend High Priest. Yea, yea, while the heart is like softened wax, submit this plastic material to the hand of the Master, who who will mould and fashion it, suitable to himself and consequently acceptable to God. But I hear the voice of the unbeliever hissing: "Prostitute not the noble faculty of reason;" "The light of the body is the eye, and it follows that if the eye is not lit up by the light of reason, the whole body is in darkness." This is the false system of human reason resorted to by infidels and unbelievers, but the hand of omnipotence will, in due time, scatter them like chaff before the wind of heaven, and garner the golden wheat in the storehouses of the city of eternal joy.

Why not adopt the custom of the Flathead Indians, who press the forehead of the infant for successive months with a piece of flat-surfaced wood, securely bound with cords. In this manner the reasoning faculties are repressed and consequeutly dwarfed, the current that supplied them being turned aside to veneration, their next neighbor in the background, giving to veneration a size abnormally large. These Indians adhere with great tenacity to early instruction, neither advancing nor retrograding in matters of religious belief, and probably worship the same gods, in the same manner which their fathers did when the base of the White Mountains were washed by the waters of the Pacific Ocean. The person so operated on has never been known to change his religious opinions, being proof against the seductive voice of human reason and never subjected to harassing doubts thus propounded. One objection that may be urged against this practice is that it leaves the subject exceedingly bigoted, but as this is no way repugnant to modern christianity, is common to pagan and christian, jew and gentile alike, I fail to see that the objection is well grounded.

Pardon this trespass on your valuable space as it will no doubt stimulate the aforesaid high priest to more strenuous exertion in the pursuit of unbelievers, and also the derelict, including your humble servant, with the strong hand of heavens' just retribution. Thus you will gratify your humble servant and advacce the cause among us.

In an article in your last issue, headed, "Two opinions," the old adage is illustrated: "Great men differ."

Ominous reports are circulated in regard to letters read by W. P. George at the trial of Charles Jones. Their origin appears to be in doubt.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT.—On Wednesday afternoon last, Aaron Hood, better known as "Hickey" Hood, made a dastardly attempt to murder David Stubblefield, shooting him through the breast and arm, shattering the bone of the latter near the shoulder joint, inflicting very nearly a mortal wound. Stubblefield was coming down Mazourka Cañon with his six-horse team heavily loaded with wood. When just out of the narrower parts of the coñon, in sight of, and about a mile and a half of the depot, he met Hood on his way from town to his "ranch" up the cañon. He was on horseback and had some blankets with him. When within speaking distance Stubblefield spoke to him as usual, not having the remotest idea of any coming trouble or any reason to apprehend any. At the same time, however, he noticed that Hood had his hand within his blanket as if concealing something there. His reply to Stubblefields' "How do you do, Hickey," was to the effect that he had heard that Stubblefield was trying to jump his (Hood's) water right and ranch up the cañon. Saying in reply to a question, that a dozen men had told him so, but refusing to name even one. Stubblefield told him that he would not take the ranch as a gift, "you couldn't run fast enough to give me the ranch." By this time Hood had his pistol, apparently a new one, drawn and pointed at Stubblefield, the former sitting on his horse, which was standing close by the near wheel-horse in the team, Stubblefield being in his seat on the opposite side. Hood then began abusing Stubblefield, closing with the remark that "I have a notion to shoot you off that seat, anyhow." Stubblefield said he was not armed, also, "Hickey, I don't want to talk with you any more, and I am going on." Just as the team was about starting up, Hood fired. The ball struck Stubblefield directly on the right breast ranging through an inch or so deep between two ribs, towards the right arm, into which it cut with force enough to shatter the bone, and sever a large artery. Hood raised te shoot again when Stubblefield said: "Hickey, God Almighty never made a meaner man than you, but you are not mean enough to shoot me again, you have broken my arm and ruined me." Hood dropped his pistol, with the remark: "I know it Stub.; and I'm sorry I shot you," beginning to cry at the same time. Stubblefield replied: "It's a pretty time to be sorry now, after you have shot and about killed me." Hood, without further remark rode up the cañon. Stubblefield by this time began to feel extremely faint from the loss of blood, which was gushing forth in a stream. Nevertheless, his only hope was to try to get down to the depot. This he finally succeeded in doing, managing with his left hand to tie the lines to the seat spring, and to keep his foot on the brake; the down grade being sufficient to require all his power in that way to keep the wagon in the road. Finding that he would soon bleed to death, he stopped the team, and crawling back on the load, got an empty flour sack, with which, with his teeth and left hand, he managed to bandage the wounded arm so well as to almost entirely check the stream of blood. In this manner he finally got down to the depot, and found Fred. Schabbell there with a light wagon, in which he was immediately brought to town. Dr. Kernodle, who was at once called, soon had the wounds dressed, and all immediate danger averted. The wound in the breast is painful but not dangerous; but the one in the arm may prove quite serious. Mr. Stubblefield is a hard-working, highly respected man, and receives universal sympathy. A year or so ago he and Hood had had some difficulty in reference to the use of the water at the road, but Stubblefield never asserted any claim to it beyond the right of watering his team in his regular trips up and down the cañon. This, however, was amicably settled, and so far as Stubblefield knows, there was no existing animosity, or occasion for any whatever. A warrant was sworn out for Hood's arrest. Early on the following morning Deputy Sheriff Crough started over to the ceñon to serve it. Sometime during the night, however, Hood went up to Densmore's ranch at the Post. He said there that he had had some difficulty with Stubblefield and had shot at him, but did not think he had hurt him much, if at all, nor did he appear to attach much importance to the matter in any way. As Densmore, the next morning, was coming to town, Hood volunteered to come in with him, and did so, only to be met and immediately arrested by Deputy Sheriff Thurston, who soon had him securely in jail, where he now is. Deputy Sheriff Crough made a thorough search about Hood's ranch, but of course, without finding him; but he did find all of Stubblefield's water-lead boxes torn up and broken to splinters, Hood's work no doubt, "sorry" as he was, after the shooting.

THEY WIN.—Just as we close up to go to press we learn that the applicants for certificates have all been granted the certificates applied for, viz: Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Welsh, each a first-grade, and Miss Anna Malone a graduating diploma. We are not informed as to the respective percentages, except that all have good margin.

RETURNED.—Mr. Nathan Rhine, accompanied by Miss Luella Shepherd, arrived here on Friday, the 14th inst. By some unaccountable oversight we omitted to mention their arrival last week.

AT HOME.—THE INYO INDEPENDENT man arrived home yesterday from a brief trip over the Carson and Colorado. Some of his reportorial notes and observations will be given next week.

Proceedings of the County Board of Education.

Pursuant to published notice the County Board of Education met in special session, on Tuesday, Sept. 18th. J. J. Gunn, newly appointed, Daniel Crough, re-appointed, J. H. Shannon, County Supt. Chas. Groves, and P. A. Chalfant, President, comprising a full Board, were present.

Mr. Gunn was appointed to prepare questions upon the Constitutions of the United States and California, and was also added to the Committee on Questions in the principal studies.

Applications for certificates, as hereinafter named, were submitted, and, in part, were considered in Committee of the Whole, J. H. Shannon, chairman.

At 12 M. adjourned for committee work and to meet in regular session at 8, A. M.

WEDNESDAY, Sept. 19.

Full Board present. Minutes of the last regular session in June were read and approved.

The Chairman of the Committe of the Whole reported a resolution granting Miss Flora Northrup a first-grade certificate upon Life Diplomas granted by the State Normal School of Missouri; conditioned on her personal appearance before the Board, as required by standing rule, and result of answers to questions in general as to experience in teaching, etc. This requirement being fulfilled, the Board by unanimous vote granted Miss Northrup a first-grade County certificate.

First-grade certificates were applied for by Mr. Alonzo N. Clarke upon a State Normal School Life Diploma, and by Mrs. Almira H. Clarke, upon a State Educational Diploma. Both applicants were present. By unanimous vote, Mr. Clarke was granted a first-grade County Certificate, and Mrs. Clarke, a second-grade County Certificate, without prejudice in a future application for a first-grade upon a Life Diploma from the State of Connecticut.

Miss Anna Malone applied for examination for a graduating diploma, as provided for in subdivision 7, section 1772, Political Code. Leave granted, diploma to be granted upon attaining not less than 75 per cent. in not less than the full number of studies required for a second-grade certificate.

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Welsh each applied for examination for a first-grade County Certificate.

At 10 A. M. the examination of the three applicants begun.

The examination has been continued from day to day, and will be concluded this evening.

THE MODOCK.—Following is the report of Superintent Fitzgerald of recent operations: Amount of ores and selected slag at furnace, 259 tons. Iron ore, 32 tons. Wood, 40 cords. Coal, 5,200 bushels, to be hauled. 4,800 bushels coal 10 tons iron. Would have started furnace, but the teams broke down twice; last time three animals were killed on the grade. Amount of ore from New Discovery so far, 37 tons; assay of fine, 142 oz.; of the coarse 213 oz. Am increasing the force as I get room for them. Present output, 4 tons per day. The above assays are averages from every car-load.

BATTERY.—One W. A. Montanya had a difficulty with his mistress in Lone Pine on the 16th, and proceeded to batter and bruise her to an alarming extent. After he was satisfied, he had a complaint made against himself, and on a hearing before Justice Parker, of this place, was fined $5. The woman subsequently appeared, and on her testimony he was required to give $400 bonds to keep the peace for six months.

TO THE BAY.—Sheriff Gregg started for the Bay last Thursday, via Reno. He is accompanied by Charles Jones, who will partake of Warden Ames' hospitality for some time to come. Jones is quite a young man, prepossessing in appearance, and, to judge from his looks, not at all a natural born criminal.

EXCITEMENT. — The breaking of a chandelier and consequent fall of a lighted lamp, in the Pioneer Brewery, last Monday evening, caused quite an excitement for the time being. The flames were, however, extinguished without much difficulty by the Hose Company and Bucket Brigade.

THE YIELD.—The following in regard to crops, coming from a reliable source, may be considered fairly accurate: The corn crop is as heavy as usual; wheat and other small grains probably half the usual crop. The potato yield is said to be very poor, and the hay crop smaller than usual.

CHANGED HANDS.—The Blaney House changed managers last Wednesday, J. R. Eldred, formerly of West Bishop, taking charge. He, no doubt, will keep up the reputation and popularity as a first class hotel which it has always enjoyed.

FROM THE FISHING GROUNDS.—Arlie Mairs, Henry Thomson, Chas. Houle, Joe Garringer and others who went over to the fishing grounds lately, returned during the week. They report the fishing as being good.

SENTENCED. — In the Superior Court last Wednesday Judge Hannah sentenced Charles Jones to serve one year in the State Penitentiary. We believe this is the lightest penalty that could be imposed.

MISTAKEN.—The "citizen living north of town," mentioned in these columns a few weeks since, contradicts the assertion then made, that he had committed matrimony. Maybe not, but it looked that way to us.

WATER. — The well-diggers sunk a 34-foot well at the Independence depot, and found a supply of water, which, though only three feet in depth, seems inexhaustible.

AURORA BOREALIS.—A faint display of the "northern lights" was visible here last Saturday night.

DELAYED NEWS.

Summary of Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors at the Late Session.

Board met in adjourned meeting, September 4, and remained in session till the 8th, all the members present.

Ordered, that the Clerk notify Mrs. M. Powers and T. G. Powers, non-consenting land-owners, to show cause why a certain road should not be established as surveyed and reported by appointed viewers.

The County Treasurer was directed to transfer remaining moneys in the Sinking, Swamp Land, Expense, and Bridge Funds, and county unapportioned moneys on hands, all to the General Expense Fund.

Bill of Dr. B. E. Stevenson for professional services to county prisoner, Charles Jones, laid over till next regular meeting.

Bills ordered paid—Assessor Irwin, making Military Roll, $26 50; Harris & Rhine, Court-house insurance one year from August 8, 1883, $275; Rothschild & Co., supplies, $7, allowed, $5 50; W. C. Brierly, J. P., $12; P. A. Chalfant, blanks, etc., $23 50; Jas. E. Parker, advertising, $6 75; A. Carlisle & Co., blank books, etc., $37 75; John Crough, stamps and freight, $10; same, Court fees; same, Auditor's salary, $187 50; Geo. H. Hardy, Treasurer, $375; J. C. Irwin, Assessor, $600; same, for deputy, $150; same, for stamps, $15; Chas. H. Groves, Co. Supt., $100; S. D. Thurston, boarding prisoners, $12 90.

The following bills were each and all marked "Rejected." The cause of rejection is elsewhere explained:

Bills rejected—W. H. George, for mileage and examination of insane person, $50; A. R. Conklin, member Board of Education, $20; Chas. H. Groves, same, $54 10; H. Heilshorn, meals for prisoner, $5 50; H. G. Kernodle, examination of insane, $5; P. A. Chalfant, printing and binding, $60; J. E. Parker, county advertising, $28; W. C. Brierly, Justice of the Peace, $31 25; S. D. Thurston, boarding prisoners, $7 60; P. A. Chalfant, member Board of Education, $30; J. H. Shannon, same, $30; H. M. Isaacs, for merchandise, $3; G. W. Brady, cash paid for team hire, $7; bill of Kern & Inyo Stage Co. rejected; Dan'l Crough, member Board of Education, $30; Jos. Schalten, Justice of the Peace, $6; H. H. Burt, Constable, $14.

BISHOP CREEK ITEMS. — A Bishop Creek correspondent sends us the following:

The Sacramento mine closed down some eight weeks ago, because it would not pay. Mr. Van Eps, the Superintendent, gave four Mexicans the privilege of working the mine, to have what they could make, and this is the result, so far: Four men four weeks in the mine, fifteen tons of ore, one arastra, worked by one mule, and one of the four men to drive him; coin in hand, $977.50. The mine speaks for itself.

The Mexican population of Bishop gave a grand ball on the 17th in commemoration of the 73d anniversary of the independence of the Mexican Republic, which was well attended, and which will be remembered by all as one of the most enjoyable parties ever given in this town.

Everybody is busy now threshing their grain, and hauling it to mill. Judge Brierly has turned rancher for the time being, and to "judge" from his countenance as he sits on his go-cart with his sack of wheat behind him on his way to mill, one would think law business was "mighty dull."

HERE.—The smiling face of J. W. Smith, now of Big Pine, is again seen among us. He will remain here a few days.

OFFICIAL.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this 11th day of August, 1883, by the following vote: Ayes, E. Robinson, Thomas Boland, A. Spencer—3. Noes—none.

A Conductor's Story.

"Speaking of strange attachments," said a well-known Arkansas railroad conductor, "reminds me of the strangest freak of affection of which I think any record has been kept. On one of the roads entering at Little Rock there is, a short distance from the city, a stretch of woods pasture about a mile and a half long. The land is as level as the floor, and is surrounded by a high fence, with deep cattle gaps where the road runs through. One day while we were rushing through the woods a deer jumped up and ran along close to the train until we reached the fence, when he turned and was lost to view. Next day when the train came along the deer met us at the fence and ran along in great glee until he reached the other side of the woods, when he turned aside. My engineer became very much attached to him, and always blew the whistle before entering the woods. The old engine, too, seemed to have an affection for the animal, and would seem to chuckle when the deer was at its side.

"One day we were delayed by an accident to a freight train, and did not reach the woods until after nightfall. The engineer blew his whistle. A light flashed in the woods, and, sir, I hope never to tell the truth again if that deer wasn't there carrying a lantern on his horns. I won't pretend to explain how he got the lantern. I am giving you the facts, and you can draw your own deductions. When we passed he tossed the lantern aside. One of the boys told me—but, mind you, I don't vouch for its truth—that the lantern fell from a freight train and that the deer took it up and kept it on a stump until our train came along."

"How do you suppose that deer lighted the lantern?" asked one of the company.

"It may have been already lit, but if it wasn't it's no lookout of mine, for I am only giving you the facts as they occurred, leaving all speculation to you. Some time after this we were rushing along, nearing the deer's woods, when we saw the animal standing on the track waving a red flag. We stopped, and discovered that an immense tree had blown across the track. Well, sir, when we chopped the log out, that deer put his horns against it and helped us roll it away."

"Where do you suppose he got the red flag?" asked an incredulous listener.

"I won't attempt to explain anything. I am giving you the facts, and, of course, you can do your own figuring for conclusions; but one of the boys said that he took up an old white rag that he found on the ground and rubbed it in a bed of red clay."

"What became of this wonderful animal?"

"That's what I am going to tell you. One day, about six months ago, we arrived at toe woods as usual. The deer met us and leaped along side of us. The engine feeling pretty gay that morning anyhow, seemed to prance along the track. Just as we got about half way through the woods an immigrant looked out of the window, and yelling 'Look at that ar deer!' snatched up a double-barreled gun and fired a load of buckshot into the poor thing. We stopped and went over to where the deer lay on the green sward in the last agonies of death. He held out his tongue and shook hands with all the trainmen, but when he saw the immigrant, whom we dragged to the spot, he frowned darkly, folded up his tongue and put it back into his mouth. The immigrant was a nervous fellow and was much excited. He bent over the deer as though to get forgiveness, when the animal, brave and revengeful in death, raised up and brought him a crack across the head with his stick-like fore-leg, and laid him low. The deer and immigrant are buried near each other, and our engine, which has never recovered from the depressing effect of the tragedy, always moans when it goes through the deer's woods."

GOULD, Huntington and Vanderbilt are supposed to be engineering the attack on the Northern Pacific and Oregon Transcontinental.

Poker, Scientifically Considered.

The celebrated English astronomer, Mr. Richard A. Proctor, has, for the time being, taken his eyes and his learning from the heavens and directed his mathematical attention to the noble game of "draw." The seductiveness of the national American game of poker has been almost universally admitted in Europe, but we confess to some surprise at seeing a man like Mr. Proctor devoting his profound learning to resolving to their mathematical nicetie the intricacies of the pastime. He, however, treats the matter entirely from a scientific standpoint, and pays it the high compliment of declaring it not only the most interesting of all card games, but insists further that it is an important branch of science, "elevating the idea of speculative combination to the greatest possible dignity in connection with mental pastime." The distinguished theorist holds, however, that all "bluffing" must be eliminated. He discovers that the chance of holding something in your hand in the deal are just about equal to the chances of being without anything. Thus there are 2,598,950 possible hands in a game of poker. Of these 1,080,240 are pairs, 123,552 two pairs, 54,912 triolets, 10,200 common sequences, 5,108 common flushes, 3,744 full hands, 624 fours and 40 sequence flushes. Now all this sounds very plausible, and the calculations contain a mass of interesting developments which would astonish the most skillful of practiced poker-players. In the interest of science we suggest that Mr. Proctor sit down with a "professional gentleman" who knows and practices the various tricks of the game. In the light of careful mathematical calculation we are constrained to say that Mr. Proctor would be very badly left by the gambler who played in the light of a mirror-ring or any other dodge known to the craft. Theory is all very well, but applied to poker it is the best known means of getting rid of money.—Los Angeles Express.

AN English paper has discovered the grave of Abraham Lincoln's grandfather at Norwich, England, where a tomb is inscribed to the memory of "Abraham Lincoln," with the motto: "From thee, great God, we spring; to Thee we tend, Path, motive, guide, original and end." The date is 1789, and while the discovery affords a pleasant coincidence the verity is spoiled by the fact that at that date Lincoln's grandfather, who was a native of Virginia, was clearing a farm in the backwoods of Kentucky.—Oakland Times.

JAS. E. PARKER.

THE horse stealing industry is quite flourishing up about Bodie. Billy Moore and Tom Granney are the best known operators. The pair were captured in Belleville with a lot of horses they had stolen in Bodie and en route. They were handcuffed together and placed in charge of an unusually wide awake officer, name not given, who allowed them to escape in less than the regulation time. Now they are liable to arrest for stealing the handcuffs. This shows how one crime will lead to another. All this occurred last week. David Cohey is in jail at Bridgeport for horse stealing. Dave made the fool mistake of stealing a horse and then tying to sell it to Parsons, the man he had stolen it from. Parsons knew his own horse, so he had Dave arrested. The branch business of cattle stealing is even more flourishing up there. The Bodie beef market is kept pretty well supplied in that way. The ranchers don't like it at all, and are doing their best to break up the business, but, so far, with no positive success.

DODS, the defaulting City Treasurer of Oakland, has appealed his case to the Supreme Court, on the ground that no intent to commit a crime was proven by the prosecution, and that the money was taken with the intention of returning it. Dods seems to take the right view of things in this last point especially. Certainly, if Dods took $50,000 that didn't belong to him and fooled it all away and couldn't pay a cent of it back, but fully intended to make a deal in stocks some day and then pay it back out of any surplus not needed for another deal, then it is clear Dods was chock full of good intentions, a fact that their Honors ought not to overlook.

A CLIFTON, Arizona, special, via Tucson, dated September 26th, says: A Sheriff's posse of twenty-five men met a party of four cowboys, and ordered them them to throw up their hands. Kid Lewis, the leader of the cowboys, who was in front, pulled his pistol, when the posse fired upon them. Lewis received several balls at the first fire and was instantly killed. Frank Leonard was wounded, and crawled off into the hills. Nothing has since been seen of him and it is believed by many that he is dead. McNamara and Vanil were unhurt, the latter riding away amid a volley of bullets.

"THE Chinese are not the soldiers that the French are," says ex-Congressman Bookwalter, who has just been round the world, "but they have a clear policy. They are the best diplomatists in the world. The Chinese State Office is regarded as the keenest on the globe. The influence of the Chinese among all those Eastern people is subtle and perfect. Fancy the accuracy and skill of a Government which, under one system, can control 430,000,000 people. We are beginning to tremble that we control 50,000,000 with liberty."

J. W. MACKAY is delighted with the workings of his new company. It appears that two operators upon the compound wire of the Postal Telegraph have been sending and receiving 542 messages in three hours, or at the rate of ninety messages an hour. The best transmission on the ordinary wire is understood to be only seventy-five messages an hour between New York and Boston, which is one-third the distance to Chicago.

THE Ohio temperance men can vote this year for two constitutional amendments—one prohibiting the sale of liquor, and one regulating them. If the first fails the second may not.

WM. SHARON claims that the marriage contract and letters in possession of Aggie Hill are forgeries, and that he will have the forger consigned to the State Prison.

IT is said that decaying cabbage will produce diphtheria sooner than any other nuisance about a house.

THE New York newspapers, following the example of the railroads, are indulging in a war of rates.

THE sections on the C. & C. Railroad have been extended from 12 to 18 miles.

SILVER.

The San Francisco Bulletin considers the prospects of silver as brightening. Its observations on the subject are worth recapitulating.

Silver, notwithstanding the assaults made upon it in Congress and Presidential messages and vetoes, has for years constituted an insurmountable barrier to the assaults of the money kings, and insured the stability of the finances of the country. The gold in the Treasury could readily have been drawn out by those who had manipulated the gold market for many years, with great profit to themselves and great loss to the victims and the country at large. But the volume of silver, with a steady and inexhaustible supply from the mint was not so easily handled.

The Congress of Commerce and Industry at Amsterdam has just adopted resolutions in favor of the coinage of silver on an equality with gold, and in favor of a uniform standard of value in Europe and America. All indications point to the readoption of the double standard by the chief European Governments. Such action will of course strengthen our own Government in the policy adopied by it five years ago. It will supply the poorer classes in Europe as well as here with the coin best calculated to suit their convenience. It will stimulate silver mining throughout the world, but especially in the silver producing States and Territories of our own country. It will put a stop to the demand which is annually made upon Congress for the repeal of the present law, and will render it self-evident to all that both silver and gold will continue to be used as coin by the civilized nations of the globe. The logic of events is proving itself superior to the sophistry of financial logicians, as stubborn facts always outweigh pretentious but flimsy theories.

Should silver regain its old standing with the European governments as a circulating medium, it would prove a powerful stimulus to mining, and bring out many districts which are now held back by the fearful discount of from 17 to 20 per cent on silver bullion, The inconvenienco of handling silver in commercial transactions, which is at present a local evil, could easily be avoided if silver certificates were in more general use, and the silver coin which they represent left in the Treasury.

IN the matter of Ah Lung, claiming, by reason of his birth in Hongkong, to be an Englisman, and, therefore, to be exempt from the provisions of the Restriction Act, Justice Field, Justice Sawyer concurring, decided a few days ago that the exclusiou extended to the Chinese race, no matter from what "foreign port or place" they are brought. The decision is the reverse of that recently delivered by a Massachusetts Judge. The San Francisco Bulletin remarks of Judge Field's decision: "No one can read it without being struck with the closeness of and logic of the argument. The rubbish that has been floating in the newspapers about the superiority of a treaty to an act of Congress is also swept away, at the same time, it is to be hoped, for good. The act of Congress is the last expression of the national will, and is limited by nothing but the Constitution of the United States."

CARPENTERS, architects, and in fact, all classes of artisans desirous of learning something new and tasteful in the construction of any and every part of buildings, both common and pretentious, and all such things, cannot do it any cheaper or more satisfactorily than by procuring "Paliser's Useful Details." This is a very large pamphlet or book, containing hundreds of drawings, as above, drawn to exact scale for working purposes, and easily understood. It is by the noted architects, Paliser, Paliser & Co., New Haven, Conn., and the price is $3 per copy. No builder who wishes to make his builings look beautiful should be without this book.

IN New York, the other day, a tragedy occurred which has caused the wildest excitement in the neighborhood. Rev. James Kemlo killed his wife and then himself with a large butcher knife. Kemlo was a successful minister, but his blood became tainted with malaria and made him crazy. The room in which the tragedy occurred, the wall, furniture and bedding. and everything, were spattered with blood. The poor woman evidently fought desperately for life during the bloody struggle. Her hands and arms were fearfully cut in addition to the death wound in the throat. They leave two small children,

A NEW ORLEANS Grand Jury has made a report which is causing a sensation in the Crescent City. The document sets forth that office holders are corrupt, that vice advertises itself with electric light, that sluggers abound, that the food of the city is contaminated through the filthiness of the markets, and that the capitalists evade the taxes.

THE Empress of Russia has ordered a sable cloak to be trimmed with gold and enriched with precious stones, the whole to cost $43,000.

THE Mormons multiply, both by natural and unnatural increase; in a similar ratio, so also does the difficulties of legally suppressing polygamy, the most illegal of crimes. One time in our national history over-wise statesmen said the difficulties in the way of resuming specie payments were insurmountable. Then a man said it was an easy thing to do; that "the only way to resume was to resume." Seeing that was a fact, the difficulties all vanished, and they "resumed" without a bit of trouble. And the same kind of a man would suppress polygamy faster than prison accommodations could be provided for the cat-hammed old criminals who so persistently maintain the "foul blot."

THERE are a number of so-called "ports of entry" in the country which might be abolished without detriment to the government service. The Collector's office at Atalanta, Georgia, is, according to the Chatanooga Times, the worst of the lot. The Times tells us: "The enormous sum of $21 was collected there in the form of duties on imports for the fiscal year ended June 30th, 1883, and it cost the Government $1,068 to take in that much, or $52 and a fraction for every dollar collected."

THE value of the property in Virginia City has depreciated $750,000, according to the official valuation. As Mr. Maglithergin remarked, "the times are growing worser and worser." So says an exchange. We hope Mr. Maglithergin didn't refer to this county, as it has about reached the "worsest," judging from appearances.

IF you have a jumping toothache, don't take hop bitters. A pint of them given to a dog will hop a man out of the house in a minute.

MISS HONORA DAUBIGNE has just completed a portrait of her father in oil. It would have looked more like the old gentleman, and smelled infinitely more like him, had she worked the portrait in whisky. Still, as a work of art it is a very valuable painting; thirteen dollars' worth of tube colors were used in its construction, and the frame alone cost forty-five dollars. The hair wart on Mr. Daubigne's cheek is omitted in the portrait, and the right ear, which was bit off in a fight down at the red bridge ten years ago, has been restored by the magical touch of the accomplished artist. The nose of the subject has also been toned down, being treated in pole lakes instead of vermilion. To get at the true soulfulness, the tout ensemble, the immortal intellectual chiaro obscura of Mr. Daubigne's nose it would have to be treated in the lake of brimstone, if there is such a color. As a work of art, however, the portrait is one of which our city may well be proud. It can be recognized by a glance as the name of the subject, which was neatly lettered on the frame by Stepladder, the sign painter.—Burlington Hawkeye.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 29 1883

CLOVER PATCH.—Mr. M. G. Nixon, lately a member of the firm of Reddy, Gorman & Co., was in town during the week. He sold his interest at Darwin, in the Defiance mine and furnaces, but inasmuch as he has become heavily interested in Southern Mono, will not leave this general section of the country. Mr. J. M. Nicholson, a very successful miner, accompanied him, being the selling party in the late transaction. The property consists of the Banner mine and the Wild Rose mill, situated about seven miles southward of Benton. The mine has been well developed, and is already credited with a yield of $50,000. Mr. Nixon will start up the mill within the coming week. The country thereabouts is a miner's paradise, as to the wood and water questions, while the ledges are large and generally very rich.

REDUCED POSTAGE. — Our readers should bear in mind the fact that the two-cent letter postage, as established by the last Congress, goes into effect next Monday, October 1st. None of the new stamps have as yet been received at the Independence postoffice, but we presume the style of two-cent stamps heretofore in use will answer the purpose, in their absence. In this connection, Wells, Fargo & Co. have reduced the prices of their franked envelopes, formerly sold at a uniform rate of five cents each, as follows: Single franks, 5 cents; six for 25 cents; twelve for 50 cents; twenty-five for $1.00—a rate of four cents each by the dollar's worth.

THE TELEGRAPH TARIFF.—For the information of business men, we give the rates charged by the Western Union Co. as follows: A telegram to any Western Union office in Nevada or California is not more than $1.00 for each ten words and 7 cents for each word over ten; night rate being 70 cents, and 5 cents for each extra word. Carson, (day rate), 75 cents, and 5 cents; Virginia, 75, and 5; Hawthorne, 60, and 4; Candelaria, 50, and 3; Bishop Creek, 30, and 2; Lone Pine, and all C. & C. stations south of Bishop, 25, and 2. All Western Union offices of Oregon, British Columbia, Arizona, California, Nevada, Washington Territory, and Utah, $1.00, and 7 cents.

RAILROAD RATES. — In answer to many questions regarding the rates of fare on the Carson and Colorado we append the following: From Independence to Hawley, $2.00; to Lone Pine, $1.00. Going northward the rates are: Independence to Alvord, (Big Pine), $1.75; Bishop, $3.00; Benton, $5.50; Belleville, $9.50; Candelaria, $9.75; Hawthorne, $14.00; Mound House, $23; Virginia $23.90; Carson, $23.75; Reno $26; Truckee, $28.50; Sacramento, $32.05; San Jose, $35.05; San Francisco, $35.05; San Francisco and return, good for 30 days from date of issue after which it becomes void, $60.

WHAT?—The query arises as to what is going to be done about getting a telegraph or telephone line across the valley to connect at the depot with the Western Union? One wire, properly hung up, insulated and connected, will answer for either or both. It would seem that there ought to be sufficient enterprise and co-operation in the town to accomplish a matter so important, and yet at so small cost, We fancy that if a meeting of citizens were to be agreed upon, say at the Court House next Monday evening, the whole matter could be fixed up in short order.

BROWN MONSTER.—As an evidence of the revival of our mining interests, it may be here mentioned that four men are taking out fine galena ore for shipment from the Brown Monster mine. At the present writing 10 tons are sacked and ready for transportation. A lot of Mexicans are extracting ore on the hill above the Brown Monster; and so events are moving, and before long the county generally must feel the results of this labor and development.

PHOTOGRAPHY.—Mr. Al. Smith, the genial photographer and artist of Bishop Creek, informs us that he will positively leave that place on or about the 1st ultimo. He will remain in Lone Pine a few weeks before going to Southern California. He thanks the people of the valley for their kind patronage, and desires to have it stated that those persons of whom he has specimen pictures may have them, if they desire them, at greatly reduced rates.

BILLS ALLOWED.—At the close of the last session of the Board of Supervisors that body "allowed" themselve per diem and mileage as follows: E. Robinson, twenty days' service, $120 80; A. Spencer, fourteen days, $122 40, and Thos. Boland, fifteen days, $134 80. We presume the General Expense Fund can stand it.

TEAMING ACCIDENT.—One day last week one of Jack Davis' freighting teams was coming down Modock hill when a bolt in the brake-rod gave way, leaving the brake useless. The result was two horses killed, an exceedingly narrow escape for Mitchell, the driver, and a wagon generally wrecked.

THE OLD "UNION" MINE. — Silas Reynolds and T. Treglowen have 15 tons of ore on their dump ready for shipment, the ore being a fine galena.

THE HIRSCH.—A fine body of copper of high grade, together with a showing of galena ore, has been recently exposed in this mine.

THE WEATHER. — Though the days are warm enough, the cold nights and the numerous ducks and other cold-weather birds give evidence that Autumn is here, "surs 'nuff."

QUAIL.—The open season for quail, grouse, etc., commences on Monday next.

CALICO NEWS.—W. T. (alias, Bill) Grant writes us a characteristic letter from Calico, San Bernardino county, under date of the 25th, in which, at the outset, he taxes general credulity by the broad assertion that he is not dead at all, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding. Taking that statement for what it is worth, we will see what else he has to say as follows; "Nor am I dead drunk, but am wide awake, and in a good country and among a host of friends. Van Briesen has a magnificent hatel—as fine as can be found anywhere, and doing a No. 1 business. Everybody likes him, same as in Inyo. Geo. McKenzie and Dan. McPhail are doing the royal behind the bar. Judge Harvey Mills is at Goff, also Cy. Quinn. Tom Ryan is running a station called "Lava Beds," and Stacy, of Bishop, has a store at the same place. There are quite a number of old Inyoites here, among whom are Joe Le Cyr, Bob Gribbin, Jim Peel, and last arrived, "Old Pud"—Dan Williams. Well, I may have to come back to Inyo, but this is a very promising country, and I do believe that in one year San Bernardino will be the banner mining county of the State. The King mine is turning out a whole lot of bullion monthly, and paying the boys a nice little div. Uncle Billy Raymond ("God's Honest Man") has got his fins in again, and is going to make bushels of money out of his interests here, particularly the Garfield mine. All his old friends say he has struck the right country again. He is now in the city looking after a mill to work his ores. Judge James Walsh has left this place for pastures new. Chas. Kauffman, of Darwin notoriety, is running a little mine, and shipping some very rich ore, and has struck it quite rich lately. Jerome Coldren, formerly of the old Silver Sprout Co., of Inyo, has just sold out his interest in Exchange District tor $400 and gone East. Johnny Williams is running Pratt's Hotel at Mohave. Here I will close this trash, but say that I hope again to see old Inyo with its snow-clad peaks and big hearted men and women."

PERSONAL MENTION.—Our "Personals" this week are not very numerous, nor has "Lokleitems," of late, kept up his department very well in this regard. However, among the late visitors to Independence were J. S. Gorman, resident manager of the Defiance, at Darwin, who has returned to his work.... Mr. J. T. Barrie arrived yesterday from New York, and for some time will engage himself looking after the interests of the Chrysopolis District.... Chief Engineer Oliver, of the Carson and Colorado, went southward yesterday. He was traveling on this side of the valley, in a buggy. There may be some joke about his abandoning the iron horse and train for one of Clark's teams, but we fail to see it, unless that he wanted to get down through the civilized region....Mr. S. D. Thurston and lady, late of the Blaney House, intend leaving next Monday for Southern California. A social gathering of their friends occurred at the Blaney last evening in their honor....Mr. S. D. Woods returned from San Francisco last Thursday, and went up to Elna today. He is slowly recovering from a prostrating attack of fever....Mr. H. H. Welsh has gone to Darwin, to take charge of Harman's mercantile business....Mr. A. Wingard will leave for San Francisco in a few days, intent on matters pertaining to his railroad and ore-concentrator patents, but will soon be back to prosecute his mining operations....Supt. McEvoy is in from Beveridge, taking rest and recreation.... Ex-Supervisor Meysan, of Lone Pine, paid our town a business visit during the week....Mr. Henry Ferhman, one of the best farmers in the Camp Independence section, has gone to the Bay for medical taeatment.

HIS CONDITION.—Mr. Stubblefield is is in a very fair way for recovery from the wounds inflicted by Hood, though it will be many a day in all probability before his broken arm recovers its natural powers. The case has been well handled by Dr. Kernodle. He, however, has not deemed it advisable as yet to attempt the extraction of the ball, preferring to wait until the severed artery becomes healed. The ball in its course traversed nearly or quite six inches through the chest, cutting into the cavity directly under the right nipple but holding its course through a rib out of the chest and into the arm. In all this the force of the ball, which was quite small, was materially spent before it struck the arm bone, else the latter would have been more dangerously and hopelessly shattered than it was, and, of course, the chances for recovery rendered far more uncertain. But it is bad enough as it is.

CERRO GORDO.—The rumor comes that several new parties are intent upon the resumption of active mining in old Cerro Gordo District. A couple of men lately made an important strike in an old mine formerly worked by Jack Moore and others, just north of the Belshaw furnace. The ore vein is about 12 or 14 inches wide, and consists of silver-lead assaying from $1,000 upward to the ton. Thos. McDonough is is about starting up work on some relocations of his own. It is said, also, that Belshaw is making arrangements to return in person and start up the old Union, but we do not look for this to occur before the snow flies on the mountains — the present absence of water being the main difficulty there.

HOOD'S EXAMINATION.—The preliminary examination of Hickey Hood for his attempt to murder David Stubblefield last week was to have taken place before Justice Parker last Monday, but owing to the then critical condition of Mr. Stubblefield, the prosecuting and only witness, his deposition could not well be taken, so the examination was postponed till Monday next.

COURT.—A regular term of the Superior Court begins next Monday. There is one, perhaps more, civil suits of some moment to the parties in interest to come up, and probably a criminal case wherein the wisdom of a jury will be required.

THE BLACKLEG.—This bovine disease has carried off a number of young cattle belonging to different owners in this vicinity, during the past few days. It has been more or less prevalent all through the valley for a year or two, appearing and disappearing at times, but scarcely as a sweeping epidemic in any herd except, perhaps, some at the start. The best means of relieving a herd from its ravages seems to be an entire change of locality and pasturage, even if but for a few weeks.

LICENSES DUE.—Many liquor, trader's, and other county licenses are now due and payable. We have a suspicion that suits for their collection will be docketted before a great while.

ARRASTRAS.—Mr. W. L. Hunter is about starting up again his arrastras at Beveridge, to work over old tailings, and some ore from his mines.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested, or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

TO THOSE I LOVE.

[For The Inyo Independent, by Mrs. W. A. DaCoe.]

Whene'er I wander, o'er hill, thro' valley,
One thought gives solace where'er I be—
Though each new place is bereft of graces
By missing faces I cannot see,
Yet still above me, with eyes that love me,
The same dear stars watch over me!

O, fellow traveler! though sad and lonely,
And distant from the loved you be,
No thing the greeting of friendly meeting
When first we risen all tenderly—
Think, those that love thee, will look above thee
At those same stars now watching thee!

Inanimate things we hold most fondly,
When we, in fancy though it be—
See fairy fingers whose touch yet lingers
Within their folds' sweet mystery!
O! dowl be prize, then, those gentle eyes, when
From Heaven's blue depths their light we see.

"Dear stars!" I murmur, in fondest whisper,
"Those vales and mountains are strange to me.
But true to duty, in silent beauty,
Ye shine with not one change to me.
What blest revealing, could human feeling,
Learn thy sweet law of constancy!

Then o'er my loved ones art fondly shining;
Whisper them to them these thoughts for me,
O! tell them, tho' tying the hours that, flying
So sadly state that apart we be—
Yet still above us, with eyes that love us,
THE SAME DEAR STARS WATCH THEM AND ME!"

Society Note.

An old bachelor, who lives in the suburbs of Austin, hires a colored man about 18 to clean up his room, fill the lamp and perform like services. A few days ago a colored domestic, who had been using his employers blacking, said:

"Boss, our blackin' am done out."

"Whrt do you mean?" growled the sordid employer; "everything belongs to me, and nothing belongs to you. I want you to understand that nothing belongs to you."

The terrified darkie promised to comply with the request. On the following Sunday the boss happened to meet the colored menial, accompanied by a chocolate-colored female pushing a baby-carriage.

"Was that your baby in that carriage?" he asked next day, quite a number of his friends being present.

"No, boss, dat's not our chile; dat's your chile. I'se nebber gwine to say nuffin belongs to me no mosh."

That Wound It Up.

"What is mesmerism?" asked Poots' little boy the other day. "Mesmerism, son, is the—well—let's see, how can I make you understand it? It is the—where's your dictionary? But no, never mind. I'll explain it in another way," and then Poots, who thinks he has a remarkably powerful mind, undertook to exert a mesmeric influence on his son. Fixing his eyes on his son in a way that made the boy shudder, as he pointed to the clock: "See that pretty bird! Hear it sing! Let's catch it and put it in the cage," and he got up and dragged the unwilling boy after him. "Pretty bird! pretty bird," he said, as he patted the clock. Then the boy broke away with an awful yell, knocked the clock down in his terror, and yelling "Ma! ma! Pa's got the jims again." And that wound up Poots' experiments in mesmerism.

THE details of the awful earthquake in the island of Java are slow in reaching us. It is, so to speak, at the other end of the world, and the means of communication are not reliable or rapid. But it is known that the first reports of the loss of life fall far short of reality. It is now thought possible that 60,000 persons may have perished. Two inhabited islands sank under water, and the sea swept over large towns, and a long line of coast. There will, no doubt, be intense suffering among the survivors, whose cultivated lands have been devastated either by the action of fire or water, or both.

EVIDENTLY the Empress of Japan does not hold a very high opinion of the virtue of the ladies in the Empire. She has just ordered her chamberlain to prepare a list of all the faithful wives in the island, in order that she may present them with a medal or badge of chastity.

THE Mexican Congress met on the 16th instant. President Gonzales in his message declares that the foreign relations are every day becoming more satisfactory.

Amber in the Baltic Provinces.

Some very interesting researches have recently been made on the flora of the amber-bearing formations of East Prussia by Messrs. Goeppert and Menge. In ancient times there must have been in this part of Europe a group of conifers comprising specimens from almost all parts of the world. Among the splendid specimens of the California coniferæ were the redwood, the sugarpine and the Douglass spruce; and of the examples of the Eastern States were the bald cypress, red cedar, thuya, and the pinus rigida; from the eastern coasts of Asia were the Chilean incense cedar, the parasol fir, the arbor vitæ, the glyptostrobus and the thuyopsis; and the Scioton fir, the spruce and cypress of Europe and the callitris of Southern Africa. It appears that the deposits of amber for which the Baltic is noted are the product of generations of these resin-bearing trees. The richest deposits are situated along a strip of coast between Memel and Dantsic, though the real home of amber has been supposed to lie in the bed of the Baltic, between Bornholm and the mainland. It rests upon cretaceous rocks, and consists chiefly of their debris, forming a popular mixture known as blue earth, which appears to exist throughout the province of Samland at a depth of 50 to 100 feet, and to contain an almost inexhaustable supply of amber. Immense quantities of amber are washed out to sea from the coast or brought down by rivulets and cast up again during storms or in certain winds. The actual yield by quarrying is 200,000 to 300,000 pounds a year, or five times the quantity estimated to be cast up by the waves on the strip of coast above mentioned.

History of the "Alta."

We find the following in the Saturday issue of the Alta, the last issue by the former owners:

The early history of the paper has been often told but not always correctly. The Alta California was a result of the consolidation of two pioneer journals—first, the Californian, established at Monterey on the 15th of August, 1846, but moved to this city in May, 1847; and secondly, the California Star, the first paper ever published in this city, which was issued by Samuel Brannan on the 7th day of January, 1847. When the gold excitement broke out, both of these journals suspended, because the editors threw down their pens, as the printers did their sticks, to join in the mad rush to the mines. After a little over two months of suspended animation, the Californian resumed publication on the 15th of August, 1848, and on the 8th of November following was consolidated with the Star, under the name of the Star and Californian. On the 4th of January, 1849, the name was changed to Alta California, and upon the 22d of the same month it was first issued as a daily. Before the end of that year five other dailies were established in San Francisco, not one of which exist at this day. The Alta has lived to see the press of this city grow to such importance that it now numbers about 140 publications of all descriptions, while a far larger number, after being established and flourishing in the sunshine of a brief prosperity, have gone over to the great newspaper majority.

JUDGES FIELD and Sawyer, of the U. S. Circuit Court, have rendered a decision calculated to stop all the holes that have thus far been made in the Chinese Restriction Act, and which may prove a placative to the public in their disapprobation of another decision which seems neither to have been based on law or common sense. This decision was given in the case of a Chinaman who demanded the right to land at San Francisco notwithstanding the Chinese Restriction Act and the Immigration Treaty with China on the ground that he was not affected by them, being a subject of Great Britain. As published, it is a common sense document throughout. Words and phrases are given their natural meaning. Chinese are Chinese whatever port they come from. They do not become English, Dutch, Spanish, Italians or French, simply through the act of coming to this country from one port or another of these nationalities.

THE Compte de Paris, it is alleged, has become a convert to republicanism, and desires to be elected President of the French Republic. If this be so he differs from the Bourbons in having learned something. He sees that there is little probability, at least in his day, of a throne being erected again in France, and being ambitious, aspires to political, since he cannot enjoy royal, honors. The Compte proved his courage as a volunteer on the staffs of McClellan and Porter for a time in our civil war, and his intelligence by afterward writing its history. The question arises, if elected could he be trusted? It is said there is a general belief in France that he would prove true to the present form of government.

IT is said that Postmaster-General Gresham will, in his forthcoming report, take stronger grounds in favor of the adoption of the postal telegraph system than any of his predecessors. He will also urge the establishment of a postal savings bank system, similar to that of England, which has been found to work very successfully.

SENATOR MAHONE keeps a political assessment agent who last week levied a tax of five per cent on the salaries received by all of the employes at the Norfolk navy yard. That is only the third assessment of the same kind within a year.

Milk for Typhoid Fever.

Surgeon-General Barnes, about three years ago, heard of an allopathic physician in Virginia, who, it is alleged, never failed to cure typhoid fever. As there were many patients in the United States Army dying with that disease, General Barnes decided to visit the ancient Virginia doctor and learn how he treated his typhoid patients. When he met the old gentleman, General Barnes enquired: "What is the mode of treatment by which you succeed?" "Why," replied the venerable physician, "it's the simplest thing in the world. All you have to do is to get the patient's stomach in good order, and then diet them on buttermilk; that's all. I never lose a patient, if he isn't in a collapsed condition when I get to him." Surgeon-General Barnes tells me that he adopted the buttermilk treatment among the soldiers in the army, and has found it most efficacious. It appears that some ten years ago the medical scientists of France and Russia, compared notes as to the use of plain sweet milk in the treatment of their typhoid patients, and concurred in the decision that milk not only is a wonderful efficacy in typhoidal cases, but in the treatment of fevers generally. An eminent medical man, a professor in a New York eclectic medical college—Dr. Newton—informed your correspondent a few weeks before he died (his death took place about a year ago) that he had found to be substantially true all that is set forth relative to plain sweet milk and buttermilk, and that the latter "acted like a charm in cases of nervous debility. It's a great blessing—this discovery," said he.

THE Houston (Texas) Post notices a copy of Das Echo, a paper published in Berlin, Prussia, and claiming a circulation of 150,000. Periodically Das Echo publishes a polyglot number, and it is of one of these that the Post speaks. Twenty-seven editorials are published in their native language and characters on one side of this paper and a translation in German on the other. The appearance is peculiar and interesting in the highest degree, and when the difficulty and expense of procuring all this outlandish type and securing a translation of the articles is considered, it will be acknowledged that the feat is a splendid one. The very enumeration of the languages represented on the pages of Das Echo will be enough to fill the mind with admiration at the magnificence of this journalistic enterprise. The eye is sainted on the first page by a reproduction of the heading of the Chinese American, published by the famous Wong Ching Foo, in New York, together with a solid editorial in the true Celestial typography. This is followed by articles in Japanese, Persian, Turkish, Arabic, Armenian, Hebrew, modern Greek, Russian, Servian, Cusniac Croatian, Slavonian, Polish, Bohemian, Hungarian, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese, French, Flemish, Dutch, Danish, Norwegian, Swedish, English and Welsh. The issue is really a polyglot number, and it seems as if the editor had really been "at the feast of languages and gathered all the scraps." This remarkable publication is sufficient to prove that Mr. James Gordon Bennet does not monopolize all the newspaper enterprise of a sensational character, and that the everlasting Yankee nation has a rival on the banks of the Spree.

SEVERAL Continental scientific publications are at present engaged in criticising—not always from a friendly point of view—the history of Jonah. One journal points out that if, as the account may be taken to imply, the fish swallowed the prophet in the Mediterranean and threw him out again near Nineveh, he must have been carried through the straits of Gibraltar, around the Cape of Good Hope, up the Persian Gulf and into the Tigris. The Acerra Philogica suggests, however, a somewhat less unreasonable theory. It considers that there is no ground for believing that Jonah landed near Nineveh, especially as the voyage thither by way of the Cape would have occupied at least three weeks or a month; and it thinks that he was probably cast ashore on the southern shores of the Euxine at a point from which, in about a week, he might have travelled overland to his destination. A fish, starting from the neighborhood of Joppa, could, no doubt, reach such a point in three days and three nights if it swam no faster than a first-rate ocean steamer ordinarily steams nowadays; and it is well known that many fish can easily move at a very much greater rate of speed.

THE Supreme Court of California in a recent decision defines what constitutes a stockholder. The court says: "To make a person a stockholder in a corporation, where he has subscribed for stock, it is not necessary that he should have received a certificate or paid for the stock. A corporation may give credit for its stock as well as for any other property sold by it. Certificates only constitute proof of property, which may exist without them. When the corporation has agreed that a person shall be entitled to a certain number of shares in its capital, to be paid for in a manner agreed upon, and that person has agreed to take and pay for them accordingly, he becomes their owner by a valid contract made upon a valuable consideration."

WHERE mineral deposits are discovered on agricultural lands after the patent has been issued to an agricultural claimant, they pass with the patent.

THE New York Herald says Senator Miller of California is a strong man for the Vice-Presidency.

JAS. E. PARKER.

THERE is considerable talk in some of our neighboring southern counties about iron mines and works. It is reported that a company of capitalists are about to erect steel and iron manufacturies at or near Colton, San Bernardino county. A coal mine some twelve miles from town is the dependence for fuel, and apparently the principal incentive for the undertaking in that locality. At present nothing but charcoal iron is manufactured in the State. It seems that to make iron mining and reduction works a success, even where suitable coal is cheap and abundant, requires a heavier capital than similar works for other metal. Some parties over in Fresno are hard at work developing an iron mine they have found there. The only tools so far used in the work is a slate and pencil, through which we have these highly encouraging results: Magnetic iron ores, best quality, in sight or nearly so, 30,000,000 tons; estimated value of same, $3,600,000,000. This would seem to prove that an iron mine, plebeian metal as it is, is worth more solid cash than an average gold mine. Such being the case, we call attention to this reported fact: That up here in the Inyos, near Pine Mountain, there is a ledge of magnetic iron ore no less than six hundred feet in width, and of unknown length. As it is also reported to assay to a high percentage of metal, here is a chance for some active fellow with a pencil to overlay that Fresno outfit in cold figures of wealth.

THE Assessor of Esmeralda County, Nevada, gave in his valuation of the Carson and Colorado Railroad property in that County as follows: There are 138 and 45-100 miles of main track, which at $4,000 per mile, is $555,000; on side track at $1,750 per mile, $13,177 50; on other property, freight houses, station houses, etc., $69,808 38. Total, $637,985 88. Superintendent Yerington endeavored to have the valuation of the main track reduced to $3,500 per mile, but the Board of Equalization sustained the Assessor.

ALBERT SNIBLEY, Charles A. Benson and George Watson were instantly killed in the tunnel of the Great Sierra Mining Company, Tioga District, last Tuesday afternoon, by a giant powder explosion. The victims were frightfully mangled. Benson's head was blown nearly off. Benson and Watson were buried Thursday. Snibley's remains will be shipped to his home in San Mateo County. All were young men.

THAT little wretch, the English spar row, has fairly taken possession of the Sfate, and is multiplying at a wonderful rate. He is, says the Alta, in the city and country—here, there and everywhere. Next Spring he will begin a campaign against the fruit and vegetables, and the horticulturists will express a wish that all the sparrows in the State had but a single neck, that it might be twisted by one effort.

JOHN SULLIVAN is modest, even for a slogger. He said lately to a reporter: "When I give up sparring I suppose my fame will die out. It is like being President of the United States. After he goes out of office he soon sinks out of sight." Which shows that this Mr. Sullivan thinks even a brute of a prize fighter can rate himself as "a biger man nor old Grant," or any other ex-President.

THE word "gold" has been dropped from the title of the National Gold Bank of D. O. Mills & Co., and the title hereafter will read, "National Bank of D. O. Mills & Co." No other change is made in the corporation. There is now left but one "National Gold Bank" in the United States, which bank is in San Francisco.

SENATOR Cullom, who succeeds David Davis, will not literally fill the latter's place, for he isn't much more than half as big, being only a medium-sized man. He is a good talker, and, like average Illinois statesmen, full of anecdotes and "little stories."

MEN who look upon air navigation as a practical possibility are no longer pronounced as "cranks." The French are working harder for success in this direction than any other people. Speaking of navigating the air, a great mathematician says if it can be done at all it will be done soon.

RAILROAD DISAPPOINTMENTS.

The following aaticle from the pen of the talented editor of the Salt Lake Tribune is so appropriate to the situation prevailing in this county at present that we quote it in full: And now there are whlspers that in Montana, Washington Territory and Oregon, business has in some unaccountable way fallen off since the completion of the northern line, that trade is suffering exceedingly, and that it is hard to hold up prices. This always follows the opening of a railroad in the West. People expect too much, in the first place, from the coming of the road, more business men than there is business for the rush to certain strategical commercial points; forgetting that road or no road there will be only just so many consumers. Then with the completion of a new through line of road, suddenly the occupation of a great many teamsters, blacksmiths, wagon-makers and hotel keepers is taken away, and the farmer, who has always enjoyed heavy prices for his produce, finds that there are neither men nor animals to consume what he has, and if there were he would be placed in direct competition with other farmers five hundred miles both east and west of him. All these classes of people discover very quickly that the road has proved a direct, palpable injury to them. And the merchant that has worked years in the careless way of the West, charging heavy profits, because in every nature of the business he has to lose a good many debts, suddenly sees some shrewd man from the East with only a little capital sit down beside him and reduce the profits to a minimum, and is able to keep up his stock by little shipments daily, and by selling for cash, and the old easy-going merchant after considering the matter for two or three days and nights, is ready to declare that the railroad is a calamity instead of a blessing. Gradually, however, business adjusts itself. The freighter finds business on shorter lines; the farmer, not being able to sell his hay, feeds it to his cattle, and the men away off in Chicago, or New York, or London, want his beef. The old merchant arouses himself, reduces the profits and opens a branch store at some point where the near approach of the railroad makes it possible to work some low grade mines; new enterprises start up, the population and their work increases, and the road becomes a real blessing. But it will not be hard this year or next to find men for a thousand miles along the Northern Pacific ready to prove that the building of the road has been a real misfnrtune.

THE veteran proprietor of the Chicago Tribune, Mr. Joseph Medill, expresses the opinion that the reduction of the price of the New York journals is a mistake. He believes that in consequence of it there will be a reduction of expenses by cutting down salaries and securing cheaper service generally, which will have the effect of driving the best men out of journalism and leaving second-class writers on the press. If Mr. Medill's prediction should be verified, the reading public would be a loser instead of gainer by the reduction, for the difference in the price of a paper would not compensate for the resulting deterioration. Popular rates will never succeed in making an inferior newspaper influential or in permanently securing for it a large circulation. The answer to Mr. Medill is to be found in the argument that a reduction of price means an increase of circulation, which in turn means an increased revenue from the growth of advertisments sufficient, or more than sufficient, to make up for any loss on sales of the paper. Under such circumstances there would be no necessity for lowering the standard. But the problem is a distinct one for every journal that tries the experiment, and the success of any one would be very far from assuring the success of all.

THE camels now running wild in Arizona were bought by the United States Government in Asia Minor. There were seventy-six camels in the first "colony." They were first employed in packing between Fort Tejon and Albuquerque, in some instances carrying 100 gallons of water to the animal and going nine days without water themselves. Tiring of the camels the Government condemned them, and they were sold at Benicia to two Frenchmen, who took them to Reese river, where they were used in packing salt to Virginia City. Afterwards the animals were taken back to Arizona, and for some time were engaged in packing ore from the Silver King to Yuma; but from some cause or other the Frenchmen became disgusted, there being no market for camels just then, and turned them loose upon the desert near Maricopa Wells, and to-day they and their descendants are roaming through the Gila valley, increasing and multiplying and getting fat on the succulent sagebrush and greasewood with which the country abounds.

NEW YORK and Philadelphia are already sick of the Chinese. They go into the retail business and do it in such a way as to defy competition.

BOUND TO AMEND.

Certain patent attorneys, or attorneys in suits growing out of conflicting patent rights, are not at all satisfied with the amount of their business from that source. To enlarge it, they have been trying for a long time to get the patent laws radically amended. Numerous rich corporations who are compelled to pay royalty on appliances essential in their businesses, are also anxious, very anxious, to have the same law so amended that they can appropriate the poor inventor's ideas at much less cost to themselves than is now generally the case. That being the desire of the rich corporations, as a matter of course a good many Congressmen begin to see it in the same light. Such being the case, there is a strong probability that the next Congress will pass some amendments to suit these people.

What they particularly want is simply a registry law. Under it an inventor would be entitled to register his invention. There would be no Examiner to examine his specifications to see if they were not identical with previous registrations or existing patents. So a hundred or more registries might be received for the same thing. The idea then is that the whole question of the right and priority of an invention could be fought out in the courts. Every patentee would have to defend his claims by going to law, as they now sometimes have to do. But where there is one infringement suit now there would be a hundred or possibly a thousand then, provided, of course, that it did not soon become manifest as it probably would that such a law gave no exclusive rights at all to the original inventor, therefore that he could gain nothing by maintaining his rights.

The proposed amendment could be but a swindle upon patentees or real inventors and the public alike. If it did not discourage invention entirely, which spirit has made our nation about all it is, it would through endless litigation and uncertain tenures tend greatly in that direction; at the same time, inventions of merit would more certainly fall into the hands of monopolists not only able to maintain exclusive rights of manufacture under them, but also their own prices of products. Though that now is occasionally the case, it only serves all the more to stimulate inventions to manufacture similar articles by cheaper means—and it is rarely that end is not sooner or later attained, and always to the public gain. The new invention is protected by law. Take away that protection, and the chief incentive for such invention is also taken away.

But a rightful amendment would be to require patentees to introduce their inventions to public use within a stated time, three or four years at the most, or loose all rights originally vested in such patent.

JOHN SLIDELL, the Confederate agent to Paris, has left a letter, just found, on his views of England. "The only obstacle to our recognition is England. It would have taken place eighteen months ago, and the war would long since have been terminated, but for her insidious policy. She desires to see it continued until both sections are exhausted and ruined. From present appearances her hopes will be realized, for I see no prospect of a termination of the war but by a revolution at the north. Lincoln will certainly re-elect himself, by force if necessary, and all moral courage seems to have been crushed out of the leaders of the opposion." This was written in 1863.

THE Philadelphia Times suggests that the British Columbia Premier, who recently hinted that the Dominion expected to annex the United States, probably labors under the delusion that Jonah swallowed the whale. Another trouble with the statesman is that he probably swallowed too much smuggled whisky before he focussed his intellect on this after-dinner effort.

The Chico Enterprise is authority for the statement that a divorce suit was brought recently in the Shasta Court, the complaint made out, service acknowledged and decree of divorce entered up all within a space of two hours. NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the First day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding. A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California, do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest, or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks, or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion, or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CSASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the TAX-Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or vinicultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the TAX Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthy sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind, must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class, and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect, and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest. JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this First day of October; A. D. 1883, by the following vote: Ayes—E. Robinson, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland. Noes—none.

[SEAL.] Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

The State Board levied—

For the General Fund.....	25.6
For the School Fund.....	19.6
For the Intrest and Building Fund.....	4.5
Making.....$0.49.7

MONDAY, Oct. 1st, 1883.

On the above named day the Board of Supervisors of Inyo County, State of California, met pursuant to law, for the purpose of levying the rate of taxation for the present fiscal year, 1883. Present, E. Robinson, Chairman, A. Spencer and Thos. Boland, and the Board without taking any action adjourned till half past one o'clock P. M. of this day, at which time reassembled, all present; and after having considered the subject of tax levy for the present fiscal year, it was ordered that a tax of three twenty-five one-hundredths ($3.25) dollars on each $100.00 of the taxable property of Inyo County, as assessed, be levied, to be collected and apportioned to the several funds as follows:

To the State Fund.....	$0.49.7
" Interest "	0.22.0
" Salary "	0.85.0
" Gen. Ex. "	0.80.0
" Gen. R'd. "	0.16.0
" School "	0.21.0
" Con'tg't "	0.15.3
" General "	0.16.0
" Hospital "	0.20,0

GOOD WORK.—The Board of Supervisors, at the late session, completed "their labors" in two days—the general results of which will be found in the proceedings as published regarding the tax levy, and in "Ordinance No. 3," given officially elsewhere. The rate of $3.25 per $100 of taxable property is high, an increase of 25 cents over last year; but there seemed no possible method of avoiding it under the new confusion of laws. The best informed men predict, and we think reasonably, that the assessment of next year need not exceed $2.50 per hundred.

THE FLOYN.—Messrs. Baker, Keys and Barnes, of the Elgin mine, Beveridge District, last week cleaned up a short run of their arastra. Eight tons of ore yielded forty ounces of gold, worth at the mint $16.75 per ounce. Having thus tested the ore, and in the meanwhile developed the mine sufficiently to justify it, they will on Monday next begin the construction of a trail to the McEvoy mill—about seven miles of "uphill work"—and propose hereafter to keep that institution running on $70 free gold ore.

THE TELEGRAPH.—The plan of building a telegraph line from this place to the railroad depot bids fair, now, to prove a success—provided a few more of our citizens will "stand in" proportionately. Mr. Rhine informs us that arrangements have been made with the Western Union whereby a double line of wire will be put up and this place put on the regular circuit, and this practically made a main office for the transmission of messages direct to all outside points.

SCHOOL REPORT.—Following is the report of Crit. Hampton, teacher of the Big Pine school for the last school month: Whole No. enrolled, 42; average No. belonging, 38; average daily attendance, 37. The attendance is too large for convenient accommodation as the school house is very small. On this account a number of the oldest pupils are crowded out, but next year a suitable building will be erected and properly furnished.

ORE SHIPMENT.—The owners of the "Trade Dollar" mine at Deep Springs realized on a late ore shipment of four and one-half tons a clear profit, counting labor and all, of $29.50 per ton. Considering the very great expense of getting the ore down into the valley, and the transportation across the Inyos to Big Pine, the result of the experiment is quite satisfactory.

SNOW.—They must be getting a strong foretaste of Winter up in the Bodie and Virginia City regions, judging from the fact that a considerable coating of snow fell upon the ranges hereabouts during the past week. The Inyos were whitened, but the hot summits absorbed the crystalized moisture within a day.

BE CAREFUL.—In getting up your stove for the Winter it is impossible to exercise too much care, in seeing that every joint of the pipe is securely fitted, that no holes have been rusted in them, and that they are put safely away from the wood work so that they will stay there.

FOR THE BAY.—Judge A. R. Conklin left for tidewater to-day. Isaac Harris leaves for the same destination on Monday, and on the Tuesday following THE INDEPENDENT man will set out, making short stops at Big Pine and Bishop. The innocents will not be abroad but a very short time.

BOUND OVER.—In Justice Parker's Court last Monday "Hickey" Hood was held to appear before the Superior Court in bonds of $5,000, for an assault to murder D. Stubblefield. In default, Hood is in the jailer's hands.

WHERE?—It would be interesting to know where and how the Bodie Free Press got its authority for stating that I. W. Hunt had met with a fatal accident by falling off a wagon, in this county. Mr. Hunt didn't experience anything of the kind.

BENTON.—S. L. McNaughton, who who was down here on some of his multifarious stage business, stated that Benton mining matters are looking up. The Eureka mill at Montgomery has been running steadily, as also the Diana. At the Indian Queen the 1,600-foot tunnel is nearing the end. John Howell was to be there from Arizona last Thursday. There is considerable deep prospecting going on all around, and the district is beginning to feel the benefits of railroad effects. The mines and mill at Clover Patch will soon be "booming" again.

PARALYZED.—Word comes that Dr. M. Griswold, of Benton, is suffering from an attack of paralysis of the left side, with small hopes of recovery. The genial old Doctor, it will be remembered, represented Invo and Mono in the Assembly session 1875-6, and is a man of many friends throughout the County with which he has been so long identified.

THE NEW STAMPS.—Postmaster Hardy received a number of the new 2-cent stamps during the week. They are described as being of a metallic, or brownish red color, and bear the head of Washington. The head of Jackson, on the old style 2-cent stamp, is placed on the new 4-cent.

STRUCK IT.—A letter from Cerro Gordo intimates that Pat. Clinton has made a good development in the Potosi tunnel in the Ygnacio ground. The particulars are lacking, however.

GONE EAST.—Jerome Hoover writes from Arizona that Bill Harrell has gone back to old Pike county, or somewhere in Missouri, to meet Frank Hutchison.

Timber Trespasses.

U. S. Special Timber Agent Chadwick seized several hundred cords of wood at Clinton during his recent visit to Clinton, as he found that it had been cut on Government land. About 500 cords was in the hands of Henry Williams, and about 175 cords in those of a man named Luhrs, who was supplying wood to the Summers mill. The parties supposed they were cutting on unsurveyed land, which proved to be a mistake. Had it been unsurveyed land, however, it would have made no difference, as the laws of the United States are very stringent in regard to cutting wood or timber on the public lands, whether surveyed or unsurveyed. Parties violating the laws are subject to both civil and criminal prosecutions, and in the event of a compromise, about the cheapest way in which they are allowed to settle is by paying double price for the land, that is, $2.50 per acre penalty and $2.50 per acre for the land itself. This seems pretty severe to people who are accustomed to regard what belongs to the Government as their private property if they want it, but it is the law. Wood and timber can be cut upon the mineral lands of the United States without compensating the Government, but not on other lands. People who trespass upon the public lands run greater risks than they generally suppose, and those who buy from them also endanger themselves, as it is the duty of the proper officials to take possession of the wood or timber wherever they may find it. The Government is now paying closer attention to the protection of its timber than ever before, and has agents out in all sections of the country looking after its interests. Mr. Chadwick was sent to examine the alleged trespasses in Sweetwater in consequence of a complaint filed in the United States District Attorney's office in San Francisco last May, and sworn to by J. M. Campbell before R. G. Watkins, Justice of the Peace at Clinton. Mr. Chadwick had been so busy in other sections of the State that he had only now got around to the examination of the Sweetwater complaint. Mr. Williams has made application to purchase the land on which the trespass was committed, and to be allowed to pay a penalty of $2.50 per acre.—Bodie Free Press.

THEY got up steam last Sunday at the Crown Point mine. Yesterday a considerable force of men were at work repairing the shaft. The storm of westerday will probably give a stage of water in the Carson river sufficient to set the mills going. The rain will start up all the springs on the stream and its tributaries. A considerable amount of snow must have fallen in the mountains, and in the melting off this will greatly assist in keeping up a fair stage of water in the river. Those who are in a position to know say that the starting up of all the mills will put to work about 800 miners at various points along the Comstock.—Virginia Enterprise.

THE parents of a young Chinese girl at San Juan have been fined $50 for torturing the girl's feet in order to render her more eligible for the wife of a Celestial capitalist, who has agreed to pay $600 for her. This will suggest a new source of revenue to the ingenious police officers, as many Chinese fathers and mothers on this coast are engaged in the business of converting pretty girls into little-footed women.

A FOREIGNER may make a mining location and dispose of it, provided he becomes a citizen before disposing of the mine. Proof that the party was not a citizen before disposing of the claim must be affirmatively shown.

WHERE lands containing valuable mineral deposits have been included in an agricultural entry said entry will be cancelled at any time prior to issuance of patent upon satisfactory evidence of such valuable deposits.

THE portion of a mining claim sold to an alien can not be patented while such owner is an alien; but on his declaration to become a citizen, his right dates back to his purchase, and he may thereupon secure United States patent for his claim.

IT is understood the Nevada and Oregon railroad will shortly be sold at United States Marshal's sale to satisfy a mortgage held by the Union Trust Company of New York.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6 1883

A DISINTERESTED party would be justified in forming the conclusion that it would pay reputable and business-like mining companies to have at least a card inserted in the mining papers, giving address, if nothing more, if it could be known what a constant stream of inquiries are pouring into the offices of the leading mining journals. There does not seem to be any good reason why a respectable company should hide with the large class which at the present time are not particularly anxious to be brought into prominence. The pure gold should appear when the slime runs away. Stockholders are in a measure justified in their hasty condemnation of good and bad alike if the tactics of both are the same in the apparent attempt to seek seclusion. It is a time now to make true merit and real worth known.

THE existence of a salt spring on a tract of land withdraws it from the operation of the homestead and pre-emption law. A hearing for the purpose of proving the agricultural character is not allowed. Land containing valuable deposits of slate may be entered under the mining acts.

PROSPECTING for blind lodes is prohibited on the line of a located tunnel while the tunnel is in progress, but other parties are in no way debarred from prospecting for blind lodes or running tunnels so long as they keep without the line of such tunnel.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this 11th day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid to the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such sources be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested, or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Elephant Riding—A Woman's Experience.

Isabella L. Bird, the traveler, gives the following account of a ride on an elephant in the Malay Peninsula: "But the ride was a 'fearful joy,' if a joy at all! Soon the driver jumped off for a gossip and a smoke, leaving the elephant to 'gang his own gait' for a mile or more, and he turned into the jungle, where he began to rend and tear the trees, and then going to a mud-hole, he drew up all the water out of it, squirted it with a loud noise over himself and his riders, soaking my clothes with it, and when he turned back to the road again, he stopped several times and seemed to stand on his head by stiffening his probosis and leaning upon it, and when I hit him with my umbrella he uttered the loudest roar I ever heard. My Malay fellow-rider jumped off and ran back for the driver, on which the panniers came altogether down on my side, and I hung on with difficulty, wondering what other possible contingencies could occur, always expecting the beast, which was flourishing his probosis, would lift me off with it and deposit me in a mud-hole.

On the driver's return I dismounted again, and this time the elephant was allowed to go and take a proper bath in the river. He threw quantities of water over himself and took up plenty more with which to cool his sides as he went along. Thick as the wrinkled hide of an elephant looks, a very small insect can draw blood from it, and when left to himself, he sagaciously plasters himself with mud to protect himself, like the water buffalo.

Mounting again, I rode for another two hours, but he crawled about a mile an hour, and seemed to have a steady purpose to lie down. He roared whenever he was asked to go faster, sometimes in plaintive remonstrance. The driver got off and walked behind him, and then he stopped altogether. Then the man tried to pull him along by putting a hooked stick in his huge 'flapper,' but this produced no other effect than a series of howls; then he got on his head again, after which the brute made a succession of huge stumbles, each one of which threatened to be a fall, and then the driver, with a look of despair, got off again. Then I made signs that I would get off, but the elephant refused to lie down, and I let myself down his unshapely shoulder by a rattan rope, till I could use the mahout's shoulder as steps. The baskets were taken off and left at a house; the elephant was turned loose in the jungle; I walked the remaining miles to Kwala Kangsa, and the driver carried my portmanteau. Such was the comical end of my first elephant ride. I think altogether I walked about eight miles. The Malay who came with me told the people here that it was a 'wicked elephant,' but I have since been told that 'it was very sick, and tired to death,' which I hope is the true version of its most obnoxious conduct."

THE daughter of a fisherman at a seashore town had a tiff with her lover because she would not allow him to name his new boat for her. "Why do you stand out ag'in' it?" asked her father. "Well," queried the girl, "do you think it such a great compliment to hear every few weeks that Matildy Slocum's up for repairs, Matildy Slocum's in the dock to be scraped, or that Matildy Slocum's lost any of her fixin's generally? Well now, if you do, I don't, and that's got to settle it."

"DON'T like the bed?" said the hotel clerk, astonished at the presumption of the complaining guest; "why, some of the hightonedest folks in the United States have slept in it."

"Yes, that's just the trouble," responded the guest; "I found last night there were altogether too many big bugs in it for the comfort of common people like me."

PROF. PARKHURST says that the comet of 1812 will be visible to the naked eye with a short tail about Christmas. Don't you wish your eye had a short tail attachment?

Mistakes in Newspapers.

The Poughkeepsie Eagle, in an article on "How Mistakes Happen in Newspapers," figures up the number of type used in a newspaper as 600,000; that is, the actual number of bits of metal arranged for each newspaper in preparing a paper of that size for the press. We suppose few people think of the printing trade as one of the most exact and particular handicrafts, but it is. In making type, variations that might be allowed in the finest machinery would render type useless. It is very rarely that the type furnished by two foundries can be used together without a great deal of trouble, even though they should try to make it after the standard. We read once in a while of a wonderful piece of cabinet or mosaic work containing twenty or fifty thousand pieces, the maker of which has spent months or even years of labor in producing it, and the people go to see it as a curiosity; but the most elaborate and carefully-fitted piece of work of this kind ever made does not compare, for minuteness of detail and accuracy of fitting, with that which the printer does every day. The man who does the first is looked upon as a marvel of skill, and if a hundred of his pieces are put in wrong side up or turned around, it is not noticed in the general effect; but if the printer, in fitting ten times as many pieces together in a single day, puts one the wrong way, everybody sees it, and is amazed at the "stupid carelessness of those printers."

Making a Reputation Easily.

The late Professor Moses Stuart Phelps used to tell this story with great glee: In the days when he was a graduate student at New Haven he took a walk one morning with Professor Newton, who lives in the world of mathematics. Professor Newton, as is his habit, started off on the discussion of an abstruse problem. As the Professor went deeper and deeper, Mr. Phelps' mind wandered farther from what was being said. At last Mr. Phelps' attention was called back to his companion by the latter's winding up with "Which you see, gives us 'x.'" "Does it?" asked Mr. Phelps, thinking that in politeness he ought to reply something. "Why, doesn't it?" excitedly exclaimed the Professor, alarmed at the possibilty that a flaw had been detected in his calculation. Quickly his mind ran back over the work. There had, indeed, been a mistake. "You are right, Mr. Phelps, you are right," almost shouted the Professor, "It doesn't give us 'x,' it gives us 'y.'" And from that hour Professor Newton looked upon Mr. Phelps as a mathematical prodigy. He was the first man who had ever caught the professor tripping. "And so," Mr. Phelps used often to add, with his own peculiar smile, in telling the story, "I achieved the reputation of knowing a thing I hate. It's the way many reputations are made in this superficial world."

ORDERS have been issued from the headquarters of the Northern Pacific Railroad to the effect that all employés on trains and at stations over the line must appear in uniform. A tailor is now going over the road taking measurements of the employés for their new suits, who, in order to expedite matters, sends the following dispatch to all agents: "Take off everything but your pants and shirt, and be on the platform when train arrives, to be measured for uniform." Arriving at one of the new stations he jumped from the train, tape line in hand, and shouted for the agent. In response to his call a handsome young lady stepped forward, accompanied by a burly six-footer, who announced that the lady was the agent, and he was her brother, and demanded an explanation of his dispatch. The tailor explained as best he could, and boarding the train telegraphed from the next station: "How many agents have you got that don't wear shirts and pants and where are they located? Answer quick."—Butte (Mont.) Miner.

The Woman Question in Sweden.

Before the extensive use of steamboats on the waterways around Stockholm the Dalecarlean girls were accustomed to come to the capital in great numbers each season to row the passenger boats from point to point in the neighborhood of the city. This custom still exists to some extent, and the visitor may be rowed by a buxom peasant girl to an island restaurant, or across an arm of the lake. The girls have lost none of the moral independence and the remarkable physical strength which have since the beginning of Swedish history distinguished their ancestors. In the large cities they are found to-day mixing mortar, carrying burdens, and rowing boats quite as easily as the men, and quite as acceptably to the employers. The most famous boatwomen are the girls of the parish of Rattvik, whither the the writer had rambled in the search of the mythical midsummer dance.

A WOMAN asks for a divorce in Milwaukee, on the ground that she married the wrong twin. She was engaged to one and the other put himself in the other one's place, and she found when it was everlastingly too late that her supposed brother-in-law was her husband, and she won't have it. One cannot be too careful when fooling around twins. Whichever one you get you'll think you have the other one, and there is no certainty about which one is which, and it keeps a wife in a state of nervousness half the time for fear the other one is the one which ought to be the other one entirely.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

ALL AT SEA.

We find the following in the Bodie Free Press of the 16th, but which only reached us this morning, therefore too late for certain definite details we otherwise should have hunted up:

By Executive order dated September 17, 1883, the following described lands in Inyo county have been reserved for military purposes; All of townships 15 and 16 south, range 34 east; all of township 16 south, range 35 east; sections 19 to 36 inclusive, in township 16 south, range 35 east, and sections 19, 20, 29, 30, 31 and 32, in township 15 south, range 36 east, M. D. M. This land is a short distance south of the old Fort Independence Military Reservation. It includes 132 square miles—enough for the whole United States army. It looks as if a military post was to be re-established down there.

The editor of the Free Press is Receiver in the U. S. Land Office, therefore the foregoing is authoritative. But we confess we are all at sea in regard to the whole matter. Instead of being but "a short distance south of old Fort Independence," the numbers given cover ground over twenty miles south, and much of it patented land. It comprises all the lands bordering on Owens Lake from about its center on the west side around north of, and including the town of Lone Pine, thence easterly, still touching the lake, and crossing the river, to and including the sites of both the old and new Swansea furnaces.

As before stated, we don't understand this thing at all, but give it as we get it. We don't hardly think it is a scheme to get the Lone Piners on a reservation—would be no sense such a project now, however it might have been some years ago. But it will be made plain in due time, and perhaps astonishing.

THE Grand Lodge, F. & A. M., of California, which lately met in San Francisco, elected the following Grand officers for the ensuing year: Jonathan Doan Hines, Grand Master; Wiley James Tinnin, Deputy Grand Master; Edmund Clement Atkinson, Senior Grand Warden; Hiram Newton Rucker, Junior Grand Warden; Moses Heller, Grand Treasurer (re-elected); Alexander Gurden Abell, Grand Secretary (re-elected); William Amon Knighten, Grand Chaplain; John H. Dickinson, Grand Orator; George F. Grimes, Assistant Grand Secretary; John W. Shaeffer, Grand Lecturer; R. C. Gaskil, Grand Marshal; Theodore Reiser, Grand Bible-Bearer; Nathaniel Lynch, Grand Standard-Bearer; Samuel Prager, Grand Sword-Bearer; George A. Mackenzie, Senior Grand Deacon; J. M. Melandy, Junior Grand Deacon; Wilson Hays, Senior Grand Steward; Geo. W. Carpenter, Junior Grand Steward; William Brownlie, Grand Pursuivant; Samuel D. Mayer, Grand Organist; James Oglesby, Grand Tyler.

GEO. A. WHEELER, who murdered his sister-in-law in San Francisco some three years ago, has lost his chance of escape from the gallows via Supreme Court, as that body has affirmed the judgment of the lower court in sentencing him to death. A brief history of the case is as follows: He strangled his sister-in-law, Adelia Tillson, on the 19th of October, 1880; he was tried, and convicted February 19, 1881. On appeal, the Supreme Court granted him a new trial, and, September 13, 1882, he was again convicted. The case was again appealed, with the result stated. Mr. Wheeler therefore stands a good show for stretching a rope, despite the tears of a large proportion of San Francisco women. The decision causes general surprise, but as Wheeler has, or had, money, he may yet escape. It's a remarkable day when a murderer is hung in the Bay City. The last prison census reported by the papers there showed thirteen unconvicted assassins wasting their valuable time in jail, and two or three more have since been added.

H. Z. OSBORNE has purchased E. R. Cleveland's interest in the Bodie Free Press, and henceforth goes it alone as editor and proprietor of that superior little daily. Osborne is undeniably equal to the emergency, and he says himself that his retiring partner would be even more so; so there is nothing lacking in either. Except that both are Federal officers, we know nothing disreputable in regard to either, therefore wish both the highest success in their separate lines, as we ever have ere they reached this fork in their road.

THE Republican nominee for Governor of Massachusetts, George D. Robinson, who is also a Congressman-elect, will not resign the latter office until he is sure of being the Commonwealth's next Governor. He shows more prudence than confidence.

THE Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of California met in San Francisco on the 16th instant.

MEAN.

The way our last Legislature treated every effort on the part of the delegates from this and Mono county to get aid for the State Mining Bureau was particularly mean. It was only by the merest chance that our delegate succeeded at the last moment in getting a hearing in relation to it at all. This was to take up the Senate bill, which had awaited action in the House for a long time. Finally, and as an act of unparalleled magnanimity, as they, no doubt, deemed it, the slickens afflicted members allowed the bill to come to a vote, first on an amendment cutting the amount down one half, which carried, of course, then on the amended bill by which the pitiful sum of $5,000 was at last secured in aid of one of the most important public institutions of the State. That was to run it for two years, too—barely enough to pay rents for a suitable building. Long before this, and just as often as same cow-county man would give the word, they voted away five times as much to endow all sorts of Bugolgist Bureaus, but to what purpose not half of them could even guess. Anyway, it turned out that the designated chief of one of these bureaus didn't know whether it was the coddling moth or tarantula that had caused injury to the brandy crop of the State. At last, though, this chief, per force, resigned, and another was put in who had been a grasshopper sufferer before he came to the State, therefore was just the man to circumvent the phylloxera. So that Bureau has run so smoothly ever since it has never been heard of outside of the State Treasurer's office, and there only periodically when the salary warrants of the several members come in to be cashed.

Agriculture is the paramount industry of the State; there is no question about that. It is the bounden duty of Legislatures to foster its every branch by every possible means, no matter what the cost, not beyond reason; there is no dispute about that. But while voting large sums to suppress obnoxious bugs and the like, it is not decent to so utterly ignore, if not to try to suppress the next greatest interest in the State—mining, which first made the State pretty much all it is, and will continue to maintain it to the end of time.

The special needs of the mining regions of the State do not seem to modify scarce a single legislative act; every one is considered from a tide-water stand point, from slickens to the game and anti-bug laws. True, ostensibly, we have a Mining Bureau under State patronage, but the sum total of the support doled out to it would shame the smallest State in the Union with hardly a mine to swear by. Here, with a rich mineral region covering full half the area of the State, and yielding nearly every known mineral and metal, the interest is hardly recognized in legislative enactments. It is all right to vote a couple hundred thousand dollars for a building to display beets and cabbages in once a year; it is, from the cow-county view, about the same as a wasteful charity to allow enough even for the rent of an institution designed to promote the mining interest, not alone of the State but of the entire Pacific Coast.

The Mining Bureau was not designed as a mere mineral cabinet, as some appear to think, but as a school of free information as to the nature, value and best known means of handling any and every mineral, common and uncommon, determined and undetermined — in short, to afford information in lines of inquiry of interest to the ragged prospector, the disappointed mill man and all mining people alike, not attainable to but few except through the medium of a public institution of this kind, and it full manned and equipped.

The institution is and has been under the control, in truth, the creation, of as able a scientist as can be found, practically acquainted with mining in all its branches, a master in the labratory, an enthusiast in his position and profession, and an honest man, willing, if in his power, to render more than an equivalent for all he receives. Such is Prof. Henry G. Hanks, the head, body and tail, too, of California's starveling Mining Bureau—an institution that ought to be the pride of the State, but which, instead, produces symptoms of rabies and acute economy every time an anti-slickens legislator is asked to vote it a dollar, just the same as when asked to vote even freight money on a box of minerals to a World's Exposition or a neighboring State Fair. Mining journals and the thousands of people who are directly concerned in our great mining industry, should see that these fellows are sufficiently stirred up in relation to this matter the next time they get together.

PROF. HANKS, the State Mineralogist, has been notified of the appropriation by the Board of Supervisors of Humboldt county of $50, to be devoted to the purchase of a showcase for the exhibition of the ores of that county in the State Bureau's museum. Already the following counties have contributed cases of minerals: Inyo, two cases; Tuolumne, one; San Bernardino, one; Butte, two; Humboldt, one.

There is no question but that the business prospects throughout this portion of the county, at least, are sensibly improving. They will in a short time brighten very much faster should reasonable anticipations of success be realized in regard to several enterprises, all now nearing completion. Of these, the two large smelters are the most important. Success in their working means a higher measure of steady prosperity for the county in general than it has ever before enjoyed at any period There is nothing problematical about the ability of either of them to successfully reduce ores, for that they will both do without doubt. Above that, the required success hinges on the unsolved problem of obtaining a sufficient supply of ores. As to that, the Elna furnace has now on hands, without further development in its principal mine, from 100 to 140 days' supply, running 30 tons per day of 24 hours. The Swansea, of like capacity, has on hands, including old slags, enough to keep it busy at least two months, possibly twice that, the contingency being as to whether certain ores can be worked to a profit. This, in both instances, is restricting the ore supply to what is actually on hand, without regard to the amounts that may be taken out in the meantime from the mines of the respective companies; but, from accounts however, both are safe in counting on considerable amounts right along from their own mines. It is not very likely, though, that it will equal the daily requirement of 30 tons for each, anyway until the mines are much better opened than they now are. But outside of this, both companies expect to purchase ores wherever they can be had.

While the successful operations of these two companies upon their own mines alone will be a matter of moment to business in general here, a satisfactory working of the general ore buying proposition will prove ten times more so. It is idle to attempt to even approximate the number of ledges and deposits that can be drawn upon for ores suitable for these two furnaces. It is enough to say that they are to be seen all along both slopes of the Inyos in reach of the railroad for a hundred miles along here. But a very few indeed have ever had more than enough done upon them than to show that they carry metal, apparently in paying quantities; only that, as a rule, under very favorable conditions for reduction. Though, in the aggregate, there are now several hundred tons lying in small lots—varying from 5 to 50 tons, say—on the several dumps of a portion of these widely scattered locations, these two furnaces can for a time take every pound they can all furnish.

We are inclined to think—subject to correction at any time, however—that neither the furnace men nor these location owners are suffering greatly for advice about how to manage their respective affairs, but this much we can say: That if the furnaces wish to widen their own business through the purchase of ores, and thereby develope the country, they will have to be extremely liberal in their offers, for conditioned as things now are and are likely to be at the best for some months to come, it will be but a narrow margin for profits for either party. On the other side, the location owners can count upon it as a certainty that these furnace men are not in the market to buy cayote holes, anyway until, metaphorically speaking, they know the cayote himself is in.

It takes work and some money to determine this last matter. A good market for the ores will insure both, and, before the ores now on hands are used up, work will be fairly started upon at least fifty galena deposits, and kept up on each so long as near enough ore can be taken out and sold to buy powder and fuse and bread and bacon, discounting wages entirely. That is how some big bonanzas are going to be uncovered before a great while, not only of silver-lead, but also of gold and silver quartz; but, as we shall try to point out hereafter, some suitable concentrating works will be greatly needed in this latter.

THE following is a list of the officers chosen by the State Grand Lodge, I. O. G. T., to serve for the ensuing year: J. L. Coles, Grand Worthy Chief Templar; J. A. Fairbanks, Grand Worthy Counselor; Mrs. M. Tongier, Grand Worthy Vice Templar; G. B. Katzenstein, G. W. Secretary; Julius Lyons, G. W. Assistant Secretary; E. W. Culver, G. W. Messenger; Ed. Smith, G. W. Marshal; Mrs. E. Davidson, G. W. Deputy Marshal; Rev. W. Tubb, G. W. Chaplain; Miss Lizzie A. Moore, G. W. Inside Guard; M. L. Gregg, G. W. Outside Guard; M. C. Winchester, Past G. W. Chief Templar.

GERMANY is continually strengthening her lines of defense, particularly on the Russian frontier. A large force of men is at work day and night on fortifications, which, when completed, will be greater than those of Metz.

Benton Business.

We take the following from the Bodie Miner's Benton correspondence, dated October 13th:

The old Diana mill is just now making a very successful run on rich ore from the Borasci mine, which formerly belonged to Nelson, Blind Spring Hill. The mill and mine are now owned by J. F. Millner.

In Clover Patch things are beginning to boom. M. G. Nixon has bought the Wild Rose mine from Messrs. Farrington & Nicholson, and has resumed work on that property. The ore, of which there is an abundance, will be crushed at the mill of the Banner Mill and Mining Company. This mill is situated about three miles from the Wild Rose, and will start up in a few days. Other developments of a promising nature are being made in the district, among which may be mentioned the mine owned by John H. King.

The Eureka Company's mill at Montgomery is running steadily on high grade ore from the Eureka mine, Blind Spring Hill; and several other smaller claims on the hill are turning out some first class ore.

So, taken altogether, Benton is not ready to die just yet; and this almost forgotten end of our famous county is likely soon to teeter up again.

With sincere regret I have to inform you of the illness of Dr. M. Griswold. About ten days ago, while on a professional visit at Dexter's Cañon he caught a very severe cold which resulted in partial paralysis of the left side. For some days we despaired of his recovery, but within the past week has improved rapidly and will soon be quite well again.

THE formal Nihilistic death-sentence lately received by the Czar of Russia is causing considerable excitement among Russians generally, and the Czar himself seems to be apprehensive.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

MINING PROPERTY FOR SALE OR LEASE.

THE UNDERSIGNED, ON ACCOUNT OF failing health, will sell or lease, on the most favorable terms, the Sioux gold quartz mining claim, 600x1500 feet, located in the Alabama Hills, four miles north of Lone Pine, together with some six or eight tons of ore on the dump. Mine opened by tunnel sufficiently to show ledge and a good prospect generally. For further information, apply on the grounds.

If not sooner disposed of, the property will be sold, on the 1st day of December, in the town of Independence, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20 1883

A CALICO PARTY. — That was an odoriferous lot, those hombres from Lundy who passed through here the other day, bound for Calico, with a four-horse team, Hawkshaw's pet bull dog, and the Junior Duncan Campbell's big water bucket. The way that happened was this: Hawkshaw's dog was naturally very fond of a squeaky wagon and a brindle off-wheel-horse, so, spite of all the boys could do to prevent it, he "followed" their outfit off, it happening to be just the sort he had been waiting for. Hawkshaw never suspected the full extent of his dog's depraved tastes, least of all that he ever thought of Calico in any way. So he didn't look after him for some time. Then he rode sixteen miles to tell the Calico-struck party to look out for his dog, but took the wrong road, so didn't get to tell them. Meantime the party drove slowly along, telling everybody, "Here's your dog!" looking anxiously back all the time for Hawkshaw or somebody to come and take him back, since it was obvious he, otherwise, would never get back. In the young peoples' vernacular, the dog was "stuck" with the the boys—anyway, he was stuck on top of the load, gorgeously blanketed in calico, happy and sober, "putting on some dog," of course, but saying nothing about his advantage in this last particular. The boys desired us to say to Hawkshaw through these columns that they contemplate sending his dog back by telegraph from Cayote Holes. The bucket trouble was this: When packing up to start from Big Pine, Campbell's water bucket, by pure accident, was thrown in the wagon in lieu of their own. On the road some miles this side they were overtaken by an Indian bearing the bucket they had left, and desiring an exchange. All hands joined in thanks to the Indian for his trouble in the matter, also in a note to Mr. C., of like tenor. But the thanks and note was all the Indian had to carry back! These were simply a lot of practical jokers, good fellows, several of them old timers in this section, bound to have "fun," that and nothing more, while once again trudging to distant fields in search of the fortune they have vainly striven for in many different camps and localites, in all of which these same harum-scarums had and have many warm friends to wish them good fortune wherever they go.

FOR CALICO.—Senator Si. Ryan, formerly of this locality, Captain Jake Holsinger, also an ex-Inyoite, and non-commissioned officers, Wm. H. Foster, Jack. Kearny, John Livingston and "Hagan" Hall and one high private, and George Swart, advance agent, all of Lundy, Mono county, were here this week, en route to Calico District, their fortunes for to seek. It was "a cold day" for Lundy when they left it; in truth, they said the snow was over a foot deep there. It is a coincidence that seemed to bear heavily on their minds that the party with Hawkshaw's dog left about the same time they did.

STAGE AND MAIL MATTERS.—All mail from this place now go by railroad, pursuant to order taking effect on the 16th. H. Levy, the mail contractor, runs a semi-daily stage to the depot, as also does Omie Mairs, the latter carrying the express. The Kern & Inyo stages from here to Mohave continue to run as heretofore, but without the mail. This, we presume, is in fulfillment of the original contract, and as necessary to a proper claim for the quarter's extra pay, to which the contractor is entitled when the party of the first part, to wit: Uncle Sam, "goes back" on his agreement.

AT REILLY.—The following, relative to the Argus Range S. M. Co.'s operations at Reilly, is from reliable authority: The mill was run four days last week, during which time 30 tons of ore were worked. The clean-up produced 137 ounces of bullion, 928 fine, worth about $2,200. The mill is now shut down for want of water, but will start up again in about a month. We are informed that the Company will soon place funds at the disposal of the Superintendent, Mr. My. Harmon, sufficient in amount to pay off all indebtedness.

TANGLED.—Mail matters are getting somewhat tangled here of late. The mail from Lone Pine for this place misses connection sometimes and slides along up the railroad to Bishop, and then back. Bodie and Candelaria papers don't get here for three or four days, by which time they become somewhat flat. But McKusick may come along some of these days, and see what the trouble is.

TIME-TABLE.—In our new advertisments this week will be found the new time-card of the Carson and Colorado railroad. By it the south-bound train arrives at Independence station at 5:05, A. M., instead of 4:20, as heretofore, and the northern at 10, instead of 11:10.

MOVED ON.—Our late local correspondent on the railroad has "moved on," so we are without local items from that quarter for this issue. But we notice that longer trains were being run this week than for some time previous.

N. G.—This doesn't stand for "No good," but for Noble Grand, of our local lodge of Odd Fellows, to which responsible position our young friend, J. E. Shepherd, was recently elected, as will be seen by the amended ad.

ANOTHER ECLIPSE.—There will be a partial eclipse of the sun on the 30th instant, visible all over the coast. It will commence a few minutes before 4 o'clock, P. M., local time.

RETURNED.—Rev. W. Nims and lady returned yesterday from Carson, where they had gone to attend the M. E. conference.

AT ELNA.—From late advices received, we learn that the operations at Elna are progressing rapidly. The machinery is being put in place, and by November 1st the furnace will be ready to fire up. Wood and coal are being delivered in quantities sufficient to warrant a steady run when once smelting begins. The plant, when completed, will constitute one of the finest smelting works of its size on the Pacific Slope. A large, finely appointed, and complete sampling room is connected with the furnace, also an assay office, all of which will enable miners and ore-sellers to ascertain at once the value of ores. The mine is looking well in the new development tunnel now being steadily pushed forward, and indications are favorable to the uncovering of a large body of fine ore.

FROM THE EDITOR.—A note from Mr. Parker, dated San Francisco, on the afternoon of the 18th, states that he should not probably be able to start for home before Monday next. Among other things, he mentions the fact, now pretty generally known, that E. A. Reddy was likely to get the appointment of Captain of the Guard at San Quentin, under the new administration there. One thing is certain; Ned is, in a business capacity, well qualified for the required duties, while his utter fearlessness and readiness for action in any emergency likely to occur under such circumstances places his qualifications far above those of any person we know of.

ETC.—S. L. McNaughton's stage made its farewell trip Monday last to the 10 o'clock train north. An INDEPENDENT reporter who happened to be present says that the station people seemed to part with Mac very reluctantly, and not less so with his gentlemanly "conductor," Mr. Newlan, and that when Sam shook hands with the boys a close observer might have discovered the lachrymal fluid in various optics. However, it was a cold day, and we can't say.

GETTING ALONG.—Mr. Stubblefield's wounds are healing as rapidly as could be expected, that in the chest having ceased to be of any consequence, while the broken arm is knitting satisfactorily. He, however, had an attack of pleurisy during the latter part of last week, causing considerable solicitude for a time, but is now fairly convalescent from that trouble also.

A NEW MILL.—Chrysopolis will soon have a five-stamp mill. A company composed of New York men owns a group of mines which contain free gold rock. A gentleman named S. S. Barrie, as mentioned heretofore, is now here representing the company. He expected to break ground this week. The machinery is on the road and will be here as soon as the work is far enough advanced to permit its being put in place.

PERSONAL.—Dr. S. G. George, of Alameda county, and a brother of Dr. W. H. George of Bishop Creek, arrived here this morning. Twenty years ago the doctor was a resident here, then an active prospector and prominent participator in the stirring times of those days. Now he comes for the first time since to hunt up old land marks and to see what is to be seen.

DEEP SPRINGS.—W. A. Greenly is in from the Deep Spring country. Things are moving along there as usual. Ore from different mines is being shipped, some lots for what cash they contain, and other lots, each representing a different mine, to up-country works as a means of testing the working value of the ores generally as taken from the mines, and to see if returns will justify the erection af a completely appointed silver mill on the ground.

THE MODOCK.—Through a private letter we learn that Supt. Fitzgerald started up his furnace at 5.30 P. M. October 13, and up to date, (17th) had beaten all previous records of output since F. H. Selby's run in May, 1877, making 4 tons of rich bullion per day; 50 per cent of the material going through is composed of selected slag and flue dust. Further news may be expected as soon as the furnace shuts down.

MINERAL PATENT ISSUED.—A patent has been received at the Bodie Land Office for the Summit No 2 lode, embracing 10.16 acres, situated in Cerro Gordo Mining District, Inyo county, California, in favor of A. R. Conklin, W. H. Jenkins and James Jenkins. The patent was issued September 24th.

CAUGHT.—Two parties, one a man, the other of a different persuasion, were nabbed this morning in the act of selling whisky to Indians—a business that has been carried on extensively for a long time past, and the cause of no little trouble and anxiety in various ways. What is to come of these arrests remains to be seen.

FOR SALE.—See the ad. of Jas. F. Sharp, offering the Sioux gold mine for sale. From all accounts, it is a very promising prospect.

CORRECT.—Several of our merchants have augmented their stock by getting in new goods from "below" during the week.

MACHINERY.—The prospects for early work at Elna brightened up a few days since to the tune of 10,000 pounds of new machinery.

STOLEN.—During the early part of the week, a south-bound passenger had his blankets taken back to town through mistake (?) by an incoming passenger.

"BIZ."—Parties arriving from the lower end of the railroad report business almost verging on the "exquisite (Nix!) in that locality.

DOING WELL. — A Belleville youth left a toe between two drawbars one day this week. Boy and toe doing well.

GONE.—V. G. Thompson left Tuesday last for Mohave, via Hawley.

ORANGE JUDD, who started the American Agriculturist in New York city, has often stated that he owed his success to a large, well-displayed advertisement that was published in the New York Tribune through a mistake, his office-boy having blundered in delivering an order. When he saw it he thought he would never be able to pay for it and was ruined; but within twenty-four hours orders began to come in so fast and continued to come so long that he saw he had discovered the secret of success; and from that moment his fortune began to improve until wealth resulted.

IN New York lately, two notorious burglars, while disputing over the proceeds of a late robbery, saved the policemen further trouble by shooting each other dead.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20 1883

THE remarkable faculty which cats, dogs, pigeons and other animals possess, of returning in a straight line to a point of departure, has awakened much curiosity on the part of naturalists. Some refer it to instinct, some to intelligence similar to that of man, some to an internal mechanism which makes the animals simply automata; but none of these attempted explanations does anything towards solving the mystery. One naturalist supposes that when an animal is carried to a great distance in a basket, its flight makes it very attentive to the different odors which it encounters upon the way, and on return these odors in inverse order, furnish the needful guide. Another attributes this faculty to the supposed recognition of the north as the cold quarter, the south as the warm, the east as the dry, and the west as the moist; and another, to a perception of magnetic currents.

A YOUNG fellow doesn't have any kind of a chance now days. Here was a Yale man who was making quite a name for himself in the literary line, when it was suddenly discovered that one Thomas Moore—an Irishman, we believe—had been plagiarizing some of the student's best work years and years ago. It is bad enough to have the product of your brain stolen after it is written, but when a college man comes into the world handicapped by the knavery of a plagiarist who died long before the gifted student was born, he might as well throw up the sponge at once.

HYDROPHOBIA.—The following is an infallible remedy for hydrophobia in dogs, but it must, for the safety of the person applying it, be used before the animal gets dangerous: To two pounds of melted tallow add a half-cupful of salt, 8 ounces of verdigris, and a quart of water. Boil for one hour. While boiling, take the dog out behind the barn and shoot him with a 44-caliber rifle. This is the most effectual remedy known, and is guaranteed to immediately pacify any dog subjected to its treatment.

JONES'S wife wasn't a very bright woman, but she sometimes said things which were worthy of a wit. One day after doing or saying something silly, her husband snapped out:

"Well, you are a little the worst I ever saw."

"Why, what's the matter now? Have I done anything wrong?"

"I should say so. You don't know the difference between a horse and a donkey, I don't believe."

"I didn't say you was a horse, did I?" she replied, meekly. Jones said no more.

"COME, Johnny, you mustn't swallow the seed in the pears you eat."

"Why, mother?"

"Because they are injurious. They might sprout and grow in your stomach."

"Good golly! Is that all? Oh, that would be bully fun! Wouldn't it make the fellers laugh to see me goin' around with a whole lot of little pear trees growin' out 'round my body! How long will it take 'em to sprout?"

THE Mexican Central railroad has developed water on deserts in Mexico, which for ages, were supposed to belong to the waterless region. The necessity of finding a water supply forced the railroad company to sink, and as the result plenty of water has been found at a depth of a few feet, in such quantities that the natives are now talking of erecting windmills and using it for irrigating purposes.

A TEXAS school teacher had a great deal of trouble making a boy understand his lesson. Finally he succeeded, however, and, drawing a long breath, remarked to the boy: "If it wasn't for me you'd be the biggest donkey on Galveston Island."

A PHYSICIAN says, in regard to diphtheria: "If the throat is red and swollen, no fear of diphtheria; but if it looks as though someone had thrown a handful of ashes into it—a dull gray color—look out. It's diphtheria's danger signal."

THE Rocky Mountain range is covered with timber for 700 miles, and if the ravages of fire could be prevented in these forests, there would be little danger of a timber famine in the far West for several centuries to come.

"WALK slower, papa," cried the little girl whose short steps were no match for the strides of her masculine progenitor; "can't you go nice and slow, like a policeman?"

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the First day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding. A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California, do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest, or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks, or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion, or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CSASE.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or viticultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind, must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class, and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect, and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest. JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this First day of October; A. D. 1883, by the following vote: Ayes—E. Robinson, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland. Noes—none.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

OFFICIAL.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

LEGAL.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF AN EXECUTION ISSUED out of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, in the suit of James Mitchell, Plaintiff, against Montezuma Mining and Smelting Company, Defendant, upon a judgment rendered in said Court on the Seventh day of September, A. D. 1883, for the sum of Six hundred and Thirty-five 80-100 Dollars, besides costs amounting to the sum of Three Hundred and forty-eight 15-100 Dollars, duly attested the Eleventh day of September, A. D. 1883, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of $983 95-100, besides accruing costs and interest, amounting to $49 80-100, making a total of $1,033 75-100, upon which there is a credit of $672, and leaving a deficiency on said execution of $361 75-100; and to satisfy said deficiency and accruing costs I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of the said Defendant in and to the following described real property, to wit—

That certain Furnace and Mill site, situated about eight miles southeast of the town of Big Pine, in said County and State, and commonly known and designated as the Montezuma Furnace and Furnace site.

Notice is hereby given that on Wednesday the 17th day of October, A. D. 1883, between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., to-wit, at the hour of 2 o'clock P. M. of that day, in front of the Court House in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, State of California, I will sell all the right, title and interest of the said Defendant, Montezuma Mining and Smelting Company, in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy said judgment and all costs, at public auction, to the highest bidder or bidders, for cash in hand in gold coin of the United States.

By DANIEL CROUGH, Under Sheriff.

Sheriff's Office, Inyo County, California, California, September 22, 1883. se22t4

ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.—Rilla A. Gerrish, Plaintiff, vs. Levi Gerrish, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and the complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said Superior Court.—The People of the State of California send greeting to Levi Gerrish, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff, in the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, or if served elsewhere within thirty days. The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between Plaintiff and Defendant, and for general relief and for costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint on file herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, this 5th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

The Snow of Age.

"No snow falls lighter than the snow of age; but none is heavier, for it never melts."

The figure is by no means novel, but the closing part of the sentence is new as well as emphatic. The Scriptures represent age by the almond tree, which bears blossoms of the purest white. "The almond tree shall flourish"—the head shall be hoary. Dickens says of one of his characters whose hair was turning gray, that "it looked as if Time had lightly sprinkled his snows upon its passage."

"It never melts"—no, never! Age is inexorable. Its wheels must move onward—they know no retrograde movement. The old man may sit and sing "I would I were a boy again"—but he grows older as he sings. He may read of the elixir of youth, but he cannot find it; he may sigh for that alchemy which is able to make him young, but sighing brings it not. He may gaze backward with an eye of longing upon the rosy scenes of early years, as one who gazes on his home from the deck of a departing ship, which every moment carries him farther away. Poor old man! He has little more to do than die!

The snow of winter comes and sheds its white blessings upon the valley and the mountains, but soon the sweet spring comes and smiles it all away. Not so with that upon the brow of the tottering veteran. There is no spring whose warmth can penetrate its eternal frosts. Its single flakes fell unnoticed—and now it is drifted there. We shall see it increase until we lay the old man in his grave. There it shall be absorbed by the eternal darkness, for there is no age in heaven!

Yet why speak of age in mournful strain? It is beautiful, honorable, eloquent! Should we sigh at the proximity of death, when life and the world are so full of emptiness? Let the old exult because they are old! If any must weep let it be the young, at the long succession of cares that are before them. Welcome the snow, for it is an emblem of peace and rest. It is but a temporal crown which shall fall at the gates of Paradise to be replaced by a brighter and better one.

A CERTAIN young Hebrew traveling man, now on the road, with an older companion, bought a special ticket of a scalper and got aboard the train in good shape. When the conductor came along he took up Isaac's ticket and looked at the name and then at the man and shook his head and then said;

"What's your name?"

"Let me see my ticket."

"Can't you tell your name without seeing your ticket? This won't do. You'll have to pay your fare or get off at the next station."

This agitated Isaac profoundly, and he turned to his companion and said:

"Moses, I've forgot my name that was on my ticket; can't you tell me what it is?"

"Vill you leef me see dot ticket, Mr. Condogter?" inquired Moses.

The conductor showed it to him.

"Mein Gott, Izeek, vot name is dees? Patrick Moriarity! No vonder you don't recommember dot name. Don't you nefer get some more tickets py dem scoolpers mit dot name on it. Dey vill all de times give you afay. Dem condogters looks at dot nose, and den at dot name, und he schmiles mit himself ven he dinks of a Patrick behind a nose like dot. Oh, Izeek, ven you vas older you vill know a krate deal more as you knows yoost now. Mr. Condogter, I vill pay dis gosliuk's fare to the stopping place vhere he gets off."

"HERE, you young rascal, didn't you break that window in the front room?" "Yes, sir." "Then why didn't you tell me of it, instead of trying to make me think you didn't know anything about it?" "Please, sir, I wasn't trying to do anything of the sort. I didn't say anything about it because you always told me not to talk about my own affairs until I was asked. I was afraid you wouldn't like it, sir, if I mentioned it voluntarily."

Strong Acting.

Mrs. J. L. Wallack used, in the murder scene in "Othello," when playing "Emilia," to rattle the locked door and beat on the window sides until her arms were black and blue, while shouting "Help! Help! The Moor hath killed my mistress!" Once a protruding nail tore her arm so that it was covered with blood without her noticing it, and once a man in the audience was so carried away by her acting that he ran out of the theater shouting "Help! Help! Murder!" It is said that Macready, when he had a part that required strong or muscular acting, would have a "super." handy to have a tussle with before he went on the stage. One night this super, being absent, got another to act as sandbag, pro tem. As usual, Macready bounced his subject, and the latter, not understanding this method of procedure, got mad and returned the blows, with interest. They had a very lively bout, and when Macready "went on" he was in a terrific rage. His acting was grand that evening, and at the close, afer the curtain went down, he exclaimed breathlessly: "Keep him and give him double pay." But the super. had disappeared.

DR. J. M. WILLIAMS, an old army surgeon, who went to Salt Lake with General Connor's command, died in that city lately, of apoplexy. He passed through some trying ordeals in endeavoring to exercise the rights of an American citizen in Utah. For daring to claim land in the neighborhood of Salt Lake, as a pre-emptor under United States law, he was tied in a sack and was about to be thrown into the Jordan river, when he told them he would like to have a chew of tobacco before being drowned like a cat, His cool manner dazed them for a moment, and they parleyed with him. He told them he would fight them single-handed with any weapons they might choose, but they declined, and, telling him he was too good a man to be thrown into the river in a sack, let him go on condition of his leaving Utah.

IT is simple a matter to test kerosene oil. The point of danger is called the flashing point, which is the degree of temperature at which it is evaporized and explodes. The lowest safe point is 100 degrees; 120 degrees is low enough for domestic use. To make the test, pour a small quantity in a small saucer or tin vessel, and float in a vessel of water heated to 100 degrees. Apply a lighted match an inch or so above the oil, and it takes fire it is dangerous. Have a thermometer in the water, and note the temporature as it falls, and the lowest point of flashing is easily ascertained; or the water may be gradually heated by adding boiling water from 80 degrees up, and the flashing point found.—Rural Press.

PROF. WM. CROWHURST is here under direction of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, and will lecture again at the church to-morrow evening. His lectures are varied on different evenings to suit the tastes of his auditors. Prof. Crowhurst will lecture in Bridgeport on Monday and Tuesday evenings, after which he will speak in the different camps in the county, returning again to Bodie to visit with his Lodge here before his final departure. However any of us may feel on this temperance matter, everybody likes to listen to an eloquent speaker, and such Mr. Crowhurst is represented to be.—Bodie Miner, October 20th.

A MARRIED couple visited the famous Burning Mountain. Their observant seven-year-old, after watching the spectacle asked: "Mamma, who made that fire?" "God, my dear." After studying awhile, he broke out: "Well, mamma, when Mrs. God wants Mr. God to start the fire of mornings, does he jump up, and swear, and say he'll be dadslammed if he's going to stand this thing much longer, and bang the doors hard?" There was silence for two minutes, and then they began to talk about the scenery at this time of the year.

"MR. PRESIDENT," said a councilman at Columbus, Ohio, as he secured the floor, "I move that the wires of the Western Union Telegraph Company be ordered laid under ground in this city."

"And I move to amend," said the alderman from the Third as he rose up, "by substituting the general officers of the company in place of the wires."

"Support the amendment!" came from all over the room, and it was adopted by unanimous vote. — Wall Street News.

EIGHT watermelons, which were grown by G. L. Hunt, near Elk Grove, Sacramento county, and aggregate 676 pounds weight, have been forwarded to Chicago for exhibition. The largest weighs 115 pounds. They are of the "Cuban Queen" variety, more commonly known as "Mountain Sweets." The big Los Angeles watermelon exhibited in San Francisco during the Conclave week weighed 95 pounds, and was considered a wonder by the guests from the States eastward.

AN Englishman named Graham, who has been making ascents of the Himalayas, has disproved the general impression that life at an elevation of 20,000 feet is almost impossible. He has demonstrated the possibility of both breathing and living at an elevation several thousand feet higher than Mont Blanc, and of undergoing the fatigue of much longer and trying ascents than those from Chamounix or Zermatt.

THE new two-cent postage stamp is a good test of color blindness. A Mississippi editor announces that it is a pale purple shade.

SAM DAVIS, of the Carson Appeal, says: The cheapest and simplest gymnasium in the world—one that exercises every muscle and bone in the body—is a flat piece of steel, notched on one side, fitted tightly in a wooden frame, and after being greased on both sides with bacon rind, rubbed into a stick of wood laid lengthwise on a sawbuck.

A GENTLEMAN in Santa Barbara has several sets of false teeth exhumed from the graves of aborigines on the Santa Barbara Islands. They are formed each from a shell, which is fashioned to fit the roof of the mouth, and could be adjusted outside the gums. These false teeth are perfectly formed and easily adjusted.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

THE miners of this State have very justly resolved that an industry, which has turned into the channels of commerce the sum of one billion, two hundred million dollars of solid gold, saying nothing of its silver, is certainly worthy of protection by our Government, which has in all ways, profited so largely by it, and which has, as yet, never contributed one dollar to its aid or protection. These miners ask Congress for an appropriation to relieve the injuries claimed to be done by slickens. As they agree to furnish an equal mount, their request is perfectly reasonable. And the State itself, which has been advanced at least a hundred years through its mines, ought to be a great deal less mean in its legislative treatment of matters designed to foster its mining industry.

SENATOR HILL, of Colorado, writes a long article for an eastern periodical in defense of silver as a standard of value. He claims that the people of the United States desire that silver, as well as gold, shall be coined, not for the purpose of inflating currency, but for the purpose of preserving uniformity in the value of metallic money, and more especially to prevent such a contraction of the total volume of money as would fatally depress prices, ruin debtors and taxpayers, aggrandize moneyed capital and impoverish the masses of the people. The article is said to be able and convincing.

The Colton Semi-Tropic, of the 15th, says a party of California Southern Railroad surveyors, under charge of Engineer Perris, had just left San Bernardino for the Cajon Pass, to commence work surveying for an extension of the California Southern to a connection with the Atlantic & Pacific. It is said a grading party will soon be put to work in the Pass, and that the chances are favorable for an early extension of the road toward Daggett—wherever that may be.

THE change of the time standards by the New York Railway Convention appears to have met with general approval. The Tribune says: Under the new system a man can travel all over the country without having occasion to change his watch. He has only to remember that noon in the East means 11 o'clock west of Columbus, 10 o'clock in the Denver Division and 9 o'clock on the Pacific Slope.

THE recent experiments in France in the transmission of motive power by electric wires are not encouraging. A force equal to forty-five or fifty-horse power at the point of generation was reduced to seven-horse power by transmission a distance of nine miles. It is evident that we have yet to develop the means of carrying electric force without diminution of its intensity.

DR. WM. A. HAMMOND says that the reason why life insurance companies decline to issue policies to women is because of woman's inability to be exact in regard to her age, in regard to the diseases she may have had, in regard to her mode of life, and in regard to other matters in which exactness is required.

THE bank presidents of the city of Boston recently adopted a resolution that the speedy enactment by Congress of a national bankrupt law, equitable in its provisions for debtor and creditor, is indispensably necessary to the maintenance of confidence between banks and their constituents.

ENGLAND has 7,917,000 square miles of colonies and possessions beyond the seas, in extent twice as large as all Europe, with 210,000,000 inhabitants, of which 200,000,000 are in India, 5,000,000 in Canada, 3,000,000 in Australia and 1,000,000 at the Cape.

GOV. TRITLE, of Arizona, in his report to the Secretary of the Interior, states that the population of that Territory now foots up to 75,000, the taxable property to $25,000,000, and that the affairs of the Territory generally are exceedingly prosperous.

IT is complained that there is a scarcity of nickels in San Francisco. It arises from the fact that people are becoming more economical and dealing more closely than formerly, and all articles that used to sell for ten cents now sell for five.

ACCORDING to a recent computation, there are 12,179 newspapers and magazines published in this country. Of these 1,227 are daily newspapers and 9,955 weeklies.

MILLER, the slayer of Dr. Glenn, has, on his second trial, been found guilty of murder, and goes to prison for life.

As farming and every other industry in this valley and county is so essentially contingent upon the successful development of our mines, the latter, now as heretofore, is the leading consideration in all discussions of the present and future outlook. Nevertheless, agriculture in some of its branches would prosper in this valley if there were not a mine within the county boundaries. But it would in that case be but few, comparatively, to prosper upon the soil—almost exclusively only those engaged in the live stock branch, which would extend from an Italian queen bee to a beef steer—separate industries under one classification that may be set down as almost entirely independent of mere local markets or prices, yet greatly to be benefitted by prosperous local mining. But, unlike that particular branch, general farming would amount to mighty little indeed but for our local mining interest.

In the matter of prices for farm products, no advancement above present rates need be anticipated no matter how great a number of paying mines may be opened up, some articles of course excepted. Hay, of which we now have quite a surplus, is one of the principal exceptions; its value cannot be raised or lowered through railroad freights, but may be somewhat raised through an increased demand, such as, in some degree, may be counted upon as a certainty in the near future. At the same time, however, it is plain that increased production may easily keep pace with an increasing demand, let the latter be ever so great. To jump at conclusions, hay and some kinds of vegetables will likely ever command prices somewhat higher, surely no less, than they now do, yet, like everything else, can count upon a cash and far readier market. The prices of grain and its products are now as high as they could be were every gulch to become filled with additional consumers; but, as in other things, the hoped-for conditions would give a ready cash market, the lack in the cash part being the chief trouble at present, not an overstocked market—the local supply has never equalled the demand, and probably never will. As every one knows, freight rates and outside producers govern local prices of all such things as grain, flour, etc., so let the demand increase as it may, no increase in prices of the home product can occur beyond temporary fluctuations. Better improved farms and appliances and reduced prices of imported supplies of various kinds will tend to lower the cost of raising farm products of all kinds, and in that way maintain existing balances as against any probable lowering of selling prices, with good chances that there will be little or none of the latter. In other words, the farming interest of this valley will assuredly never be any less a prosperous business than it has been heretofore—on the contrary, it is a surety almost that farming lands and farming values in all respects will gradually enhance year by year from this time onward.

This, of course, is contingent upon a similar advancement in the local mining interests. Present indications are decidedly favorable for a good and reliable start in that direction. But this is a fact not to be ignored: The best method for reducing Inyo county ores is yet in several important respects an unsolved problem. It may be set down as a well settled fact that ordinary "free milling processes" won't do, only in extionable cases. More elaborate and expensive processes are not to be relied upon, except also in very exceptionable instances.

In the main, smelting is to do it. But most of our ores cannot be handled in quantities in that way, and as they come from the mines.

We feel assured this whole question will be settled here as it has been in Colorado and Montana. Here we stop to remark those "tender feet" people have certainly advanced beyond Pacific coast methods in handling low grade, intractable ores, perhaps all kinds. In the main, their plan is comprised in simply this: Concentrating and smelting. Silver-lead, silver-copper, straight copper, base gold and most base silver ores, are being treated that way to the rapid exclusion of almost all other methods. Special concentrating mills for custom work are becoming more and more common. They use crushers, not stamps, of great capacity, and concentrators each of not less than 20 tons daily output, working to above 90 per cent of all minerals contained. The charges for crushing and concentrating are $8 for less than 10 tons, $7 for 20 tons and less down to 10, and $6 for all amounts above 26 tons. This is at Ruby Camp, Colorado. This system is no longer an experiment there, but an established business, through which less than 20-ounce silver ore, mostly from old dumps, has brought a dead camp into active life. These concentrations go to the smelters, as do also do those from the gold mills generally, in which it is especially successful. It is a system that will make available ores, now of no certain worth, to be found in masses from Bishop to Cerro Gordo, and everywhere else, almost.

THE New York Times refers to the talk of some prohibitionists, that the cause they are engaged in must progress just as the anti-slavery cause grew and finally triumphed, and says:

We presume that a good many sincere and conscientious men are looking at the prohibition movement in very much this way. The mistake they make is in assuming that two things are alike which are really quite unlike. The prohibitionists do not stand on the solid ground the abolitionists occupied. There is room for two opinions about the use of wine and spirits. A man may use both in moderation and be quite as worthy of respect as his totally abstaining neighbor. But slavery was utterly abominable, and among disinterested and humane men there was but one opinion about it. There is no such thing as slavery in moderation. A man must be a slave or a freeman, and when the movement for the abolition of slavery was once under way it had no logical or moral stopping place short of the emancipation proclamation. The liquor agitation will, because it must, stop short of the absolute prohibition of the manufacture, sale and use of spirituous and malt liquors. The tastes and habits of men differ too widely, and the number of those who insist on liberty of personal action is too large to admit of any other issue of the contest. Moreover, there can be no sectional division upon this question. Prohibitionists will probably admit that the summary method which the South forced the North to employ for the extinction of slavery is not applicable to the abuses of intoxicating liquors.

PARTISAN papers on both sides are "figgering" largely on their respective gains in the late elections in Iowa and Ohio. Dispassionately considered, there is not excessive cause for gratulations on either side. Iowa goes for the Republicans by nearly 30,000, but at the same time, that party is short of its usual vote by over 25,000. Ohio goes Democratic root and branch, Hoadly, for Governor, having a majority of 9,893, but falls 10,000 short of an actual majority, and about the same figures short of the party plurality for State Secretary at the last previous election. The Democrats have had some part of the State Government in their hands several times during the past 30 years, but now, for the first time in that period, they take full control in every department. While it is clear that that party has made obvious progress toward a similar control in Washington through next year's elections, their opponents are not yet out of the fight, by any means.

ANOTHER terrible earthquake is reported, by which a thousand people are supposed to have lost their lives on the shores of the Gulf of Smyrna. This, coming so soon after the Ischia and Java disasters, will be sufficient to make the present year a most notable one in earthquake annals. The French artillery Captain, named Delaney, who published a paper predicting a series of great seismic activity, is to likely make his fortune as an earthquake sharp. His prediction was that earthquake activity was to go on increasing until its culmination in 1886, when we would get one of the grandest shakes, or series of shakes, the world ever felt. His whole theory is based on some absurd astronomical calculations, chiefly certain relative positions of Jupiter and Saturn—purely hypothetical, the whole of it as regards any known results to come of such conditions.

A SALT LAKE dispatch, of October 20, says: At the funeral of Presiding Bishop Edward Hunter, Joseph F. Smith read a long statement, dated 1st September, 1883, purporting to be sworn to by the dead man, giving a relation of the practice of polygamy in Nauvoo by himself in 1844, by Brigham Young, and others; and further, the deceased is made to testify that "our martyred prophet," Joseph Smith, was a divinely commissioned servant of God, and that Brigham Young and John Taylor are his legal and lawful successors. The object of all this is to further bolster up polygamy and enforce its practice upon the Saints.

THE steamship Granada, which recently arrived at San Francisco from Panama, reports a terrible accident that occurred on the steamship Galicia, on a recent trip to Montevideo from the Pacific. It seems that when off the Maldonado coast a Spanish waiter fell over and a sailor jumped into the water to rescue him. While the two men were struggling in the water and before a boat could be sent to their assistance a school of sharks attacked the unfortunates and devoured them.

DURING the week ending Saturday, October 20, there were shipped from Salt Lake forty-seven cars of bullion, 1,200,983 pounds; one car of antimony ore, 20,000 pounds of granulated lead—all the above being sent East; ten cars of ore, 310,080 pounds, sent West; making a grand total of fifty-nine cars, aggregating 1,563,558 pounds.

MONTANA desires to become a State. On the 6th of November an election will be held for delegates to a State Constitutional Convention. The convention will meet in Helena in January, and the constitution to be framed will be submitted to the people in November, 1884.

THE Department of the Interior has held that salt is a mineral, and lands containing valuable deposits of salt are deemed mineral lands. It has been the general policy of the Government since the inauguration of the land system by the Act of May 18, 1796, to reserve saline lands from disposition under the laws regulating the disposal of the public lands, but under the Mining Act of 1872 placer claims, "including all forms of deposits, excepting veins of quartz or other rock in place," can be patented. Under this law salt deposits can be taken up and located as placer claims. In the case of certain States, Congress has granted to the States salt springs and saline lands. The States of Ohio, Indiana, Missouri, Oregon, Colorado and others have received such grants, but in the case there have been no grants of this character, such lands are treated as public property, and can be located under the mining statutes.

G. D. OTT was "bounced" out of a Philadelphia saloon because his money was gone, and in falling had his thigh broken. A vigilant policeman then arrested him. The saloon-keeper has just been sentenced to the work-house for eight months. The Judge charged the jury that such places as saloons are "licensed solely for the public convenience. It is not necessary that one should even spend any money there. One can go there to meet a friend, or simply to take one's ease. If a man becomes under the influence of liquor he should be treated tenderly, and if it be necessary to put him out he should be put out gently."

THE Attorney-General has decided that County Auditors must calculate and place upon the tax rolls the school and other district taxes that attach to railroads, assessed by the State Board of Equalization. In accordance with this the Controller mailed to all Auditors a circular letter advising them of the fact. This has been made necessary because several Auditors have assumed that the duty of affixing these taxes rests with the Controller.

IN its amusing work of stirring up the cranks, Senator Blair's Labor Committee has found one witness, Rev. Mr. McDonald, who wants the committee to investigate the quality of food supplied by boarding-house keepers. Here is a branch of inquiry as broad and illimitable as the firmament. The only trouble is that, once entered into, the army of suffering victims who would insist upon pouring their plaints in the capacious ear of the Senator from New Hampshire would overwhelm the committee, and swamp the investigation.—Virginia Enterprise.

A STORY is told of a traveling printer, who, after getting pretty full, went to a restaurant for something to eat. He ordered oysters. Fishing around in the plate, he happened to get a clam: Holding it up on his fork, he called. "Waiter!" "Yes, sir." "What did I order?" "Oyster stew, sir." "Well, then, here's a wrong font oyster, or the proof lies."

AT Clipper Gap the iron company are erecting a number of dwelling-houses for the use of their men. Mr. Hopkins, the book-keeper, is to occupy the best one of the three now going up. The manufacture of iron is progressing very satisfactorily; on an average twenty-eight tons per day are made, so says the Virginia Enterprise.

A SUCCESSION of direful shrieks is heard on the first floor. Fond mother: "What is the matter with Billy?" Colored servant: "Please, ma'am, he is cryin' 'bout the jewberries." "He can't have any more. He has had four saucerfuls already." "Dem is de berry ones he is whooping about. He's all swolled up."

A CORRESPONDENT of Nature holds that such vast quantities of gas as must have been freed at the Java catastrophe must have affected the earth's atmosphere, and believes that the fine weather of September, prevalent over a large part of the earth, may have been a result of the great eruption.

GEN. CROOK, it is reported, will soon head an expedition to operate with the Mexicans at Casa Grande against the Apaches.

THE next important State elections will be on November 5th—those of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and Minnesota.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 27 1883

AT HOME.—After a delay of about a week longer than originally intended, THE INDEPENDENT man reached home this morning from San Francisco and Oakland. His many notes and observations taken on the trip- of the meeting of a small host of old Inyoites and of their doings, of various speculations indulged in down there concerning possible operations here, and all that—must be forgone until the next issue. The regular overland train of last Wednesday, consisting of two 80-ton engines, a fruit car, palace cars, sleepers and coaches to the number of eleven all told, pulled out from the Oakland mole at 4:30 P. M., with Conductor Conner in charge. She sped along until reaching a point two miles west of Rocklin, which is twenty-five miles above Sacramento, a smash-up occurred, most remarkable for its destruction of property and miraculous lack of fatal results. A wood car had broken loose from above and crashed back into the train, which was ascending the grade at the rate of thirty-five miles per hour. A heavy jar occurred and matters were still, but the frightful scene at the front baffles description—the two monster engines being practically demolished, and appeared as a mass of steam, fire, iron and splinters. Denuded of all exterior works, the boiler of the first engine stood to the left of the track, head down, at an angle of about 45 degrees. The second lay flat on its side, in the ditch to the right. The fruit car next was crushed, and the fact of its being there probably saved the whole train from being ditched. A moan came from underneath the tender of the second engine, when it was ascertained that Charley Chandler, the engineer, was buried under the ruins. Trainmen and passengers alike went to work with terrific energy, but with jack-screws, axes, shovels and all, it required two mortal hours in the darkness and rain to extricate the unfortunate man. Surgeon Forbes, who arrived with the wrecking train from Sacramento in the morning, reported that the engineer had one leg broken and had received injuries to the spine which might prove fatal. How the other engineer and the firemen got out they don't know, but they got off without serious hurts. The delay was some eighteen hours, and the loss to the Central Pacific cannot be less than $100,000.

COPPER MINES.—It seems that our late reference to the copper and other ledges near Darwin Falls, being developed by Mr. Jerry Fitzgerald, did not do them full justice, in this: That they are all much larger and, apparently at least, more valuable every way than as then given. Our information in relation to them came only as a result of a casual talk, the writer hereof not at the time having any interest in it as a reporter, hence, no notes of exact details. But, except in this general way, we can shed no additional light on the points in question, having no new data. We are minus similar particulars about some four other copper ledges near the town of Darwin, these likewise now being first introduced to notice, so far we are advised. One, at present, most prominent and best developed, is the property of John Wilson, J. A. McKenzie and A. C. Willis, and is said to be a wide ledge, throughout, of exceedingly high grade sulphuret copper. The other three, the property of Mr. Wilson, are of carbonate ores, but of what dimensions or assay value we are unable to state.

THE KIND THEY HAVE.—We have specimens of silver ore taken from the Cliff mine, Deep Spring District, which assays $755 per to , and which, as shown by a large lot shipped below, works to a little over $650 on an average. The vein, as we happen personally to know, or at least to believe from observation, is continuous, carrying not less than a six-inch streak of just this kind of ore. The Cliff is the property of Messrs. Greenly & Broder, and is simply one of what they deem the most insignificant among half a dozen or more in the same vicinity, upon which they have been working for the past two years. This is on Cottonwood Creek, not in Deep Spring proper, though covered by that district. That is destined, beyond reasonable question, to become one of the most prosperous camps in this entire region.

HIS OLD LOCATION. — Dr. S. G. George, on a visit here from Alameda, in company with Mr. Eibeshutz, has been over taking a look at some of his old time locations around Mazourka Cañon. Among others, is the Columbus, located by the doctor twenty years ago, and from which he then got some fine prospects. It is now held by Mr. E., and has a 70-foot shaft down on it. It has passed through various hands and under different names since those days, but through a liberal offer by the present owner, may again pass into the control of its original locator.

FIRE CLAY.—Mr. Alex. Clark, as will be seen by advertisement elsewhere in this issue, proffers to furnish fire clay at the Independence depot in large or small lots to suit, and at extremely low rates. He has located a fine ledge of this material a short distance up Mazourka cañon, and we have reason to believe it is of the very best quality.

THE LOCAL TELEGRAPH.—The wire for the telegraph line to connect this place with the main line at the Independence depot, 4½ miles, has been ordered, and is to be strung up immediately on its arrival. The capital stock is by subscription of our merchants and others here, but we cannot give the list at present.

RECEIVED.—We are in receipt of another of MRS. DuCOE'S really fine poems, but are compelled to defer its publication until the next issue.

TAXES.—As will be seen by official notice in this issue, our Tax-Collector will now raid the country for tax money.

CHURCH DEBT.—There remains unpaid something over $1,000 on the Bishop Creek M. E. church building. A portion of this will be paid through a loan from the General Church Fund. The remainder will have to be met by contributions. Rev. Mr. Nims has addressed himself to the far from pleasant task of raising this money. Parties who have not the ready money have contributed quite liberally in produce, and, as part of the work in hand, Mr. Nims takes it upon himself to sell and deliver this wherever he can find a market for it. It is much to be hoped that our people generally will assist him, each and everyone, in some amount, be it ever so small.

HOMESTEAD PATENTS.—Homestead patents have been received at the Bodie Land Office for the following parties. They will be delivered upon surrender of the Receiver's final duplicate receipt, with an acknowledgement indorsed thereon of the receipt of patent for the land described therein, made before the Register or Receiver, or any officer having a seal: Andrew J. Severe, Mono county; Christian Worth, Kern county; and Nicholas Peterson, Robert A. Russell, James Peregrine, James G. Bonds, Wentworth Calkin, Jack Malory (Indian), and Christopher C. Eisele of Inyo county.

MAIL MATTERS.—It seems that the present uncertain workingr of the new mail system for this portion of the country will have to go on as it is until a postoffice is established at Hawley, the southern terminus of the railroad. Then the postal clerks will accompany the postal cars to that place. The cars go through now, but by order of the Department, the clerks come no further in this direction than Bishop. All these matters are fixed in Washington, not by the Postal Agent, Mr. McKusick.

"PAINFUL DUTIED."—Kate Wallace was convicted in Justice Parker's Court last Saturday for selling whisky to an Indian, and was fined $10 or to take a rest for 10 days. She paid the fine. Deputy Sheriff Crough made the arrest, and was the chief witness, and is ready to run in certain other individuals on proper provocation.

FROM WAUCOBA.—Phil. Cartier, O. Stickney and John Elliot returned this week from Waucoba District, where they have been doing assessment on the Blanco, Summit and Wyandotte mines. They report no notable changes in the situation over there.

THOSE BLANKETS.—In the item regarding the taking of some blankets from the train last week, we unintentionally omitted to state that the blankets were recovered the next morning, by a little persuasion on the part of Deputy Sheriff Crough.

LECTURES.—Attention is called to the announcements of lectures by Professor Crowhurst, Grand Lecturer, I. O. G. T. He is acting under the direction of the Grand Lodge of California, and is said to be an eloquent speaker.

TROUT.—From and after next Thursday, November 1st, until the 1st of next April, the catching of trout will be unlawful—simply that and nothing more.

PREACHING.—Rev. Mr. Nims will hold morning and evening services tomorrow, the first in this place since his return from Conference.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the First day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding. A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California, do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest, or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks, or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion, or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CSASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5 Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or vinicultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind, must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11 Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars;

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class, and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect, and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest. JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this First day of October; A. D. 1883, by the following vote: Ayes—E. Robinson, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland. Noes—none.

[SEAL.] Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

OFFICIAL.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested, or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

FRIENDS

[FOR THE INYO INDEPENDENT.]

O! there is nothing like true friends!
I think they almost make amends
For all the hourly ills we meet
To pierce with thorns our tired feet!

The smiling eye—the loving tone—
Where is the heart but needs must own
The potent power to thrill, and bless,
Which lies within their tenderness!

'Though days be dark, and spirits drear,
The sun still shines if one be near
To lean the fainting strength upon,
Who whispering with—"Lo! comes the Dawn!"

And 'though Deceit should block our way—
And Envy cloud our fairest day—
And Malice check our sweetest song—
And Falsehood lead the hideous throng!

'Though where our purest thoughts may rise,
There gleam the bane of evil eyes
To turn where we had ought to bless,
Our actions into bitterness—

To blight us with accursed breath,
That is more venomous than Death!
And makes the quivering victim sink
Unto Despair's desponding brink—

Yet—if midst it all—there be
One heart that standeth lovally,
And yieldeth faith and tenderness—
The strength it giveth, who can guess?

O, ye! who brightly dance along
With life; and light, and joy, and song—
I pray you, if perchance there bow
Some storm-tossed wretch, less blessed than thou,

Across thy pathway, lend a hand!
The sweetest gift at your command
May be a smile—to light him on
Through clouds that have obscured the dawn!

The arid sands of Life may burn
His blistering feet! And 'though return
He maketh not to thine or thee,
There is above an Eye to see!

The loving glance—the tender tone—
Ah! who so poor but he may own
These Pearls of Price, whose radient ray
Can light a fellow mortal's way!

The Electoral Votes.

The country is already quick with the movement of next year's Presidential campaign. The close of Mr. Arthur's term will register twenty-four years of consecutive power enjoyed by the Republican party. The Democratic party came into power in 1801 under Mr. Jefferson and continued in the administration until 1825, a period just equal in time. In 1801 Jefferson and Burr had each 73 electoral votes for President, to John Quincy Adams' 65. The tie was decided by the House in Jefferson's favor, after 36 ballots. In 1804 Jefferson had 122 to Pinckney's 14. In 1812 Madison had 128 to Clinton's 89. In 1816 Monroe had 183 to King's 34. In 1820 Monroe had 231 to Adams' 1. Monroe carried every State in the Union, but one elector in New Hampshire cast his vote for Adams. In 1824 there were 261 electoral votes, of which Jackson had 99, Adams 84, Crawford 41, Clay 37. Jackson's popular majority over Adams was 50,551. The House by a bargain between Clay and Adams, which John Randolph denounced as a union of the "Eastern Puritan and the Western Blackleg," elected Adams. In 1828 Jackson beat Adams by 178 to 83 in the electoral vote and 138,134 in the popular vote. Alabama cast a unanimous popular vote for Jackson. In 1836 Van Buren beat Harrison by 170 to 73 in the electoral and a clear majority of 38,175 in the popular vote.

In 1848 Taylor beat Cass by an electoral vote of 163 to 127, and a popular majority of 139,557.

In 1852 Pierce had 254 electoral votes to Scott's 42, and a popular majority of 59,347.

In 1856 Buchanan beat Fremont by an electoral vote of 174 to 414 and a popular majority of 486,905.

In 1860 Lincoln had 180 electoral votes to 123 for Douglas, Breckenridge and Bell, and a popular vote of 1,875,913 to 2,814,968, cast for the three Democratic candidates.

Two brothers named Benton have been arrested at Kernville, Cal. They are supposed to be the two armed and masked men who stopped a buggy coming from Kernville on the 13th instant, with bullion for the San Francisco mint.

Man and Insects.

The only nerves (worth mentioning) in the human body which are not under the control of the brain are those of the heart and other internal organs; and over these parts, as everybody knows, we have no voluntary power. But all our limbs and muscles are moved in accordance with impulses sent down from the brain, so that, for example, when I have made up my mind to send a telegram to a friend, my legs take me duly to the telegraph office, my hand writes the proper message, and my tongue undertakes the necessary arrangements with the clerk. But in the insect's body there is no such regular subornation of all the parts composing the nervous system to a single central organ or head office. The largest knot of nerve matter, it is true, is generally to be found in the neighborhood of the sense organs, and it receives direct nerve bundles from the eyes, antennæ, mouth, and other chief adjacent parts; but the wings and legs are moved by separate knots of nerve cells connected by a sort of spinal cord with the head, but capable of acting quite independently on their own account.

Thus, if we cut off a wasp's head and stick it on a needle in front of some sugar and water, the mouth will greedily begin to eat the sweet syrup, apparently unconscious of the fact that it has lost its stomach, and that the food is quietly dropping out of the gullet at the other end as fast as it is swallowed. So, too, if we decapitate the queer Mediterranean insect, the praying mantis, the headless body will stand catching flies with its outstretched and fumbling about for its mouth when it has caught one, evidently much surprised that its head is unaccountably missing. In fact, whatever may be the case with man, the insect, at least, is really a conscious automaton. It sees or smells food, and is at once compelled by its nervous constitution to eat it. It receives a sense impression from the bright hue of a flower, and it is irresistibly attracted towards it, as the moth is to the candle. It has no power of deliberation, no ability even to move its own limbs in unaccustomed manners. Its whole life is governed for it by its fixed nervous constitution, and by the stimulations it receives from outside. And so, though the world probably appears much the same to the beetle as to us, the nature of life is different. It acts like a piece of clockwork mechanism, wound up to perform a certain number of fixed movements, and incapable of ever going beyond the narrow circle for which it is designed. —Grant Allen in Knowledge.

Items About Presidents.

President Arthur was 53 years old last week. He was born October 5, 1832. Ex-President Hayes was born October 4, 1822. The only other President born in October was John Adams, who was born on the 19th, and was 62 years old when he was inaugurated. Garfield, Pierce and Polk were born in November, Andrew Johnson and Martin Van Buren in December; Millard Fillmore in January; Abraham Lincoln, Wm. H. Harrison and George Washington in Febrary; Jackson, Tyler and Madison in March; Grant, Buchanan, Monroe and Jefferson in April; John Quincy Adams in July; Zachary Taylor in September.

As to deaths, Garfield died in September, Johnson, Van Buren, Taylor, Monroe, Jefferson and John Adams in July; Lincoln and Harrison in April; Buchanan, Polk, Jackson and Madison in June; Pierce in October, Fillmore in March, Tyler in January, John Q. Adams in February and George Washington in December. Grant was our youngest President, having been 47 years old at the time he was inaugurated. Frank Pierce came next, at the age of 49. Then came Garfield, Fillmore, and Polk, each 50. Then Tyler and Arthur, both 51 years old, and both Vice Presidents succeeding to the Presidency by the death of Presidents. Abe Lincoln was 52 when inaugurated, James Madison 54, Hayes and Van Buren 55, Andy Johnson 57, Monroe, Jefferson and John Quincy Adams 58, George Washington 59, Andrew Jackson 63, Zachary Taylor 63, John Adams 65, James Buchanan 66, and Wm. Harrison 68. Of these men, Garfield, Grant, Pierce, Polk Harrison, Jackson and Washington bore the title of General and had military reputations. All of them had been in the Government employ in some capacity before their nomination, and some, such as Van Buren, Jefferson, Monroe and the two Adamses, had years of training in the Cabinets preceding them. John Quincy Adams received a salary from the Government for sixty-nine years, and the sum must have amounted to $500,000. At the close of of his Presidential term he had fifty-two years of office holding, and his salary had aggregated $425,000; still he had seventeen years of Congress after this and died at the capital at a Congressional session. At the age of fourteen he went to Russia as the private Secretary of the American Legation, and he was in after years Minister to England, Germany, Portugal, Russia and the Netherlands.

LAST year John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, gave up $200,000 for advertising purposes, but it made $1,000,000 for him in trade, and he still thinks well of the newspapers.

A BOY of Franklin, Pa., burst a blood-vessel while blowing a tin horn, and died in a few hours. If this item is of no use to you cut it out and hand it to your neighbor.

IT is doubtless owing to our being made of clay that we are so easily "broke."

Labor and Land.

Such discussions as that which took place at the Friday session of the State Horticultural Society are calculated to do a great deal of good. When intelligent men express the opinion that a lack of labor is the principal obstacle in the way of an unlimited increase in their business, the industrial world will prick up its ears. Such glad tidings do not often come to the understandings of the laboring classes. In Europe the great perplexity of the government is to find work for the people. Tariffs are revised in the hope that a change will create a greater demand for labor. But here is a state where the demand for labor is greater than the supply. There is no complaint of lack of profit at current wages, or fear expressed that the market for their product may be over-supplied. The fear is that for lack of labor fruit will rot on the ground. Several ways to provide labor were suggested, all of which will doubtless be adopted to an extent. The division of large orchards into small holdings will bring millions of willing hands to the fruit harvest. Whether large holders sell outright on credit, or make some terms with tenants by which the latter shall contribute what they have, labor, and receive in return what they want, land or the use of land, labor will come in abundance. It is the one thing in the world of which there is more than enough. In the future the solution of the labor and land problem will be found in small divisions of the land. All thickly settled countries come to that sooner or later. Agricultural land in England does not bring in rents to cover two per cent. of its nominal value. Owners in all parts of the United Kingdom are trying to turn their lands into cash. Some of the very rich landowners will hold out for a time while pride dominates interest, but in the end they will accept the inevitable. In this state a scant population has permitted the ownership of land in large tracts. This may continue until the land is wanted, when some way will be found to induce owners to sell at fair prices. Land monopoly is something that cannot be permitted when it stands in the way of feeding the people.—S. F. Call.

THE first bag of flour ever made of California wheat and exhibited at a public Fair, was the one made by John M. Horner, of Horner's mills, at Union City, Alvarado, in 1850, and shown at the Fair in Music Hall, in that year, and to which was awarded the highest premium, $50. That bag of flour is now on exhibition at the rooms of the California Farmer. It is thirty-three years old.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3.....1883

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY JAMES H. PARKER.

PROF. HENRY G. HANKS, State Mineralogist, is yet calculating upon his long-promised visit to Inyo—the field of his earliest experience in quartz mining. His faith in the future success of some of our old districts is unbounded, while his enthusiasm over the mineral exhibit made crops out all over. The Mining Bureau has been handicapped by the niggardly action of the last Legislature, which refused anything like an appropriation commensurate to its great importance. The borate lands of the State will be made a special subject in Mr. Hanks' next report, the fields of Inyo occupying more than a hundred pages of space in his exhaustive treatment of this mining industry. In Mr. Hanks' private office about the first object to attract the attention of a visitor is a life-like oil painting of the lamented Joe Wasson, our representative and the founder of the Bureau. No amount of fine writing could describe the suppressed emotions of this scribe, when he first viewed this representation of an old-time friend. May poor Joe's soul rest in peace and his works live long!

THE Reno Gazette very truthfully observes: "Nevada has several citizens who have been pretty well advertised, although they never ran for office or courted notoriety. A conspicuous example is H. M. Yerington, who, though he has done more than any other one man that ever lived to develop Nevada's resources, has hardly been favorably mentioned by the press, while pages of an unfriendly nature have been written about him. Even papers that were friendly to him, personally, have taken little more pains than he has himself to affect public opinion in his favor. Other men have found big mines and have taken millions out of our mountains, but no man has laid the money and secured it for the State that he has." Nevada is under greater obligations to Yerington's business capacity and ceaseless activity than it will probably ever admit.

IF there is anything in particular for an American to be real proud about it is the mighty and wonderful workings of our laws. Here, for example, is what a Kansas City dispatch says: "Frank James, the notorious outlaw, under arrest at Gallatin, was yesterday [Oct. 31] given the freedom of the town, and with his wife and child, walked about visiting stores at will. Great indignation was felt by the citizens of Gallatin over the fact of James being allowed liberty. In the Courthouse, while the cutthroat was walking the streets, was a negro with ball and chain attached to his leg, under charge of stealing a ham for his starving family." And here in our own State Wheeler, the Strangler, still lives to be adored by San Francisco "ladies." There, also, resides Donahoe, the millionaire smuggler, who gets off with the payment of a paltry fine, but retaining his goods, instead of having them confiscated and he otherwise punished, like an ordinary scrub.

THE French Government is experimenting near Lille upon some naval and siege guns of novel construction and immense power. One of these, as described by a technical journal, is of steel, and nearly thirty feet long. The tube is strengthened with ten coils of plaited steel wire one millimeter (.030 inch) in diameter. The composition is such that the cannon, after a few discharges, becomes elongated by three millimeters. The weight of the gun is fifty tons; it projects a shell weighing 297½ pounds, capable of penetrating armor plates nearly six inches thick at a range of seven and a half miles, and its cost has been $116,160.

THE Postoffice Department wishes to have it understood that there has been no new circular received regarding printed matter on envelopes; that any one may write or prtnt anything, and as much of it as he may desire, on the outside of an envelope, as long as it is not indecent, and that then it will go through the mails; and that the Government will itself print the name and address on an envelope, but will not put any advertisement on it. Much confusion has been caused by the inaccurate statements on this subject published in various papers.

CAPT. EAD's jetties at the mouth of the Mississippi are a success, in spite of the croakers. Recently the British ship Silverton, tonnage 4,913, with hold 34½ feet, loaded at New Orleans with wheat and cotton, and passed out without any difficulty. New Orleans is likely to be one of California's seaports, and whatever increases her facilities is of interest to our producers.

JUDGE NELSON, of the United States District Court, at Boston, very sensibly concludes that two men cannot act as witnesses for seventy-five persons who apply for naturalization.

THE SILVER QUESTION.

There are not very many persons in the ordinary walks of life who take a very lively interest in the current discussions of the "Silver Question." Still, it is one that materially concerns every individual and every interest in a a silver mining country especially, so a little time and space devoted to it now and then may not be a waste of either.

The following is substantially an editorial in the Virginia Enterprise: A Mr. Charles L. Frank, of Louisville, Kentucky, has lately issued a pamphlet in which he discusses the silver question in an interesting manner. In his arguments there is one very important point which cannot be too emphatically impressed upon the public mind. It refers to the relation between gold and silver, which, since the year 1679, during nearly two centuries, up to the era of the demonetization of silver in 1873 in the United States, has not varied in London or any other great market more than about three per cent., except in the period of 1741 to 1790, when the average variation reached five per cent. The relative price of the two metals from 1741 to 1873 varied 14.74 to one to 15.98837 to one, the latter being the present legal standard tn the United States. Since 1873 silver has greatly depreciated in the markets of the world, which is largely owing to the course of the United States and the wide advocacy of monometalism. Mr. Franke states succinctly the effects of silver demonetization, and points out who the chief sufferers would be. "The more you reduce the volume of the money of the world, as by demonetising silver, and the paper based thereon, the more you increase the purchasing power of the remaining money, gold and the notes based thereon, and, other things being equal and unchanged, proportionately depress prices of industrial and commercial values and commodities, reduce rents, profits and wages, thus impoverishing investors and bankrupting debtors."

The countries which use gold only as a standard of value are Great Britain, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Portugal, Turkey, Canada, Brazil, Argentine Republic, Persia, Cape of Good Hope and the Australian colonies, with an aggregate population of 138,600,000. Those using gold and silver and having the double standard are France, Belgium, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, Roumania, Holland, Spain, United States, Colombia, Venezuela, Chili, Uruguay, Paraguay, Bolivia, Cuba and Algiers, with an aggregate population of 181,000,000. Those which use silver only as a standard of value are Russia, Austria, Mexico, Central America, Ecuador, Peru, China, British India, Siam, Burmah, Dutch colonies of Java, Madura, Egypt, Tunis and Tripoli, with an aggregate population of 772,600,000. The population who use gold alone as a standard, and those who use silver alone as a standard, and those who use both are thus divided:

	Population.	Per cent.
Gold	138,000,000	13
Silver	772,600,000	71
Gold and Silver	181,000,000	16
Totals	1,091,600,600	100

The above table embraces forty-five countries of the commercial world, and all that are of any consequence in considering this question. The whole amount of money in use by them is from the most recent and reliable data estimated as follows;

Gold	$2,917,943,000
Silver	2,130,914,000
Paper money	1,835,760,000
Bank note circulation	1,653,120,000

The public debt of the States named is $24,167,280,000. The motive for demonetizing silver is, therefore, vast and universal among the creditor class, and will not easily be overcome by facts and arguments, however conclusive they may be as to the equities involved.

PUEBLO, Col., is soon to have a paper and textile mill, devised to utilize the soap weed plant that grows so abundantly in the southern part of the State. More than three years ago the editor of the Denver Journal of Commerce sent large quantities of this soap-weed to Hadley, Mass., to test its adaptation to paper purposes. This mill at Pueblo will be the result of that experimenting

ON the night of November 24, 1852 Sacramento city was very nearly annihilated by fire. Before the ruins ceased to smoke, a rain set in that lasted, almost without an hour's cessation, literally for "forty days and forty nights," submerging the streets 12 feet deep. It was a great advertisement for "Rabel's Tannery," but, in all other respects, that shower made it tough tor the Argonauts all over the State.

INFLUENTIAL Germans at Rochester, New York, including representatives of the brewing interest, have resolved to to support the Democratic State ticket at the coming election, with the exception of Isaac H. Maynard, their candidate for Secretary of State.

DEMOCRATIC leaders in Maryland admit that the situation is serious, and that their State ticket is in danger.

Letter from Round Valley.

ED. INDEPENDENT:—It's about time to comply with your request for "more items and oftener." Being that Uncle Sam has lately reduced letter postage one-third, also, ye editors condescend to accept fresh lies conveyed to brown paper with a lead pencil, we may afford to scribble freely and your numerous correspondents should cram you with prose and poetry. You may have to wait until "geddle Sprig cubs,' when the "ethereal milddess" will be productive of fresh, green poetry.

The busy season being over and threshing done, the farmer now sits meditatingly on his little grain pile cogitating how and where will he dispose of his stuff in order to defray expenses. It requires considerable muscle and endurance to raise a crop, as well as tact and talent to sell it advantageously.

High officials, like the President of the U. S., for instance, are provided with able counselors, who assist in solving hard problems; but, lo, the poor farmer, besides 15 hours or more per day of laborious work, has to do the engineering, conducting and financiering pertaining to his avocation all alone and for small pay; hence we conclude that the average farmer ought to possess a bigger chunk of brains and much more muscle than the aforesaid P. of U. S.

WORSE THAN SMALL PAY.

A certain farmer of this vicinity relates that he cultivated between 40 and 50 acres this last season, and when, after threshing, he balanced accounts, he discovered himself in debt over $400. He very naturally got scared, and has left the country. The above, of course, is an extreme case; still, there are many industrious farmers whose proceeds from their yearly products are barely sufficient to meet all demands. And yet the good granger is admonished to keep a stiff upper lip—"Grin and bear it, old hoss, your reward is in Heaven, where, we are told, all of us good Christians will have a glorious time.

EMIGRATING.

On account of gloomy prospects, some of our old settlers are emigrating. F. S. Gunter, wife and four children, Perry Gunter, wife and one child, W. Dickinson, wife and four children, Lee McCrosky and A. Farmer, all left the other day for pastures new. Others are seriously contemplating a move in some direction before snow flies. It is now generally conceded that this is getting to be a hard country for a farmer to flourish in, being that crops are light, prices low for produce, with labor high, supplies high, taxes way up, and everything rather highfalutin, hence the skeedaddling for a more congenial clime and a more profitable field for labor.

THE CROPS

Were light this year. The threshers finished up here last Friday. Most all the farmers complain of short crops—some 10, others 12 tons less than last year. Gus McGovern estimates that Round Valley has 300 tons less grain than it had last year, and Bishop Creek 500 less. Whether this "shortage" or partial failure should be entirely attributed to the unfavorable season, or partly to our lack of properly cultivating the soil, should be thoroughly discussed at our next Farmers' Club meeting held at ————, on ————. Many topics of interest—vital questions touching our very pockets, as well as our intellects—could be elaborately discussed, resulting in profit and pleasure to sons of the soil.

THE "AGITATOR"

Is a new threshing machine brought into this country a few months ago. It is the best that ever "chawed straw" in this valley, saving as well as cleaning the grain remarkably well. The cylinder is 32 inches wide, while the cleaning capacity (the seives) is 46 inches, with its great agitating motion continually shaking up and separating foreign matter from the grain. Should there be a few dozen cords of sticks, roots, brush and sunflowers in the stack, they are all dumped unceremoniously into the straw pile, while nothing much but clean grain comes out of the spout. This splendid concern was ably edited and conducted by Gus McGovern, Ben Williams and Al. Bowman, assisted by a very efficient crew.

ABORIGINES.

"Indian kill 'em and white man whisky sell 'em." Two Indian boys, one about 16, the other 18, got drunk the other day. The savage in them soon cropped out—they quarreled and fought, which resulted in the killing of the older one by the younger, who shot him three times. The Indians generally point to a certain white man who habitually sells them liquor; if so, it is to be regretted that one of the aforesaid bullets didn't meander close to the whisky peddler's jawbone.

SHEEP

By the thousands are invading this territory, just now. They get all the outside range for nothing (not even paying taxes in this county), and towards Fall, when that is all devoured, they push down from Long Valley in view of stubble fields. Should they happen to trespass on your land 4000 or 5000 head, and you in turn should gently tap Mr. Frenchy on the shoulder for a leg of mutton as remuneration, they will knavely reply with a shrug and "No sabe notting." Poor boys, they are innocence personified!

They capture many large stubble fields for a small consideration, and when they get through, there is not much left but a fearful stink.

RUSTIC.

OUT of twenty-six Ohio Democratic Senators elect, and who have been interviewed, twenty favor the re-election of Senator Pendleton.

SENATOR SHERMAN, who has a fortune of ten millions put by for a rainy day, contributed $100 to the Ohio campaign.

Two brothers named Benton have been arrested at Kernville, Cal. They are supposed to be the two armed and masked men who stopped a buggy coming from Kernville on the 13th instant, with bullion for the San Francisco mint.

School Reports.

THE BISHOP SCHOOL.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT—Owing to the prevalence of a mild form of scarletina, about the middle of the month the Bishop Creek school was closed for a few days, and since re-opening many industrious and otherwise attentive pupils have been absent, which, as a consequence, prevents their names from appearing on the roll of honor. At present the classes are full and the advancement satisfactory. The pupils, great and small, seem interested in their work, while the teachers feel encouraged over the progress already made. Primary Department—Charles Parker, George Clark, Charles Clark, Fred Bigham, Pearl Bigham, Francis Shick, Leslie Horton, John Middleton, Alice Drake, Ritta Drake, Ida Plumley, Lois Plumley, Frankie Shaw, Effie Parker, Lulu Meroney. Miss. C. V. STOUTENBOROUGH, Assistant Teacher.

Grammar Department—minimum 85 per cent. [Class A.] Ben Yandell, 96; Lowell Engley, 93; Agnes Ford, 89; Fred Bulpitt, 86. Class B—minimum 80 per cent. Nettie Ford, 93; Louisa Clark, 90; Emma Yandell, 84; Emma Moore, 81; Ida Hughes, 80; Hattie Bulpit, 82; Hattie Van Epps, 80. Mrs. H. H. WELSH, Principal.

THE INDEPENDENCE SCHOOL.

Following is the report of the Independence school for month ending October 26, 1883, E. Gibbs, Teacher:

No. days attendance, 590; No. days absence, 48; No. days tardy, 31. Average No. belonging, 31.9; average daily attendance, 29.5; per cent of attendance, 92.5. Whole No. enrolled during the month, 35. The following are the names of pupils whose per centage in recitation for the month was 80 or upwards: Minnie Harris, 100; Allen Shannon, 99; Sarah James, 98; Maggie Crough, 97; Frank Sherrer, 95; Maude Cook, 92; Harry Cook, 91; Alice Rose, 87; Katie Hardy, 86; Lester Laird, 83; Ernest Laird, 81; Pierce Johnson, 81; Lena Harris, 80; George Wood, 80. Those who were not absent during the month were: Katie Hardy, Ethel Hardy, May Parker, Mabel Chalfant, Julia Crough, Mattie Wallace, Alice Rose, Maude Cook, Ernest Laird, Lester Laird, Frank Scherrer, Pierce Johnson, Clifford Baxter, Harry Cook, Charley Rose.

DEATHS.—A sad item of news comes to us by the way of a letter received at Lone Pine, written from Hermisillo, Mexico. It conveyed the intelligence that at that place, on October 4th ult., ex-Sheriff A. B. Eder and Dr. P. G. Gelcich fell mortal victims to the yellow fever, Mr. Eder was one of the founders of Cerro Gordo, and served the people of Inyo as Sheriff of the county in 1869-'70. Dr. Gelcich was a well-known practitioner of Lone Pine, a great linguist and thorough scholar. Beyond the bare fact that they both died on that day we know nothing. This sad announcement will fall heavily upon many old-timers of this region, who knew both men only to love them for their manly and generous qualities.

AT ELNA.—Parties from the upper end of the valley report that smoke is seen at the furnace. From advices we learn that the furnace is done and that as soon as W. P. Miller arrives, who is expected every day now, arrangements will be made for commencing operations and firing up for steady work. Due notice will be given of that time and event. The new tunnel being run on the Montezuma is progressing rapidly, and is being driven in ground that shows a good quantity of carbonate ore of fine grade. The prospect now is that this mine will develop to be a large and valuable one.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.—In the case of Van Eps vs. Conklin et als. heard on last Monday, the case was dismissed as to certain defendants, and judgment taken against the balance. Yesterday Aaron Hood pleaded not guilty to the information charging him with assault with intent to commit murder, and the case was set for trial December 3, 1883. The Court appointed Geo. M. Gill, Esq., attorney for defendant with S. D. Woods, Esq., as counsel.

AT HIS OLD PLACE.—On a late visit to Bishop, we were glad to meet Mr. A. K. Engley at his old post in the store of Messrs. Marks & Cohn, where he has been for the past five years—under Al. Briggs' management and that of the new firm. In the absence, at that time, of both the proprietors, things seemed to skip along so nicely that we conclude Engley to be a success.

ARRESTED.—Justice Parker was engaged yesterday in hearing the case of the People vs. Robert Arnold, accused of appropriating horses from the ranch of James Hines, which were alleged not to be the property of said Arnold. On preliminary examination, after the testimony of several witnesses was taken, the matter was taken under advisement by the Justice until next Monday.

CHECKED.—The scarlatina epidemic at Bishop has entirely disappeared. But as the disease is so very contagious, and the germs so hard to kill, it not being known how many weeks or even months are required to render them infertile, the disease is liable to re-appear any time, especially in default of the most rigid disinfecting measures in every house where the germs may possibly exist.

HOMELIKE.—Visitors to Bishop may make an error, to their own discomfort, if they do not patronize the boarding-house of Mrs. Rilla A. Clark, one of the most pleasant and homelike places in the town.

COLD.—In the slang phrases of the day, it was a "frozen night" when our towns along this side of the valley "got left" by the stages. Communication by mail, express or messages is "all broke up," as it were.

ANOTHER VICTIM.—As usual in such cases, a drunken bout among the Indians in Round Valley, a few days ago, caused another of them to climb the golden stairs. A warrant was to issue last Monday for the arrest of the murderer, but further than that we are not advised in that particular. But for the interference of the whites, the other Indians would have settled the matter with the killer at once; as it is, they say if the whites do not punish him, they will. Condign punishment at the hands of the law, if due, in an instance or two of this kind, would undoubtedly have a very wholesome effect on the Indians generally, and in several different ways; but, as touching the natural born white malefactors who make a little blood-money by selling whisky to Indians, something a little more reliable than common law is needed for them. A moral conviction of guilt, supplemented with a reasonable allowance of tar, either with or without the feathers, is about the only remedy for their sort. The semi-respectable parties who knowingly and regularly sell the whisky to chronic "go-betweens," are really suffering for this or some similar remedy. It also appears that there are numbers in every community who would be greatly pleased to see the tar remedy tried. It only needs an outrage upon some white person at the hands of some whisky-crazed Indian to have this desire gratified. "The harvest is ripening rapidly."

THE BROWN MONSTER.—Operations at this mine for some time past have been carried forward with considerable vigor, and satisfactory results are flowing therefrom. Car loads of ore are being shipped, and with returns that indicate the value of the ores to be of high grade. The last car load of tons shipped to Oakland sold for $95 per ton. There is at the railroad another car load of equally valuable ore ready for shipment, or reduction at local furnaces. It is the intention of the owners to continue the extraction of metal, and in addition to the immediate results obtained, develop the mine. The adjoining mine, the Hirsch, is also being worked, and high grade copper and galena extracted. The owners expect soon to have a car load ready for shipment or reduction.

BIDS WANTED.—Postmaster General Gresham advertises that bids will be received at the Contract Office, Washington, up to 3 o'clock, P. M., January 5, 1884, for carrying the mails on certain short routes, among the rest, the following: Independence to station; Lone Pine to station; Olancha to Keeler; Darwin to Keeler. The service under these bids does not commence until the 1st of July next, the present contracts holding until that date.

TWO HAWLEYS.—Besides the embryo town and proposed Postoffice at the terminus of the railroad down here at the lake, known as Hawley on the railroad time tables, there is another town and Postoffice of the same name not far from Daggett Station on the A. & P. road in San Bernardino county. On that account the Department will not recognize this place on the lake by its railroad name, but as Keeler, which is name enough for such a small city, and in fact, is its rightful name.

"GREAT GUNS."—As the dime novel writers would describe it, the wind has been "blowing great guns" in this locality since about 12 last night. It was not quite a cyclone nor tornado, but near enough so to loosen sand and dust and make things disagreeable generally, besides carrying away Isaac Harris' wind mill wheel bodily, in doing which an iron shaft two inches in diameter was snapped square off at the hub of the wheel.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3 1883

CONCENTRATORS are fast solving the problem of profitable mining, not only with low-grade ores, but with high grade, although, of course, specially with the former. A half-dozen new works have been, and are being, constructed in San Juan this year. Wherever erected new activity in mining has followed, and mines long idle have been put in operation. Concentrators and concentrating will bring our low grade products up to a grade that will warrant shipping, and they will force a railroad to come after them. The two will make the country prosperous, and bring business and wealth. Speed on in their good work the concentrators. —Silver World.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested, or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present. E. Robinson, Chairman presiding.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The regular meetings of the Board of Supervisors must be held at Independence on the First Mondays in February, May, August and November of each year, and must continue from time to time until the business before them is disposed of.

Such other meetings must be held to canvass election returns and other purposes as provided by law or ordered by the Board.

The Board shall also meet on the first Monday of July, as a Board of Equalization, and must continue in session from time to time until the business of equalization is disposed of, not later than the fourth Monday in July.

The Board shall meet on the first Monday of October of each year, for the purpose of levying State and County taxes, and fix the rate of county licenses.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the first day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California, do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to two thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or vinicultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, to the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class, and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest. JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this First day of October; A. D. 1883 by the following vote: Ayes—E. Robinson, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland. Noes—none.

ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.—Rilla A. Gerrish, Plaintiff, v. Levi Gerrish, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and the complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said Superior Court.—The People of the State of California send greeting to Levi Gerrish, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff, in the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, or if served elsewhere within thirty days. The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between Plaintiff and Defendant, and for general relief and for costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint on file herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, this 5th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

REV. MR. DILLE has closed his series of sermons intended to knock out the world, the flesh and the devil. He denounces card playing, even socially, but commends billiards, which leads us to suspect that he understands the secrets of the carom, but does not know a good pair from a bobtail flush. He very properly denounces novels of the prurient school and ought to have proposed a purgative for the trash in Sunday school libraries. He agrees that we may play lawn tennis, row, ride a bicycle and sing, for amusement, and not sacrifice our Christian standing. But why is lawn tennis more pious than shuffle board, or croquet, and why not let us ride a four footed horse as well as a two-wheeled concern? He rules out base ball because people bet on the game; so they do on rowing, and we have known wicked men to bet on the length of a sermon and prayer. Shall we therefore suppress prayer and preachment as sinful games? Two chunks of ice, put out to warm in the sun by rival ice companies, have been the means of thousands changing hands in bets as to which would melt first. Shall we therefore put no pounded ice on our head, as the editor of the Stockton Herald has advised, because, inciting bets, ice is a bad citizen?

The fact is, that no pastime is evil in itself, but every pastime may become so. All the relations of life are liable to gross abuse, but the relations are none the less innocent.

Instead of preaching down all things that may become temptations, we should preach up self-control, and then men are safe from the tempter.—Oakland Times.

IT is stated that the only reliable means of ridding the hen roost and pigeon loft of virmin is a preparation of sulpher and carbon, technically known as sulphuret of carbon. In France it has been thoroughly tested, and it is said that it works like a charm. It kills the insects which prey upon pigeons and fowls without injuring the birds. A bottle containing the solution will last several days, and the cost of it is small. Put two ounces of the sulphuret of carbon in a bottle open at the mouth, and hang it by a string in the hen house. At the end of eight days the bottle should be refilled. The remedy is said to be infallible. If as good as claimed to be, it should be known to every farmer's wife and poultry raiser in the land.

THE State Mining Bureau has been enriched by the donation of an excellent portrait of Dr. J. B. Trask, the first State Geologist of California. Mr. P. L. Peters, the artist, has presented a finely executed portrait in oil of the late Joseph Wasson, who may be called the founder of the State Mining Bureau, as it was mainly by his efforts that the institution came into existence. Both these pictures are of great historical interest.—S. F. Press.

"Piling up the Silver."

Mr. Henry Carey Baird, in a letter to the Philadelphia Enquirer, calls attention to the fact that though $114,960,197 of silver coin is piled up in the Treasury vaults, yet that $92,651,984 of "paper money of a most acceptable character known as silver certificates," has been issued in lieu of this pile of coin. Thus do these dollars circulate by virtue of their paper representatives to this amount leaving less than $22,000,000 in the Treasury unrepresented by paper money.

In answer to the pretense that the Government cannot find storage room for so large a quantity of silver, he shows that $114,000,000, the quantity now on storage, and weighing 5,256 tons, could all be stored in a room 65 feet long, 20 feet wide and 15 feet high.

IT is not generally known that squashes, melons and cucumbers will mix and hybridize if planted near to each other, and may, though planted at a distance, by the bees bringing pollen from one plant to another. Not only is the seed made worthless, but the fruit is spoiled for use, as the flavor is mixed. This has been doubted; but two years ago I grew melons and cucumbers together, in adjoining beds, to test the question. Some of the melons were all right, and some of the cucumbers; but there were a great many melons that were too much like cucumbers and too many cucumbers like melons. One cucumber was distinctly half and half, being partly netted and divided into sections. Most of the melons were uneatable. Since then I have chosen to grow melons in the garden and cucumbers at the farthest end of the farm. Watermelons do not seem to mix; they bloom much later than muskmelons, and I have them growing side by side all right.

JUDGE MCBRAY, of the United States Circuit Court, in Colorado, has rendered an important decision in relation to land patents. The United States brought suit to cancel sixty-one patents to lands held by the Colorado Coal and Iron Company and others in Las Animas county. The patents were obtained through the Pre-emption Law between 1870 and 1874, and were issued from the Pueblo Land Office. Afterwards it was found the patents had been irregularly obtained, the patentees being fictitious persons. Testimony was introduced to show that the Register and Receiver of the Land Office were parties to the fraud. The defence claimed that the deeds are now good, granting they were fraudently obtained, because now in the hands of innocent parties. The Judge held adversely and rendered a decision in favor of complainant, which cancels the title to 2,560 acres of valuable land.

THE Philadelphia Times makes this remark: "In spite of the admitted fact that they have failed to do anything by way of stamping out polygamy, the Utah Commissioners are inclined to hold on to their fat and comfortable positions, with $5,000 a year and expenses paid." And are not other useless "commissioners" doing the same thing? These offices are created more with a view to afford certain gentlemen an opportunity to junket at the expense of the Government than for any good they are expected to accomplish. They make elaborate reports, sometimes occupying hundreds of pages, which are printed and consigned to the Congressional rubbish. Their information and recommendations amount to but little, and it is rarely that Congress gives much heed to them.

THE Christian Herald says President Arthur's next message will probably be the greatest effort of his life, not excepting the eighty-pound bass caught at Block Island. He is still domiciled at the Soldiers' Home, and devotes his forenoons to study, thought and composition, so the correspondents say. To a gentleman of Mr. Arthur's luxurious habits the forenoon is about thirty minutes in length, and begins promptly at 11:30.

THE "Government of the Dominion of Canada" has just proved itself unable to float its 4 per cent. loan. It was only for $4,000,000, and the bids for it aggregated a little over $1,000,000—so low has the credit of the country sunk under the lead of the rascally crew of "land jobbers, railroad projectors, company promoters and financial conjurors," who have been running the machine at Ottawa for four years past.

GEN. SHERMAN has received houses and other presents worth $50,000 since he became General of the Army, exclusive of the $40,000 worth of diamonds given by the Khedive to Mrs. Fitch, and since divided among the General's daughters. For the past fifteen years he has been paid $17,500 a year, and he will draw this salary until his death.

GEN. STEEDMAN, of Toledo, who died the other day, left a widow and two small children. The older of the children is about four years old and is named Samuel J. Tilden Steedman. It is said that his distinguished namesake will take charge of him and have him properly educated.

GRIZZLIES have proved so destructive to cattle in Sprague River Valley, Klamath County, in Southern Oregon, that stockraisers have offered a bounty of $30 for each bear captured.

THE Marysville levee system has been strengthened, and should be able to stand a flood several feet higher than the highest that has ever visited the city.

How to Put on Postage Stamps.

A man can always learn something if he will only look about him. I was at the postoffice department the other day and I noticed an employe busy affixing stamps to envelopes. Every time he moistened the right hand corner of the envelope and then placed the stamp upon it. I asked him if there was any advantage in wetting the envelope instead of the stamp, and he said: "You notice that I moisten the envelope first; well, I do that because it is the right way. There is a right way and a wrong way to everything, and consequently there is a right and wrong way to put on postage stamps. It is impossible to moisten a stamp with the tongue unless a small portion of the gum adheres to it. Now this gum is by no means injurious, but then the Department does not advertise it as a health food; so the only way left is the right way, and that is to moisten the envelope first." After listening to this brief statement I felt as though I had emerged from the deep shade of ignorance to the glorious sunshine of knowledge.—Boston Traveler.

U. S. C. R. R.—The Salt Lake Tribune discusses the road through Southern Nevada as though the project seems determined on, and argues that it should, for Salt Lake City's sake, be run directly thence, instead of from the terminus of the Utah Southern. Says the Tribune: The road would supply a market for untold supplies of provisions, coal and all products sold in stores; it would bring here for reduction the base ores of Southern Nevada; it would double the city's power, wealth and business within three years. Without it, Denver will have the spoils. This is a matter for shrewd business men to consider.

THERE are about 3,000 dairy cows in the vicinity of Gilroy, and the Record thinks that the milk of 2750 of them is used for making cheese. The average yield of cheese from one cow is 500 pounds annually, which makes the cheese product of Gilroy township 1,375,000 pounds or 687½ tons per year.

THE ELECTIONS

The latest election returns, which are extremely meager, make no great change in the figures first reported by the papers, except in New Jersey, which elects Abbett by 5,000 majority and gives a Democratic Legislature. That the New York Legislature is strongly Republican is conceded by the Democratic organs; Carr is probably the only Republican elected on the State ticket. The Republican majority in Pennsylvania varies from 14,370 to 18,183. Butler claims to have been defeated by fraud, and points with pride to the large gain in the Democratic vote. In Virginia the Democratic majority on joint ballot may reach 25. McLane is elected Governor of Maryland by 12,069. In the Legislature the Democrats have 37 majority on joint ballot.

THE San Francisco Bulletin says, on reliable authority, that a regular system of fraudulent brokerage has been established at Canton to furnish Chinese "traders' certificates" at from $10 to $50 each. The cost depends upon the standing of the applicant's friends who vouch for him, as the applicant is not brought in contact with the Chinese officials.

A TABLE published in the Vedette shows that twenty-eight States and one Territory, with a population of nearly 40,000,000, and a representation of 233 members in Congress, have sustained the petition of the Mexican veterans for a pension.

NEW YORK, according to the latest count, has among her citizens over 400 millionaires, and yet she is holding out her hat for money to build a foundation for the Statue of Liberty.

To Be Pushed in Earnest.

If the latest news reported from the Isthmus of Panama may be relied upon, there would appear to be good grounds for a ticipating the finishing of the ship canal that shall unite the two oceans at some reasonably early date. Hitherto, from all that could be learned from that region, very little real work had been done, and the opinion was gaining ground that the obstacles interposed by nature in the deadly climate, in addition to the engineering difficulties to be overcome, had proved so great that the projectors of the canal were simply going through the motions of keeping at work, waiting, meantime, for the first good opportunity to give it up without incurring too serious a loss of prestige.

From present indications, however, the projectors of the canal have no idea of abandoning the work. Ten thousand workmen are said to be distributed over nine sections of the route, covering thirty miles of distance. These workmen are composed principally of native Jamaicans, who, being thoroughly acclimated, may be expected to do some effective work in pushing the canal to completion. From whatever aspect this important enterprise is viewed, the enormous benefits that will accrue to the commerce of the entire civilized world from its completion must be admitted; and no one intelligent enough to comprehend this fact will wish the present undertaking anything else than ultimate and speedy success.

A NOVEL and ingenious way of building railways has been adopted by the Republic of Guatemala, as follows: A national subscription has been decreed, to which every inhabitant of Guatemala having an income of $100 a year or more will be required to contribute at the rate of $4 per annum for 10 years. In this way the estimated cost of the road, $12,000,000, is to be collected on 300,000 shares of stock of the par value of $40 per share. Each subscriber to the fund is entered as a shareholder from the outset, and is entitled to a pro rata share of the eventual profits. All the national land, a league in length on both sides of the road, can be bought only for railroad scrip, not for money, and it is estimated that the sale of these lands will finally redeem all the bonds, thus leaving the property an unincumbered possession the State. What a chance Standford & Co. have missed in Guatemala!—Virginia Chronicle.

SILVER AND GOLD.

A statement of the Directors of the Mint shows that from the coinage of silver dollars during the five years since June 1st, 1878, when the coinage was begun, the profit to the Government has amounted to nearly $18,000,000, and that the net profit has averaged, during the five years, $3,446,000 per annum. In connection with this matter it may be well to ask from whom this profit was taken, at whose expense this immense revenue was returned to the Government, and more important, the justice of this tax, which the silver miner is compelled to pay in order that his product may be utilized in the coinage of silver. As it is well known the silver miner is compelled to pay transportation on his bullion to the mint, and then pay in addition this tax to the Government which coins this silver for its own benefit. The outrageous injustice of the attempt to make this currency worthless becomes more apparent. In connection with the $3,500,000 annually made in the silver coinage, it might serve a good purpose and certainly be a simple matter of justice to state in the same report the amount lost, or, in other words, the cost of coining gold.

The miner of silver is compelled to submit to and suffer from several impositions on the part of the Government which should not be tolerated. He first psys, as we have stated, transportation to the mint, and receives 412½ grains of coined silver for an ounce of silver bullion. This silver, which is often coined at points remote from business, must then be transported at the expense of the user, and is only moved from the Treasury upon the urgent demand of those who are willing to submit to this cost and inconvenience. On the other hand the producer of gold has his transportation paid; his bullion changed into coin without any expense, and receives gold coin of equal weight to the bullion offered.

It would be difficult indeed to give any just reason why this discrimination in favor of one branch of the mining industry, and against another, is made. It would appear, also, that if the business interest of the country, as claimed, is the motive for the present attitude of the government officials upon this subject of metallic coinage, that silver instead of gold should receive favor, at least in the matter of circulation, as upon it the Government receives the greatest profit and the highest revenue, as it is shown that the profit is not less than $3,500,000 annually, while it is well known that the transportation and coinage of gold have been made at an expense or loss.

As long as silver is by the authority of the highest legislative power of the land a part of the metallic currency of the country, any attempt at discrimination by which it is made to suffer, or is placed at a disadvantage with any other part of the National currency is not only unjust, but is beneath the dignity of true and honest men. As long as silver is a factor of exchange it should be so recognized and used, and any attempt to injure it or its value as a circulating medium, should be met with prompt action on the part of the Government which ordained and instituted it as currency and authorized its issue.

The action of a certain class of capitalists in this matter is such that no nation would submit to it from any other, and the fact that this has been not only permitted but has been aided by those in authority constitutes a spectacle which is not worthy of any people, especially those emphasizing liberty and justice and the equal rights of every citizen.

HERR GRUSSELBACH, Professor of Chemical Science in the University of Upsala, announces that he will undertake, by his process, to freeze up any lady or gentleman willing to submit to the experiment, and deprive them, to all appearance, of vitality, pledging his word to bring them round again at the expiration of two years, with no prejudicial effects to mind or body. It seems, however, that no adventurous person has come forward to supply the savant with the desired opportunity, so he has submitted his marvelous invention to the Swedish Government, with a request that a criminal condemned to death shall be provided to enable him to demonstrate the efficacy of his discovery. If this request is granted he will set to work at once.

THE Standard Consolidated Mining Company has declared its seventy-eighth consecutive monthly dividend of twenty five cents per share, or $25,000, payable in San Francisco and New York on Monday, the 12th inst. This makes the aggregate of dividends paid by the Standard Company $4,300,000. —Bodie Free Press.

MOST of the cattle-raising in Wyoming and Montana is in English hands. It costs $3 to raise a three-year-old, and the animal is then worth $40. The more cattle a man owns the smaller the cost of raising and caring for each animal. Most of the grazing is done on public lands.

THOSE who have watched the operation of the Edmunds law in Utah say that Mormonism will be uprooted only by laws requiring a civil record of marriages and abolishing suffrage in the Territory.

Farmers vs. Miners.

Ex-Senator Stewart, of Nevada, is in New York, and during a late interview was asked about the condition of the controversy in this State between the valley farmers and the mountain miners over the debris question. He replied:

"The war on the miners by the people of the valley is very disastrous to mining. It has stopped many mines and prevented the opening of others. The annual product of gold in California for the last ten or fifteen years has been about $18,000,000. This year it probably will not exceed $12,000,000 and it will continue to grow less each year unless something is done to harmonize the conflict between the farmers and miners. Congress made an appropriation for the building of dams to restrain the debris from the mines and prevent it from flowing down into the navigable watercourses. Mr. Cadwalader, the lawyer who has charge of the farmers' case, and who requires them to accept and advocate his views, has informed the Secretary of War that it would be a bad thing for him to use the money appropriated by Congress for the building of restraining dams."

Replying to the inquiry why the miners could not themselves construct the necessary restraining dams, Stewart said: "There is an accumulation in the rivers from thirty-four years of mining and it would be unprofitable for persons now engaged in that business to take care of the debris from their own washings, and also to protect the lower rivers from the accumulation now remaining in the upper rivers. The case which has just been tried in the Circuit Court is very important. If the injunction, which is the object of the suit, is granted, and the miners are restrained from discharging their debris into the rivers, hydraulic mining will be stopped, unless Congress or the State Legislature provides some remedy whereby the conflicting interests can be reconciled. The lowest estimate of the people engaged in mining in the last thirty-six years is 3,000,000, including those actually working in the mines and those supplying material for them. The highest estimate of the aggregate product of gold and silver from all mines in the Pacific Coast States and Territories does not exceed $200,000,000."—Oakland Times.

On the above subject, under the caption of "Mining Will Not Cease," the Virginia Enterprise comments as follows:

When one observes an industry still occupying the attention of mankind which has been pursued in all ages of the world's history, it is pretty safe to say that it is one that will not die out in the present age, nor in all ages to to come. Ex-Senator Stewart would seem to have been writing himself down an ass, or, if not, has allowed others to do so for him. Mining will exist as long as agriculture, manufactures and commerce, with which branches of human industry it has been co-existant for "time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." To question whether mining pays is as asenine as it would be to question whether it will pay to pursue the other leading industries mentioned above. The Salt Lake Tribune thinks worth while, however, in reply to Stewart, to go into the minutiæ of the business as follows:

Ex-Senator Stewart, of California, it seems, has been talking about mining in New York. If rightly reported, his last few year's misfortunes must have soured him against mining, for the time was when he was one of the most sanguine believers in mining on the coast. But as he was over enthusiastic once he seems now to be correspondingly depressed. The truth is, though he is a great lawyer and shrewd man of affairs, he never had a clear jungment on the subject of mining, and his conclusions now are like his figures, all wrong. He says 3,000,000 of people have been working in mines and supplying miners during the past thirty-six years, and the highest aggregate of production does not exceed $200,000,000. He means that for thirty four or six years that 100,000 men have been steadily engaged. That estimate would give each one $600 ansually. But the figures are not correct. California gave up from her placers $400,000,000. Since the Comstock was discovered, twenty-four years ago, the product from quartz veins has aggregated a good deal more than $100,000,000. Indeed, that amount has been produced in the yast twelve years. Then, again, while the number of people who came under the head of miners, or those who supplied miners, may have averaged 100,000 continuously, there have been no 100,000 steady workers. The vote in all the mining regions demonstrates that fact. But when we include women, children and old men, the results from mining show that no other business compares with it.

Very pertinent to the subject are the following remarks by the Chicago Mining Review, one of the ablest papers in the country:

A bushel of wheat produced by the labor of the farmer, has for a time a certain value which may be estimated, but when that bushel of wheat has been consumed its value dies, practically, and no longer exists as a factor of commercial transactions. An ounce of gold or silver taken from the mines by the miner and placed in the channels of commercial activity, may perform its part as a measure of value over and over again for years, and, as it cannot be destroyed, it retains this value power as long as it any where exists, and never loses this characteristic of value.

As is well known, a large part of our mining territory is now without transportation facilities, roads, available supplies of food, fuel and water, and that time which is demanded in many enterprises to place them upon a productive basis, is more prominently required in operations tending toward the development of mineral resources.

Thousands of farmers every year locate lands in the agricultural portions of the different Territories; these are each located at a certain expenditure of time and money, and although these thousands of farms have not added to the agricultural product of the country, they have not been brought into judgment because they have not performed an impossibility. It is not expected that farms will produce gain before the plow has touched the virgin soil, and there has been no allusion to the fact, that the amount expended is largely in excess of the production. As a matter of fact, it requires more time and labor to place a mine in a condition to produce, than a farm, and yet the mining claims and prospect holes of this country are weighed in the balance of public opinion daily, because a steady stream of bullion and profit does not flow from the first stroke of the miner's pick.

We repeat our opinion many times stated, entirely ignoring the different circumstances and conditions surrounding it, that no productive industry in this country has, or can make a better showing in real wealth produced, than that which tends to the development of our vast and inexhaustible mineral resources, and we base this statement upon facts and figures readily available.

THE Memphis Avalanche believes that Hancock, as the Democratic candidate for President, could bring out a fuller vote than any other man.

THE new bridge over the Colorado river is to be finished next Spring, and when completed will have cost $300,000.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10 1883

THE POTOSI TUNNEL.--The ledge uncovered in the Potosi tunnel, Cerro Gordo, some time ago has now been explored by a cross cut extending 53 feet from wall to wall and by a drift on the vein 30 feet west on the ledge. In this drift has been found some of the finest ore, and the best seen since the original work was done on the "big cut," of the Ygnacio, near the surface from which was extracted several hundred thousand dollars. The present condition of the vein indicates that the opinion of several mining gentlemen, given upon the discovery of the vein, that it was the apex of a large ore chamber of high grade is being borne out. It is the intention of the Superintendent to sink at once upon the ledge, and the chances are that this mine will very soon take its former place and repute as a valuable property and amply repay the owner for his outlay and patience.

RUSS DISTRICT.—The May Queen mine, owned by Reynolds & Treglowen, situated in Russ Mining District, above the Brown Monster mine, and apparently on the same vein, is being steadily worked by the owners with good results. Within a short time they have extracted about 40 tons of fine galena ore, ten tons of which are now sacked for shipment. The ledge is 3 feet wide and becomes more promising upon each days work. Upon sinking, the ledge has changed from a "blanket" to a nearly perpendicular vein, an indication favorable to its continuance.

CERRO GORDO.—Active work is now being done on the Nemesis, St. Paul, and Carbonate mines. In the first named a large pocket of rich galena ore has been recently struck, and the company are kept busy packing and hauling the same. They are now down about 80 feet on the Carbonate mine, and have a good vein of quartz rich in gold and silver. This mine is a relocation of an old claim, and it bids fair to pay the present owners well for the enterprise and pluck they have displayed in the last few months.

INSTALLATION.—The installation of officers of Oasis Lodge, No. 547, I. O. G. T., of Bishop Creek, occurred last Saturday. Following is a list of the officers: Wm. Rowan, W. C. T.; Fannie A. Yandell, W. R. H. S.; C. V. Stoutenborough, W. L. H. S.; Carrie Snelley, W. V. T.; J. H. Stoutenborough, Jr., W. S.; Alice Howell, W. A. S.; Chas. Wolcott, W. T.; L. J. Schalten, W. F. S.; Wm. J. Dunn, W. M.; Mayme Clark, W. D. M.; N. C. Young, W. I. G.; I. O. Clark, W. O. G.; Mrs. M. Hutchinson, W. C.

INSTALLED.—The following officers of Inyo Lodge, No. 546, I. O. G. T., were installed last Saturday evening, by Geo. H. Hardy, L. D.: Alex. Clark, W. C. T.; Mrs. H. G. Kennedy, W. R. H. S.; F. C. Northrup, W. L. H. S.; Mrs. H. Laird, W. V. T.; W. A. Chalfant, W. S.; Mrs. E. P. Hardy, W. T.; Eva L. Shepherd, W. F. S.; H. C. Hamilton, W. M.; Luella Shepherd, W. D. M.; Julia Cook, W. I. G.; H. A. Cook, W. O. G.; G. H. Hardy, W. C.; J. W. P. Laird, P. W. C. T.

THE INDIANA MINE.—On Saturday last, about six feet north of the old works in the Indiana, Swansea District, a fine ledge of the rich ore for which this mine has been celebrated was uncovered, the samples of which assay from $1,500 to $6,000 per ton in silver, with a fair percentage of lead. The jubilation of the owners can be imagined. This ore body will be worked at once, and shipments will again be resumed.

RECORDER ELECTED.—At the annual election for Recorder of Cerro Gordo Mining District, there were 17 votes cast, of which W. C. Morrison received 11, and Jas. Jenkins 6. There was considerable spirit and rivalry while the election was being held, and the absence of the by laws rendered it difficult for the judges to decide as to who were entitled to vote.

GUARDIAN APPOINTED.—In the Superior Court to-day Thos. Crough was appointed the legal guardian of little Mattie Wallace, in response to a movement to have the child removed from her unfortunate surroundings. Our citizens are responding liberally, by subscription, towards defraying her expenses to the San Francisco Sisters of Charity Asylum.

THE LECTURES.—According to announcement, Prof. Wm. Crowhurst, Grand Lecturer, I. O. G. T., will lecture here, in the Court House, to-morrow and Monday evenings. The lectures are free; and, as Mr. Crowhurst is reported to be an eloquent speaker, everybody should attend.

A NEW STRIKE.—Report comes from Cerro Gordo that a four foot ledge of fine silver-lead ore has been opened in the Abalone mine, and in the North Extension of the Union. These mines were formerly the property of Diaz Bros., and are now owned by Judge Conklin and L. Lisky.

COURT NOTES.—The conclusion of the trial of Crohn vs. Diaz, an action to quiet title to a mining claim in Cerro Gordo, was reached on Thursday, after a three days' contest. Judgment was rendered for the plaintiff, and the case will likely be appealed to the Supreme Court.

HELD OVER.—In Justice Parker's Court on Monday last, Robert Arnold was held over for appearance before the Superior Court in the sum of $500 bonds, on charge of grand larceny. He furnished bail with E. Robinson and O. I. Mairs as sureties.

LECTURE.—Prof. Wm. Crowhurst lectures at the Court House to-morrow evening.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10 1883

DR. BRENNER advocates exercise in the high, fine air of mountains as the best protection against the diseases contracted in city life. The characteristics of the mountain climate are the low temperature and air pressure; the low relative humidity; the high per cent. of ozone; the strong light and insolation; the freedom from dust and bacteria. All these act well on the bodily health. The lungs work with greater strength, the heart beats faster, the blood circulates more quickly, appetite is increased, perspiration becomes freer, the muscles become more energetic, and the whole body gains in strength and endurance.

GEN. MCCLELLAN, who has recently visited many parts of the Texas Panhandle, predicts that by the year 1890 the State will have a population of 5,000,000, while he also affirms that it can support 20,000,000 without overcrowding. The capabilities of Texas are only just being discovered; it is larger than France, with a better soil and an equal climate, is well watered, and is being completely intersected by railroads.

THE Central Pacific railroad announces that it will transport grain from Winnemucca, Battle Mountain, and other stations in that part of Nevada, to San Francisco or Port Costa for $6 per ton. The old rate was $28 per ton. This reduction will be of great benefit to the Nevada farmers.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 2.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present. E. Robinson, Chairman presiding.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The regular meetings of the Board of Supervisors must be held at Independence on the First Mondays in February, May, August and November of each year, and must continue from time to time until the business before them is disposed of.

Such other meetings must be held to canvass election returns and other purposes as provided by law or ordered by the Board.

The Board shall also meet on the first Monday of July, as a Board of Equalization, and must continue in session from time to time until the business of equalization is disposed of, not later than the fourth Monday in July.

The Board shall meet on the first Monday of October of each year, for the purpose of levying State and County taxes, and fix the rate of county licenses.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the First day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding. A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks, or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or vinicultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind, must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest, JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this First day of October, A. D. 1883 by the following vote: Ayes—E. Robinson, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland. Noes—none.

LEGAL.

ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.—Rilla A. Gerrish, Plaintiff, vs. Levi Gerrish, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and the complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said Superior Court.—The People of the State of California send greeting to Levi Gerrish, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff, in the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, or if served elsewhere within thirty days. The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between plaintiff and defendant, and for general relief and for costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint on file herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, this 5th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

{SEAL} JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Taxation.

It is claimed that the President, in his forthcoming message, will call the attention of Congress to the necessity of reducing the taxes. One of the features of this policy is the complete abolition of the internal revenue system. He also favors a revision of the tariff. The Executive recommendation, however, so far as the internal revenue is concerned, is believed to be an effort to forestall any radical reduction in the duty upon iron and steel. Committed, as he undoubtedly is, to the present tariff, and sweeping revision of its burdens would seriously cripple his efforts to bring about that harmony in his own party which has so far been the chief feature of his administration. It will be remembered that in his message last year the President advised a substantial reduction in the duties on iron, steel, glass and wool. Yet he signed the bill which increased instead of diminishing them. The President fully understands that he cannot obtain the Republican nomination without the vote of Pennsylvania, nor can he secure this on any other terms than a high protective tariff on iron and steel. In this aspect of his canvass the position of Mr. Blaine is in the last degree discouraging to the President. The Plumed Knight is not committed to any definite policy. He cannot be forced down to the record as the President can and certainly will be. In view of these things, the recommendations will be watched with more than ordinary interest.

THERE is a length to which a joke and mild flirtation may be carried which may prove to the participants a source of trouble, and this truth has at last dawned upon a certain Walter Vaughn of Flatbush, L. I., who, recently, at a church sociable, was in fun joined in marriage to a Miss Annie Higby. The innocent contracting parties carried on the joke for several days, addressed each other as "dear wife" and "darling husband," and now the fair Annie declares that of a verity they are married and intends to carry the case to Court and give amusement and occupation, as well as fees, to lawyers.

THE balance of trade is in our favor and gold is beginning to come home from Europe retrogressing to the place of production. Should it long continue the scarcity on the other side of the Atlantic will create a demand for silver, of which we are becoming such great producers, and prove an advantage of vast importance. We desire to see the credit of a silver currency upheld throughout the world, and a scarcity of gold in the great commercial nations of Europe will re-establish it in the position it held long ago.

THE New York Sun slaughtered Hancock by the significant comment that he was "a good man and weighed 250 pounds." Recently it gave an atrocious woodcut of Holman, with several columns of "taffy" on his public record. The picture will probably end this candidate's aspirations and Puck has represented him, with drawn bowie-knife, ready to carve up editor Dana for prematurely killing him off as a Presidential candidate.

A RUSSIAN gentleman, possessor of the name Nareea Tarrasenko Otreschkoff, estimates the entire stock of gold and silver held by the people of the world, from the days of Noah till the advent of Christopher Columbus, to be $9,200,000,000. There are few people who will have the hardihood to attempt to deny the learned gentleman's statement. How Mr. Otreschkoff procured these interesting statistics is not known.

THERE are more hotels and boarding-houses in New York this year than ever before, and yet they are all full. It is estimated that the population of the city has increased by at least a quarter of a million since last year.

NOTWITHSTANDING the great effort to fill the army to the authorized number, it still lacks 2,140 men of the full quota.

Another Railroad Move.

Articles of incorporation of the Modesto, Tuolumne & Mono R. R. Company have been filed in the office of the County Clerk of this county. The objects of the company are to build and operate a railroad and telegraph line between Modesto and Bodie. Charles Crocker, Leland Stanford, A. N. Towne, C. H. Livingstone, Charles T. Crocker, E. H. Miller, Jr. and W. V. Huntingdon are the incorporators. The capital stock of the incorporation is fixed at $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares of the par value of $100 each. Although the incorporation was effected October 27th, 1881, the papers were not filed in this county until the 6th of this month. What the present movement portends is hard to tell, though the impression prevails that it is intended merely to bluff off any other railroad enterprise through this county. The people have been so often cheated with delusive hopes, held out by the Central Pacific magnates, that their faith in anything of a practical nature has been sadly shaken. As far as this county is concerned Stanford & Co. have always played the dog in the manger policy. They would neither build a railroad themselves nor let anyone else do so. But if they proceed to carry out the scheme set forth in the articles of incorporation the people will forgive their many transgressions of the past. However, we have little confidence in the good faith of the promoters of the present scheme.—Sonora Democrat.

GOOD beef, good bread, exercise, sunshine, pure air, temperance, cleanliness, abundant sleep, a cheerful temper, and a hundred other things are every man's meat and no man's poison. It is true that there are some things which one man can bear and another cannot, but they are of doubtful utility. If you keep to the safe and good in food and drink, there is no truth in the old saw that "What is one man's meat is another man's poison." This old saw is made to cover a multitude of dietetic sins. Thousands of persons starve themselves into thinness, paleness and nervousness by living on white bread and sweet things, and sleeping too little. Oat meal, cracked wheat and graham bread, and beef, with plenty of sleep, would make them plump and ruddy.—Dio Lewis.

DR. BRENNER advocates exercise in the high fine air of mountains as the best protection against the diseases contracted in city life. The characteristics of the mountain climate are the low temperature and low pressure; the low relative humidity; the high per cent of ozone; the strong light and insulation; the freedom from dust and bacteria. All these act well on the bodily health. The lungs work with greater strength, the heart beats faster, the blood circulates more quickly; appetite is increased, perspiration becomes freer, the muscles become more energetic, and the whole body gains in strength and endurance.

THE Duke of York, when heir apparent to the British throne in the early days of this reign, resolved to build a palace worthy of Vicenza in its best days. Before it was finished he died irretrievably in debt. It was sold to the Dukes of of Sutherland, and is their town residence, Sofford House. It is doubtless the chef dœuvre of its architect, Wyatt, and its great hall, when lighted and full of festivity and flowers, is splendid in appearance. In forty years it diverts to the crown and becomes a royal residence.

WE really feel quite proud at the enthusiasm we have aroused in our project to hold a "World's Fair" of the Pacific Coast in San Francisco in 1887. The leading papers—daily and weekly—not only of this State, but elsewhere, are ably and energetically advocating and supporting our proposition, and if what has been done is an earnest of what will be done then in San Francisco in 1887 there will be a "World's Fair" of the Pacific Coast.—S. F. Spirit of the Times

MILLER, who murdered Dr. Glenn, the great wheat farmer of Colusa county, was convicted of murder in the first degree on his second trial with the punishment of imprisonment. On the 12th ult., he was accordingly sentenced to the Folsom prison for life. It appeared that the murder was not entirely unprovoked. He had received some personal ill-usage at the hands of his victim, but not worse than he deserved.

THE reduced rate of postage has made a remarkable difference in the number of letters handled in all the postoffices in the United States. Very likely it will soon result in an increased revenue and it now remains to be seen whether the increase of mail matter can be handled for the enlarged receipts. There is very little doubt on that point, however.

THE courtesies extended by Germany to Spain are taken by the latter country as recognician of her growing importance in European councils, when, in fact, they are intended merely to irritate France. Bismark doesn't waste even so cheap a comodity as courtesy, now that he has placed Germany in the position of the ruling powrr of Europe.

THE ladies of South Carolina are up in arms because the State Legislature appropriated $40,000 for the higher education of the boys and nothing for the girls.

THERE has been no clue gained as yet in regard to the Storey County robbery. The thing that is now bothering the officers is the time-lock business.

A "MERE EXCUSE."

The present issue of THE INDEPENDENT, as will be seen, is not intended for much else than to preserve the run of its advertisements--legal and otherwise. A compositor who was telegraphed for and expected here last Tuesday failed to put in an appearance at all. Stray printers, who might be called upon in an emergency, do not abound hereabouts. It is only necessary to add that arrangements are under way whereby the paper will be strongly sustained in its every department—to the fullest extent allowed by the patronage bestowed upon it.

CAMP INDEPENDENCE.

We presume that, according to the posted announcement, on next Tuesday an auction sale will be made of the Government buildings at Camp Independence. Of course it is immaterial to the War Department whether the property brings one cent or any multiple thereof, so long as fifty millions of people are to divide the loss. If small-fry speculators here can make a cheap "spec" what it it their concern? Whenever any of the Congressional bills to donate Camp Independence to Inyo and Mono for high school purposes reached the Senate Committee on Military Affairs, seemingly no power could resurrect them. Some one "close up" to the Secretary of War evidently prefers a little private gain to helping with a vast amount of lasting public good. And so it goes. Well, the State will eot be called upon to make an appropriation for the establishment of a Mining School; this side of the mountains will never have a public high school, and our citizens will continue to send $20,000 a year abroad for the education of their children. Bah!

THE LAND OFFICE.

It is about time that the United States Land Office for this District was removed from Bodie back to Independence again. In that country it has subserved all the demands of the powerful corporations which caused its removal from here to there. An interested Register caused, and a stupid Receiver permitted, the change to be made. The wood lands of that region have been gobulated; all the mines of known value have been patented, and the business thereabouts is practically wound up. Now the convenience and business interests of this county should be conserved by having it re-established here where it belongs, and where the greatest volume of its business will hereafter accrue.

THE English Ghost Hunter's League, which has been investigating all the ghosts and haunted houses which come within its knowledge, and have absolutely nothing to show for two years' labor, is becoming discouraged. It now prints a card asking all people with supernatural affairs about them or their houses to come forward, promising as an inducement that "nothing will in any case be printed or published with or without names, except with the full consent of the persons named."

PACKING.—Charley Mates, with his pack train, has returned from Bodie. He will engage in getting out some ten tons of ore from the Pine Mountain mines, Deep Spring District, for the shipment of a lot as an experiment. Afterwards he will pack a lot of some fifty tons or more from the Elgin mine to McEvoy's mill in Beveridge District.

HERE.—Supt. Gorman, of the Defiance, is in town on business matters. He has paid a visit to Cerro Gordo and speaks very favorably of the late developments there. The Defiance is operating right along, but Mr. Gorman has delayed furnishing us the figures regarding the present run.

WHAT SHOULD BE DONE.

After having experienced the great inconveniences and almost intolerable annoyances in mail, passenger and express matters, caused by the withdrawal of the stage lines, our people should move for the re-establishment of mail communication on this side of the valley. A daily line should be put on to run from Bishop Creek direct to Mojave. It would certainly obtain most of the travel, and be of vastly more convenience as to certainty of mail and package delivery than the way matters now are. For instance, a man at Mojave, on the S. P. R. R., comes from the East or Southern California, and wants to look at the mines of Panamint or Darwin—distant from 75 to 100 miles. He crosses the Sierras, traverses the heart of California, goes over the mountains again into Nevada, and thence comes south 325 miles over two more railroads, in all about 1,200 miles. Arrived at Hawleys, he has then about half his original distance to make by stage or on foot.

THE danger of contracting a mania for litigation is shown forcibly by the fortunes of a Pike county (Pa.) farmer named Quick, who for more than a generation has spent all his substance in the Courts. He inherited a lawsuit from his father, the case being a claim for $1,000,000 against the Wyoming Coal Company for land which they had gained without fulfilling the provisions of the bargain. This suit, which had been decided against the father, was taken up by the son and prosecuted with much vigor. Every dollar he made in the ensuing eighteen years he spent on lawyers, and although in ten years he was sold out four times by his attorneys, he still secured a judgment for $500,000. When the case was appealed to the Supreme Court, Quick claims he was again b etrayed by his lawyers and the decision of the lower Court was reversed. Undaunted by this failure he began again and so vigorous was his attack that the coa company offered him $80,000 to compromise. This he refused, but finally he was so hard pushed for cash that he ended the twenty-years' fight by accepting $40,000. No sooner had he made this bargain than the lawyers descended upon him and attempted to capture the hard won coin. He made another hard fight for this and saved three-quarters of it by the aid of a lawler whom he interested in his fortunes. But in paying for the services of this last legal friend he once more got into the Courts and is now in the thick of the fight. Although it cost the company over $600,000 to defend these suits, Quick secured only $30,000, and of this much has been wasted in his fight with the lawyers. He has spent the earnings of over twenty years in these Court combats and has acquired a taste which, next to the gambler's passion for cards, is the strongest and most hopeless of vices.

The Big Mining Suit.

About the only item of interest, and it is one which furnishes a topic for general conversation, is that of the approaching suit between the Northern Belle and Holmes mining companies. When the former suit (as entered nearly a year ago) was being prepared, these mines were visited by a number of surveyors and experts. The second suit has made the subject even more interesting. The surveyors have been busy week in and week out for three months, employing in some instances three or four of that profession at a time. Sometimes one party would be in both mines alternately, and again two parties in one mine. All those who were in this district during the days of its discovery, and subsequent early development, have been summoned and will take a prominent part in the trial, to open at Carson City on Monday next. Perhaps no mining suit in the State has created more interest than does this one, coming as it does when nearly every mining corporation is steering close to the wind in expenses, and proceeding very slowly. This suit involves a matter of $2,000,000 which is claimed as damages by the Holmes Company. An array of legal talent, the best in this State and California, has been secured, and the most noted experts in the whole country have been here and visited both of the mines at various times for the purpose of further enlightening the Court and jury which will be impaneled. It is estimated that at least $200,000 have already been expended in the prepa.ation of the case. This, with the fees to lawyers and witnesses, and the expenses of the latter to and from Carson City, will bring the aggregate cost to within nearly a half million dollars—no small amount of itself. There will be a general hegira from here, commencing this evening, and those who do not go then will take the train to-morrow evening. The progress of the case will be watched with much interest, and its result is being awaited with considerable anxiety.—Candelaria True Fissure, November 16th.

IT would seem, according to all reports, that the time has arrived for Nevada to plant the red flag on one of her lofty peaks, and ring the bell lor an auction. Her populatien is now down to 60,000, and decreasing at a rapid rate. Her citizens are beginning to make fire-wood of the large and costly buildings erected at Gold Hill and Virginia City. We move an amendment to the Constitution that will enable Hon. Jas. G. Fair to possess himself at cost price of so much of ihe State as is not already under his control.—N. Y. Truth.

ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California. Thomas Bastian, Plaintiff, v. The Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in the County of Inyo, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

The People of the State of California send greeting to the Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named Plaintiff in the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this Summons—if served within this County; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.

The said action is brought to recover of you the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, due for work and labor done and performed and services rendered by Plaintiff for Defendant in caring for, protecting and preserving the mines, mill and water of Defendaat, situated in Panamint Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California, from the Fourth day of January, 1883, to the Fifteenth day of October, 1883; all of which said work and labor done and performed and services rendered at the special instance and request of Defendent; also, for interest on said sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the Fifteenth day of October, 1883, until paid, and for costs of suit, as appears by the complaint on file herein and to which ref rence is here made.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, interest as aforesaid, and costs of suit.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of [SEAL] California, this Sixteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17 1883

I. O. G. T.—A new Lodge of I. O. G. T. was organized at Big Pine on Saturday, the 10th November, by Mr. Wm. Crowhurst, Grand Lecturer of the Grand Lodge I. O. G. T. of California, with 26 Charter members. The name of the new Lodge is "Silver Leaf" and the following members were elected to serve as officers: L. D. and P. W. C. T., R. P Hessian; W. C. T., W. P. McMurray; W V. T., Miss E. L. Kemp; W. S., Miss L. B. McMurray; W. F. S., A. J. Hessian; W. T., A. J. Bell; W. M., F. Mallory; W. I. G., Wm. Cole; W. O. G., Mrs. J. Counts. The organization was completed and the appointed officers chosen at the meeting held last evening, with the assistance of W. Rowan and others of Bishop Creek, with John W. P. Laird and Geo. H. Hardy, of Independence. During his visit to Inyo County Mr. Crowhurst has delivered eight lectures; 2 at Bishop, 2 at Big Pine, 2 at Independence and 2 at Lone Pine, besides holding two private instruction meetings at the Lodges. He goes from Inyo County to Columbus and Candelaria where he will continue his work and lectures.

Ad. Interim.—It is said that "a little nonsence now and then," etc.,—not to impose upon our readers by using the balance of the quotation—is enjoyed by even such all-powerful and dignified bodies as our local Board of Supervisors. As in instance, for the purpose of relieving the great strain of mind and body of the gentlemen who compose our Board of Supervisors, some wags filed a petition that that august body order that the Chairman of the Board arise earlier in the morning and furnish to the boarders of the Blaney House the lacteal fluid for their coffee—a resolution was also offered in the Board that "Uncle Abe," the sometimes barkeeper at the Blaney, be driven from the house, for that his dimentions were a fraud upon the public, as it was believed that the proprietor was using him as an "ad" as to the effect of his food, while in fact the Supervisor from Bishop, who was a boarder, really indicated that effect. But all said and done it is conceded that Dick Eldred is a first rate fellow and keeps a good house.

Chrysopolis.—The Maxim Mill & Mining Company of New York, S. S. Barrie, Superintendent, seem to be pushing things with commendable vim on their lately acquired property in the old Chrysopolis District. The grading for the new mill is completed, the frame work is up and the rock-breaker in position. The rest of the machinery has been shipped from New York, but has not yet arrived. About twenty tons of ore, running from $40 to $60 per ton in gold, has been extracted from the Arastra and Hope mines and placed on the mill dump. Some work is being done in the tunnel toward tapping the ledge in the old Chase mine.

The Lectures.—Prof. Crowhusrt's lectures at the Court House on last Sunday and Monday evenings were decidedly the best on the subject that this town has ever had an opportunity of listening to. The Prof. was very ably assisted in making the lectures interesting, by songs and music, provided by the Good Templars, Miss Northrop presiding at the organ, Mrs. Kernodle Mr. Geo. H. Hardy and Mr. Thos. Treglowan forming a quartette. Mr. Crowhurst is "the right man in the right place," and if any one can convince the public that intemperance is an evil he is the man.

Returned.—Wm. Crapo, the well-known surveyor and miner of Cerro Gordo, has returned from a trip of over three thousand miles to the northward. In his travels the now noted Cœur d'Alene mines were amongst his discoveries. Mr. Crapo will spend a few weeks in Cerro Gordo, and during that time we expect some interesting favors concerning that country from his facile pen.

Russ District.—Thos. Kehoe is doing assessment work on his mines in Russ District. The ore on the dump is free-milling and will assay about $40 per ton. The ledge is well defined and shows the entire 1,500 feet. Tom. has worked this property for 16 years past and is entitled to some credit for the pluck shown in holding his grip so long.

In Town.—Luke Davis, of Tibbet's Station, spent a day or so in town during the week. He was looking especially happy, having received the news of his better half having presented him with a son on the 25th ultimo. Both mother and boy are in San Francisco, doing well.

Musical.—Miss Alice Rhine, daughter of Nathan Rhine, Esq., of this place, is mentioned in very complimentary terms by the Bay papers in connection with her musical telents displayed at a late "Lutheran Jubilee."

Superior Court.—Venires of thirty Grand Jurymen and the same number of trial jurors have been drawn in the Superior Gourt, the first returnable December 10th and the trial jury on the 3d.

Across the Mountains.—Mr. Chalfant, of this office, is over on Cottonwood Creek, Deep Spring District, prospecting some claims and figuring with Greenly, Berry and Broder about putting up a mill.

Thnksgiving Ball.—Elsewhere will be noted a regular announcement of a grand Thanksgiving ball and supper at this place. Everybody will be there, so you might as well begin to get ready now.

Assessment. — The Bishop Creek Ditch Company has levied another assessment of $1 25 per share.

LEARN TO LAUGH.—Blessings on the laughers, no matter of what style. Of course we all like ha-ha-ha, and we don't like he-he-he, or ho-ho-ho, or haw-haw-haw; but give them all a welcome. The worst of them are a thousand times better than the whiners. Hearty laughter is better than pills for dyspepsia, better than chloral for neuralgia, and better than balsam for consumption. Come on, brothers and sisters, with your ha-ha-ha, and your he-he-he and your ho-ho-ho, and your haw-haw-haw, and all the variations; you are welcome. But your long-faced, whining, groaning wretches, avaunt! I would rather have the cholera come this way than you. Why don't you cut your throats? I will sit on your case as a juror, and bring in a case of justifiable suicide.—Dio Lewis TEA.—In the London Medical Times appears the following paragraph: "Dr. Heath, of Newcastle, has been the last to raise his voice against tea. But it has long been a fact familiar to us that tea is a most fruitful source of dyspepsia. Among the vast numbers of poor women who frequent the patient-rooms of our London hospitals, we should not be far wrong in saying that two-thirds are suffering from dyspepsia. This dyspepsia almost invariably arises from two causes—the want of proper food, and the abuse of articles like tea, which stay the craving for food, but which aggravate the consequent conditions of the digestion.

EVERYTHING that the Government turns its attention to of late years seems to yield a surplus return. The postal service became a paying one and the income was cut off. Now it appears that the patent office has earned $2,000,000 more than it could spend, which amount it has to its credit in the Treasury.

THE tax suits of San Joaquin County against the Central Pacific Railroad have been compromised, the railroad company paying the sum of $300,000, less $75,000 lawyer's fees, into the county treasury.

THE new rival of quinine is called hydro-chloride of exethylquinolinehydrid. It certainly looks in print as if it would knock the chills.

THERE will be 401 electoral votes next year, of which 201 will be necessary to the election of a President of the United States.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California.—Rilla A. Gerrish, Plaintiff, v. Levi Gerrish, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and the complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said Superior Court.—The People of the State of California send greeting to Levi Gerrish, defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named plaintiff, in the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein within ten days (exclusive of the day of service) after the service on you of this summons—if served within this county, or if served elsewhere within thirty days. The said action is brought to obtain a decree dissolving the bonds of matrimony heretofore and now existing between Plaintiff and Defendant, and for general relief and for costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint on file herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded therein.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, this 5th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

By ROBERT A. GUNN, M. D.

EVERYBODY'S DOCTOR CONTAINS 648 octavo pages, and is printed on fine paper and handsomely bound. It is sold at the low price of three ($3.00) dollars a copy, so as to bring it within the reach of all.

The work differs from all other books on Domestic Medicine in having the diseases systematically arranged, according to their classification. Everything is described in the plainest possible language, and the prescriptions are written out in plain English, so that they can be employed by any intelligent reader.

Druggists will find this book of great advantage in aiding them to give advice when asked to do so.

Dentists will find much information in it that will prove valuable to themselves and their patients.

Teachers will be better prepared for the performance of their duties in the school room by studying it.

Parents will find it a reliable adviser in everything relating to the rearing of their children.

Every family can save fifty times the price of the book every year, by consulting it.

It is complete in all its parts, and is the most recent book of the kind published.

The book will be sent free by mail or express on receipt of three dollars.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONSINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present. E. Robinson, Chairman presiding.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The regular meetings of the Board of Supervisors must be held at Independence on the First Mondays in February, May, August and November of each year, and must continue from time to time until the business before them is disposed of.

Such other meetings must be held to canvass election returns and other purposes as provided by law or ordered by the Board.

The Board shall also meet on the first Monday in July, as a Board of Equalization, and must continue in session from time to time until the business of equalization is disposed of, not later than the fourth Monday in July.

The Board shall meet on the first Monday of October of each year, for the purpose of levying State and County taxes, and fix the rate of county licenses.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest: JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this Eleventh day of August, 1883, by the following vote: Ayes, E. Robinson, Thomas Boland and A. Spencer. Noes—none.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the First day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California, do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks or notes, bonds or other evidences of debt of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or viniculatural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license) and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons and apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each Jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Attest. JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

Adopted this first day of October, A. D. 1883 by the following vote: Ayes—E. Robinson, A. Spencer and Thomas Boland. Noes—none.

☞CHAS. W. CRANE, 318 Pine Street, is our SOLE AGENT for San Francisco.

The Abalone Industry.

This is carried on more or less all along the sea shore of the semi tropic, but at this place, on the island of the channel, the occupation is conducted, though quietly, upon a larger scale than at any locality farther south, the abalone is a greater success than the egg in point of natural economy, in that the shell is also materially valuable. The meat is taken out by the Chinamen and dried. The dried abalone is esteemed as a great dainty, and is worth in San Francisco six cents per pound. It is exported from that point in large quantities to China, and gourmets of that frugal people do not hesitate to pay the heavy price it commands in that empire with the first cost, freight and handling added. The peculiar charm that this dried meat has for the celestial palate is not apparent to the barbarian tooth. The Independent reporter found it much resembling in consistency, color and odor, a piece of veteran sole leather. The total shipment of the article from this vicinity is put down by the wharfinger and merchants interested in the trade in this city in the neighborhood of forty tons per year. The shells, the demand for which is at present rather light, bring in San Francisco about $20 per ton. There are two varieties, however, which are in good demand and command higher and somewhat fancy prices. The blue shells which are worth $60 per ton, and the red shells, which can be readily disposed of in the city for $40 per ton. While the market for abalone meat is confined to the Chinese on the coast and in Asia, the shells are used by jewelers all over the world.—Santa Barbara Independent.

THE artesian belt in Tulare county has been demonstrated to be forty-five miles in length and twelve in width, and extends from the northwest to the southeast. Thus far about 200 wells have been bored. Their cost is from $480 to $800 according to depth, which varies from 270 to 600 feet. When the water is saved in reservoirs and properly applied they irrigate areas ranging from twenty acres up to a quarter section each. The best wells are toward the southeastern end of the belt. The strongest flow that has been obtained as yet is seven miles southwest of Tipton. The well, which has been recently finished, is 550 feet deep and the owners flatter themselves that it will irrigate 320 acres. This great underground river which is being brought to the surface will develop the latent resources of that county to a wonderful extent.

IT appears that Fresno county, with the extension of the irrigated area is becoming less healthy. The Democrat, of the 9th inst., says: The chills and fever are making themselves felt in some portions of the county. In one school near Fresno, from one roll numbering about forty, some twenty or more are absent on account of sickness. In this vicinity, as the lands have been irrigated, cultivated and improved the general health of the community has steadily improved.—Kern Co. Californian.

THE body of a man was found hanging to the limb of a tree near Lordsburg, New Mexico, last week. It is hard to believe that the place has been properly named, but a good deal of fruit of that kind has been found in various places on the Pacific Coast this season.

An Aztec Resurrection.

A discovery of the seed of the food-producing plant of the prehistoric people who inhabited this country many thousand years ago was made in a ruin on upper Salt river, above the mouth of the Tonto, over three years ago, of which no mention has heretofore been made. The facts, as learned from Clemon V. Shawver, are as follows: In the early part of 1880 William Walbridge determined to open an old ruin that had attracted attention since the first settlement of the country. At a depth of three feet he came upon an olla jug, i. e. an olla with a very small neck with an opening in the neck about three inches in diameter, that held about three gallons. The opening was sealed with a closely fitting earthen cover, which was cemented with a gum that made it air tight. Upon removing this cover the olla jug was found filled with corn, which came out as fresh as though just harvested. Mr. Walbridge, in passing through Phœnix shortly after, on his way to California, visited Mr. Shawver and presented him with a few grains of the corn, which were planted. Much to Mr. Shawver's surprise it grew and in six weeks from the time of its coming up he had the pleasure of gathering roasting ears. Every year since then Mr. Shawver has has raised a few hills for table use. The stalks do not grow over three to three and a half feet high, but bear profusely, the ears setting from near the ground to near the top. It suckers or stools out more than the ordinary corn, every stalk bearing an ear. It is a small deep red, flint corn, with flattish oval kernels. Mr. Shawver considers it a valuable addition to the maize of the country, both on account of its productiveness and early maturity. Two or three crops can be readily grown in the season, which fact will probably account for the dense population of which the evidences are so abundant throughout the Salt and Gila valleys.—Arizona Gazette.

'TWAS night, 'twas New Orleans, 'twas November 7th, and good Robert Lacroix knelt in public prayer. Robert Willbanks raised his pious voice in an unctuous "amen!" at a wrong place in the prayer. Now if there is anything Brother Lacroix is particular about, it is having the amens come right when he prays, hence when the petition was finished he rose from his bended knee, pulled his dirk and went for Mr. Willbanks to teach him how to pray. In the riot which ensued several members were stabbed, some fatally, and it was voted the liviest prayer meeting since the war.—Oakland Times.

THE vanity of Attorney-General Brewster has been wounded. He issued an order that the Government departments had no right to adopt the new time until authorized to do so by Congress, and seems to have assumed that his edict would be recognized throughout the District. The railroads denied his jurisdiction, and the other day when he went to take the express to Philadelphia he walked down to the platform leisurely watch in hand, to find that he had arrived about eight minutes and twelve seconds too late.

MARRIAGE for those who live in the Siberian mines has peculiar features. When a prisoner desires to undertake it the only thing necessary for him to do is to send in an application to the overseer, who forthwith allots him a wife. Three days of probation are then allowed, and if any incompatability of temper seems likely to arise the applicant may receive twenty five lashes and another wife. This process is continued until he gets a wife to suit him.

THE penalty of attempting to smuggle Chinese into this country from British Columbia has been laid by the Washington Territory Court at two months imprisonment and a fine of $100 each, with costs. If the offenders can be caught and punished in this way the work of bringing in coolies will lose its attractions.

ANOTHER Tehachapi horror nearly occurred on the Southern Pacific road last week. While a mixed freight and emigrant train was ascending the grade the train broke in two, and eighteen cars started on a wild run down the mountain. Fortunately the cars kept the rails, and, after running about four miles, stopped on a stretch of level ground.

THERE will very probably be a dispute between Shoshone and Kootenai counties, I. T., as to which county the new mines are situated in. It seems that the mines are on the summit of the Coeur D'Alene range of mountains, and that forms the boundary between the two counties.

PRIDE, ill-nature and want of sense are the three great sources of ill-manners; without some one of these defects no man will behave himself ill for want of experience, or what, in the language of fools, is called knowing the world.—Swift.

ANOTHER English expression is being introduced into America. Mr. Astor, the young political dude of New York, hereafter, proposes to "stand for office." It will not be many years before he will have to run for it and very lively too.

EXPERIENCE shows that success is due less to ability than to zeal. The winner is he who gives himself to his work, body and soul.—Buxton.

BAD temper is its own scourge. Few things are bitterer than to feel bitter. A man's venom poisons himself more than his victim.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

It could not be otherwise than a good protective scheme for some of our local stockmen and farmers to combine and obtain Government title to a strip of land, say a section wide, from the summit of the Sierras, across Owens Valley and to the top of the Inyo range on the east. For the purpose intended, it would naturally stretch across just at the head or north of Owens Lake, and private claimants could jut up against the Government park surrounding Mount Whitney. The body of the valley being already owned, not much else would remain except to take up a few sections of the Inyo foot-hills, either as grazing or timber lands, leaving mineral claimants to their legal rights. Of course we have no idea that such a plan will be entered upon, not very suddenly at least; but if it were carried out it would make sick the nomadic bands of devastating sheep-herders. As they do not wish to take to the highways, they could be kept out to a gratifying extent, especially if some two or three mountain passes beside were guarded by determined, bona fide owners of land. We have nothing against the sheep industry, provided the herds are kept where they belong. In their predatory, semi-annual raids through this county they not only destroy every vestige of nutriment for local stock, but through the inate malice or culpable carelessness of the herders, they devastate hundreds of acres of timber forests every year by fire, and without ever paying a cent of tax to Inyo they roam over and scourge the land at their own sweet will. No charge for this suggestion of putting a barrier in their way.

AT Erie, Pennsylvania, it is said, a movement is on foot to raise the man-of-war Niagara in which Perry completed his victory over the British, sixty-seven years ago. She would doubtless be a valuable acquisition to the navy, although it may be that the proposed raising is born of a desire to get a man-of-war which really was of service in time of war.

THE defective stove-pipe is getting in its early Winter work, and has swept the towns of Dixon and Williams with disastrous fires. For the sums those towns lost in a few hours they could have kept an efficient fire department going for twenty years. Some of our valley towns may experience likewise, notwithstanding the extraordinary good luck of past years.

THE French press expresses delight at the defeat of Hicks Pasha, because it is said the success of the Mussulman barbarians in Egypt threatens England's Indian Empire, and France, by the force of events, will be called upon to assume her old position in Egypt.

THE wheat crop of Canada is believed to be at least ten million bushels short. The millers are organizing to secure the abolition of duty on imports o grain to the United States.

A NEW YORK fire insurance presiden has just lost a country seat valued at $75,000, and he had not a cent of insurance. He was probably lookingt around for a reliable company.

JOAQUIN MILLER by writing a few letters from Boston has succeeded in making Massachusetts madder than Ben Butler ever did.

France seems bound to have a war with China. California should bombard France with resolutions of encouragement.

THE Bodie Evening Miner is a year and a half old. Long live the inimitable Dan Jones and paper, say we.

SCANDAL will rub out like dirt when it is dry.

Careless Miners.

Within the last month two serious accidents have occured in the Standard mine, not on account of a derelict management, but because the sufferers themselves have, in a negative way, sought the evils that came upon them. The workmen are protected by every device known to mining skill, and yet every now and then a man is crippled or killed. There can be no doubt that miners are recklessly careless. They take desperate chances against themselves, and by simple mishaps lose their lives, as Thurman did on Wednesday night. A miner will jump across a shaft, when, if he loses his footing, he may fall hundreds of feet; and it is well known there are men in Bodie who think it small business to stop a cage for the purpose of getting off at a station, but make a flying landing while the cage is descending at full speed. It is a most reprehensible practice, and should be stopped. There is no occasion for so many accidents. Miners should keep a better lookout for themselves, and remember that, in many instances, a whole community suffers when they lose their lives or are maimed.—Free Press.

YEAR by year the newspaper becomes more essential as a link between seller and buyer; and where trade is conducted on a large scale—where there is an opportunity to widen tributary territory—advertising becomes an exact science. Its value becomes known, and the circulation of the journal selected is utilized to the extent of human ingenuity. The man who reaps a fortune from advertising—and nearly all fortunes in trade have been founded upon newspaper advertisements—is one who selects the medium best adapted to his trade, and fills the space he has bought with attractive and perhaps novel matter. Such men always get the worth of their money, and thus become steady and progressive advertisers. They know by daily experience and accumulating bank accounts that advertising does pay.

WAYS of evading the Restriction Act continue to be found. The latest is the invention of a Virginia City Chinaman, who cut a fellow countryman in two, and neither of the resulting two had a certificate.

GEN. LOGAN is attending all the army re-unions in order to start a little boom for a black-haired Indian-looking fellow for the Presidency.

PROFESSOR RAYMOND, the New York expert, now in Carson in the interest of the Holmes Company, is a good witness for the Holmes folks, and seems to be fully acquainted with the subject. He was on the stand all day Friday. His testimony was very interesting. Hon. Thos. Wren consumed four or five minutes in asking questions that Raymond would answer fully in ten words. Mr. Wren would hand him pieces of rock of different kinds, ranging from the commonest piece of limestone to the richest quartz, and ask him what it was. Mr. Raymond would test the sample with a little acid and in half a minute tell the Court what it was.—Reno Gazette.

THE WEDDINGS.—Tim Lynch arrived from Benton yesterday and returned to-day with Father Cassin, who goes down to perform the marriage ceremony detween John J. Lynch and Nellie Dalton, and John O'Donnel and Mary E.Lynch. The double marriage takes place on Thursday, and the young puartette start out in life under very bright auspices.—Bodie Miner.

THE Colton-Stanford suit is now going on at Santa Rosa. This suit was commenced long ago and all preliminaries being settled issue is at last joined. General Colton, during his life was one of the railroad magnates, and his wife alleges that on his death his share of their untold millions was wrongfully absorbed by his associates, Stanford and Crocker, and hence this suit was brought by his widow to recover what she believes rightfully belongs to her and his other heirs.

THE Liverpool Journal of Commerce is suthority for the following: An American mate, on board a ship manned with a crew who had had no nautical experience, took packs of cards and nailed one card close to where each rope was made fast, and named the rope after the card. The result was such orders as, "Let go the ace of spades," "Man the nine of hearts and the nine of diamonds," "Haul tight the queen of clubs."

A SATISFACTORY agreement has finally been arrived at between the Central and Northern Pacific. Hereafter the former road will control the business to San Francisco and California points and the latter to Portland and all points in Oregon and Washington Territory. Things will remain in this State precisely as they were before the Northern Pacific was built.

IT is reported that John Mackay will probably buy up the leading papers of the country, so as to give practical illustrations of the benefits of his cheap rates for news dispatches, as soon as he is ready for business.

IT is telegraphed that Secretary Teller will refuse to give the Southern Pacific Railroad Company the Texas Pacific land grant, and will refer the matter to Congress.

SHERIDAN begins to complain of his subordination to the Secretary of War, and an open breach is possible. Sheridan does not like to be held in constraint.

A VEIN of excellent coal, four feet thick, has been struck in the Siskiyou mountains, in one of the tunnels that is being run for the Oregon and California railroad.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 24 1883

THE SALE.—On Thursday last, according to Uncle Sam's primitive and limited system of advertising such matters, occurred the auction sale of the Government army buildings at Camp Independence. Notwithstanding the alleged very "hard times" some of our citizens "stood in" in a financial way against each other, and rolled up an aggregate of about $2,200 to the credit of that depleted (?) institution, the United States treasury, which has only two or three hundred millions surplus. The sale was conducted by Captains G. A. Hull and Burr Noble, of the U. S. A., assisted by Mr. V. G. Thompson, who acted as auctioneer except when he bought a residence himself. The buildings, which cost the Government over $50,000, were disposed of as follows: J. S. Gorman, the Doctor's House, at $225; V. G. Thompson, the Captain's quarters, $345; H. P. Cartier, Hospital building, $230; E. Robinson, Lieutenant's house, $185; C. B. Rawson, Company barracks, $580; H. Fehrman, Commissary stores, $90; F. Albers, guard house, $36; J. C. Irwin, main water pipe, $50. A number of smaller buildings were sold to the neighboring farmers at prices ranging from $2 50 to $60. The funereal matter of all this will transpire when it becomes known how the Government lands and reservations are to be disposed of.

SUPERIOR COURT.—On Tuesday, the 22d inst, in the Superior Court, in the matter of S. C. Swan, an insolvent debtor, A. K. Briggs and others having been cited to appear and show cause why a writ of attachment (warrant) should not be issued against them, in pursuance of an order of the Court thereinbefore entered; Attorneys Laird and Gill appeard in behalf of A. K. Briggs, W. C. Brierly, Geo. L. Drake and Geo. M. Gill and moved the Court to set aside and vacate the said order. A. R. Conklin, Esq., appeared in opposition to the motion, which was argued at length, and motion was granted by the Court. Said Insolvent had filed his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, and the Court having made an order of adjudication and stay of proceedings, A. K Briggs commenced action in Township No. 1, to recover a debt from said Swan, and was assisted by the above named Brierly, Drake and Gill—hence the issuance of a citation by the Court.

PERSONALS.—Captains Hull and Noble set out for their return to San Francisco on the 22d instant....V. G. Thompson, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Nettie, left for Mojave to day. Capt. J. M. Keeler and Supt. J. S. Gorman have gone to the Bay....The Bishop Creek people in town during the week were Mrs. Frank Powers, A. K. Briggs, Geo. M. Gill, Esq., Robert Love, Geo. L. Drake and others ... Dr. Colleau, W. K. Miller, Frank Whitmore and others put in an appearance from Lone Pine....A. Walker, who has been here, on the sick list, has returned to Cruchas, feeling much better. Mr. N. T. Piper, of Fish Lake Valley, leaves here to-morrow for an extended visit to Sacramento....W. P. Miller, of the new Montezuma works, is expected to arrive at Elna to-day....Judge A. R. Conklin is again at home, after a brief visit to tide-waters.

SAM SLASHED UP.—Sam is a tall Indian with a mustache, well known and generally liked around this place. In an evil hour some two weeks since, Sam went up to Big Pine to attend a grand re-union of the tribe. While this was in progress a Big Pine Indian got full of the whisky they buy in that locality, and, taking a favorable opportunity, succeeded in slashing Sam with a knife before and behind and in so many places it was thought he could not live; but we are not informed what the result has been, whether he is living or dead.

LAND SALES.—It is stated that Mr. C. B. Rawson, a wealthy land-owner and stockraiser of Los Angeles County, has purchased the Tinemeha and Taboose ranches, and the W. D. Clarke farm, all near Fish Springs. A good, round sum of money went for each, as the farms have been very productive and are well watered. However, we opine that it bodes no lasting benefit to the county, the valley, the schools or society, to have such holdings pass into the hands of any one man for use as Summer ranges of alfalfa for stock.

TO THE HOME.—On Monday last Mr. Thos. Crough forwarded his ward, little Mattie Wallace, to the Good Templar's Orphans' Home at Vallejo. She was safely escorted through under the protection of the conductors and expressmen. The action of the Orphans' Home authorities in this matter has made many friends in this county for the Good Templars' organization.

THE BALL.—The musicians engaged for the dance on Thanksgiving night have been getting into good practice, their tuneful refrains being borne out upon the balmy air like refrains from a —cyclone or an earthquake.

THANKSGIVING.—The Blaney House proposes to "say turkey" to its patrons on the coming "day of thanksgiving and prayer." An elegant turkey, chicken and game dinner will be served at this popular hostelry.

NO WONDER.—With all the willows and underbrush along the creeks being annually burned off by the sheep men, it is small wonder that the flow of waters grows less and less every year.

FOUND.—Somebody lost a six-shooter in town the other night, and the owner can have it by calling at this office, identifying the article and paying for this notice.

QUERY.—What gentleman has a book —"Copp's Mining Laws"— which he borrowed at this office and has forgotten to return?

The Swansea New Works.

Work at the new Swansea smelter has been quietly but steadily progressing for the past three months, and it is now about completed. The finishing touches are now being put on, and the furnace will be blown on or about Dec. 1st. The new furnace is first class in every particular, being one of Rankin & Braytons best thirty-ton two-section water jackets, with the new improvements and appliances. The new works are built about one mile east of the old Swansea works, and on the toll road from Swansea to Cerro Gordo. The location is convenient, and elevated sufficiently to give plenty of fall for ore to the feeding or charging floor, and also for a slag dump. Water is furnished by the old well at Swansea, which gives a permanent and unfailing supply, and is forced up to the new works by a powerful steam pump. The dumps at the furnace are now crowded with fine smelting ores and rich slags faom the old Swansea works. The company mines at Cerro Gordo are being worked with much energy and skill, and with very encouraging results under the direction of Mr. Geo. E. Black, and all are producing ore in considerable quantities. The general Superintendent, Mr. M. A. Wheeler, has been untiring in his efforts from the inception to the completion of the new works, and he justly feels confident of the success of the enterprise. The building and mechanical work has been under the direction of Mr. J. L. Bray, and the new furnace, as it now stands, shows that the right man was selected to build it.

The Swansea Company is financially sound, and the new works will start up without one dollar of indebtedness, which has not been the case with all the Inyo County mining enterprises. The starting of the new furnace on Owens Lake will infuse new life into this section of Inyo, and it will no doubt be the means of opening up new mines and developing new bodies of ore in the Cerro Gordo and Swansea mining districts, which will add greatly to the mineral wealth of Inyo County.

BLOOD AND RESTITUTION.—"Sport" is the familiar name of rather an elderly Indian, who is or was a brother of Captain Joe Bowers. Some three or four weeks since John Shakespear, another Indian, and a nephew of Sport's, accidentally killed the latter over near Piper's ranch, and in this manner: The two were out hunting rabbits, and were moving along one on either side of a narrow hill or ridge, John jumped a rabbit and blazed away just as it reached the crest of the hill. Now, it happened that Sport was right there too, and it was him and not the rabbit that was hit by the shot and killed. John returned to camp and reported the circumstances. It seems, however, that he belonged to the Lida Valley sub-division of Captain Joe's command, and that Sport belonged to another division, between which there was not a great deal of cordial feeling. It was, perhaps, on this account that John was held by Sport's friends as a murderer, and was likely to be summarily dealt with accordingly. But John had many friends among the whites resident at Lida, and these, to the number of eleven or more, wrote out and signed a statement of the case, and addressed to W. A. Greenly and Scott Broder, both of whom being fast friends of Captain Joe's. A day was set for a general Court of Inquiry, to take place at Piper's, and Sdott was there to assist. The upshot of the matter was that John gave Sport's widow his three horses and $10 cash, the sum of all his worldly possessions, and all hands accepted this as a full atonement for Sport's death, it being evidently a pure accident.

TEAMING.—Jack Davis and William Mitchel are here from Darwin with their teams. They are about to dissolve partnership, and Mr. Davis, after putting the teams in good order, will go to Death Valley to haul borax; while Mr. Mitchel will probably live on his income the balance of his days. The boys have worked hard and been successful and none are better deserving of success.

TELEGRAPH.—The poles for the branch line of telegraph from Independence to connect with the Western Union lines at the railroad depot are being deposited along the road. The wire, insulators, etc., are already on hand, and by this time next week our town may be considered as being in actual communication with the outside world.

MISCELLANEOUS.

MINING PROPERTY FOR SALE OR LEASE.

THE UNDERSIGNED, ON ACCOUNT OF failing health, will sell or lease, on the most favorable terms, the Sioux gold quartz mining claim, 600x1500 feet, located in the Alabama Hills, four miles north of Lone Pine, together with some six or eight tons of ore on the dump. Mine opened by tunnel sufficiently to show ledge and a good prospect generally. For further information, apply on the grounds.

If not sooner disposed of, the property will be sold, on the 1st day of December, in the town of Independence, at public auction, to the highest bidder.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the first day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest, or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, even Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5 Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or vinicultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11 Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class and require a license of Seventy five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder there of to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

The Sunset Phenomenon.

The brilliant glow in the heavens still continues, making its appearance here about 6 o'clock every evening. It is much more like the light of the aurora borealis than any sunset glow ever seen in this region. Never before in the history of the country has such a thing been observed in this State. It is not only here, but also in Utah, that the phenomenon is visible, and the Idaho papers come to us with wondering accounts of the strange light in the heavens. It has been observed all the way up the Coast to Oregon, and perhaps as far as there are human beings to note it. A dispatch from Portland, Oregon, a day or two since, said: "From 5 to 6 o'clock to-night there was a brilliant display of auroral lights. Notwithstanding there were heavy rain clouds all around the horison and the rain was falling, the heavens north and south were as red as if illuminated by burning buildings in the distance."

Now, this light is not formed by the rays of the sun upon the clouds, but something in the atmosphere above the clouds. This has been well observed here every night. A few days since the earth passed through that region of space in which it was liable to encounter more or less numerously those cometary fragments which form the November meteors. We passed the point where we should have met with the meteors and very few were seen, yet may we not have reched a point in an interplanetary space swarming with meteoric matter in the shape of an impalpapowder, that which astronomers call cosmical dust? This dust catching the slanting rays of the sun would produce exactly the effect now nightly observed here for over a week. Our Comstock watchmen report that the same redness is seen of mornings. We are probably passing through the smoke of the burnt out tail of Tempel's comet, or some other old and shattered wanderer through interstellar space.—Virginia Enterprise.

The Sons of Malta.

In connection with the death of General Steedman, who instituted the Order of the Sons of Malta in Lafayette, the following is interesting: George Harding, an employé of the wholesale grocery establishment of Reynolds, Ed & Hatcher, a brave and brawny Scotchman, desired to become a member of the Order, and the Order was too glad to "take him in." A night was set apart for his initiation, and, as he was a particularly powerful man, the gathering of the clans was unusually large. The initiation proceeded amid uproarious fun up to the elevated railway and a plunge into the seething waters of the lake. A wet blanket was in the hands of a dozen strong men, in which the aspirant was tossed about until they became exhausted. Harding was an intensely earnest man, and took the initiation to be a serious affair. Being told by the Grand Conductor that from the elevated railway he should be plunged into a lake, he had contracted his muscles and nerved himself for a battle with the waves. When he struck the blanket the shock was too much for his nerves. He was taken to his home a paralytic. He lived a year, suffering intensely, and died in great agony. The Order paid out over $2,000 in his behalf. All that medical skill could do was done, but to no purpose. He was a noble man, and bore his sufferings like a hero or a martyr. He never once complained or spoke harshly of those who caused it all. His sufferings and death were the death knell to the Sons of Malta, not only in Lafayette, but throughout America.—Lafayette Courier.

On the train two gentlemen were discussing the nativity of a third who sat near them. "I'll bet he's a Southern man." "No, he looks more like a Westerner." "We can tell by asking him a question, can't we?" "All right; for the cigars now, he's a Westerner, and I'll ask him the question." So he went across the car and politely said: "I beg your pardon, sir, but what time is it?" "Well, sah," he replied, looking at his watch, "it is fo' minutes befo' fo'." That settled it.

New Metallurgical Discovery.

At a recent meeting of the British Association, Prof. Chandler Roberts described some most suggestive experiments on the mobility of gold and silver in molten lead. Graham first ascertained the rate of diffusion of salts in solution; Dr. Guthrie has recently studied the diffusion in alloys; and Professor Roberts is now testing metals at temperatures above their melting points. If a lump of a gold-lead alloy with 30 per cent. of gold, covered with lead, is heated in a crucible, the gold appears at the surface the very moment when perfect fusion has been attained; the diffusion also takes place rapidly if the gold alloy is put in a small crucible, and this one placed within another crucible containing lead. By melting in a cylinder, 200 millimeters high, a solid cylinder of lead with a small piece of the gold alloy fused to its bottom, or, better still, by placing the gold at the top of one limb of a U shaped crucible, withdrawing test portions from the top end of the other limb, Mr. Chandler Roberts arrived at the diffusion rate, 300 millimeters in five minutes for silver, this rate being probably a little higher than that of gold.

Sir William Thomson characterized this as a great discovery. The rate of diffusion of gold in lead, he said, appeared to be immensely greater than the rate of diffusion of liquids. The fact was, it was a subject of which we understood very little indeed, but which would probably prove of great value in metallurgy, where one example of it, the rapid mixture of spiegeleisen with iron, was well known. If the experiments were repeated with salt and water substituted for the gold and lead, it would take years—twenty years at least—to produce the result now attained in forty minutes, and which took place not much less rapidly than the diffusion of oxygen through hydrogen, or the transmission of heat through iron. —Scientific American.

The Weight of a Million Dollars.

Mr. E. B. Elliot, the Government Actuary, has computed the weight of a million dollars in gold and silver coin, as follows:

The standard gold dollar of the United States contains of gold of nineteenths fineness 25.8 grains, and the standard silver dollar contains of nineteenth fineness 412.5 grains. One million standard gold dollars consequently weigh 25,800,000 grains, or 53,750 ounces troy, or 4 479 1-6 pounds troy of 5,760 grains each, or 3,635 71 avordupois of 7,000 grains each, or 1 843-1000 "short" tons of 2,000 pounds avoirdupois each, or 1 645-1000 "long" tons of 2,240 pounds avoirdupois each. One million standard silver dollars weigh 412,500,000 grains or 859,375 ounces troy, or 71,614 58 pounds troy; or 58 928 57 pounds avoirdupois, or 29 464-1000 "short" tons of 2,000 pounds avoirdupons each, or 26 307-1000 "long" tons of 2,240 pounds each. In round numbers the following table represents the weight of a million dollars in the coin named:

DESCRIPTION OF COIN.	TONS.
Standard gold coin	1½
Standard silver coin	26½
Subsidiary silver coin	25
Minor coin, five cent nickel	160

As Arizona's Apaches quit the war path and come upon the reservation, her cow boys fill the vacancy. They have just robbed a train and murdered the engineer, and are now ambushing a judge and prosecuting attorney who had the temerity to rebuke a petit jury for discharging some of the fraternity who had murdered some men for the high crime and misdemeanor of refusing to drink when they were not dry. If there is room in the Territory for another San Carlos, it will be a good idea for them to create a reservation for the cow boys and use the Apaches to guard them. In the event of a fight between the two public interest would be limited to the number of fatalities, and would enlarge as the list increased. It is thought by philanthropists who are trying to make something of the Indian that his faults are due to idleness. Now here is a chance to keep him busy in a good cause. Let him be put at work with a first class rifle and plenty of ammunition.—Oakland Times.

The volcanic island reported to have been formed north of Ounalaska, while a remarkable phenomena, is by no means unique. Islands have suddenly appeared in other parts of the world. Elevation and subsidence are not unusual accompanying phenomena of volcanic action. Sometimes the islands formed seem to consist of hard rocky material, but generally they are loose ashes which rapidly wash away, leaving no trace of the newly formed island.

The fact that Huntington has permitted Secretary Teller to turn over to Congress the Southern Pacific's claim for the forfeited land grant of the Texas Pacific, is calculated to cause some uneasiness. Is is possible that he has secured a sufficient number of Congressmen to insure the success of that colossal scheme of public robbery?—Virginia Chroniele.

A German accosted a broad brimmed specimen from Texas on Sunday: "Who vos you, I don't know?" Looking the inquisitive German in the face, he replied: "I am a cowboy." "Dot's good," replied our German friend; "shake, I vos a bully boy, doo." They shook.

"Sam'l J. Tilden, of New York city, has a new $40,000 dining room and an old 10-cent appetite." P. S.—This brief note was sent in by a reporter on a daily paper who has a 10-cent dining room and a $40-000 appetite.

As mentioned elsewhere, the Holmes-Northern Belle suit has ended in a verdict against the latter. The Northern Belle is a famous mine. It is one of the few mines in the United States that have been successfully developed without the aid of an assessment. It has paid 71 dividends, aggregating $2,425,000, and still has ore in sight. The suit of the Holmes was for trepass, the Northern Belle, as it now appears by verdict of $360,000 damages, having taken a good deal of ore from Holmes ground, thereby proving the latter to be a mine of some value, a fact its own owners would, most likely, never otherwise have ascertained. The Holmes method of "developing" a mine is by no means new or novel. It has been tried in this county, as well as in most every locality on the coast where a paying mine has been worked long enough to give a neighboring wildcat a chance to get in a scratch. "Baptiste!" exclaimed the frightened wife of a Frenchman, as she vigorously poked him in the ribs to awaken him, "Baptiste, there is a robber in the house!" "That is good," was the whispered reply; "keep quiet. We will watch him; if he finds anything of any value in this house we will get up and take it away from him!"

ACCORDING to an article in the Bodie Free Press, there is imminent danger of an Indian outbreak at Walker Lake Reservation. In consequence of their defiant and war-like attitude, Assistant Adjutant General Parker, of Nevada, has taken a supply of arms to Mason Valley to be distributed among the settlers should later developments make it appear necessary for their protection. It appears that a number of squaws have recently died suddenly, and under such suspicious circumstances that the Indians think they were poisoned by a family of the name of Misner. The dead squaws had been employed at the Misner ranch, but those who know the family declare them above suspicion. Hock Mason, in a letter to Gov. Adams, writes that he considers the situation very serious, and thinks the Misner family in danger. Nels Hammond, Superintendent at the Reservation, writes that the Indians are gathering for a consultation, and that they appear very much excited. He has warned the whites of Mason Valley to be on the lookout.

PAYS ITS SHARE.—The Esmeralda Herald of last Saturday says: The Carson and Colorado Railroad paid, as taxes, the sum of $21,053 34 into the County Treasury. The length of road-bed in this county is 158 45 100 miles, and was assessed at $4,000 per mile. There are 7⅝ miles of side-track, which was assessed at $1,750 per mile. By the above figures those friendly to, as well as those forninst, this company, can see how large a proportion of the revenue for the support of the county government comes from this enterprise. Comments are needless. The entire course of conduct of this company towards the citizens and residents of this county has been, and undoubtedly will be, to advance every interest calculated to add to population and wealth. Through the practical sense of its managers, and by their aid, has Esmeralda a future that leads any other county in Nevada.

The above is submitted as an indication of the benefit which will result to Inyo county in the way of revenue from the construction of the C. & C. R. R. This road is no blessing in disguise to our people, and they will soon realize, from substantial returns, that the project should be fostered and cherished by the people.

WITHIN the past month Virginia City has been flooded with counterfeit standard dollars of such excellent workmanship that they are dangerously like the genuine. The counterfeit is of white metal, and the die and milling is nearly perfect. The bogus dollars have a duller appearance than the true metal.

A GOOD BUSINESS.

Those who have carefully noted the indications for the future of the mining business have been fully convinced that a season of activity was near at hand, and that a substantial volume of business may be expected based upon a more satisfactory foundation than ever before. Those who have wildcat schemes will find it most difficult to secure support, and the field will be left to those who have substantial properties and propositions which can be most satisfactorily verified and established. Indications of the future improvement are already visible, as will be noted by the increasing number of mining companies organized by responsible parties, and the most satisfactory showing from parts of the mining country. It has been proven beyond a doubt, by hundreds of repeated instances, that under the most adverse circumstances, well directed efforts and investments have never failed to make most gratifying return.

THE New York World's London special, of November 23, has this to say about the suppression of polygamy in England: "The anti-Mormon movement is beginning to take definite shape in England. The success which has attended the efforts of the Mormon missionaries has led to a strong feeling of opposition, and an organized movement on a large scale has been set on foot to offset the obvious influence of polygamists. Many meetings have been held, particularly in the north of England, and a petition to the Crown praying for protection against the evils resulting from polygamy, has been freely circulated and liberally indorsed. The committee to-day presented this memorial to Gladstone, and solicited his official influence toward abating the evil complained of. Gladstone received the deputation with a great deal of courtesy, and said that he fully appreciated the importance of mitigating in some way the growing tendency to embrace a belief so foreign to the ordinary English mind. He thought, however, that methods other than those to be obtained from legislation should be sought. Mormonism prospered more among the poorer classes, and it was generally some hope of material benefit which induced people to fall into the arms of the Utah missionaries. An improvement in the condition of the working classes would, in his opinion, do more towards nullifying the influence of Mormonism than any legislation which his Government could devise. Gladstone, in conclusion, said that he extremely regretted that under the circumstances he could not interfere. The missionaries, as far as he was told, resorted to no criminal devices to obtain proselytes, and he had no doubt that young people, particularly young women, who followed them, did so willingly."

THE Lundy Index questions THE INDEPENDENT'S statement that most of the mines of known value in Mono have been granted United States patents, and names several districts in southern Mono wherein no patents have been obtained—hence, that journal avers, it is not proper to move the Land Office back to Inyo. Now, all those embyrotic districts may contain bonanzas worth patenting, and we hope they may so prove, for the general benefit of mining and this whole interior section. But Independence, taking it all the year round, is more accessible and pleasant to all than is Bodie. Leaving out, as the Index does, the matter of the timber lands which have been everlastingly absorbed in that county, we might drop into its line of argument and mention over fifty distinct and organized mining districts which lie in this land district and south of Bishop Creek. Scores of claims in each yield rich ores; whether they are "mines' worth patenting or not remains exactly as those of Mono do—to be proven by capital, powder and muscle. It will transpire, however, that the main work of the Land Office for the next year or more to come will be in the disposal of the borate and saline lands of Panamint and Death Valleys, independsnt of the mining, desert and timber land entries.

A SPECIAL from Joliet, Ill., to the Chicago Inter-Ocean says: In the trial of the convict Mooney, for the murder of a fellow-convict, Anderson, it was found necessary to sever Anderson's head from the body and bring it into Court, in order to show the character of the wounds. Mooney was convicted. The head was placed in jail in the basement of the Warden's house. Mooney has secured a new trial, and it is now discovered that Anderson's head has mysteriously disappeared, and it is believed this will render another conviction impossible.

A KANSAS miller drowned himself in his mill pond because a dam he had built failed to collect water enough to turn the wheel. He exhibited good sense. Some men would have gone home and jawed their wives and kicked the dog clear across the room.

JACK FROST doesn't say anything but he indulges in freeze peaches.

Motion of Glaciers.

I has been known for some time that there are long periods of time during which glaciers go down or recede up their beds. Thus, in 1741 they were advancing, but it was reported that in 1700 it was possible to walk from Chamounix to Courmeyer over the Col de Geant without touching ice. They advanced all last century so far as is known, and up to 1817, then went back until 1840, advanced till 1859, and have since been receding until the present year, when many, including the Mer de Glace and the Rosenlaur glacier, have begun to advance. Observations were made during the past Summer on the Glacier des Boissons, at Chamounix, and the important conclusion has been arrived at that the rate of motion of the same point on a glacier changes greatly from day to day. It was shown that while during the day the hourly rate of motion of one point observed was only .6cm., during the next night it advanced at the rate of 5.5cm. per hour. The rate of other points examined varied, but not so greatly. The change occurring at the foot of the glacier where it comes into the valley was also noticed. The downward motion of this point is determined by the fact that the parts above advance more quickly than the ice at the foot melts away. It was found that on one side of the glacier, where it rested against a boulder, there was no apparent change in the outline of the ice, or in the position of the boulder during the day, while at the other side the end had moved in the same time four or five feet.

IN discussing a paper upon the North Atlantic area, which, in the opinion of Professor Hull, was dry land when the regions of North America and those of Great Britain and Western Europe were submerged, Dr. Carpenter said before the British Association, recently, that the conclusion he had come to from the Challenger expedition was, that the bulk of the sea below the present sea level was to the bulk of the land somewhere about 20 to 1. He thought, taking the elevation of the different continents altogether, an elevation of 1,000 feet might be considered as about the average. On the other hand, the depression of the great oceanic area below the level of the sea might be stated at an average of about 13,000 feet. The elevations of land which in any way approached the same height were ridges, and one of the most remarkable facts brought out by the Challenger research was that there were strong reasons to believe that all oceanic islands were volcanic. In all their researches they found no indications of submerged land over these areas.

THE many veins of low-grade ore and the minerals, such as copper, zinc and iron, which the miner now may consider a disadvantage, will, at some time in the development of this industry, prove to be the most valuable products of the mine. The wise miner should therefore mark the localities wherein these minerals occur, as the time is not far distant when the demand will make them profitable.

NOT FOR THE APACHES.—Numbers of persons have somehow got it into their heads that the recently declared land reserve down here at the lake was designed for a sort of a penal colony or reserve for the renegade Arizona Apaches as fast as captured. This don't happen to be the case at all. As we were some days since informed by Surveyor Seely, the tract in question all lies west and mostly south of Lone Pine, and not any part of it east of that place along the head of the lake, as first supposed. Lone Pine is in township 15 south, range 36 east. Township 15 south, range 35 east, lies directly west, the nearest point a mile distant from Lone Pine. Save parts of a section or two, the last named township all lies in the mountains, and is one of the four included in the reserve. The next one west, viz., 15 south, 34 east, covers Mount Whitney. The two townships next to these on the south, being townships 16 south, 34 east, and 16 south, 35 east, make up the four comprising the reserve. The southeast corner of this square is at the foot of the mountaian, west of and about six miles distant from the old steamer landing at the head of the lake. As heretofore stated, the area covered foots up to 132 square miles—if it is possible to square a mile in such an intensely rugged region as is the whole of these four townships. It is not a reservation proper, further than a withdrawal from settlement of these lands, that no obstacles may arise to prevent the establishment of an observatory or other similar scientific institutions, on Mount Whitney, or elsewhere within the tract. But for such reserve, some fellow might locate a most "elegant farm" right on the summit of Whitney, or establish a toll gate on the trail leading thereto, so that no scientist desiring to erect any sort of a temple up there would be permitted to do so unless he or the Governmeet "came down" with a whole lot of shekels.

A DISASTER.—The mountain fires which raged in the Sierras during the wind storm of Saturday last and the night following culminated in the complete destruction of all the buildings and lumber yard of the Black Rock saw mill. The property was situated at "the dump" of the two-mile V-flume which leads down to the valley from the mill. About 100 feet of the flume had blown down during the afternoon, thus dumping the water out about 200 yards above the buildings and the yard. Paul Houard, the book-keeper, was the only person there, and his desperate fight with the blazing cyclone, alone and unaided, may be better imagined than described. Upon the first approach of the fire he began packing up and removing the books, clothing, beds and everthing else that he could handle, only to see all except the account books go after awhile. His own clothing was on fire several times, and his hands and face were badly scorched. The property consisted of three buildings, stable, hay, grain and supplies of all kinds for the Winter, together with 35,000 feet of lumber. The loss will foot up to $3,500, which falls heavily on the saw mill boys—Jake Shoemaker and Sam Thomas, there being no insurance. They have gone bravely to work to repair damages, and are deserving of all the patronage that the public can bestow.

THE COURT.—The Superior Court will convene on Monday next, for the disposal of the Hood and Arnold criminal cases. The following named trial jurors have been drawn and duly summoned: Henry Jackson, George Collins, C. A. Walter, John L. Bodle, A. Goodridge, J. M. Horton, John E. Jones, W. J. McGown, W. G. Watson, W. B. Hutchings, A. Halverson, John Schober, R. H. Blake, N. Peterson, W. S. Morton, W. J. Phillippay, L. A. James, J. H. Dodge, H. S. Enloe, W. W. Vaughn, C. Engle, Walter James, Jr., Wm. McLaren, Barney McGill, A. G. Bowman, Henry Giles, E. W. Powers, Henry Evans and J. W. Riggs. The following named Grand Jurors have been summoned to appear on the 10th instant: J. B. Swearingen, H. G. Plumley, A. L. McGee, Thomas Williams, Thos. E. Jones, J. G. Boads, J. White Smith, John S. McGee, John H. Bulpitt, D. Stubblefield, Robert Love, George H. Shedd, Wm. Barrows, D. B. Curtis, R. W. Ford, John Kispert, Charles Wonacott, Wm. Powers, J. S. Brown, W. R. Tibbitts, W. L. Hunter, V. G. Thompson, F. G. Powers, T. J. Furbee, S. J. McMurry, Jas. Jones, R. A. Russell, John L. Bourland and P. A. Chalfant.

THE PHENOMENON.—The red glare in the western heavens which has been a remarkable feature of the sunsets for a week or more has now softened down to a bright, moon-light silvery hue, with something akin to the effect of a gigantic electric lamp of immeasurable extent. And perhaps a solution of the mystery lies within the realms of that unknown and occult power.

THE KEYNOT.—The Lasky mill, at Beveridge District, has closed down for the Winter. A force of six men continue at work on the mine, driving a new tunnel. It is to be 380 feet in length, and will strike directly under known bodies of rich ore, which cannot be profitably extracted with the present openings.

WRECKED.—The gentle zephyrs of a week ago, which amounted to about the hardest which this valley has experienced for a number of years, nearly demolished a large building on Mr. Muth-Rasmussen's apiary, on Oak Creek. At the same time a warehouse and granery at Bell's mill went down.

MASONIC.—A stated meeting and the annual election of officers of Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., will be held at the hall on next Saturday evening, the 8th instant.

A CHANGE.—See the new advertisement of the Bishop Creek Pioneer Livery Stable.

Bishop Creek Rackets.

BISHOP CREEK, Nov. 28th.

EDITOR INDEPENDENT:—Now, this place is as dead as a "door nail;" will, however, endeavor to write something, and so proceedeth I: The black-leg is among the stock in this vicinity yet. Grand turkey shoot at Round Valley this day. There are a great many strange Indians here from all along the line of the railroad. They are all out here on a hunting expedition after "jicass labbits." They are to have a grand "heap big dance, way up down here." John Clarke's donkey engine is nearing completion, and won't he make the grain fly with his steam cracker! Jno. Clark has turned over to Omie Mairs all his buggies, harness, hay and grain, and 8 head of stock, and Omie has leased the stable. James H. Richardson is the chamber-maid in the new horse-restaurant. "He's a canary bird and he can sing," etc.

They are at work on the Sacramento mine; will not start the mill for two weeks yet. It is to be under the supervision of Joseph Rowan. The Good Templar association is still running stronger than ever. Jack Horton has at last given up his old saloon. Moved all the traps out to-day. Frank Shaw received a letter from Wm. O. Harrell the other day. He is in the Cherokee Nation, Indian Territory.

Mrs. Belle Harrell had a narrow escape from fire—the burning of her house. The child some how turned over a lamp in the bed room, and her bed clothes and garments that were hung around the room took fire, and had it not been for Kit Johnson, "The Hero of the Disaster," everything would have been destroyed and the house burned to the ground. She burned her right hand pretty badly during the conflagration. She has stopped running a boarding house, and is residing with her father and mother at the ranch.

Ted Cook is working in the County Clerk's office at Hawthorne. Bud. Harniss intends opening a saloon in Hawthorne on or about the first. H. N. Ganter has left this place and is now residing at Clinton, Mono county.

Denis Kearney is planning a campaign against the bloated bond-holders of Bishop Creek. The aforesaid bloated bond-holders as report will have it are Louis Munsinger, W. J. Phillipay and Chris Eisele, as they are credited with having drawn the lucky number, which entitles them to the sum of $15,000, to be paid by the Louisiana Lottery. Come on, Denis.

We are having elegant weather now, but very cold at night and in the morning.

A. J. Murphy will open his new saloon in a few days. H. F. Rediker, our harness maker, has gone to Los Angeles with a lot of horses for sale. Phil. Keough is here from Mendocino county where he has been superintending a stage line for John Allman. Mr. Wm. Rowan is building a new residence on his ranch.

BARB WIRE.

FIRES.—Along the line of the timbered ridges of the Sierras, and up and up and down the creeks, on last Saturday night the Sierras seemed to be all ablaze. The destruction must have been immense. For days afterwards the usually pure mountain water flowing through town was red, and flavored so strongly of smoke and cinders as to resemble creosote in taste. Perhaps it was not so bad on that account as from the animal excreta deposited therein by the passing bands of sheep. The wells being mostly dry at this season, the contamination of the creeks is the next thing to slow poison to families and all consumers.

FARE REDUCED.—By notice elsewhere it will be seen that H. Levy has made a reduction of one-half on the stage fare between here and the railroad depot.

WORK has been stopped on the Washington monument for the season. It is now 410 feet high. As it is only intended to make it 140 feet higher, it was deemed advisable to discontinue work for the present, as it is not intended to finish it before the next centennial. The unveiling of the Washington monument will be the great feature of that celebration.—Stock Report.

How do you figure it out that the two-hundredth anniversary will be a "centennial," Mr. Report?

CHARLES H. TILTON, shoe manufacturer, Ashland, Mass., fails for $150,000, according to report. A man who can fail for $150,000 ought to be considered a pretty successful man. Ont it is way the sagebrush is bristling with people who would cheerfully fail for half the money.

THE Governor of Chihuahua, although perhaps not a humane man, is yet shrewd in his method of exterminating the Indians. He is arming all the frontiersmen and ranchers and offering a premium of $250 for every Apache scalp.

A RUSSIAN of great wealth has sent explorers into Northern Siberia with a view to establishing steamboats on the Angara river. His name is Sibiriakoff, which is unpleasantly suggestive of the colds which his enterprise may give the members of his expedition.

A CARSON young man in a rash moment told his girl that if she would hang up her stocking on Halloween he would fill it to the brim with something nice. When he saw her stocking he was undecided whether to get into it himself or buy her a sewing machine.

A CINCINNATI street car company has given each of its conductors a present of $100 for each year's faithful services. Those conductors must have packed in the passengers with street pavers' rammers.

A DISPATCH says Secretary Folger has called for $15,000,000. And yet when he was appointed to office the New York papers said he didn't know one card from another.

The Suit Decided.

About 11 o'clock Saturday night the jury in the Holmes case sent word that they were ready to report, and as soon as the lawyers could be got together they rendered their verdict for $360,000 against the Northern Belle. The Holmes folks will have to take the Northern Belle mine as it is, for they do not expect stockholders to pay an assessment large enough to pay the judgment, and the mine is not turning out coin in such amounts as that. They get the boundary business settled, however, and know that they own their own mine, and that is a big thing. W. W. Hobart, who was in the interest of the Northern Belle, says the Northern Belle folks will never pay the judgment. He says they made the fight as a matter of pride, for in fact, the Northern Belle is worked out and is almost worthless. It is the opinion of many that the mine will be sold by the United States Marshal to satisfy the judgment.—Bodie Free Press.

WE are often surprised to find in papers existing upon the patronage of miners and dependent upon the mining interest for existence, articles copied from the enemies of silver, and statements borrowed from those who are the persistent enemies of silver coinage and the interests of silver mining. It would seem as if miners and those interested in mining would recognize and distinguish the difference between their friends and their enemies, and show their sentiments in regard to the matter, as the question is one of more than passing importance, and should be treated upon the broadest and highest grounds and with the consideration which its importance demands.—Chicago Mining Review.

He Explained.

A stockholder in a Western narrow-gauge railroad made a call at headquarters the other day, and remarked to the President:

"I notice that the gross receipts for October show a decrease over September."

"Yes, sir."

"Can you explain the matter?"

"Certainly, sir. In September we carried a family of seven persons from Dashville to Blanktown, and the receipts were swelled. During October we only got hold of a blind man, two cars of lumber and a dozen barrels of salt, and the receipts shrunk."

"And what is the outlook?"

"Splendid, sir. So far this month we have more than paid for the wood and oil for the locomotive, and if we get a shipment of six hogs, as promised yesterday, I believe we can pay the conductor at least five per cent. of his back salary.—Wall Street News.

THE following is a formula recommended for the relief of toothache, by Prof. Babaieff, to the Caucasian Medical Society, and indorsed by Kennith W. Mellican, of Kineton, in the British Medical Journal: Melt white wax or spermaciti, 2 parts, and when melted add carbolic acid crystals 1 part, and chloral-hydrate crystals 2 parts; stir well till dissolved. While still liquid, immerse thin layers of carbolized, absorbent cotton wool, and allow them to dry. When required for use a small piece may be snipped off, and slightly warmed, when it can be inserted into the hollow tooth, where it will solidify. The ease produced by this simple is really very great.

"FATHER," asked the young son of Deacon Squibbs, "what is the difference between a man that dyes wool on lambs and a Western editor?"

"Well now, really, my son," beaming benignly on his offspring, "I'm not prepared to state. What is the difference?"

"Why, pa, one is a lamb dyer and the other is a"—

"What? what? my son?"

"Western editor," continued the youth, rolling his tongue around in his cheek.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and unproverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the first day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding. A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, even Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians, wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or viniculturel productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license) and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons and the curies or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every transient merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, to the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class and require license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Forty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Academy of Sciences.

The Academy of Sciences held a meeting in San Francisco, December 4th. Mr. Gibbs exhibited a specimen of gypsum which he said had been found in paying quantities along the coast in Santa Barbara County. It had been found in small quantities before, but never in such paying quantities in California. Professor Davidson exhibited a small vial of pumice volcanic ashes which he said came from the volcano Bogoslov, which was recently upheaved from the sea. Two small vials full had been collected from the roofs of houses on the island forty miles distant with difficulty, thus showing that the eruption of this volcano in October must have been very light, and the theory advanced that the red skies were caused by the reflection of the sun on these strata of ashes from the volcano is erroneous. For, if it was difficult to gather two vials of ashes from an island forty miles distant, it is not at all likely that the ashes would settle in the atmosphere at this distance. The Professor gave it as his opinion that the crimson skies were caused by the smoke in the atmosphere. Dr. Behr read a paper on evolution. On the inquiry of one of the members as to how long it would take to complete the Lick telescope Prof. Davidson said that his son while in Cambridge had inquired how long it would be before it was completed and had been informed that one of the lenses was destroyed and that so much work is necessary in preparing the lens that it would be many years before it would be finished and probably this generation would not witness its completion.

THE effort of the Viceroy of India to put natives and Europeans under the same statutes, somewhat after the fashion of the exploded civil rights bill in this country, seems to have produced a profound impression upon the European population of the Indian Empire. The Viceroy, Ripon, returned to Calcutta on Saturday and was welcomed with the most loyal cordiality by the native population, to offset which a crowd of Europeans, numbering several thousands, gathered and insulted him by hisses and the destruction of the loyal banners borne by the natives. At a banquet attended by Europeans, the toast to the Viceroy was received in silence. The effect of these proceedings upon the Home Government remains to be seen.

ASSESSMENT work is being done on a number of claims throughout the district, both in West and East Calico a number of miners are employed in this way, and together with the number employed at W. T. Coleman & Co.'s Calico Borax Deposits, there are more men regularly at work in the district than ever before. If Calico keeps on increasing her working force during the Winter as fast as during the last three months, as many as a thousand men will be engaged in March.—Calico Print.

SHALL it be said with pride that our California hoodlum has met the Arizona cowboy and successfully picked his pocket! The act occurred in San Francisco on Sunday, and the redhanded terror of Arizona, whose home amusement is to paint things red, was left out without money or credit. If, as a result a demand springs up for the exportation of our hoodlums to the Territory, let that sort of migration be assisted at once.—Oakland Times.

MIKE! "It's the Irish that does all the invinting in these days, sure." Jonathan: "Irish be darned! The Irish don't invent anything to speak of, Americans invent everything." Mike: "Thin perhaps yez can tell me why the Irishman's name, Pat, is always next to the date on the new invintions. Divil an American name yez find on one, at all, at all."

A HUSBAND in Auburn, Me., in a cross libel for divorce, complained that his wife went to a man's funeral and made herself conspicuous by her manifestations of grief, and afterwards wore mourning for three months.

Alaska's Government.

Senator Miller will introduce a bill in the Senate to provide a civil government for Alaska. Section one provides that Alaska shall be a civil and judicial district. Section two provides for the establishment of a District Court and the appointment of a District Judge to perform also the duties of governor, ex-officio, and to see that the laws are executed Section three provides for the appointment of a clerk of the court, who also shall be treasurer of the district and ex officio register and receiver of the land office at Sitka and recorder of deeds and register of wills for the territory. Section four provides for the appointment of five commissioners, who shall reside, one at Wrangel, one at Sitka, one at Oonalaska and one at Kodiak. They shall act as Justices of the Peace, Notaries Public, etc. Section five provides for the appointment of a United States District Attorney, who shall also be ex-officio Surveyor-General of the territory. Section six makes the Collector of Customs for the district ex-officio marshal. He is given power to appoint five deputy marshals. The general laws of Oregon civil and criminal, so far as applicable, are made the laws of Alaska. The District Court is given exclusive jurisdiction in all chancery cases, disputes concerning the title to land or mining property and all trials of capital offences. Provision is made for setting all jury trials. It is provided that all the territory embraced in said district, excepting the groups of islands which constitute the United States government reservation, shall be a surveying and land district, with officers at Sitka, and the laws now in force for the disposal and management of the public domain, under title 32 of the revised statutes, are made applicable to Alaska. Indians are not to be disturbed in the possession of their lands and the United States is to relinquish title to such lots of land as were specified in the transfer of the territory as belonging to the Russo-Greek Church or which have been occupied and improved by bona fide residents and citizens or corporations doing business in said territory since, by permission of the United States authorities, and title to the same shall vest in the bona fide owners or occupants thereof upon the payment of a price per acre to be fixed by the Secretary of the Interior. Provision is made to confirm lands to missionary or religious societies. The Judge, Clerk and Attorney are to be appointed by the President, to hold office for four years and receive respectively salaries of four thousand and three thousand dollars. Provision is made for refitting the public buildings at Sitka and ten thousand dollars is appropriated to carry the act into effect.

THE original seat of the Confederate States, which is of massive silver, is still in the hands of an ex-Confederate soldier. The device is an equestrian portrait of Washington, surrounded by a wreath composed of the principal agricultural products of the Confederacy (cotton, tobacco, sugar cane, corn, wheat), and having around it the words: "The Confederate States of America, twenty-second February, eighteen hundred and sixty-two," with the following motto: "Deo vindice."

A HEROIC method of treatment for cataract was developed by the recent Brookfield, L. I., tragedy. The blind old man, whose wife and daughter were brutally strangled, was felled to the ground by the murderer, but the blow intended to take his life simply restored his eyesight, the adhesions of the cataract having, it is supposed, been broken by the blow.

SOJOURNER TRUTH, the colored lecturer, died November 26th, at Battle Creek, Mich., at the age of 107 years. She gained her freedom in 1828, under the Emancipation Act of New York, and for forty years she has spoken to the public on liberty, temperance and woman suffrage.

SAN FRANCISCO has the distinction of a public school department run in the interest of a political ring which controls the supplies as well as the teachers. It is ruled by a local Democratic "boss," and jobbery has been open and flagrant.

CAREFUL inquiry has put the damage done in the Isle of Ischia by the recent earthquake at $1,000,000. The Paris contribution from the great fête came to little more than $30,000. Berlin has sent more than $100,000.

THE Emperor of Austria has been visiting Szegedin, which, wrecked by the floods three years ago, has arisen from its ruins far finer than before. There have been 2,638 dwellings built worth 23,000,000 florins.

ACCORDING to the Italian papers there were at least seven millionaires killed in the earthquake at Ischia. Among them was the actor, Signor Bonadio and his wife, who have left a fortune of 5,000,000 lire.

IN Berlin a decree has been issued forbidding the retail sale of intoxicating liquors on credit. The penalty for disobedience is the immediate withdrawal of the license.

THE Bishop of Rochester, England, has taken occasion to commend publicly the work now being carried on in that country by Messrs. Moody and Sankey.

MORE drunken people are arrested in Glasgow and Edinburg on Sundays than on any other day in the week.

A RANSOM of $30,000 was paid by the Duke of Castlemente, who was captured by brigands near Naples.

THE LAND GRANTS.

The unearned or forfeited Railroad Land grants will be a source of great contention at the coming session of Congress. The Southern Pacific Company will make a strenuous effort for the 15,000,000 acre grant of the Texas Pacific, as Mr. Teller has, after dallying with the matter for months, relegated the whole matter to Congress. Of course there will be a powerful lobby in behalf of this scheme as the grant is estimated to be worth at the lowest, $25,000,000. The other lapsed railroad grants will second the efforts of the Southern Pacific aid in making times lively for the Congressmen. It is pleasant to note, however, that the confirming of these grants will meet with a lively opposition. A Washington correspondent telegraphs that Congressman Payson of Illinois, at the coming session of Congress will early introduce a bill to forfeit the Texas Pacific land grant. The telegram goes on to declare further that he will ask Congress to forfeit the grant now claimed by the Northern Pacific in Oregon. The Ship Island Railroad in Mississippi has several million acres of valuable pine lands held by a forfeited grant. Proceedings against this road will also be pushed by Payson. Along the line of the Southern Pacific there are a number of settlers who have gone on the lands granted to the Texas Pacific taking their chances of ever being turned out. The vacation of these lands by Congress would help the settlement and development of the country.

MR. CARLISLE has had three predecessors in the Speakership from Kentucky, Henry Clay, John White and Linn Boyd. Mr. Randall was the third Speaker furnished by Pennsylvania, the others being Muhlenberg, Speaker of the 1st Congress, and Galusha A. Grow, of the 37th. Up to this time the office of Speaker had been held twenty-eight times by the South and twenty-seven times by the North.

SERGEANT MASON will soon be put on exhibition in a museum at Pittsburg. The American people will now wish that they had not petitioned for his release. If he were abnormally fat or extraordinarily thin, or if he had three legs, or no legs at all, there would be some excuse for the Sergeant's making a spectacle of himself; but strong and healthy and well made as he is, he can hardly prove very attractive.

THE suggestions of the Secretary of the Immigration Society at the annual meeting were timely. He called attention to the fact that fully two-fifths of the land which had been pre-empted during the past year had been taken up by speculators and he advised that measures be taken to amend the laws so that real settlers would be protected.

THE revenues derived from all sources by the National Government during the last fiscal year amounted to $398,257,581. The increase in the Government expenditures was $7,426,697. The decrease in the revenue as compared with last year was $5,237,668. The total expenditures for the year amounted to $265,409,137.

The newspaper statement that a mountain of solid silver ore has been found at the end of the Canadian Pacific Railway track in the Rocky Mountains is bold but not original. Discoveries of this kind have been reported, in the newspapers, every season since '49. The Manitoba Free Press is responsible for the news of this latest El Dorado and, incidentally, for a clumsy puff of a corporation called the Tunnel Mountain Mining Company.

France is beginning to fear European pork and has decided to once more admit the American pig. The French are willing to have the Germans die of trichinosis but don't want any of it themselves.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 8 1883

CHRYSOPOLIS. — Referring to the Maxim M. & M. Company, who are preparing to erect mining machinery at Maxim station one and a half miles north of Chrysopolis we stated in a recent number that the rock-breaker was already in position; we now learn that we were misinformed in this one particular: that all of the machinery is in transitu from New York, and from some cause the shipment has been delayed. This Company have purchased and have been some two months at work on the Arasta mine, situated one mile east of said station in the foot hills of the Inyo mountains. We have information that this Company is composed mostly of citizens of the city of New York, who are moving with judgment and caution, with a view to final success rather than to make a grand splurge ending with the stock in somebody's waste basket. This mine was worked to a limited extent some seventeen years since, and in later years has been scratched around the roots of the sage brush, having been left in a very slovenly condition. The prrsent company have already excavated and wheeled out some 500 tons of waste rock and dirt preparatory to an exploration of the mine in a judicious and systematic manner under the management of Mr. S. S. Barrie, the Company's agent. A shaft is now being sunk on the ledge with the expectation of going down one hundred feet before running a level in on the vein. This shaft is now down some forty feet on a three foot ledge of rich ore, which already gives evidence that this mine bids fair to become one of the most noted on this continent. We have reason to believe that this work will be carried on in a careful and workmanlike manner, and that success and not speculation is the aim of this company.

THE VERDICT.—In the Superior Court on Wednesday last, a jury was obtained without difficulty in the case of the People of the State of California against Aaron Hood, David Stubblefield prosecuting witness. District Attorney Laird appeared for the prosecution and S. D. Woods, Esq. for the defence, appointed by the Court. The jurymen impaneled were: Wm. McLaren, J. W. Riggs, Walter James, Jr., W. G. Watson, Henry Evans, John L. Bodle, H. Jackson, Chris Engle, N. Peterson, A. G. Bowman, Barney McGill, George Collins. The case proceeded smoothly and without the slightest wrangling, the arguments of the able counsel being specially eloquent and forcible. On Wednesday the case was given to the jury, which returned the following verdict: "We the jury in the above entitled cause do find the Defendant, Aaron Hood, guilty of the crime of assault with a deadly weapon, to-wit, a pistol, committed on D. Stubblefield on the 19th day of September, A. D. 1883, with intent to inflict upon the person of him, the said D. Stubblefield, a great bodily injury, with a recommendation to the mercy of the Court." Hood will receive his sentence next Monday.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The following is the roll of honor of the Bishop Creek school for the month of November: Primary Department, Miss C. V. Stoutenborough, teacher: Effie Parker, Claude Inman, Francis Shick, Ida Plumley, Ritta Drake, Alice Williams, Annie Van Fleet, George Clarke, Fred Bigham, Pearl Bigham. Grammar Department: (A) class; Mrs. H. H. Welch, Principal; Ben Yandell, 93 per cent, Nannie Sherwin, 92 per cent, Lowel Engley, 90 per cent, Jennie Yandell, 86 per cent, Agnes Ford, 85 per cent. (B) class; minimum, 80 per cent; Hattie Van Epps, Emma Yandell, 91 per cent, Louisa Clarke, 90 per cent, Annette Ford, 89 per cent, Hattie Bulpitt, 86 per cent, Sadie Simpson, 85 per cent, Ella Van Fleet, 85 per cent, John Maroney, 84 per cent, Harry White, 83 per cent, Ed. Bingham, 82 per cent, Ida Hughes, 82 per cent, Geo. Drake, 81 per cent.

PERSONAL.—Judge Belknap, of the Supreme Court of Nevada, ex-Governor J. H. Kinkead, Superintendents H. M. Yerington and R. J. Laws, of the C. & C. R. R., paid Independence a short visit yesterday. The party came to "the front" on a special, and made a thorough examination of the new smelter at Hawley's, stopping, we believe, at the new works at Elna upon their return. But for their hurried return to Carson there are lots of Nevadaites hereabouts who would have been glad to greet the distinguished party.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—The ladies of the Band of Hope and Sunday School propose to get up a Christmas tree for the children generally, hereabouts. The arrangements are not yet finally completed, but no doubt soon will be.

KEYNOT.—A detailed report of late operations at the Keynot mill, ore yield and bullion product, will be given next week.

EVERY 821 individuals in England and Wales have a policeman to look after them. From returns just published the total number of "criminal classes" still at large and not yet in jail was last year 39,000, while the number of policemen in England and Wales, including over 12,000 for the metropolis alone, was a trifle over 33,000 men.

The workingmen and workingwomen of America are to be called on for more subscriptions—this time to pay salaries to Irish members of the British Parliament. THE salary of the Lord Mayor of London is £10,000.

A RAM was recently sold in Australia for 3,150 guineas.

A DIRECTORY of "American heiresses" has been published in London, giving the name, age and address of every young unmarried lady in this country to whom a fortune has descended, or is about to descend, for the specific benefit of impecunious British peers, broken-down Irish landlords, and other foreign adventurers.

THE fashion of docking a horse's tail has received a rebuke in old-fashioned Wales. A hotel proprietor and a veterinary surgeon were both fined by the Court for the practice, two college professors of anatomy proving that the operation was of an unnecessary and a cruel character.

THE prefect of St. Petersburg has ordered the municipal council to suspend their vote of 3,000 rubles to pay for the funeral of Tourgueneff on the ground that such an outlay of public money can only be made for purposes of general utility to the city and its inhabitants.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys received from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the First day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding. A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or viticultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such persons place: by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind, must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class, and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect, and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Our Well Worn Earth.

That the falling drop will wear away the stone, is a saying which few adult persons have not been able to verify by observation; but it is not so generally understood that falling drops of rain will wear away a mountain or wash away a continent. Rain, frost and ice have ground down the summits of the loftiest mountains; and there are few high peaks in existence which have not been much higher, and which are not being steadily leveled by atmospheric agencies. In colder climates solid glacier rivers are also found, which moving imperceptibly, but with irresistible force, hollow out valleys and grind down the superincumbent rocks. The sea also devours the land rapidly. Furthermore, innumerable rivers, streams, and springs are perpetually loosening the soil, rasping down the rocks with sand, and bearing off billions of tons of solid matter to the sea bottom, where the whole mass is squeezed by the terrible hydraulic pressure into stone, marble or solid strata of some kind. The Mississippi alone carries annually to the sea 812,500,000,000 pounds of mud. All the habitable land of the globe is being continually ground and washed away—planed down to the ocean-level; while the sea-bottom is being as steadily filled up. The deposit of foraminiferal shells alone—not including other remains—is sufficient, as Huxley has calculated, to create a bed of limestone in the bottom of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans 800 feet thick, supposing these oceans to have existed for only 100,000 years. Were it not for internal forces, the time would come when all existing land would be leveled with the ocean, and the latter planed down still further by the action of the waters so that the entire globe would be one shoreless ocean. The coral is at it would form no exception; for the coral builders cannot live above water, nor could their islands ever have reached the surface but for subterranean upheavals. Thus the tendency of the world's crust is to become uniformly smooth and level, and to surround itself with an envelope of water. But within the earth enormous forces are at work to counteract this tendency—forces which manifest themselves in volcanic action, in seismic action, and in other and even more mysterious actions.—New Orleans Times Democrat.

SEARCHING FOR WHAT IS LEFT.—Four old prospectors started on yesterday for Old Mono Diggings, confident that they can find something worth their while. One of them—Linehan—worked there in the early days, when Monoville was about as good a town as Bodie ever was, as to the amount of money spent, and he declares that the best ground in that immediate vicinity has never been touched. In the early days a miner had to pay $4 a day for sixteen inches of water—an ordinary sluice stream—and he was in big luck if he got ten inches. In the gulch, near where Ashbrook and Mullen worked two years ago, three men took out $55,000 in one season, in 1862; and above the gulch yielded a good many thousand dollars years afterward. The district is interlaced with small veins of quartz, some of which are rich. The Keith vein, on which Peter Tautphaus spent some money, is small, but very rich in spots. The vein in which Ashbrook and Mullen worked can be distinctly traced for 3,000 feet, trending in various directions from northeast to southwest, and always showing some gold. It is sometimes rich, and as often barren, but there is no doubt but that there are some good pockets in it, for in every place where it has made a sharp bend there have been good placers below. The country rock is soft, scaly granite, half decomposed, and is easily worked without the use of powder. It may be that the district that turned out $6,000,000 on top may yet show something underground.—Bodie Free Press, November 28th.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR is not in favor of the Postal Telegraph. It does not signify, however, that Mackay will drop his business on this account.

Brighter Skies Ahead.

With all the uncertainty of the present appearence of mining and business matters in this vicinity, it is a good sized crumb of comfort that is left. The closing down of the Northern Belle mine, the discharge of twenty-five men from the Mount Diablo and the eventful shutting down of the mills at Belleville, for want of ore to crush, would tend to persuade one not fully in possession of all matters connected with the case that the bottom had dropped out of Columbus district, but it is not. The Mount Diablo is still running, though the force is reduced, the Columbus Consolidated has not pulled its fires, nor does it mean to do so for some time to come, and the recent operations in the lower levels of this mine are of a character to make the outlook indicate anything but a collapse. It will not be long before the Columbus Consolidated will be heard from in a very agreeable tone to its stockholders. But better still, and notwithstanding it is a long, and, perhaps, short, look into the future, the present idle state of the Holmes and Northern Belle properties will not continue a day longer than is actually necessary. Reliable information has been received from the management of the Holmes Company to the effect that operations will be resumed at an early day and on a larger scale than ever before. This does not help the depression in business matters now existing, and will not until something of a character toward active work is fully inaugurated. Yet there is certainly a much better feeling apparent than that which was felt last Sunday morning, when all but ten men were discharged from the Belle, and in the evening of that day, when another astonisher came in the shape of twenty-five men being discharged from the Diablo. All that can be done now, the above conceded, is to economize, put on a bold manner and a smiling face and await the arrival of the brighter days which are surely in store for everybody.—True Fissure.

A MAIDEN'S IDEA OF MARRIAGE.—So she was going to be married; to be mistress of a house; settle in London; be able to go out into the streets all alone; to shop or visit; have a gentleman all her own, whom she could put her finger on any moment, and make him take her about, even to the opera and theater; to give dinner parties her own self, and even a little ball once in a while; to buy whatever dresses she thought proper, instead of being crippled by an allowance; have the legal right of speaking first in society, instead of sitting unnoticed and mock modest; to be mistress instead of miss—a contemptible title; to be a woman instead of a girl; and all this rational liberty, domestic power, and social dignity were to be obtained by merely wedding a dear fellow who loved her and was so nice; and the bright career to be ushered in with several delights, each of them dear to a girl's very soul; presents from all her friends; as many beautiful new dresses as if one was changing her body or her hemisphere instead of her name; eclat; going to church, which is a good English girl's theater of display and temple of vanity, and there tasting delightful publicity and whispered admiration in a heavenly long vail, which she could not wear even once if she remained single! This bright and variegated picture of holy wedlock, as revealed to young ladies by feminine tradition, though not enumerated in the Book of Common Prayer, so entranced her that time flew by unheeded.—Chamber's Journal.

THE seven Sisters now living in St. Louis have reason, says a contemporary, to be proud of their hair. Their capillary attractions are described as follows: Sarah N. Sutherland, the eldest, has long, massive and jet-black hair, falling below the waist; Miss Victoria, whose hair is the longest worn by any woman in the world, shows a growth reaching to a length of seven and a half feet; Miss Isabella's hair is more than six feet long; Miss Grace's reaches a length of almost six feet; Miss Naomi's hair, which almost touches the ground when she stands erect, is the most massive and beautiful ever seen upon a woman's head; it is fully six inches through, and when spread out covers her completely like a cloak; Miss Dora's hair is abundant and five feet long; Miss Mary is the youngest; her hair has already attained a wonderful growth, and is rapidly tending toward such length and massiveness as will make it the most wonderful capillary decoration the world ever saw.

FINNISH FOLK LORE.—Before a young man is married his friends invite him to a party, which is called a "bachelor's funeral;" sometimes the dying bachelor is carried on a sofa shoulder high, as a mock funeral. If while shaking hands you happen to cross another couple also shaking hands, it means a wedding. A shot made of silver will shoot anyone, even those protected by magical power, and sometimes, when one has been shooting, it is said in fun, "I think you have shot your game with a silver bullet"—that is, bought it. If you find any shot in game take it out, for you will never miss with such shot. White spots on the nails are enemies. If you pull out a hair and it curls, you are not tempered (Northumberland, proud). If dogs or cats knaw the grass it is a sign of rain; also if the flies bite and the swallows fly low. You must never kill a spider. If you go and stand under a tree where there is a cuckoo sitting you will be very lucky, and whatever you wish for you will get, provided you do not tell any one; if you tell your wish misfortune will follow you.—Notes and Queries.

WE hear of no more cases of death of cattle in this vicinity, and we have never heard if the deaths have been caused by blackleg, which has proved a great scourge on the coast. It is well, however, to keep on hand the experiments in the cure of the disease, among which is the following: When an animal is first taken with blackleg it will exhibit lameness in some one of its legs. With a sharp knife open the lame member between the knee and the hoof, where will be found a lump or sack filled with a white substance; squeeze all this out, then fill the opening with salt and pepper, and bind the limb up with a rag. This is all that is required. The remedy is certainly cheap and simple, and is worthy a trial.—Kern Co. Gazette.

ALFRED TENNYSON, the poet-laureate, it is said will shortly be raised to the peerage. He has long since passed the page.

MINING LAW.

The increasing importance and value of the mining industry of this country, and the certainty that this industry will become valuable and permanent, demands that immediate steps be taken by the legislators of the Government to provide just and equitable laws to protect those who may engage in the development of the important mineral resources, which are just beginning to be understood in their extent and value. At the present time the laws are unsatisfactory, and in many instances unjust, and are the result of fragmentary and hasty legislation, rather than of wise and careful study and comprehension of the vast importance of the subject. In this country much attention has been given to the perfection of a broad and liberal system of laws to protect and encourage the agriculturist in establishing homes upon the public domain; the importance of agriculture as an industry has been recognized and means were taken to render its establishment advantageous and secure, so that perhaps in this direction there is little more to be desired. A glance at the mineral bearing territory and the untold wealth therein to be developed, demands legislation equally as wise and far reaching. The legislation should be so definite and unmistakable that the rights of all shall be unmistakable and positive, so that the endless vexations and unprofitable litigation which now hampers and paralyzes so many prominent localities and properties would be unknown. The matter is one of more than passing importance and is one that should receive immediate attention and most careful consideration.

SECRETARY LINCOLN recommends to Congress the advisability of fostering the National Guard, or militia, of the country by liberal appropriations, to supply the necessary arms, equipments, tents, amunition and other ordnance stores. He thinks that with our small standing army, the main dependence for public defense must be on our militia; and the wisdom of the comparatively small expenditure which would encourage their organization, and their efficiency in drill and discipline, seems to him apparent. He recommends an appropriation, for the purposes named, of at least $600,000.

THE Northern Belle Mining Company, which never, until lately, levied an assessment, but has declared over seventy dividends, has allowed its paper to go to protest. The C. & C. R. R. Co., and numerous others, have sued the company, and the writs of attachment have lallen upon them like Autumn leaves. This is owing to the large judgment of $360,000 lately rendered against them, in favor of the Holmes Mining Company. It never rains but it pours. That's all right; if a fellow's going down hill kick him as he goes along.

THE grand, gorgeous and beantiful sun sets which have been observed by our people for the past two weeks, have not been confined to Owens Valley by any means, but extend throughout the world. Scientists now attribute to the passage of the world through a cloud of meteoric dust and ashes in a state of impalpable powder. This dust is at such a great distance that it is not affected by any attraction. Whatever the cause may be which produces them, they are none the less magnificent.

THE Mussel Slough controversy has finally been settled by the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, which has approved the judgment of the Circuit Court of California in awarding the lands to the Railroad Company.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

On Monday, the 10th inst., the Superior Court of the County of Inyo assembled and proceeded to impanel the Grand Jury. John D. Bourland was appointed foreman.

The Hon. John A. Hannah charged the jury as follows:

Gentlemen of the Grand Jury:—It is your duty to inquire into all public offenses committed or triable within this county and present them to this Court by presentment or indictment.

A presentment is an informal statement in writing by the Grand Jury representing to the Court that a public offense has been committed which is triable in the county, and that there is reasonable ground for believing that a particular individual named or described therein has committed it.

An indictment is an accusation in writing presented by the Grand Jury to a competent Court, charging a person with a public offense.

In the investigation of charges which may be brought before you, you will receive none but legal evidence, and the best in degree, to the exclusion of hearsay or secondary evidence, and you will receive no other evidence than such as is given by witnesses produced and sworn before you, or furnished by legal documentary evidence, or the depositions of a witness who has been preliminarily examined before a committing magistrate and the testimony taken down by question and answer in the presence of the defendant, who has either in person or by counsel cross-examined or had an opportunity to examine the witness.

You are not bound to hear evidence for the defendant, but it is your duty to weigh all the evidence submitted to you, and when you have reason to believe that other evidence within your reach will explain away the charge, you should order such evidence to be produced, and for that purpose may require the District Attorney to issue process for the witnesses.

You ought to find an indictment when all the evidence before you, taken together, if unexplained or uncontradicted, would, in your judgment, warrant a conviction by a trial jury.

If any member of your honorable body knows or has reason to believe that a public offense, triable within the county, has been committed, he must declare the same to his fellow jurors who must thereupon investigate the same.

You must inquire into the case of every person imprisoned in the jail of the county on a criminal charge and not indicted; into the condition and management of the public prisons within the county; and into the willful and corrupt misconduct in office of public officers of every description within the county.

You are also entitled to free access at all reasonable times, to the public jail, and to the examination, without charge, of all public records within the county.

The Grand Jury may, at all reasonable times, ask the advice of the Court, or Judge thereof, or of the District Attorney; but unless such advice is asked the Judge of the Court must not be present during the sessions of the Grand Jury.

The District Attorney of the county may at all times appear before the Grand Jury for the purpose of giving information or advice relative to any matter cognizable by them, and may interrogate witnesses whenever they or he think it necessary; but no other person is permitted to be present during the sessions of the Grand Jury, except the members and witnesses actually under examination, and no person must be present during the expression of their opinions or giving their votes upon any matter before them.

It is the duty of the Grand Jury annually to make a careful and complete examination of the books, records, and accounts of all the officers of the county, and especially those pertaining to the revenue, and report thereon, and if, in their judgment, the services of an expert are necessary, they have the power to employ one at an agreed compensation not to exceed five dollars per day, payable as other County charges.

And you are further instructed that sections 5, 6, 7, and 8 of the Statutes of 1883 make it your duty to ascertain by careful and diligent investigation whether the provisions of said sections have been complied with, and to specially note the result of such investigation in your report.

You will remember that each of you shall keep secret whatever he himself or any other Grand juror may say or in what manner Grand jurors may vote on any matter that be brought before you.

Gentlemen, I believe I have instructed you generally as to your duties as Grand jurors, and having done so my duties in the premises are performed, and I have only to say to you in addition that in accordance with the oath which your foreman has just now taken, you shall present no person through malice, hatred or illwill, or leave any unpresented through fear, favor or affection; but in all your presentments you shall present the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, according to the best of your skill and understanding.

Gentlemen, you will now retire.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY.

On Wednesday evening the Grand Jury having completed its labors made the following report, and was discharged:

To the Honorable Superior Judge of the County of Inyo, State of California:

We, the Grand Jurors impaneled for the October term of the Superior Court of Inyo County, do respectfully submit the following report:

We have examined into all cases submitted to us and faildd to find sufficient evidence to sustain an indictment.

We have examined the books of the county officials and find them kept in a neat and correct manner, as far as we are able to judge.

We have also examined the reports of the Treasurer and Auditor, and find that the provisions of sections 5, 6, 7 and 8 of the Statutes and Amendments to the Code for 1883, have not been violated. In short, we find that the expenditures of the county have not exceeded its receipts.

We have also examined into the assessments made by the County Assessor, and find so little property assessed under the head of State, County, City, or municipal or other bonds, particular reference being had to County Scrip, that we are led to believe that the county is defrauded out of quite an amount of taxable property by such property being transferred to other counties of this State or willfully concealed for the purpose of avoiding taxation, but fail to get at sufficient evidence to warrant the finding an indictment. And also find this has been made possible by the misconstruction of the County Assessor of his duties as provided in sections 3629, 3637, 3648, and 428 of Revenue Laws of the State of California.

We have examined the County Jail and find three prisoners confined therein, and find it properly kept, but that the comfort and health of the prisoners demand that a stove be placed in cell No. 1.

The County Hospital was found in a satisfactory condition, and containing two patients.

We, the jury, recommend that this report be published in full in the INYO INDEPENDENT.

SENATOR INGALLS will soon introduce a bill providing that any person enclosing public lands to which he has no title shall be liable to a fine of $100, and any person who obstructs the passage of another over or through the public domain, shall for every offence pay the aggrieved person $500. Also, a bill authorizing a re-survey of townships erroneously surveyed or in which monuments marking the boundary have been obliterated.

THE Khedive has appealed to England for help. He wishes British gold and men at once to hurl against El Madhi. The Turk is not to be permitted to lend a hand. El Madhi continues his victorious march and will prove a Tartar to handle. It is not improbable that the result will be the complete overthrow of the Egyptian Government.

AN unpleasant gloom overshadows Belleville and Candelaria just now. The Northern Belle Company has discharged all its men and shut down the mills. The mine and mills will probably remain closed until the property passes into the hands of the Holmes people, who will probably resume work and prospect for more ore bodies.

A CONGRESSIONAL delegation of sympathetic and sensational asses, headed by Cox of New York, called upon President Arthur, on the 8th, and solicited him to interfere to prevent the execution of O'Donnell, the assassin.

"I AM only a working girl," cried Sadie Reigh, at the Brigg's House in Chicago; "my honor is dearer than my life and I'll kill the man who slanders me," and ere the words had died on her lips she shot Patriok Kinsley, her traducer.

THE manner in which the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company is setting about its business shows that there is a fixed determination to give the public an efficient as well as a cheap service at an early date.

TEXAS farmers have sold this year $59,000,000 worth of cotton, $53,000,000 worth of cattle, $7,000,000 worth of wool and mutton, and $1,000,000 worth of horses and hides.

THE crusade against obscene publications is being vigorously waged in various sections of the Union. It should become general.

WM. KRINGEL, of Calico, committed suicide at the United States Hotel, in Los Angeles, on the night of the 7th. He was a prospector.

IF the French are really bombarding more of the towns of Madagascar, trouble with England may certainly be expected.

THE entire business portion of Wilming. N. C., was destroyed by fire on the night of the 7th.

SPEAKER CARLISLE will not announce the House committees for the next two weeks to come.

J. R. KEENE says the story of his financial difficulty is without foundation.

Supply of Gold.

The Romans mined most extensively during the prosperity of both the Republic and the Empire. Gold and silver mining was practically suspended during the dark ages. When gold and silver were discovered in Mexico and South America there was not more than $50,000,000 of gold in Europe, and not more than $100,000,000 in both gold and silver. The gold and silver of the New World created a new civilization in the Old. About the commencement of the present century the product of the precious metals began to decline. Times are hard, as they call it, when money is growing dearer and property and labor cheaper. The discovery of gold in California and Australia revived commerce and enterprise throughout the world. The United States being the largest producer of gold was able to sustain her credit through the trying crisis of the rebellion. The outlook for the future is bad. All the gold now produced in the world cannot possibly equal the consumption of that metal in the arts and industries.—Hon. Wm. M. Stewart.

"THE local paper," says Whitelaw Reid, "is the best paper in the world. All the city papers cannot supply the place of the home paper. No other contains the marriages and deaths, to say nothing of divorces and births; no other relates of the scandal happening before the doors of the townspeople; no other gives the time for the next ball, picnic or political meeting; no other discusses the affairs of the town and county, or gives in detail the local news, which can be obtained from no other source. Everybody reads, and that is why the unpretentious local paper is the best read paper in the world."

ON the 7th instant, James M. Underwood was hanged for the murder of Robt. M. Pendergrass, a wealthy planter of Hill county, at Dardanelles, Arkansas.

THE KEYNOT MILL.—Superintendent M. C. Lasky has furnished THE INDEPENDENT with the following concise statement of all ores crushed from the time of starting up—March 15, 1883—to the time of closing down for the Winter, November 30th. The work of extracting ore at the mines will continue until early Spring, when even this favorable showing will be eclipsed by the little 5-stamper:

SHOOTING. — At Hutching's saloon, Bishop Creek, on Thursday night, occurred a shooting affair. Few details have reached this point as yet, but it seems that a crowd of revelers got into a wrangle and during the melee, one Seth Kelley, formerly an employé of the Sacramento mine, fired a pistol-ball into Jas. H. Richardson's neck. It is said that the shot was not intended for Mr. Richardson, but that he received it in trying to save another man. The wound is not considered dangerous, but as the bullet penetrated the neck and barely grazed the jugular vein, it was probably as close a call from the hereafter as ever a man got in the world. Kelly was immediately arrested by Deputy Sheriff Phillipay, and is to have his preliminary examination before the Justice Court to-day.

MONTEZUMA FURNACE.—On Sunday morning last the new furnace of the Owens Valley Mining & Smelting Co., at Elna, was fired up, charged and the blast turned on. Up to Monday night the results were favorable as could be desired, the yield being some seventy bars of silver-lead bullion. At last the lead well blew out, shutting down operations in short order. The fault seems to have lain with the mixtures of fire-clay and adobes used, and to incomplete tamping and drying. A new supply of material was immediately telegraphed for, but the delay involved may extend over two weeks or more.

PERSONAL.—Jimmy McDonald, formerly a resident of this county, but for the past few years a successful prospector of Mono County, has gone to Darwin, to take charge of the Defiance mine. If industry and experience will insure success "Jimmy is the bye" to bring about the result....L. Lasky Esq., of Lone Pine, accompanied by his better half, visited our town on business Wednesday last, they were the guests of L. Wood, Esq....Antonio Morino and Jesus Montaño, two of the Keynot magnates, made a flying business trip to our town on the 11th.

TELEGRAPH.—The branch telegraph line running from Independence to the R. R. station, a distance of five miles, has been completed and is now in active operation. This puts us in direct communication with the outside world, and is a convenience which all have felt the necessity of. This enterprise has been completed through the energy and reliability of Messrs. Harris & Rhine. Joe Harris is the lightning slinger, and quite an expert one he is, too.

FIRE.—Some one, either with intent to burn off the grass or destroy property, night before last set fire to the combustible material in the fields below Camp Independence. The result was serious loss to Mrs. Lewis, Jas. Malone, and Wm. Barrows, in the destruction of lines of fence, etc. At times the atmosphere hereabouts was filled with smoke, and serious losses were apprehended.

MASONIC OFFICERS ELECT.—At the meeting of Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., the following named officers were elected for the ensuing Masonic year: A. R. Conklin, W. M.; H. P. Cartier, S. W.; A. C. Harvey, J. W.; O. I. Mairs, Treas., and J. W. P. Laird, Sec. The installation ceremonies will take place at the Hall on the 27th inst., St. John's Day, at two o'clock, P. M.

SEND ALONG YOUR ITEMS.—It is proposed to make THE INDEPENDENT purely a local county paper, and with this view, items and correspondence are solicited from every township, mining camp, neighborhood and hamlet, be they whatsoever kind or character. Send them along.

FIRE.—At Al. Brigg's ranch on Bishop last week, a very large stack of alfalfa hay was burned, cause unknown. His place, formerly belonging to Harrell, has been very unfortunate in the way of conflagrations.

RETURNED.—David Olds, Esq., and family passed through town on Monday en route for his home in Round Valley, from Los Angeles. He reports the lower country booming and everything prosperous.

THE MODOCK.—Rumors come of an important new strike in the old Modock mine, Lookout District. Supt. Fitzgerald has a strong force at work, preparing for a big run of the furnaces.

APPOINTED.—On Thursday last N. E. Conklin was appointed Court Commissioner, to fill the heretofore existing vacancy.

BISHOP ITEMS AND PERSONALS.—"Corn Stalk," a sophisticated rancher of Bishop Creek, briefs up the following local notes and personals of that region: While driving out one day last week the team of Mrs. A. K. Briggs became unmanageable and ran away, throwing her out of the buggy. Luckily she escaped injury. The buggy was demolished....Mr. R. E. Roberts and family have departed for Bakersfield. Bob says he has enough of this country....Indians can be seen drunk around this place most any time....It is reported that they are taking out very rich ore from the Mammoth mine at Mammoth City....John Kremkow, the brewer from Benton, is here....Moses Huntoon, from Bridgeport, is here with quite a large band of both horses and cattle, looking up Winter quarters....Mr. John Sedgwick, ex Sheriff of San Francisco, is the guest of Seth G. Sneden....R. J. Laws, Supt. of the C. & C. R. R., is here on some business....J. M. Dormer, Secretary of State of Nevada, is visiting this place....Put Yaney has got home from Benton....Arlie Mairs is here running a livery stable...Mr. P. L. Ford, Supt. of the Poleta mine, has tendered his resignation. His family are in New York State ill, whither he intends going....The Sacramento mill, from all accounts, is taking out some very rich ore....The son of Wm. J. and Viola H. Little was buried to-day, from the Baptist church....A. J. Murphy Esq., has opened his new saloon, next door to the barber shop, and is ready to quench the thirst of all....Bud Harness has not departed for Hawthorne yet.

CHRISTMAS TREE.—A Christmas tree will be given at the Court House, by the people of Independence and vicinity, on Christmas eve. Joe Harris received a telegram recently from old Santa Claus, who promises to be present with a new stock of toys and presents for the young folks. After the distribution of the presents, a social dance will be given to all who wish to trip the light fantastic. A committee has been appointed, and will be at the Court House during the day to receive presents and decorate the tree. All are invited.

AT SLATE RANGE.—The fine new mill of the Argus M. & M., started up on its initial run last week. It met with the usual and vexatious break-down, of course—the bursting of the pumps supplying the boiler. However, the result of only thirty-six hours' operations with only one battery of five stamps was a bar of fine silver worth $2,800. Supt. Williams immediately sent a messenger to Hawleys with a telegram to San Francisco for the fixtures necessary fixtures to repair damages. The silver ores of that district are abundant, free chlorides and of very high grade.

SENT UP.—On Saturday evening last in Justice Parker's court a couple of young bloods were fined $75 each, or seventy-five days in the county jail, for the crime of petty larceny, in stealing two saddles and attempting to leave the country with them, to which facts they confessed and plead guilty. Public sympathy in the matter is confined to the relatives of the wayward boys, especially to the noble and most estimable mother of one of them, as she has since been utterly prostrated with grief.

THE EFFECT.—Among other investigations indulged in by the late Grand July was one touching upon the necessity and utility of the unsightly wires which are stretched across in systematic profusion and mar the appearance of the county's fine court-room. A prominent member was asked the intent and purport of the said wires. "Well," he replied, "they serve to concentrate the sound, and have the same effect on this room as an Ethiopian harp."

FOR CHRISTMAS.—The teachers and pupils of the Bishop Creek school are making thorough preparations for a grand exhibition, supper and party on 'X-mas eve, the 24th. The proceeds are to be devoted to the purchase of a fine organ for the school. On the 22d and 24th there will be a shooting tournament, glass ball trap shooting and rifle shooting for turkeys. At Big Pine a masquerade ball is being gotten up. The Lone Piners will doubtless observe the holiday with a ball and supper.

THE HOOD CASE.—Upon the date set for passing sentence upon Aaron Hood for assault upon David Stubblefield, Saturday last, upon motion of his counsel, S. D. Woods, Esq., the matter was postponed until to-day, pending a motion for a new trial. Upon receipt this morning of a telegram from Mr. Woods, who is at Carson, Judge Hannah again postponed passing sentence until Monday next, when the counsel will be here.

ARRIVED.—A car load of machinery for the new Maxim mill at Chrysopolis has at last arrived. After all its long delays, the insatiable Central Pacific insisted on haling it over to Sacramento and back before unloading at Reno. If none of the parts are missing, Supt. Barrie will doubtless soon have it in position and running.

EDITORIAL CALL.—M. M. Glenn, Esq., of the Esmeralda Herald, paid Independence and THE INDEPENDENT a pleasant visit during the week. He expects to return next week, and may locate amongst us.

DIVORCED.—In the Superior Court yesterday His Honor granted a divorce to Mrs. Rilla M. Gerrish from Levi Gerrish, on the ground of desertion.

Malicious Misinformation.

He was just full enough to get badly mixed up on everything he tried to get through his head. He was walking unsteadily and staring at the signs, pulling his beard and looking in at the windows.

Just then a citizen came past and the stranger staggered up and caught him by the lapel of his coat.

"Mishter," said he, "kin you—hic—tell me whish is the opposite shide of the—hic—street?"

"The opposite side, sir? Why, it's right over there," said the citizen, pointing across the way.

"Well, I'm—hic—durned. I wash over—hic—there just now and they—hic—told me thish was the oppersite shide."—Evansville Argus.

Stood Up

Jimmy O'Kairo got married the other day, and the following morning the next door neighbor asked his mother:

"Who stood up for him?"

"Who shtood up for him, is it? An' shure an' does ye think that he was so drunk that he couldn't schtand up for himself? Arrah, but ye are mistaken in Jimmy. To be shure, he was a little drunk before the praycher come, but as soon as we towld him 'Here comes the praycher,' ah, the dear laddie buck, ye ought to have seen him sober up. That bye could fool the divil himself."—Kentucky State Journal.

In discussing the vexed question of polygamy the New York Sun strikes the right nail on the head when it says: "Inasmuch as the highest judicial tribunal in the land has already expressly declared that Congress now has power under the Constitution to prohibit plural marriage in all places under the exclusive dominion of the United States, we see no reason for amending the Constitution, as proposed by Congressman Rosecrans. There is law enough against polygamy already. The difficulty is in its enforcement."

The President in his message declares against polygamy in Utah and other States and Territories, and recommends stringent laws for the suppression of the evil. He also favors the repeal of the Act upon which the existing government depends, and the resumption by the General Government of the entire political control of the Territory of Utah.

ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California. Thomas Ashton, Plaintiff, vs. The Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in the County of Inyo, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

The People of the State of California send greeting to the Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named Plaintiff, in the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this Summons—if served within this County; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.

The said action is brought to recover from you the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, due for work and labor done and performed and services rendered by Plaintiff for Defendant in caring for, protecting and preserving the mines, mill and water of Defendant situated in Beveridge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California, from the fourth day of January, 1883, to the Fifteenth day of October, 1883; all of which said work and labor done and performed and services rendered by the Plaintiff for Defendant were at the special instance and request of Defendant; also, for interest on said sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the Fifteenth day of October, 1883, until paid, and for costs of suit, as appears by the complaint on file herein and to which reference is here made.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint as above required, the said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, interest as aforesaid, and costs of suit.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, this Sixteenth day of November, A. D. 1883, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund; should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested, or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the first day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding; A. Spencer and Thomas Beard, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California, do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows:

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who have average monthly sales of Nothing constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in backing, loaning money at interest or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City notes, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie or any collection of animals, circus, or other equestrian performance, Ten Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, pictures, panoramas, magic lanterns, wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable or literary societies of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more per annum per month, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or viticultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auction sales at public sale under license) and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax Collector, and to each branch of said business, license and pay quarterly thereon for an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such business shall be classified as regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or being done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or dealing to the amount of twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or dealing to the amount of twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or dealing of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every transient merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals to the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are limited to the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Second—All Stallions, Jacks or Bulls, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and require a license of Six Dollars.

Third—All Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—All Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty Dollars.

Fifth—All Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Five Dollars.

Sixth—All less than Fifteen Dollars constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Two Dollars.

Seventh—Peach jacks, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—Four-horse hair Ten Dollars.

All fees for propagation obtained from the season, shall belong to the keeper of the stallion, jack or bull, and the provisions of this ordinance shall not be held to prohibit the keeping of stallions, jacks or bulls for the purpose of propagation without the license herein provided.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force and operation from and after the FIRST DAY of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in the INYO INDEPENDENT, a weekly newspaper printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

Castles in the Air.

Who among us has not builded them? Who, as the dull years have melted into decades, and the silver threads among his hair lit up the march of Time has not erected these dream-like unsubstantial palaces of fancy on the dim, shadowy corner lots of the imagination? And whoever resided in one?

Who would not, for the smallest of small considerations, give a quit-claim deed for all the reality and a clean bill of sale for the weird and ghastly furniture? And yet we all build castles in the air. The little boy on his painful way to school, with a paper of tacks in one pocket, and a mouth organ in another, builds castles in the air.

The little girl, the wee toddler of the family, as she smooths out the folds of her deep pink calico dress builds castles in the air. And the youth with the moustach—three hairs on one side and seven on the other—yet to him heavier than a whitewash brush—erects these gaudy structures in the Oriental style of architecture, with towers, and domes, and spires and minarets, and the maiden fair, first in war, first in peace and first in the heart of the aforesaid heavily bearded chevalier, rear, the fairest of beautiful fairies' homes.

And the patient wife, humming the old tunes of her childhood, and sewing the 999th button on the fatal shirt, builds castles in the air. And the young husband who is—is to be—or, for sometime back has been, erects these fragmentary edifices on the foundations of love—or on the shifting sands of defeated anticipation.

Castles in the air? Magic cities of the realms of day dreams illuminated by the brilliant light of Hope? Call not their architects the devotees of visionary schemes.

Hope shines through all the corridors of castles in the air, and sheds its beams far out upon the rugged path of life. But for these airy, fairy castles in the air, Ambition's hand might palsied fall, and all the fires of strong impetuous youth, die out to smoldering embers of a dead forgotten past.

Fair Play Wanted.

The press generally, outside of San Francisco, where by some means it has been silenced, are severe in their comments on the manifest injustice of a San Francisco Court and Grand Jury toward W. M. Neilson, Mrs. Sharon-Hill and their counsel. Legal knowledge is not necessary to understand the injustice of a criminal indictment when a civil suit for a large amount of money is based upon the grounds upon which the indictment bears. It is an assumption of guilt entirely unwarranted, and gives the opportunity of first trying criminal offence, and then bring the weight, the odium of that trial to bear upon the other. Any one can understand the feeling that prompted their counsel to protest against such an outrage, and if it involved contempt of the court and jury they need overhauling at the bar of indignant public opinion.—[Kern County Californian.]

The Altar Mounds.

The curious discoveries in the exploration in the altar mounds in Anderson Township, Ohio, are made all the more interesting by the fact that native gold has for the first time been found in the mounds. Among the numerous ornaments unearthed, including those of mica, shells, bear's teeth, stone, copper, iron and silver, was one small copper pendant covered with a thin sheet of gold. Other copper ornaments were covered with hammered sheets of native silver; and the hammered metal bracelets, the large spool shaped earrings, the terra-cotta figures, revealing the peculiar method of weaving the hair, show that the fashionable young lady of Madison Square is not so far, in the ethnological interest from the mystic maidens of the altar mounds as she might suppose. Moreover, in thousands of objects of interest obtained in these mounds, there are ornaments which in point of novelty are not now rivalled, for there are ear ornaments made of meteoric iron, plated with iron. A serpent cut out of mica, an animal carved from stone, three hundred astragoli of the deer and elk, apparently collected for some important reason, and unique objects in micaceous schist, obsidian, chalcedony and chert were found upon these quaint altars.

Bit by bit, as the leafy mould is taken off the footprints of time, there seems to come out of darkness glimpses of a cultured race that passed over this continent before the North American Indians came here, burying their dead along the Ohio, where they are now being unearthed, and ornamenting their persons with peculiar and precious metals.

Sat Down On.

"I don't altogether like this young man Millikin, who comes to see you so often. I hear he is nothing but a poor dry-goods clerk," is what the head of the family said to his daughter one day at the dinner table. "He is a very nice young gentleman," replied the daughter; "besides he is something more than a 'poor dry goods clerk.' He gets a large salary, and is manager of one of the departments and expects some day to have an interest in the business."

"I hope he may," responded the old man, "but he strikes me as a very flippant, impertinent young person, and in my opinion he should be sat down upon." "Well, I have invited him to take tea with us this evening," said the daughter, "and I hope you will treat him politely, at least. You will find him a very different person from what you suppose him to be." "Oh, I'll treat him politely enough," he said.

That evening Mr. Millikin appeared at supper, and made a most favorable impression upon the old gentleman. "He is a clever young fellow, after all," he thought. "I have done him an injustice." It was just here that Bobby spoke out. Bobby was a well-meaning little boy, but too talkative. "Papa," he ventured, "you know what you said to-day at dinner about Mr. Millikin; that he was an impertinent young man and ought to be sat down upon——" "Silence, sir!" shouted the father, swallowing a mouthful of hot potato. But the little boy wouldn't silence. "It's all right," he continued, confidentially, but in a whisper loud enough to be heard out of doors, "he has been sat down upon. Sister sat down on him last night for two hours." After this the dinner went on more quietly, owing to Bobby's sudden and very jerky departure.

"HELLO!" ejaculated a guardian to his pretty niece, as he entered the parlor and saw her in the arms of a swain who had just popped the question and sealed it with a kiss, "what's the time of day now?" "I should think it was about half-past twelve," was the cool reply of the blushing damsel; "you see we are almost one."

"GENERAL KNOX" is the name of one of the ships, the officers of which are at present before the San Francisco Courts for cruelty to seamen. "General Knox" is a good name for an American ship. "General Kicks" and "General Ill-treatment" would be two other good names.

Gambling.

No passion can lead to such extremities, nor involve a man in such a complicated train of crimes and vices, and ruin whole families so completely, as the baneful rage of gambling. It produces and nourishes all imaginable disgraceful sensations; it is the most fertile nursery of covetousness, envy, rage, malice, dissimulation, falsehood, and foolish reliance on blind fortune; it frequently leads to fraud, quarrels, murder forgery, meanness and despair, and robs us in the most unpardonable manner of the greatest and most irrecoverable treasure—time. Those who are rich act foolishly in venturing their money in uncertain speculation; and those who have not much to risk must play with timidity, and cannot long continue to play, unless the fortune of the game turns, being obliged to quit the field at the first heavy blow; or, if they strike everything to force the blind goddess to smile upon them at last, madly hazard their being reduced to instant beggary. The gambler but rarely dies a rich man; those who have had the good fortune to realize some property in this miserable way, and continue playing, are guilty of a two-fold folly. Trust no person of that description, of what ever rank or character he may be.

MAN, that is married to woman, is of many days and full of trouble. In the morning he draws his salary, and in the evening behold it is gone. It is a tale that is told; it vanisheth and no one knows whither it goeth. He raiseth up clothed in the chilly garments of the night, and seeketh the somnambulent paregoric wherewith to soothe the sticky bowels of his infant posterity. He becometh as a horse or ox and draweth the chariot of his offspring. He spendeth his shekels in the purchase of fine linen to cover the bosom of his family, yet himself is seen in the gates of the city with one suspender. Yea, he is altogether wretched.

"SO you prefer my medicines to those of Doctor Pillsbury?" Mrs. Mulligan: "Och, indade, doctor, dear, ye're a dale better than th'other ould humbug!"

SALUTATORY.

In placing our name at the head of a paper that is as old a pioneer sheet as the INDEPENDENT is, we do so with many misgivings; full well knowing our lack of ability to do justice to the paper and the people that read it; but in so doing we have made a firm resolve to do our best.

The INDEPENDENT is the county paper and as such should represent the interests of the people of the county, and in order to do so, we solicit letters, articles and items from all parts and every section. Correspondents are desired at every town and village, and frequent contributions [in the literary line,] are earnestly asked for, and will be gratefully accepted.—[Poems on "Gentle Spring" will be excepted.]

So, all ye massive letter writers, local jokers and essayists "hop onto a quill" and help the "SCREWDRIVER" along.

N. E. CONKLIN.

TO SUBSCRIBERS AND ADVERTISERS.

On and after the seventeenth day of this month no payments will be recognized by THE INDEPENDENT except those made to me or to THE INDEPENDENT's authorized agents.

N. E. CONKLIN.

☞ It is surprising that a newspaper possessing the influence and circulation that the San Francisco Argonaut should possess, should pick out or choose from all religions, one sect against which to direct its ire. But, nevertheless, it does. One cannot pick up an issue but that the editorial columns are crowded with articles, written by prejudiced persons, and many times, perhaps, infidels. It is astonishing that a man, and an American citizen would or could express such sentiments as Frank M. Pixley expresses or allows to be expressed through the columns of his paper; he surely cannot be a citizen in heart, for he does not believe in universal religious liberty. He is supposed to support the Constitution of the Government under which he lives; but does he do so? No. Most decidedly, no. For, she protects all churches, sects, and faiths with rigid impartiality from the encroachments of each other; whereby persecution is rendered impossible, and the members of different sects, being compelled to live in harmony together, gradually lose their harsh prejudices and learn, instead of hating, to 'love one another.' The Argonaut tries to stir up strife; it persecutes through the medium of the press; it allows no old prejudices to die out, but tries to engraft new ones by telling what is false.

RATHER late to print as news the beginning of Congress, which has now been running two weeks; we will simply mention the fact that Gorham "got left" on the Clerkship of the Senate, being beaten by Gen. Anson G. McCook, of New York; and that Carlisle, of Kentucky, was elected Speaker of the House.

O'DONNELL HANGED.

O'Donnell, the murderer of the informer, Carey, paid the penalty, his life, at Newgate, London, last Monday. There is no doubt but that he was guilty of one of the foulest murders—none the less so because committed on as despisable a traitor as Carey, by his own confession, was proven to be. Though, public opinion generally justifies O'Donnell, and throughout Ireland, at least, he is considered and mourned as a martyr. Public opinion would have justified Sergeant Mason, had he killed Guiteau, but he would nevertheless have been guilty of a cold-blooded murder. The sense of wrong and the backing of public opinion will overcome the fear of the letter of the law. So with O'Donnell. He depended on the state of the public mind, then active in condemnation of the Phœnix Park traitor, for his justification; but public opinion was of no avail with the Court the prejudiced servant, in more than the usual degree, of the Crown, as much or even more, if possible, set against O'Donnell and in favor of Carey than the Irish were in favor of O'Donnell and against Carey.

In the mere matter of the sentence and punishment, American courts of justice could well copy after the example of this English one, in the promptness of the punishment. Two weeks intervened between the conviction and the punishment. The emotional bouquet-senders would have no time to weep and carry on around the Governor until, in self-protection, he would pardon the criminal, or exert his influence in his favor.

HANCOCK IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Gen. W. S. Hancock arrived in San Francisco a week ago last Wednesday, by way of the Central Pacific. At Port Costa he was received by a committee, among whom were: W. T. Coleman, J. S. Tabor, John H. Wise, ex-Governors Irwin and Perkins, W. W. Morrow, Frank M. Pixley, of the Police Gazette Argonaut, and Judge Hager, chairman of the Committee. The General is accompanied by his wife, his aid, and Mrs. Foster, cousin of Mrs. Hancock, and occupied a special car in which they have traveled from New York. Judge Hager welcomed the General in a complimentary speech, and extended a hearty greeting on behalf of the citizens whom he represented without regard to party. Brief addresses were also made by Gov. Perkins and William T. Coleman. At the ferry landing they were met by the Mayor of the city who accompanied them to the Palace Hotel.

At ten o'clock the General presented himself on one of the lower galleries and was introduced by Mayor Bartlett to the assemblage, consisting of some two thousand persons, and spoke as follows: "I am not a stranger to California, for I was here twenty-five years ago, and ever since I have longed to revisit the scenes which I then saw. I have heard of your progress and your greatness and I rejoice in them. I have many old friends here and hope to make new ones. When I left New York I was sick. I took advantage of incidental business to come to California for the purpose of recuperating my health, which was low, for you know I suffered a brief spell of sickness some time ago; but as soon as I had crossed the mountains and breathed your balmy air I felt better already and I hope to continue to get better. In conclusion, let me thank you and the band for honoring me with your presence and music and let me assure the citizens present that I feel like one of them."

The General then retired, while the cheers of the crowd continued to ring through the courtyard. The hand-shaking was then begun, a task which was soon finished, as but a limited number of citizens were permitted to pass the officers stationed at the foot of the staircase.

The attorneys for Frank James are arranging to have him released on bail. Then this great Missourian will be himself again.

LAST Tuesday evening a shocking accident occurred in Gold Hill, by which one boy was killed, another fatally injured, two more had their legs broken, and others were badly hurt. It appears that a number of boys from nine to sixteen years of age had combined and constructed a sort of cave or subterranean den in a steep bank, making a drift six or seven feet long, and at the end of it, excavating a chamber some eight feet square. No timbers or supports were used. At the time mentioned, while seven or eight boys were in the cave, when the roof, or the greater part of it fell in. About three tons of earth came down, burying all but one, who gave the alarm. The boys were soon dug out, when the injuries were found to be as stated. Particulars are taken from Wednesday's Enterprise.

IKE GORDON, one of our old residenters, committed suicide in Los Angeles last week. Caused by jealousy.

UNDER the caption 'Died at His Post," the Los Angeles Mirror has this to say of a well-known ex-Inyoite:

Dr. V. Gelcich, of this city, Thursday received the sad intelligence of the death from yellow fever, at Hermosillo, Sonora, on the 7th inst., of his brother, Dr. Peter G. Gelcich.

From the letter conveying the painful news it appears that, owing to his severe labors in professionally attending upon the very numerous victims of the scourge whose sufferings he was called upon to relieve, Dr. Gelcich's whole system had become poisoned and enfeebled. Notwithstanding that, he kept at his post of duty, laying aside all fear, and putting forth all his strength and talent in the cause of humanity.

On the 3d day of October, after he had visited all his patients, he returned home, and within ten minutes he had all the symptoms of the fever. All was done to relieve his suffering, and every effort made to save him, but all in vain. For four days he grew worse, and on the morning of the 7th of October he dfed.

Dr. Gelcich was known as a man of large general intelligence and recognized medical proficiency, who performed valuable services for humanity during the prevalence of the fearful epidemic in Hermosillo. Many of his patients recovered under his effective treatment, and he acquired deserved popularity among all classes. He leaves a wife and seven children in Hermosillo, and a brother, Dr. V. Gelcich, in this city, to mourn his death. The latter, who is plunged in grief by this affliction, said of his dead brother last night: "He expired like a good Christian, knowing that he had performed his duty. All Hermosillo has shed tears for his loss."

Yellow Fever.

MR. EDITOR:—Noticing articles in the several city papers pertaining to the yellow fever, I would like, through the columns of your paper, to state my own personal experience, having had the disease twice in childhood.

Persons recovering from it will have a yellow hue for a couple of months. In severe cases I have seen the toe and finger nails turn to inky blackness upon the convalescence. The physicians South order (where the disease has been brought by ship from an infected port) all clothing and bedding destroyed; and where it has not been pronounced, and an order issued the place where it has been is fumigated with pitch. A person can have the yellow fever several times—provided they don't die with it the first—by leaving and returning to a place subject to it, after several years absence. There is danger of contracting the disease twenty-one days after being exposed to it.

DIED.

At San Francisco, December 22d, 1883, J. S. ROTHSCHILD, in the 68th year of his age.

The deceased was the father of Mrs. A. W. Beshutz, of this place, and the senior member of the firm of J. S. Rothschild & Co.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 22.....1883

THE INDIAN CONCLAVE.—On Monday last our reporter had the pleasure of visiting the Indian festivities then in progress at their camp situated about seven miles South of town. On reaching the place he took the following:

On arriving at the place we found that the "heap big dance 'em ah-here" had begun. In the centre of a circle formed by many bruves and a few dusky maidens, there stood two children of the sage-brush; their noble forms were clothed in what we supposed to be their native costume, and on their heads, held proudly erect, were ornaments of feathers plucked from the narrative of some farmer's turkey; while, from their waists, robes of rabbit's fur fell in graceful profusion, but, when blown back by the playful breeze, disclosed to view a pair of greasy old overalls clinging lovingly to slender limbs.

Soon "music? arose with its voluptuous swell" [yum, yum.] and the mighty war dance of the wronged, downtrodden and abused red man, was in full blast, and we were disappointed.

We expected to hear the blood-curdling war whoop echo o'er the quiet plain and reverberate amongst the lofty crags of the Sierras; and see the fire flash from their piercing eyes, while the very blood would be frozen in our veins, upon beholding the fierce demeanor of the "mighty braves." But instead, how different. The Indian as lean, and lank as a sage-brush coyote, stamped until he was knee deep in the sand, while three comrads shook sticks at him, in time with the tune that surely, the old cow died on.

Later, we again visited the "fandango."

It was evening. Night had unfurled her leaden shroud and Luna, gentle goddess of the stilly night, was yet behind the grave, old Inyos in the East.

Around us, close to the camp-fires, sat the Indians in stolid silence. No sound disturbs the quiet that reigns o'er all, save the low chant of the dusky warriors; the screech of the night hawk as he winds his solitary flight over the desert waste, or, the growl of a pet pup when an old boot is taken away.

At last, being able to endure the dreary scene no longer we left for town.

THE SENTENCE.—On Monday last at two o'clock, the Superior Court met for the purpose of sentencing Aaron Hood, who is charged with being guilty of assault with a deadly weapon, and liable to do great bodily injury.

The counsel for defendant opened the proceedings by making a motion for a new trial, upon the grounds that the verdict was contrary to the evidence and law. The motion was denied by the Court and counsel, S. D. Woods, then made a brilliant and able speech for the mitigation of sentence, which speech was very favorably commented on by the audience; at the end of which the Judge ordered the prisoner to stand and then passed the sentence of two years in the State Prison. On the following Wednesday, Sheriff Gregg took "Hickey" to Bishop Creek and from there he will be in charge of Dr. S. G. George, of Oakland. Hood will serve out his term at San Quentin.

POTOSI TUNNEL.—The latest advices received from Cerro Gordo are that the developments in the Potosi Tunnel on the deposit uncovered some two months since, are progressing favorably. A recent examination made at the end of the thirty-foot drift running on the main lode, disclosed a body of fine ore. An incline shaft has been sunk on the foot wall at this point to a depth of twenty feet, in which the ore continues to show well, with every indication that at this point begins the pay chute, and, unless the ground should change radically from its present nature, there must exist in this vicinity a large and valuable body of ore. The Superintendent has determined to put on a force of men at once to open up and prepare the ground for the extraction and shipment of ore.

NEW MILL.—W. A. Greenly is preparing to erect a 5-stamp gold mill on Cottonwood Creek, some five miles above Lopez's Ranch, Fish Lake Valley. Mr. P. A. Chalfant, of this place, is purchasing and shipping material and machinery and informs us that, unless prevented by stress of weather, will have the mill in operation early in March. We are well assured, from all accounts, that this mill will prove a vast benefit to that section, and, at the same time a big thing for the owner and those directly interested with him. Most assuredly all concerned have the best wishes of all who know them, (and who is there that don't?), in their undertaking.

INITIAL RUN.—The Swansea Furnace fired up on its initial run last Monday evening and ran successfully until Tuesday forenoon, when, by the breaking of a pump it was compelled to blow down. This was a most unfortunate accident, for it was but trivial and interfered with what promised to be a most successful run. A few days at most, will repair damages, when the furnace will be again started. During the short run of the furnace forty bars of bullion were run out. Supt. Wheeler is in good spirits and expects to make a grand success.

IMPROVEMENTS.—During the week a few improvements have been commenced and finished around town. Billy Lake is putting up a new barn on his lot back of the "INYO" office and is fencing in his property. George Bartsche has built a new house on the place he has rented; and a partition has been put in upstairs in Tom Webb's butcher shop, making a very comfortable office, into which THE INDEPENDENT is proposed to be moved if nothing intervenes.

PERSONALS.—Mr. J. S. Gorman arrived home from San Francisco on Monday the 17th, at which city he closed the sale of his interest in the Defiance Mine and furnace at Darwin. Mr. Gorman is newly furnishing his recently purchased house on the old Gerrish place, and intends to leave his family here during the winter.

Yesterday the Darwin school closed for the holidays and the teacher, Miss Minnie Thomson is expected home on to-morrow's train

Chas. McEvoy from the Freeborn Canyon Mill is in town. The mill is shut down for the season, but work will be carried on in the development of the Company's mines.

Lawyer George is once more among us, knocking his coat tails around, rolling cigarettes and telling the old stories over again.

Last week Senator P. Reddy went down the valley via the C. & C. R. R. to Darwin for the purpose of looking after his extensive mining interests in that section. He is expected to return and spend his Christmas in our town.

Tom Boland of Keeler City, and R. Diaz, a big stock man of Lone Pine were in town during the week.

Mr. Farrar, late Superintendent of the Elna Furnace, accompanied by Jerry Mairs, left for Mojave last Thursday. Mr. Farrar intends to go to Arizona and Jerry will return home.

Mr. Nixon of Clover Patch is in town but will soon return to Wild Rose.

Seth Kelly, one of the participants in the late Bishop Creek shooting, is in town. His attorney, W. P. George, is making application for a writ of habeas corpus.

Mrs. Olinghouse, of Wadsworth, Nevada, is visiting her brother, J. R. Eldred, of the Blaney House.

THE XMAS FESTIVITIES.

Great preparations are being made throughout the valley to celebrate the holidays. At

BISHOP CREEK,

The school exhibition, and dance to follow, Christmas Eve; also turkey, trap and glass-ball shooting to-day, Monday and Tuesday, with an occasional horse race, by way of variety.

BIG PINE.

A bal masque will take place in the evening, but all persons, whether masked or not will be allowed the floor. Judging from the preparations of the fair damsels of the north this will be a great success.

INDEPENDENCE.

In the evening a Christmas tree will be given by the people of the vicinity; a committee having been appointed to receive the presents at the Court House during the day. After the presents have been distributed those who desire may indulge in the mazy dance, as good music will be furnished.

LONE PINE,

Last, but by no means the least, for, at this place will be given the grandest ball that that social little town has had this season. The commodious Peterson's Hall has been secured for dancing purposes, and supper will be served at the Whitney House. The following are the Committee of Arrangements:—J. J. Stewart, M. C. Lasky, John Anton, Richard Richards, Robert Carrasco and Al McRae, by whom the people of Lone Pine and the surrounding country are cordially invited,—an invitation which some of our townsmen are going to accept, and attend.

ELNA.—The Elna Furnace has not yet made its repairs, but will in a few days be ready to again fire up. A large quantity of ore is ready for smelting, not only from the Company's mines, but by shipments made, and ready to be made from various points.

COPPER.—It is reported from authentic sources that it is exceedingly likely that arrangements will be made to immediately start the copper furnace at Soda Springs. This will be agreeable news for the owners of copper mines, as it will open a near market for the sale of copper ores, where both high and low grade ores can be realized upon.

THE BLACKLEG.—It seems that the "blackleg" has "come to stay" among the cattle in the valley. At and near Camp Independence, more or less stock dies every day. We find an article on this disease in an exchange, in the course of which vaccination of the cattle, as in small-pox in man, is recommended, and several instances are noted, in which this treatment was entirely successful. It is worth trying, at any rate.

TAXES.—It will be but a few days before taxes for this year will become delinquent and an additional cost of five per cent. added thereto. To save this additional cost it will be necessary to do some "rustling" in the near future, as there are but few more Mondays in this year. Times are dull, but we must remember the inevitables - taxes and death.

FIRE.—On Monday last, the schoolhouse of Union district caught fire, but was speedily put out. The house suffered but little material damage, except from the ardorous hands of the young gentlemen scholars who pulled the roofing off until they were red in the face. The damages have been repaired, and the school has taken a vacation until after the holidays.

TRAMPS.—The conductors on the C & C. Railroad report that they are much troubled by tramps who are headed this way, and we may soon expect in our midst a number of this strange and nomadic tribe. Thus we see that the railroad is indeed opening up to us a new era.

THE KEELER POST OFFICE.—The Post Office at Keeler was opened on Tuesday morning for business. This will be a great accommodation to Swansea and Cerro Gordo. It is likely that Cerro Gordo will soon have a daily mail.

O, yes! We all know:—

That there will be feats of strength and skill at Bishop; a masquerade at Big Pine; a—a Christmas tree, and perhaps a dance at Independence, while at Lone Pine one may touch the floor lightly in company with one of their local beauties, and be filled to the brim with good things at Webb's, who is going to furnish the supper.

That Mike is one of the Committee of Arrangements.

That Johnnie has just received from below a big square piano and four baby chairs and is going to keeping house.

That you want your beef-steak cooked as it is ordered. And don't you forget it.

That,

"In the town of Independence,
That old town quaint, and sober,
There dwells a little dude,
His name 'tis"—just laid over.

NEEDS REPAIRING.—Opposite the Blaney House the sidewalk crossing on the west side of the street needs repairing very badly. Last night one of our big citizens walked off into the ditch and came very near receiving severe injuries.

The old government buildings at the Fort are rapidly being torn down and hauled away; wagons daily passing through town loaded with the lumber.

BEVERIDGE.—Parties in from Beveridge District report a new gold strike of great richness.

FOR burns and scalds nothing is more soothing than the white of an egg, which may be poured over the wound. It is softer as a varnish for a burn than collodion, and being always at hand, can be applied. It is also more cooling than the sweet oil and cotton which was formerly supposed to be the surest application to allay the smarting pain. It is the contact with the air which gives the extreme discomfort experienced from the ordinary accident of this kind, and anything that excludes the air and prevents inflamation is the thing to be at once applied.

MACKAY declares that, as soon as the water can be got out of the lower levels of the Comstock mines, the public will be astonished at the richness of the remaining deposits.

BY VIRTUE OF AN EXECUTION ISSUED out of the Superior Court, in and for the County of Inyo, State of California, in the suit of C. L. Van Loan, Plff, against A. D. Conkling, O. I. Mairs, John Clarke, C. H. Hollenbeck and M. H. White, Defendants, upon a judgment rendered in said Court on the Twenty-ninth day of October, A. D. 1883, for the sum of One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-eight 49-100 Dollars, besides costs amounting to the sum of One Hundred 45-100 Dollars, duly attested the Twentieth day of November, A. D. 1883, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of $2,028 94-100 besides accruing costs and interest, I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of the said Defendants, John Clarke, C. H. Hollenbeck and M. H. White, to and to the following described real property, to wit:

That certain quartz mill situated in Saline Valley, Inyo County, California, and known as the Saline Valley Mill, together with the mill-site, water right and ditch belonging to and appertaining thereto, and all improvements and appurtenances thereunto belonging and appertaining.

Also, all those certain mines and mining claims, situated in Beveridge Mining District, Inyo county, California, described as follows: The Laura mine, the Rising Star mine (sometimes called the "Lapwing"), the Paddy Jack mine and the Lost Child mine; said mines being each 1,500 feet in length by 600 feet in width.

Also, that certain road leading and running from the Saline Valley mill to Waucoba and joining what is known as Campbell's road.

Also, the trail leading from the Laura mine and the Rising Star mine to the said Saline Valley mill.

Notice is hereby given that on MONDAY, the SEVENTEENTH day of DECEMBER, A. D. 1883, between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., to wit: at the hour of 1 o'clock P. ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California. Thomas Bastian, Plaintiff, v. The Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in the County of Inyo, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

The People of the State of California send greeting to the Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above-named Plaintiff in the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this Summons—if served within this County; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.

The said action is brought to recover of you the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, due for work and labor done and performed and services rendered by Plaintiff for Defendant in caring for, protecting and preserving the mines, mill and water of Defendant, situated in Panamint Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California, from the Fourth day of January, 1883, to the Fifteenth day of October, 1883; all of which said work and labor done and performed and services rendered at the special instance and request of Defendent; also, for interest on said sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the Fifteenth day of October, 1883, until paid, and for costs of suit, as appears by the complaint on file herein and to which reference is here made.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, interest as aforesaid, and costs of suit.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, this Sixteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three.

[SEAL] JOHN CROUCH, Clerk.
JOHN W. P. LAIRD, Attorney for Plaintiff.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested, or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A FUND to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the First day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding. A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California, do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest, or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks, or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion, or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CSASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley, Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, Seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by any amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty-five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or vinicultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business; license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeons, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind, must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and require a license of Seventy-five Dollars.

Second—At Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class, and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class, and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect, and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.

E. ROBINSON, Chairman.

THE NIGHT AFTER CHRISTMAS

'Twas night after Christmas, the boys were wide awake,
After stuffing with turkey and pudding and cake,
And doughnuts and oysters and and plums, and mince pies,
There were moanings and groanings and piteous cries:
"O, my stomach!" "O, Moses!" "O, help, I shall die!"
"How I wish that I hadn't had half so much pie!"
"O, mother!" "Come, hurry!" "O, what shall I do?"
"Bring something to cure me!" "Boo hoo!" and "Boo hoo!"

It's a Telephone.

A well to-do but unsophisticated farmer from one of the border counties of Indiana, was in the city lately, attending the Fat Stock Show, and brought along his wife and daughters to see the sights and do some shopping. Among other places they visited was Mandel's new store, and after wandering around the first floor for a while the party came to a stop near the elevators. One of the daughters was first to discover the cars moving silently up and down, receiving and discharging their cargoes of passengers. She jerked her father's coat sleeve to direct his attention to the phenomenon, and in a tone that was audible to the clerks in the neighborhood, asked:

"What's that, paw?—that thing going up and down with sofys in it?"

The old man gave the elevator a long, calm, deliberate, scrutinizing stare, and exclaimed with joy:

"By gosh! it's a telephone—the first I ever see!"—[Chicago Inter-Ocean.

ON Monday a fair-haired, blue eyed German made his appearance at the Land Office with his attorney and witnesses, for the purpose of securing a piece of Government land on which he had settled. One of the witnesses sworn was a colored citizen named Strickland, as black a man as ever roamed through Central Africa with a spear in one hand and missionary tract in the other. It is necessary to ask certain questions laid down in the formula prescribed by the Government. One of these is:

"Are you interested in the claim?"

"No, sah," answered Strickland.

Another is:

"Are you related by blood or marriage to the claimant?"

For a moment the darkey stared at the lawyer, and bursting into a loud guffaw, answered:

"Don't look much like it, does it, boss?"

The unanimous guffaw confirmed Mr. Strickland's suspicions that it did not.—[Stockton Mail.

As a dude was passing a residence in Lawrence, Mass., a young girl came to the door and cried: "Monkey, monkey, come into the house!" The dude was hopping mad, and just about to ring the bell and demand apologies of the family, when he saw that the girl was calling a little pug dog in the street. He can't get over his own mistake, though.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29 1883

ST.LL ANOTHER CHANGE.

THE INDEPENDENT has again changed its management, as will be seen by a glance at the first page of to-day's paper. We take the rudder with a full knowledge of the trials and troubles to be run up against in steering this craft once more into deep and smooth waters. For years, and until quite recently, THE INDEPENDENT has been one of the very brightest weekly papers on the Pacific Coast, but owing to the dropping off of patronage in all directions, the proprietors have not been able in the last few months to keep the paper up to its original mark of excellence. Now, however, it is apparent that a change for the better is certain. Our mines are attracting attention and interesting capital, owing to recent bullion shipments, and the outlook generally for a bright future is better than it has been for years for Inyo county. We intend to make the paper—what it once was—a welcome visitor in every household, and to this end will put forth every effort to furnish subscribers a live local paper. But, dear readers, in order to do this we need your assistance. Send us items of interest from your respective localities, urge your neighbors who come to borrow the paper to read to subscribe for a copy ($5 a year, invariably in advance) and we will guarantee an equivalent for the money. In short, the county needs THE INYO INDEPENDENT of old, and we are prepared to furnish the same with the aid of those interested in seeing this one of the leading mining and agricultural centers of California—which with its resource properly developed it is bound to become.

Custom making it proper, we raise our tile and make the usual bow.

M. M. GLENN.

BUSINESS NOTICE.

On and after this date all the business of this office will be done through me, I having taken charge of both the job and newspaper department. A new set of books have been opened which date from the 15th of this month. Advertisers will hereafter be called upon monthly for settlements. Subscribers who have paid in advance for the paper will receive it up to the date for which they have paid. A reasonable time will be given others who now receive the INDEPENDENT, but stand in arrears on the books, to come forward and pay for the paper from the 15th up to any time they may state, otherwise their names will be dropped from the list. It is hoped every person in the county will come forward and throw in their mite toward making THE INDEPENDENT a good paper.

M. M. GLENN.

FREIGHT RATES.—Believing that it would interest our readers to know what are the present rates of freight from San Francisco and Sacramento to Independence and other Owens River points on the C. & C. R. R. and also the back freights to San Francisco and Sacramento, we have been to considerable trouble to obtain same, which we find to be as below, in cents per 100 pounds, from San Francisco:

On first class freight—gen'l mdse. in lots less than carloads		$2.13

Common Lumber is delivered at Bishop and Hawley, in carload lots of not less than 6,000 feet, from Carson at $35.00 per 1,000 feet—freight being $18.00, and cost of lumber at Carson $17.00.

A DAILY paper is soon to be started at Port Townsend, W. T., by Hugh Glenn and Deacon (R. R.) Parkinson.

THE recent fire at Candelaria, Nev., destroyed twenty-one houses. The loss is estimated at $60,000.

THE local travel on the Carson and Colorado railroad is quite light.

THE "oldest inhabitant" has doomed this section to another dry season.

THE BAD OUTLOOK FOR LEAD.

Recent quotations of the price of lead in the great markets of the East and Europe are daily becoming more discouraging to our Inyo smelters, and in direct consequence is alarming to silver miners whose ores have to be reduced in connection with lead. At Cerro Gordo, in those flush days when base bullion was abundant and freights were heavy, it was well understood that the lead itself paid the cost of smelting, transportation and separating, leaving the silver and gold clear except as to cost of mining. There has been a steady decline in the market value of lead since then, with occasional fluctuations effected by attempted "corners." The decrease in the value of the metal, at least so far as this county is concerned, has been vastly out of proportion to the somewhat reduced cost of production and shipment. The deduction is inevitable that miners of argentiferous-galena ores must count its value per ton at a much less figure, according to assays, than formerly. The latest reports from New York states that for November spot sales of 1,000 tons have been made at 3.70. Commenting upon this subject a late number of the Leadville Herald says:

The effects of the present low prices of lead cannot long be diverted from Leadville and neighboring mining districts. As yet no evil results have been experienced beyond a depressed feeling among mining and smelting men, who talk little, but seem to be thinking a great deal. Every one realizes the true cause of the decline, and comprehends the impossibility of checking the downward tendency of the market, unless the source of the lead supply—the mines—are shut down. The continued production of lead, although the metal is not thrown on the market, will not assist matters. A stock on hand, threatening to be marketed at any time, is almost as detrimental to a firm and fair market as if the metal was in the hands of the corroders and manufacturers. It is, moreover, impossible to secure capital to carry this metal. Large sums have been lost in the last three months in this scheme, and those who hold lead realize that even if it sells at a trifle better figure while they retain their holdings, the moment they attempt to dispose of them the quotation declines, and the result eventually proves disastrous. The relief, therefore, is a decreased production, and this will only be effected by such low prices that our low-grade mines will be unable to extract their ores at a profit. A number of mine managers have already expressed the fear that they would soon have to suspend ore shipments, or would at any rate reduce their productions very materially. The mines are, however, all loathe to take the measure, and will continue as long as possible.

The low price of lead is also very severe on the smelters, many of whom have from 10 to 50,000 tons of ore on hand, purchased when lead ranged from 4.25 to 4.60. Another source of loss are existing contracts with mines which promise to run for some time. When these contracts were made no one thought of lead going below four. In consequence, where a graduated scale was adopted, no provisions were made for a decreased price to be paid per unit, in proportion to the decline of lead below 4.25. On account of this oversight nearly all the smelters are now paying some of the mines with whom they have long contracts, 30 and 35 cents a unit for the lead in their ores, equal to $30 and $35 per ton. All that lead, as bullion, on the cars here brings is $28 to $30. As might naturally be inferred, a smelter who pays $35 for the lead in the ore, from which he is obliged to deduct 6 to 10 per cent. for loss in smelting, is even in a worse boat than the miner. Twenty cents a unit for inferior ore, and 25 cents for choice ore, promises to be a good price for lead hereafter. This is a startling decline from 40 and 45 cents a unit, the price paid only a few months ago.

The writer met Governor Grant yesterday morning. The governor seemed just a little discouraged.

"I see no object," he said, "in either working a mine or running a smelter at present. I am alarmed over the future of the mining and smelting industry. A short time ago we got $40 and $42 a ton for lead; this morning I cannot get $30."

"What do you think will be the ultimate result of these low prices?" asked the writer.

"With the decline in lead, the smelters will have to redruce the prices paid for ore. These, I regret to say, are now so low that further reduction will virtually prohibit many mines from shipping. A decreased production, and a consumption of the surplus stock on hand will bring about a better feeling, and a more favorable market. Both mines and smelters will, however, suffer before this can be accomplished."

In 1876 lead sold at 7 cents and over. While one of the Leadville mines was a shipper at the time, the distance from the railroads and smelters doubtless left the miner little if any more than our miners are receiving at the present time. The mine to which we have reference is the old Rock mine, of the Iron Silver Company, owned at that time by Messrs. Wood and Stevens. The ore shipped consisted of heavy carbonates, containing from 60 to 70 per cent. of lead, and little silver. The mineral was hauled by bull teams to Colorado Springs, and from there shipped by rail to the St. Louis Smelting and Refining Company's works at St. Louis.

Continue north on said seventeenth course; at thirty-two (32) chains and twenty eight (28) links from the said stake marked "C D No. 8½" reach stake marked "C D B," continue north on said seventeenth course at fifty-two (52) chains and fifty eight (58) links from the said stake marked "C D 8½," reach a stake marked "C D No. 10" situated on a gravel slope at a point from which a mesquite bush six (6) inches diameter bears north seventy-six (76) degrees thirty (30) minutes east distant eighty-three (83) links, and a mesquite bush three (3) inches diameter bears north twenty two (22) degrees thirty (30) minutes east distant ninety six (96) links; thence—

Eighteenth Course—Running from said stake marked "C D No. 10," west ten (10) chains and five (5) links to a stake marked "C D No. 11," whence a stake marked "C D K" bears south eighty nine (89) degrees forty five (45) minutes west distant thirty-nine (39) chains and sixty-five (65) links; thence—

Nineteenth Course—Running from said stake marked "C D No. 11," north [at forty (40) chains and thirty four (34) links reach a stake marked "C D No. 13"] eighty (80) chains and sixty-nine (69) links to a stake marked "C D No 15," whence "MINERAL MONUMENT NO. 33" bears north eight (8) degrees fifty (50) minutes west, and "WINTERS PEAK" bears south eighty-eight (88) degrees thirty-two (32) minutes east; thence—

Twentieth Course—Running from said stake marked "C D No. 15," west ten (10) chains and seven (7) links to a stake marked "C D No 16," on margin of dry lake, whence a stake marked "C D K" bears south eighty-nine (89) degrees forty-five (45) minutes west, distant twenty-nine (29) chains and forty-seven (47) links; thence—

Twenty first Course—North sixty (60) chains and sixty five (65) links to a chalk stone monument one (1) foot square and four (4) feet long marked "C D No 18 N E" the same being the Northeast Corner of the "Winters Borate Deposit Mine," on margin of dry bed of lake, and from which said chalk stone monument the southeast corner of the "North Coleman Borate Deposit Mine" bears north twenty-six (26) degrees forty-five (45) minutes west distant one hundred and thirteen (113) chains and eighty three (83) links; "Mineral Monument No 33" bears north eight (8) degrees forty (40) minutes west distant one hundred and forty four (144) chains and seventy-three (73) links; "Winters Peak" bears north one (1) degree thirty (30) minutes east and "Telescope Peak" bears south twenty four (24) degrees forty-five (45) minutes west; thence—

Twenty-second Course—Running from said chalk stone monument marked "C D No 18 N E," west ten (10) chains and ten (10) links to a stake marked "C D No 19" in center of a flat mush five (5) chains wide bearing north and south; thence—

Twenty-third Course—South ten (10) chains and twelve (12) links to a stake marked "C D No 20," situate in a marsh one (1) chain west of the east bank thereof; thence—

Twenty-fourth Course—West nine (9) chains and fifty six (56) links to a stake marked "C D No. 21," in dry bed of lake; thence—

Twenty fifth Course—South forty (40) chains and forty nine (49) links to a stake marked "C D N. 22," at southeast edge of marsh; thence—

Twenty-sixth Course—West nine (9) chains and eighty seven (87) links to a stake marked "C D No. 22½," in dry bed of lake; thence—

Twenty seventh Course—South ten (10) chains and ten (10) links reach a stake marked "C D K," at thirty (30) chains and twenty three (23) links reach stake marked "C D No. 23," whence the Section corner on the San Bernardino Meridian between sections thirty (30), and thirty-one (31) of Township twenty eight (28) north of range one (1) east bears south eighty nine (89) degrees eight (8) minutes west, distant one hundred and twenty-three (123) chains and ninety (90) links. Continuing south, at fifty (50) chains and forty (40) links reach a stake marked "C D C." Continuing south, at ninety (90) chains and seventy four (74) links reach a stake marked "C D F," and still continuing south reach stake marked "C D No. 25," at the distance of one hundred (100) chains and seventy four (74) links south from said stake marked "C D No 22½;" thence—

Twenty eighth Course—West, running from said stake marked "C D No 25," nine (9) chains and fifty five (55) links to a stake marked "C D No. 26;" thence—

Twenty ninth Course—South, at ten (10) chains and seven (7) links reach a stake marked "C D E," whence the Township stake on the San Bernardino Meridian between townships twenty-seven (27) and twenty eight (28) north bears south eighty-nine (89) degrees ten (10) minutes west, distant one hundred and fifteen (115) chains and fourteen (14) links; continuing south, reach a stake marked "C D No. 26½," at the distance of twenty (20) chains and twenty-one (21) links south from said stake marked "C D No. 26;" thence—

Thirtieth Course—Running from said stake marked "C D No. 26½," west eight (8) chains and seventy five (75) links to a stake marked "C D No. 27;" thence—

Thirty-first Course—South, at ten (10) chains and nineteen (19) links reach a stake marked "C D G," continuing south, reach stake marked "C D No. 27½," at the distance of twenty (20) chains and twenty-one (21) links south from said stake marked "C D No. 27;" thence—

Thirty second Course—Running from said stake marked "C D No. 27½," west seventeen (17) chains and sixty eight (68) links to a stake marked "C D No 28;" thence—

Thirty third Course—South, ten (10) chains and sixteen (16) links to a stake marked "C D No. 29;" thence—

Thirty fourth Course—East, ten (10) chains and one (1) link to a stake marked "C D No. 30;" thence—

Thirty fifth Course—South, twenty (20) chains and seventeen (17) links to a stake marked "C D No 31;" thence—

Thirty sixth Course—East, eleven (11) chains and six (6) links to a stake marked "C D No. 32;" thence—

Thirty seventh Course—South, twenty (20) chains and fourteen (14) links to a stake marked "C D H," whence the section stake on the San Bernardino Meridian between Sections six (6) and seven (7) of Township twenty seven (27) north, range one (1) east bears west, distant one hundred and forty-four (144) chains and seventy nine (79) links; continuing south, reach stake marked "C D J," distant forty (40) chains and forty-five (45) links south from the said stake marked "C D No. 32," the said stake marked "C D J" being at the southwest corner of the said "Winters Borate Deposit Mine" and running thence from said stake marked "C D J"

Thirty eighth Course—North, eighty nine (89) degrees thirty (30) minutes east, forty nine (49) chains and twenty four (24) links to said stake marked "C D No. 3," the place of beginning, containing eleven hundred and fifty two (1152) acres and fifty hundredth (50-100) of an acre of land.

Said MINERAL MONUMENT No. 34, hereinbefore mentioned consists of a durable sand-stone four (4) feet long set two (2) feet in the ground and being six inches square at the top, whereon is securely fastened a brass plate marked "N S W S M M No. 34," situated on the backbone of a butte bearing northwest and southeast at a point distant a few chains in a southeast direction from the highest point of said butte, which has an altitude of about two hundred (200) feet and is situated at the east side of Death Valley on the margin of the dry bed of the lake.

From said "MINERAL MONUMENT No. 34," "Chloride Peak" bears (with magnetic variation at 15 degrees 31 minutes east) north one (1) degree fifteen (15) minutes west; "Winters Peak" bears north sixty-seven (67) degrees forty (40) minutes east; "Telescope Peak" bears south twenty-nine (29) degrees forty (40) minutes west, the stake marked "C D No. 3" of the said "Winters Borate Deposit Mine" bears south seventeen (17) degrees forty-five (45) minutes west distant one hundred and sixty two (162) chains and fifty (50) links, and "MINERAL MONUMENT No. 33" bears north nine (9) degrees twenty four (24) minutes west distant four hundred and forty-two (442) chains and sixty seven (67) links by travers of exhibit.

Said "WINTERS BORATE DEPOSIT MINE" of SURVEY No. 2153, LOT No. 37 AND 38 (as per sought to be patented), consists of those certain borax locations heretofore made and recorded as LOCATION No. TWO (2); LOCATION No. THREE (3); LOCATION No. FOUR (4); LOCATION No. FIVE (5); LOCATION No. SEVEN (7); LOCATION No. EIGHT (8); LOCATION No. NINE (9); LOCATION No. TEN (10); and LOCATION No. ELEVEN (11), all of which are duly recorded in "Book A" at pages 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 124, 125 and 126 of the records of said Death Valley, Borax and Salt Mining District, kept at the office of the Mining Recorder in said District, reference thereof being also made, in part, to "Book C" of Land Water and Mining Claims at Pages 397, 398, 399, 403, 404, 405 and 406 of said Location No. five (5) in "Book D" of Land Water and Mining Claims at Page 232—kept at the office of the County Recorder at Independence, Inyo County, California.

Adjoining claims unknown, if any exist. The nearest officially surveyed claims to this being the "DESERT BORATE DEPOSIT MINE," the northeast corner whereof is situated at a point bearing south twenty-five (25) degrees forty-five (45) minutes east, distant twenty-two (22) chains and fifty five (55) links from the said stake marked "C D No. 3," at the place of commencement of the foregoing survey and description of this claim, and the southeast corner of the "NORTH COLEMAN BORATE DEPOSIT MINE" being situated north twenty six (26) degrees forty-five (45) minutes west at the distance of one hundred and thirteen (113) chains and eighty three (83) links from said "chalk Stone Monument" marked "C D No. 18 N E" at the northeast corner of this claim.

All adverse claims must be filed in this office within sixty (60) days from date of first newspaper publication of notice hereof, or they will be barred under the law.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 29.....1883

ST. JOHN'S DAY.—Thursday evening the Masons gave a supper at their Hall to a few invited guests, which was a very enjoyable affair. During the evening several of the company offered their services to entetain the party. Mr. Alexander Clark sang "Will You Love Me When I'm Old", which was well received. After which A. R. Conklin W. M. invited all to step forward and partake of a collation, which was spread on an extensive table in the center of the hall. After supper the party was favored with a duet, "The Murmuring Sea," by Miss F. C. Northrup and Mr. Barrows, which was well executed and received hearty applause. Next a choir lead by Mr. C. H. Groves, and consisting of Miss F. C. Northrup, Miss Julia Cook, Mrs. E. Gibbs, Mr. W. Barrows, who rendered the old but still beautiful song, "The Spanish Cavalier." After which dancing followed and was kept up until a late hour, when all left for home well satisfied with the evening. Mr. E. Gibbs kindly furnished his services as musician, and was accompanied at different times during the evening, by Mrs. E. Gibbs, Mrs. A. R. Conklin, C. H Groves and M. M. Glenn.

PERSONALS.—M. R. Williams, Superintendent of the Argus M. & M. Company's property at State Range, was in town during the week....Mrs. A. W. Eibeshutz left for San Francisco last Monday....Mrs. Isaac Harris, of this place, accompanied by Mrs. Cohn, of Bishop Creek, returned from her visit to the latter place on the 20th instant....Miss Herrmine Thomson, teacher of the Darwin school, came home last Saturday. She will return after the holidays are over....Messrs. Ed. Shepherd and George Bixby returned from Los Angeles last Monday. ...Jerry Mairs is back from Mojave; he brought V. G. Thompson with him. ....Senator P. Reddy arrived in town during the first part of the week; he will go back to Hawthorne next week. ...Jimmy McDonald paid town a "flying visit" during the week, from Darwin.

SCHOOL REPORT.—The public school here closed on the 21st for a vacation of two weeks. The following is the report of the school for the month ending December 21st: Whole number of days attendance, 466; whole number of days absence, 66; whole number days tardy, 15; average daily attendance, 232; average number belonging 261/2; per cent. of attendance, 87. Following are names of pupils whose average per cent. of the month for attendance, deportment and recitation was 80 or upwards: Allen Shannon, 100; Harry Cook, 100; Mank Cook, 98; Ethel Hardy, 95; Frank Sherrer, 90; Lena Harris, 90; Henry Harris, 90; Lester Laird, 89; Geo. Wood, 89; Ernest Laird, 85; Maggie Crough, 85; Pierce Johnson, 84; May Parker, 84. Primaries: Clara Eldred, 99; Alice Zink, 87. E. GIBBS, Teacher.

AT IT AGAIN.—The stage going from Bishop to the station was robbed Thursday morning by two armed men. They got the express box, containing $680. Arlie Mairs and Bud Harniss were on board, Lew Schalten driving. The boys were singing, and having a jolly time, but they lost the drift of conversation, as it were, after leaving the men with the guns. Arlie's hair stands up yet. Wells, Fargo & Co. should put on a messenger during tax paying time each year; it would certainly pay them to do so.

ACCIDENT.—Sunday, Joseph Groves, in trying to stop D. Stubblefield's team, which was running down Mozourka Cañon, was thrown between the horses. The wagon passed over him without inflicting any injury, but a large pine tree, tied on behind and serving as a draz, bruised him up considerably, and it was thought he was seriously injured. Mr. Groves was picked up bleeding and insensible, but revived soon after and was brought to town. On Thursday he was up and around again.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On last Saturday night the train going north met with an accident at the Summit which prevented any trains running on this end of the road on Sunday. While rounding a curve, the stock in a cattle car crowding on one side of the car tipped it over, throwing one or two other cars off the track. No one was hurt, and on Monday the trains were again running on their regular time.

CHRISTMAS.—The proceedings here were fairly successful. A good crowd composed largely of little folks, was in the Court House at the appointed time. The choir sung "Christmas Bells," followed by "Santa Claus," after which that worthy appeared in person. After the presents had been distributed, the floor was cleared for dancing. Those present enjoyed a social "hop" until Christmas day had begun.

THE KELLY CASE.—The case of Kelly, who shot Richardson at Bishop Creek on the 13th, came up before Judge Harnah on a writ of habeas corpus, and on considering the testimony and argument of counsel his Honor annulled the action of Squire Brierly, holding the defendant in $500 bond, for his appearance on the 28th of January, 1884.

INDIANS.—Drunken Indians, in this vicinity, have become very scarce, and it is very seldom that one is seen within miles of this place under the influence of the fire-water. Deputy Sheriff Crough keeps an open eye, and makes it dangerous for the usual dark-alley dealers to sell them liquor.

BULLION SHIPMENT.—On the 26th the Swansea Mining Company shipped 350 bars of bullion, weighing 30,400 pounds. The company has out as much more, which will be shipped today. The furnace is running steadily, and everything is in splendid shape.

At Lone Pine.

At the town of Lone Pine, on Christmas eve, a tree and an exhibition were given. The tree was heavily loaded with presents, and in value there was not one in the valley that exceeded it. Charley Begole's generosity and goodheartedness deserve special notice; he placed eighty-six packages on the tree—one for every child in the town under the age of twelve years. Before the presents were distributed, an entertainment was given by the children, young ladies and gentlemen, all of whom deserve credit. In the debate, the subject of which was: "Resolved, that Napoleon Bonaparte was a greater man than Andrew Jackson," Ben Lasky and Cris. Corrasco proved themselves good and able debaters. The tree and exhibition was under the management of H. C. Rittgers, and the whole affair was an undoubted success. The tree was beautifully arranged, and showed the exquisite taste of the committee, comprising Misses Mary Meysan, Polita Snow, Eugenie Meysan, Zelia Meysan, and Messrs. Frank Elder, Cris. Corrasco and Ben. Lasky. In the rehearsing of the pieces and dialogues, much inconvenience was met with, as it had to be carried on at private houses in the town, because the use of the school house was refused them by the trustees, who being unable to comprehend the school law on that point, allow no meetings of any kind to be held in it. Following is the programme, kindly furnished us by Web.:

Song—"The Greeting Glee."

Declamations, by Joe Lasky Harry Lasky, Willie Rittgers, Fred Harvey, Aggie Harvey, Maggie Zinn, Bernice Strauss, Martha Dodge, C. Corrasco, Ben Lasky, Fred Skinner, June Skinner, Katie Reddy, Cy. Dodge, and Master Lubken.

Song, by John Reddy and Estella Meysan.

Dialogue—"The Masterpiece," by Ben Lasky, Cris. Carrasco, Almira Crenshaw, and Eugenia Meysan.

Song—"On a Christmas Morning," by all the actors.

Dialogue—"Going to School," by Emma Rittgers, Estella Meysan.

Song—"Robin's Song," by all.

Dialogue—"Betsy Scraggs," by Matilda Meysan, Della Rittgers, John Reddy, and Frank Elder.

Song, by John Reddy and Estella Meysan.

Dialogue—"Five Little Pellicoes," by five little girls.

Song—"The Old Independence Bell."

Discussion—"Resolved, that Napoleon Bonaparte was a greater man than Andrew Jackson;" affirmative, Frank Elder, Charles Hamilton; negative, Luke Crenshaw, Ben. Lasky. Decided in the negative.

Song—"Chris Crinkle"

THE DANCE

Given in Lone Pine on Christmas night was an enjoyable affair. It was conducted by John Anton and five assistants. The hall was finely decorated and the attendance large. The dance lasted until 4 o'clock the next morning. About midnight, a fine supper was served at the Whitney House, by Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart. The music was excellent; and, taking it all in all, it would have been difficult to have had a better time.

On New Year's Eve, the "Lone Pine Firemen," in full uniform, will give a dance from 8 P. M. until 12. From that hour to the finish, it will be a "Leap Year Party," managed by the ladies. The ball will be given in Peterson's Hall, and the same music as at the Christmas ball has been employed. The supper will be served at the Whitney House. The price of tickets, including supper, will be $3.

BROWN MONSTER.—Messrs. Terrill, James and Thomas were in town during the week. They have considerable galena ore sacked, and are nearly ready with another carload. They report having uncovered some large bodies of free gold ore, and there is some talk of fixing up the mill for the purpose of working it.

AN EXCUSE.—Owing to the number of new advertisements this week, the late hour in the week at which we took charge of the paper, coupled with the fact that this is holiday times, and many other things too numerous to mention, reading matter is rather scarce this issue. We apologize.

DIED.—A letter to Mr. H. L. Childs, now of Lundy, received on the 26th from Mexico, announces the death at Hermosillo of Robert L. Peterson. Some further particulars and comments on this sad intelligence will be given next week.

The town school, E. Gibbs teacher closed for the term on Friday last. A new session will commence after the holidays.

ALIAS SUMMONS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Inyo, State of California. Thomas Bastian, Plaintiff, vs. The Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. Action brought in the Superior Court in the County of Inyo, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

The People of the State of California send greeting to the Inyo Consolidated Mining and Milling Company, Defendant. You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff in the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer the complaint filed therein, within ten days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this Summons—if served within this County; or, if served elsewhere, within thirty days.

The said action is brought to recover of you the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, due for work and labor done and performed and services rendered by Plaintiff for Defendant in caring for, protecting and preserving the mines, mill and water of Defendant, situated in Panamint Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California, from the Fourth day of January, 1883, to the Fifteenth day of October, 1883; all of which said work and labor done and performed and services rendered at the special instance and request of Defendant; also, for interest on said sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the Fifteenth day of October, 1883, until paid, and for costs of suit, as appears by the complaint on file herein and to which reference is here made.

And you are hereby notified that if you fail to appear and answer the said complaint, as above required, the said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Dollars, interest as aforesaid, and costs of suit.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, this Sixteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-three. [SEAL]

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 1.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present.

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The following Funds are hereby established:

(1) A Fund to be known as the COUNTY SALARY FUND, which shall be used exclusively for the purpose of paying the salaries of all officers of the County of Inyo. All moneys derived from licenses shall be paid into the Treasury, and shall be placed to the credit of the County Salary Fund. Should the amount received from such source be insufficient it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer to transfer to said Fund from the General Expense Fund of the County such sums as may be necessary to pay said salaries as they become due.

(2) A GENERAL EXPENSE FUND, from which shall be paid the fees and mileage of jurors and witnesses, the fees of County and Township officers, for all services which are a legal charge against the County, and all such other bills as may be allowed by the Board of Supervisors under authority of law.

(3) A HOSPITAL FUND, for the purpose of maintaining a County Hospital and caring for the indigent sick and otherwise dependent poor of the County.

(4) A GENERAL ROAD FUND, from which may be paid such amounts as may be found necessary for such general road purposes in which the inhabitants of all the Districts within the County are more or less interested or to assist weak and impoverished Districts, to be applied as the Board may order or direct.

(5) A Fund to be known as the INTEREST AND BUILDING FUND, for the payment of the principal and interest of the Inyo County Bonds, as the same may become due.

(6) A SCHOOL FUND, for the maintenance of the public schools of Inyo County.

(7) A CONTINGENT FUND, to be used for paying any indebtedness, subject to the orders of the Board of Supervisors.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY

No. 2.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY met this Eleventh day of August, 1883, a full Board being present. E. Robinson, Chairman presiding

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo do Ordain as follows:

The regular meetings of the Board of Supervisors must be held at Independence on the First Mondays in February, May, August and November of each year, and must continue from time to time until the business before them is disposed of.

Such other meetings must be held to canvass election returns and other purposes as provided by law or ordered by the Board.

The Board shall also meet on the first Monday of July, as a Board of Equalization, and must continue in session from time to time until the business of equalization is disposed of, not later than the fourth Monday in July.

The Board shall meet on the first Monday of October of each year, for the purpose of levying State and County taxes, and fix the rate of county licenses.

E. ROBINSON,
Chairman.

ORDINANCE OF BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF INYO COUNTY.

No. 3.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE County of Inyo, State of California, met at Independence on the first day of October, A. D. 1883. Present—E. Robinson, Chairman, presiding A. Spencer and Thomas Boland, and adopted the following Ordinance:

The Board of Supervisors of the County of Inyo, State of California do ordain as follows:

That all persons doing business within the County of Inyo shall obtain licenses from the Tax Collector of said County, as follows.

SECTION 1. Auctioneers are divided into two classes, and must obtain licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales amount to Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars and upwards constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Fifty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those whose average monthly sales are less than Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 2. Persons engaged in banking, loaning money at interest or in buying or selling notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of private persons; or in buying or selling State, County or City stocks, or other evidences of State, County or City indebtedness; or stocks or notes, bonds or other evidences of indebtedness of incorporated companies; or in buying or selling gold dust, gold or silver bullion or gold or silver coin, are divided into two classes, and must pay licenses as follows—

FIRST CLASS.

Those doing business in the aggregate to the amount of Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter or over constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those doing business in any amount less than Ten Thousand Dollars per quarter constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 3. From each proprietor of a billiard table, not kept exclusively for family use, for each table Five Dollars per quarter; and for a bowling alley Fifteen Dollars per quarter for each alley; but no license must be granted for a term less than three months.

SEC. 4. For each exhibition for pay, for a theatrical performance, a caravan or menagerie, or any collection of animals, circus, or other acrobatic performance, seven Dollars; and for each show for pay of any figures, jugglers, necromancers, magicians; wire or rope dancing, and sleight of hand exhibitions, Five Dollars for each performance. The provisions of this section do not apply to exhibitions or entertainments given for the benefit of churches, schools, or other charitable entertainments, by an amateur dramatic association or literary society of the town or district in which such exhibition or entertainment is given.

SEC. 5. Each pawn broker must pay a license of Twenty five Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 6. Each keeper of an intelligence office must pay a license of Ten Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 7. Every person who sells spirituous, malt or fermented liquors or wine in less quantities than one quart, must obtain a license therefor from the Tax-collector, and make the following payment—

FIRST CLASS.

Those making sales to the amount of One Thousand Dollars or more as a monthly average, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Thirty Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those making sales of less than One Thousand Dollars per month, constitute the second class, and must pay a license of Fifteen Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 8. Every person who, at a fixed place of business, sells any goods, wares or merchandise, wines or distilled liquors, drugs or medicines, jewelry or wares of precious metals, whether on commission or otherwise (except agricultural or vinicultural productions, or the productions of any stock, dairy or poultry farm of this State, when sold by the producer thereof, and except such as are sold by auctioneers at public sale under license), and all persons who keep horses or carriages for hire (except such as are used in the transportation of goods), must obtain from the Tax-Collector, and for each branch of said business, license, and pay quarterly therefor an amount of money to be determined by the class in which such person is placed by the Tax Collector; such business to be classified and regulated by the amount of the average monthly sales made, or hiring done, and at the rates following—

FIRST CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twenty-five Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class, and must pay a license of Nine Dollars per quarter.

SECOND CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring to the amount of Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars and less than Twenty-five Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and must pay a license of Four 50-100 Dollars per quarter.

THIRD CLASS.

Those who are estimated to make average monthly sales or hiring of less than Twelve Hundred and Fifty Dollars, constitute the third class, and must pay a license of Three Dollars per quarter.

SEC. 9. The sale of liquors and wines by persons licensed under the preceding section must not be in less quantity than one quart measure. No license must be required of physicians, surgeon, apothecaries or chemists, for any wines or spirituous liquors they may use in the preparation of medicine.

SEC. 10. Every traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who carries a pack and vends goods, wares or merchandise other than the manufactures or productions of this State, must pay for a license Five Dollars per month; and every such traveling merchant, hawker or peddler, who uses a wagon, or one or more animals, for the purpose of vending such goods, wares or merchandise of any kind must pay for a license Fifteen Dollars per month.

SEC. 11. Every person who keeps a stallion, jack or bull, and who permits the same to be used for the purpose of propagation for hire, must annually obtain a license therefor from the Tax-Collector, and pay therefor as follows—

First—Horses that are hired for the purpose of propagation, by the season, at One Hundred Dollars or more, constitute the first class and require a license of twenty five Dollars.

Second—A Seventy-five Dollars, and less than One Hundred Dollars, constitute the second class and require a license of Sixty Dollars.

Third—At Fifty Dollars, and less than Seventy-five Dollars, constitute the third class and require a license of Forty Dollars.

Fourth—At Thirty Dollars and less than Fifty Dollars, constitute the fourth class, and require a license of Twenty-five Dollars.

Fifth—At Fifteen Dollars and less than Thirty Dollars, constitute the fifth class, and require a license of Fifteen Dollars.

Sixth—At less than Fifteen Dollars, constitute the sixth class, and must pay a license of Ten Dollars.

Seventh—For each jack, Ten Dollars.

Eighth—For each bull, Ten Dollars.

A license for propagation obtained from the Tax-Collector, under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall entitle the holder thereof to the right to go into any County of this State for the purpose of propagation without further license or expense.

This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the SEVENTEENTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1883.

And it is hereby ordered, that this Ordinance be published for one week in THE INYO INDEPENDENT a weekly newspaper, printed and published in the County of Inyo.
